CLASS ACTION
PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS AND COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

The plaintiffs, by and through the undersigned, allege as follows:

SUMMARY OF CLAIM

Following the conclusion of the special parole program for Cuban nationals that was implemented in conformance with 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b)(1)(F) — colloquially referred to as the “wet-foot/dry-foot policy” — the Department of Homeland Security continued to release Cuban nationals into the United States without keeping them in mandatory detention under either §§ 1225(b)(1) or (b)(2). But rather than document their parole into the United States under § 1182(d)(5)(A), the Department purported to “conditionally parole” these Cuban nationals into the United States under § 1226(a), in order to preclude them from obtaining the benefits that Congress has historically offered under the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act of 1966 (CAA), Pub. L. No. 89-732, 80 Stat. 1161 (as amended). Hundreds of thousands of Cuban nationals in this situation are stuck in immigration limbo, without access to the CAA’s benefits, often still awaiting the commencement of removal proceedings for years after having entered the United States. In fact, many will not even be subject to physical removal to Cuba under the current Migration Accords.

This complaint is brought on behalf of Cuban nationals who sought refuge in this country after the termination of the wet-foot/dry-foot policy. They were apprehended by the Department while arriving in the United States by land between designated ports of arrival, and were thereafter released from custody after the direct commencement of removal proceedings under 8 U. S. C. § 1229a without documentation of their parole from custody. Instead, they were released and are being subjected to unlawful custody under an “order of release on recognizance” pursuant to the purported auspices of § 1226(a). They bring this action on their own behalf, and on behalf of all other Cuban nationals similarly situated, seeking: (1) habeas relief from their ongoing unlawful custody; (2) declaratory relief under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA) ruling that they were paroled out of custody pursuant to § 1182(d)(5)(A) without the proper documentation; and (3) related injunctive relief under the APA to effectuate the Court's declaration of law; in their pursuit of permanent residence under the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act.

Importantly, a new urgency has emerged as a consequence of the Department's unlawful practice of mis-papering parole releases under § 1182(d)(5)(A) as purported releases on recognition. Earlier this year, the Department announced new policies whereby it would pursue expedited removal in a new, broadened fashion. Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights v. Noem (CHIR), No. 25-CV-872 (JMC), 2025 WL 2192986, at *9–*10 (D.D.C. Aug. 1, 2025), appeal filed, No. 25-5289 (CADDC). Cuban nationals, who would qualify as class members under this case, have sought individualized habeas relief from unlawful applications of expedited removal against them, but have faced difficult jurisdictional issues in those challenges. See, e.g., Chaviano v. Bondi, No. 25-22451-CIV, 2025 WL 1744349, at *1 (S.D. Fla. June 23, 2025), appeal pending, No. 25-12153 (CA11); and Quintero v. Field Off. Dir. of Miami ICE Field Off., No. 25-cv-22428-CMA, ECF No. 25 (S.D. Fla. June 23, 2025), voluntary dismissal of appeal pending, No. 25-12147 (CA11). However, the relief requested here (recognition of having been paroled) would have the additional benefit of providing an arguable defense to unlawful expedited removal because people who have been paroled into the United States cannot be subjected to expedited removal. CHIR, 2025 WL 2192986, at *21–*30; id., at *22 (“the Designation Provision forbids the expedited removal of noncitizens who have been, at any point in time, paroled”); Doe v. Noem, 778 F. Supp. 3d 311, 336–37 (D. Mass. 2025), appeal filed, No. 25-1384 (CA1); Al Otro Lado, Inc. v. McAleenan, 394 F. Supp. 3d 1168, 1200 (S.D. Cal. 2019).

JURISDICTION

1. This action is brought against the defendant, and those acting under her, for failure to comply with their federally mandated duties under the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act of 1966 (CAA), Pub. L. No. 89-732, 80 Stat. 1161 (as amended), the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 (INA), Pub. L. No. 82-414, 66 Stat. 163 (codified as amended at 8 U. S. C. §§ 1101 et seq.), Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations, and the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), 5 U. S. C. §§ 701, et seq.

2. The Court has jurisdiction over this case and may grant relief pursuant to 28 U. S. C. § 2241, et seq. (habeas corpus). See Clements v. Fla., 59 F.4th 1204, 1213 (CA11 2023) (“non-citizens released on supervision while awaiting a final decision in their immigration proceedings are deemed to be ‘in custody’ for purposes of habeas corpus”) (citing Romero v. Sec’y, DHS, 20 F.4th 1374, 1379 (CA11 2021); and United States ex rel. Marcello v. Dist. Dir. of INS, New Orleans, 634 F.2d 964, 971 & n. 11 (5th Cir. 1981) (precedential under Bonner v. City of Prichard, Ala., 661 F.2d 1206, 1207 (CA11 1981) (en banc))).

3. The Court also has jurisdiction over this case under 28 U. S. C. § 1331 (federal question), and may grant relief pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), 5 U. S. C. §§ 701, et seq., the All Writs Act, 28 U. S. C. § 1651, and the Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U. S. C. §§ 2201–02.

4. The INA’s jurisdictional bar regarding discretionary judgments made under the general adjustment of status statute, 8 U. S. C. § 1252(a)(2)(B)(i), does not apply to applications for adjustment of status made under the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act. Perez v. USCIS, 774 F.3d 960, 967–68 (CA11 2014).

VENUE

5. Venue is proper in this district because:

- (a) “a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred” in this district, 28 U. S. C. § 1391(e)(1)(A);
- (b) the defendant “resides” in this district, § 1391(e)(1)(B), see Bartman v. Cheney, 827 F. Supp. 1, 2 (D.D.C. 1993) (“Officers and agencies of the United States can have more than one residence, and venue can properly lie in more than one jurisdiction.”); and
- (c) several of the plaintiffs reside in this district, § 1391(e)(1)(C), see A.J. Taft Coal Co. v. Barnhart, 291 F. Supp. 2d 1290, 1301–02 (N.D. Ala. 2003) (collecting cases demonstrating that “residency of ‘the plaintiff’ should be interpreted to mean any plaintiff rather than all plaintiffs”) (emphasis in original).

6. Venue is proper in this district also because “a district court acts within its respective jurisdiction within the meaning of § 2241 as long as the custodian can be reached by service of process.” Rasul v. Bush, 542 U. S. 466, 479 (2004) (cleaned up); accord Braden v. 30th Jud. Cir. Ct. of Kentucky, 410 U. S. 484, 495 (1973) (“So long as the custodian can be reached by service of process, the court can issue a writ ‘within its jurisdiction’ requiring that the prisoner be . . . released outright from custody, even if the prisoner himself is confined outside the court’s territorial jurisdiction.”).

7. “[A] habeas petitioner who challenges a form of ‘custody’ other than present physical confinement may name as respondent the entity or person who exercises legal control with respect to the challenged ‘custody.’” Rumsfeld v. Padilla, 542 U. S. 426, 438 (2004); accord Strait v. Laird, 406 U. S. 341, 344 (1972) (discussing the “nominal custodian”).

EXHAUSTION OF REMEDIES

8. As to the plaintiffs' claims under the Administrative Procedure Act, there are no administrative remedies available that the plaintiffs are required to exhaust under Darby v. Cisneros, 509 U.S. 137 (1993), and an agency's failure to take action is reviewable agency action, Norton v. S. Utah Wilderness Alliance, 542 U.S. 55, 61–62 (2004).

9. As to the plaintiffs' habeas claims, no exhaustion is statutorily required because "Section 2241 itself does not impose an exhaustion requirement." Santiago-Lugo v. Warden, 785 F.3d 467, 474 (CA11 2015). Further, prudential exhaustion is inapplicable because there are no available "administrative remedies [that can] provide relief commensurate with the [plaintiffs'] claim." Boz v. United States, 248 F.3d 1299, 1300 (CA11 2001).

24. Upon information and belief, no plaintiff in this case was processed for expedited removal under § 1225(b)(1), contiguous return under § 1225(b)(2)(C), or reinstatement of removal under § 1231(a)(5), during and between the time of their arrival in the United States and their

LEGISLATIVE AND POLITICAL HISTORY

26. “‘Normal’ immigration from Cuba to the United States has not existed since the Cuban Revolution of 1959 brought Fidel Castro to power. For more than 50 years, the majority of Cubans who have entered the United States have done so through special humanitarian provisions of federal law” as part of “a unique set of circumstances [that] is unlike U. S. immigration policy toward any other nation in the world.” Bruno, A., Cong. Research Serv., U. S. Policy on Cuban Migrants: In Brief, at 1 (Dec. 16, 2016).¹

27. “[T]he exodus escalated, peaking at approximately 78,000 in 1962. In October of that year, Castro stopped regularly scheduled travel between the two countries, and the risky practice of asylum seekers setting sail from Cuba to Florida began.” Wasem, R. E., Cong. Research Serv., Cuban Migration to the United States: Policy and Trends, at 1 (June 2, 2009).²

28. “[T]he Cubans who arrived in the United States after the Cuban Revolution were paroled in, [and] considered to be refugees fleeing persecution.” Bruno, supra n. 1, at 1.

29. With the 1952 “consolidat[ion] [of] previous immigration laws into one statute,” “[t]he parole provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act, section 212(d)(5), [8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5),] incorporated into statutory law a provision authorizing the temporary parole of aliens into the United States, which had been an administrative practice of longstanding.” Staff of S. Comm. on the Judiciary, 96th Cong. 2d Sess., Review of U. S. Refugee Resettlement Programs and Policies (“Refugee Review”), at 7–8 (Comm. Print 1980).³

30. “Parole has since been used as the primary basis for entry of large numbers of refugees.” Refugee Review, supra n. 3, at 8.

31. For example, “[b]etween 1962 and 1979, hundreds of thousands of Cubans entered the United States under the Attorney General’s parole authority.” Wasem, supra n. 2, at 1 (footnote omitted).

32. In an attempt to move away from the ad hoc parole process, Congress enacted the “conditional entry provision,” as part of the 1965 move from race-based quotas to “the new immigrant visa preference system for the Eastern Hemisphere,” serving as a formal mechanism to admit refugees and allow them to obtain permanent resident status after two years of physical presence in the United States under another new provision in the INA. Refugee Review, supra n. 3, at 11–12.

33. “Cuban refugees . . . began to be paroled in the United States in 1961 when diplomatic relations between the United States and Cuba were severed. As Western Hemisphere natives, Cubans were not eligible for conditional entry when that provision became law, since it applied only to the Eastern Hemisphere.” Refugee Review, supra n. 3, at 13.

34. Further, “[d]uring the mid-1960s, the Immigration and Nationality Act did not permit the adjustment of status of Western Hemisphere natives,” Refugee Review, supra n. 3, at 16, meaning that they were required to leave the United States to apply for an immigrant visa — available only to certain specified classes of persons — at a consular post abroad, see 8 U. S. C.

§ 1201(a)(1)(A).

35. In fact, at the time, “[e]xisting law, section 245(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, provide[d] that natives of any country of the Western Hemisphere, or of any adjacent island named . . . , [we]re precluded from applying for adjustment to permanent resident status while in the United States.” H.R. Rep. No. 89-1978, at 2 (1966) (Jud. Comm.).

36. Thus, Congress passed the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act in 1966 which “enabled Cuban refugees to adjust their status to that of permanent residents” while inside the United States. Refugee Review, supra n. 3, at 16; accord Sullivan, M. P., Cong. Research Serv., Cuba-U. S. Relations: Chronology of Key Events 1959-1999, at 3 (Dec. 14, 1999) (“The objective was to give Cubans who had fled the island a preferential procedure for seeking permanent residency.”).⁴

37. Early agency precedent established that “this is remedial legislation, such [that] a strict interpretation is to be avoided if it thwarts the congressional intent.” Matter of Riva, 12 I. & N. Dec. 56, 58 (Reg. Comm’r 1967).

38. “The purpose of the Act upon which these applications are based is to provide a ready means to permit certain Cuban refugees in the United States to adjust to permanent resident status,” such that a “major objective of this opportunity for adjustment of status was, therefore, to aid in these refugees’ resettlement by enhancing their opportunity to qualify for employment here and in turn reduce the Government’s expenditures in their behalf.” Matter of Mesa, 12 I. & N. Dec. 432, 434–45 (Dep. Assoc. Comm’r 1967) (footnote omitted).

39. Permanent residence under the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act is available even where an applicant was paroled after having already physically entered the United States. Matter of Rodriguez, 12 I. & N. Dec. 549 (Reg. Comm. 1967).

40. These policy goals were in addition to the “very firm goal, a very strong desire that Cuba shall be freed from Communist domination and that the Cuban people will, again, be able to enjoy the benefits of freedom, living in a country which is, once more, a member of the free world family of nations.” H.R. Rep. No. 89-1978, at 4 (1966) (Jud. Comm.) (quoting Under Secretary of State George Ball).

41. In the late 1970s, Congress began work on what would become the Refugee Act of 1980, Pub. L. No. 96-212, 94 Stat. 102 (Mar. 17, 1980), in order “to provide a permanent statute revising U. S. refugee admissions policy” that would supplant the “[p]ast U. S. refugee policy [that] was often categorized as being ‘ad hoc,’ ‘piecemeal,’ or ‘stopgap’ in nature.” Refugee Review, supra n. 3, at 35.

42. However, the current asylum law adopted by the Refugee Act of 1980, 8 U. S. C. §§ 1101(a)(42), 1158, which is generally applicable to any foreign national or stateless person, is much narrower and inadequate when compared to broader refugee laws designed for specific populations of special concern. See, e. g., Rocubert-Campo v. U. S. Att’y Gen., 2021 WL 3124300 (CA11 July 23, 2021) (affirming denial of Refugee Act asylum to Cuban national who was repeatedly beaten and threatened by government officials due to his political opinion because substantial evidence supported a finding that this did not amount to persecution).

43. Since then, Cuban nationals continued to seek refuge in the United States, being granted parole through different programs established by the Departments of State and Justice, and then being permitted to pursue lawful permanent residence pursuant to the Cuban Refugee Adjustment Act.

44. Beginning on December 14, 1984, the United States has periodically made agreements with Cuba (part of the overall Migration Accords) in attempts to regularize immigration and repatriation between the two nations.

45. Per a 1994 agreement that is part of the Migration Accords, migrants rescued at sea attempting to enter the United States would not be permitted to enter the United States, but instead would be taken to safe haven facilities outside the United States, with the resumption of the United States accepting some legal migration from Cuba.

46. The new policy of returning Cubans interdicted at sea was a restrictionary measure, offering lesser refuge to Cuban nationals, and was the start of the “wet-foot/dry-foot policy.” Wasem, supra n. 2, at 2 (“Until 1995, the United States generally had not repatriated Cubans (except certain criminal aliens on a negotiated list) under a policy established when the government became Communist within two years of the 1959 revolution.”).

47. Effective April 1, 1997, the Congress overhauled many parts of the immigration code with the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA), Pub. L. No. 104-208, Div. C, Tit. III, Subtit. A, 110 Stat. 3009-546 (Sept. 30, 1996).

48. One of the new changes was the introduction of the expedited removal procedure for noncitizens seeking entry into the United States, disallowing them from accessing the full process available before an immigration judge except for limited proceedings related to making a claim for asylum. § 302(a), IIRIRA (codified at 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b)(1)).

49. Among the new expedited removal proceedings was a provision that excluded Cuban nationals from its application. 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b)(1)(F) (“Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an alien who is a native or citizen of a country in the Western Hemisphere with whose government the United States does not have full diplomatic relations and who arrives by aircraft at a port of entry.”); see Eliminating Exception To Expedited Removal Authority for Cuban Nationals Encountered in the United States or Arriving by Sea, 82 Fed. Reg. 4902, 4903–04 (Jan. 17, 2017) (describing additional exceptions applied to Cuban nationals relating to prior Federal Register notices which expanded the scope of expedited removal).

50. Section 606(a) of the IRRIRA provided that the Cuban Adjustment Act would remain in force until there is “a determination by the President under section 203(c)(3) of the Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–114) that a democratically elected government in Cuba is in power.” 110 Stat. 3009-695.

51. No such declaration has ever been made.

52. Yet, on January 12, 2017, the Obama administration issued a Joint Statement with the Cuban government, being the latest iteration of the Migration Accords, declaring that it would end the wet-foot/dry-foot policy, thereby subjecting Cuban nationals to normal removal procedures, and that Cuba would begin accepting removals of Cuban nationals.

53. Five days later, the Secretary of Homeland Security announced that 8 U.S.C. § 1225(1)(F) would no longer be applied to Cuban nationals such that “Cuban nationals encountered on or after January 13, 2017 are included in the classes of aliens subject to expedited removal.” Eliminating Exception To Expedited Removal Authority for Cuban Nationals Encountered in the United States or Arriving by Sea, 82 Fed. Reg. 4902, 4904 (Jan. 17, 2017).

54. Documents obtained through a FOIA litigation, Catholic Charities v. Stein, 20-cv-23846-BLOOM/Louis (S.D. Fla.), demonstrate that the following classes of persons were to be subjected to physical removal to Cuba:

- a. Cubans interdicted at sea, as had occurred before;
- b. Cubans who left Cuba following the issuance of the Joint Statement who have been outside of Cuba for no more than 4 years (subject to tolling);
- c. Other Cubans accepted by the Cuban government on a case-by-case basis;

- d. Cubans on the 1984 “Mariel List” including an allowance for substitutions of new persons onto the list.

55. However, this agreement essentially became a failure due to extremely low rates of removal to Cuba, as described by a Department of State Report to Congress on Cuban Compliance with the Migration Accords during October 2020.

56. In fact, as demonstrated by documents obtained through the Catholic Charities litigation, the Department of State secretly imposed visa sanctions upon Cuban government officials due to Cuba’s failure to comply with removal requests.

57. Recently, removal flights to Cuba have resumed, but no public information is available to explain which categories of Cuban nationals are being subjected to removal, pursuant to what agreement, or whether these are just isolated acts against a backdrop of recalcitrance by the Cuban authorities.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR ENTRY AND DETENTION

58. Current immigration law provides for substantially different treatment between foreign nationals who have been “admitted” to the United States, and those who are “applicants for admission.”

59. “The terms ‘admission’ and ‘admitted’ mean, with respect to an alien, the lawful entry of the alien into the United States after inspection and authorization by an immigration officer.” 8 U. S. C. § 1101(a)(13)(A) (emphasis added).

60. Aside from being “admitted,” a noncitizen may also lawfully enter (physically) the United States following inspection and authorization through the process of “parole” that is codified at 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5).

61. But these two concepts are expressly distinguished in that a parole “shall not be regarded as an admission.” § 1182(d)(5)(A); accord § 1101(a)(13)(B) (“An alien who is paroled under section 1182(d)(5) of this title or permitted to land temporarily as an alien crewman shall not be considered to have been admitted.”).

62. This distinction between admission and parole has historical purpose because parole is a method to allow an “inadmissible” foreign national, who has not been formally admitted to the United States, to be at liberty inside the country for a specific purpose within the agency’s discretion. Leng May Ma v. Barber, 357 U. S. 185, 190 (1958) (“The parole of aliens seeking admission is simply a device through which needless confinement is avoided while administrative proceedings are conducted.”).

63. Parole is in effect an “enlarge[ment]” from custody. Id., at 189. It preserves the legal fiction that an “entry” has not occurred. Id., at 188 (“For over a half century this Court has held that the detention of an alien in custody pending determination of his admissibility does not legally constitute an entry though the alien is physically within the United States.”) (citations omitted).

64. This fiction arises from the “fundamental distinction between excludable aliens and deportable aliens which permeates our immigration law” which leads to, among other specific outcomes, a fiction where “[e]xcludable aliens are those who seek admission but have not been granted entry” and are thus “legally considered detained at the border.” Garcia-Mir v. Smith, 766 F. 2d 1478, 1483–84 (CA11 1985); see also Jean v. Nelson, 727 F. 2d 957, 969 (CA11 1984) (en banc) (describing the origins of the “entry doctrine fiction”).

65. Therefore, “parolees” are treated as applicants for admission even though they have been lawfully inspected and authorized to physically enter the United States. 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A) (“[W]hen the purposes of such parole shall, in the opinion of the Attorney General, have been served the alien shall forthwith return or be returned to the custody from which he was paroled and thereafter his case shall continue to be dealt with in the same manner as that of any other applicant for admission to the United States.”).

66. Being admitted brings with it important benefits. Some benefits overlap with the benefit of being paroled, while others are available only to persons who have been admitted.

67. Both classes of lawful entrants are treated equally when requesting permanent residence under the Cuban Adjustment Act which is available to Cuban nationals “who ha[ve] been inspected and admitted or paroled into the United States.” § 1, CAA, Pub. L. No. 89-732, 80 Stat. 116 (emphasis added).

68. However, whether a noncitizen has been admitted or paroled into the United States can be a crucial distinction.

69. An example of disparate treatment is that an admitted person (unlike a parolee) can only be removed from the United States based on a ground of deportability under 8 U.S.C. § 1227(a), as opposed to a ground of inadmissibility under § 1182(a) which requires a lesser showing to support removal.

70. In contrast, a parolee, who remains subject to inadmissibility under § 1182(a), is considered an “applicant for admission” under § 1225(a)(1).

71. Parolees are not the only type of “applicant for admission,” as that classification applies to any noncitizen who is “present in the United States without admission or who arrives in the United States (whether or not at a designated port of arrival and including an alien who is brought to the United States after having been interdicted in international of United States waters).” § 1225(a)(1).

72. When an immigration officer encounters an applicant for admission, they must “inspect” the applicant for admissibility. §§ 1225(a)(3), (b).

73. Where doubts regarding admissibility arise during inspection, the immigration statute provides for two different methods of processing.

74. Under § 1225(b)(1), which applies to a limited class of persons defined in §§ 1225(b)(1)(A)(i)–(iii), removal is automatic subject to the ability to request asylum in accordance with the procedures in § 1225(b)(1)(B).

75. Under § 1225(b)(2)(A), which applies to persons who are “applicant[s] for admission” and who are also “seeking admission,” except those “to whom paragraph (1) applies,” § 1225(b)(2)(B)(ii),⁵ removal is pursued via full removal proceedings under § 1229a as generally used against admitted persons, § 1225(b)(2)(A).

76. “Both § 1225(b)(1) and § 1225(b)(2) authorize the detention of certain aliens,” Jennings v. Rodriguez, 138 S. Ct. 830, 837 (2018), such that both “§§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) thus mandate detention of applicants for admission until certain proceedings have concluded,” id., at 842 (emphasis added). “Until that point, however, nothing in the statutory text imposes any limit on the length of detention.” Id.

77. “The plain meaning of those phrases is that detention must continue until immigration officers have finished ‘consider[ing]’ the application for asylum, § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii), or until removal proceedings have concluded, § 1225(b)(2)(A).” Id., at 844. “[T]hey unequivocally mandate that aliens falling within their scope ‘shall’ be detained.” Id.; accord Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec. 66, 69, n. 4 (BIA 2025) (“Once an alien is detained under section 1225, DHS cannot convert the statutory authority governing her detention from section 1225 to section

⁵ Crewman and stowaways are other sub-classes of applicants for admission who are subject to other forms of automatic removal. 8 U. S. C. §§ 1225(a)(2), 1225(b)(2)(B)(i) & (iii), 1282(b), and 1284(c).

1226 through the post-hoc issuance of a warrant.”).

78. And yet, “[r]egardless of which of those two sections authorizes their detention, applicants for admission may be temporarily released on parole ‘for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit.’” Id., at 837 (citing § 1182(d)(5)(A); 8 CFR §§ 212.5(b), 235.3 (2017)); accord id., at 844 (“With a few exceptions not relevant here, the Attorney General may ‘for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit’ temporarily parole aliens detained under §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2).”) (citing § 1182(d)(5)(A));⁶ see also Procedures for Credible Fear Screening, 87 Fed. Reg. 18078, 18108 (Mar. 29, 2022) (describing “detention capacity” as a “public interest” factor in light of “other noncitizens whose release may pose a greater risk of flight or danger to the community”).

79. In fact, “[t]hat express exception to detention implies that there are no other circumstances under which aliens detained under § 1225(b) may be released.” Id. (emphasis in original) (citation omitted).

80. In so holding, the Supreme Court was clear in rejecting the suggestion that bond hearings and conditional parole are available to applicants for admission. Id., at 845 (“For example, respondents argue that, once detention authority ends under §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2), aliens can be detained only under § 1226(a). . . . To put it lightly, that makes little sense.”); accord Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec., at 69 (“The only exception permitting the release of aliens detained under section 235(b) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b), is the parole authority provided by section 212(d)(5)(A) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5)(A).”)

⁶ Those “few exceptions” limit parole where the § 1157 refugee process is available, and during labor disputes for certain nonimmigrant crewmembers. § 1182(d)(5)(A) (referencing §§ 1182(d)(5)(B) & 1184(f)).

ALLEGATIONS OF LAW

81. “An alien . . . who arrives in the United States (whether or not at a designated port of arrival . . .) shall be deemed for purposes of this chapter an applicant for admission.” 8 U. S. C. § 1225(a)(1).

82. “[T]he term ‘arriving’ applies to aliens, like the [plaintiffs] ‘who [are] apprehended’ just inside ‘the southern border, and not at a point of entry, on the same day [they] crossed into the United States.’” Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec. 66, 68 (BIA 2025) (citation omitted) (third and fourth alterations in original).

83. “Thus, the [plaintiffs are] alien[s] ‘who arriv[e] in the United States’ under section 235(a)(1) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1225(a)(1).” Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec., at 68 (footnote omitted). Such persons are “‘deemed to be “seeking admission” under the immigration laws.’” Id., at 6, n. 3 (citing Matter of Lemus, 25 I. & N. Dec. 734, 743 (BIA 2012)).

84. “[F]or aliens arriving in and seeking admission into the United States who are placed directly in full removal proceedings [under 8 U. S. C. § 1229a], section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), mandates detention ‘until removal proceedings have concluded.’” Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec., at 68 (quoting Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U. S. 281, 299 (2018)) (footnote omitted).

85. “[A]n applicant for admission who is arrested and detained without a warrant while arriving in the United States, whether or not at a port of entry, and subsequently placed in removal proceedings is detained under section 235(b) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b), and is ineligible for any subsequent release on bond under section 236(a) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1226(a).” Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec., at 69 (footnote omitted).

86. Removal proceedings under 8 U. S. C. § 1229a commence upon service of a notice to appear under § 1229(a). Perez-Sanchez v. U. S. Att’y Gen., 935 F.3d 1148, 1154 (CA11 2019) (“With respect to the first, Congress’s decision to nest ‘service’ of an NTA under ‘[i]nitiation of removal proceedings’ suggests to us that Congress intended for service of an NTA—not filing—to operate as the point of commencement for removal proceedings.”) (alteration in original) (footnote omitted).

87. “Once an alien is detained under section 235(b), DHS cannot convert the statutory authority governing her detention from section 1225 to section 1226 through the post-hoc issuance of a warrant.” Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec., at 69, n. 4.

88. The only lawful mechanism to explain such a person’s release from custody is parole under 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5). Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec., at 69 (“The only exception permitting the release of aliens detained under section 235(b) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b), is the parole authority provided by section 212(d)(5)(A) of the INA, 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5)(A).”) (citing Jennings, 583 U. S., at 300).

89. Board precedent, even when it alters prior precedent or prior agency understandings of law, is “entitled to full retroactive effect in all cases still open on direct review, regardless of whether the events predated the [Board]’s decision.” Yu v. U. S. Att’y Gen., 568 F.3d 1328, 1334 (CA11 2009) (citation omitted).

90. Regardless, the Board’s precedent in Matter of Q. Li only restates what the Supreme Court explained in Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U. S. 281 (2018), which, being Supreme Court precedent interpreting a statute, is an explanation of what the law has always meant. See Aspilaire v. U. S. Att’y Gen., 992 F.3d 1248, 1256 (CA11 2021) (“‘[A] judicial construction of a statute is an authoritative statement of what the statute meant before as well as after the decision of the case giving rise to that construction.’”) (quoting Rivers v. Roadway Express, Inc., 511 U. S.

91. Courts of Appeals and the Board of Immigration Appeals have long held in precedential decisions that whether or not a parole did or did not occur in a given case depends on the application of law to fact, regardless of what the Government's paperwork reflects. Vitale v. INS, 463 F.2d 579 (CA7 1972); Medina Fernandez v. Hartman, 260 F.2d 569 (CA9 1958); Matter of O-, 16 I. & N. Dec. 344 (BIA 1977). This tradition, known as the procedural regularity doctrine, is also true in the context of whether an admission has occurred. Matter of Quilantin, 25 I. & N. Dec. 285 (BIA 2010); Matter of Areguillin, 17 I. & N. Dec. 308 (BIA 1980). There is no authority to the contrary.

92. All of the plaintiffs and the members of the class arrived in the United States and were released from DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, in the manner contemplated by the terms of Matter of Q. Li.

93. Thus, all of the plaintiffs and the members of the class were subject to mandatory detention under 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) at the time of their release from DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition.

94. Therefore, parole under § 1182(d)(5) is the only lawful explanation for the plaintiffs' and the class members' release from DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, under these circumstances.

95. But DHS did not provide the plaintiffs and the members of the class with documentation of their parole from custody, and has been treating them as if they had not been paroled.

96. DHS' failure to provide the plaintiffs and the members of the class with documentation of their parole, and its failure to treat them as having been paroled for all intents and purposes, is unlawful.

97. Additionally, DHS' continued subjection of the plaintiffs and the members of the class to custody under an order of release on recognizance under the auspices of § 1226(a) is unlawful as well.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

98. Plaintiffs bring this action for themselves, and as a class on behalf of other similarly situated persons pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a) and 23(b)(2), and hereby seek to represent the following nationwide class:

All Cuban nationals currently present in the United States:

- (1) who were "applicants for admission" under 8 U. S. C. § 1225(a)(1) at the time of their last physical arrival in the United States;
- (2) who were taken into DHS custody (in the form of physical detention or confinement) within 24 hours of their last physical arrival in the United States;
- (3) who, prior to their subsequent release from physical DHS custody, were subjected to the commencement of direct removal proceedings under § 1229a against them via service of a notice to appear under § 1229(a);
- (4) who were thereafter enlarged or released from physical DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, into the United States pending a final determination of inadmissibility by an immigration judge in removal proceedings under § 1229a;
- (5) who were not, and have not been, provided with documentation of parole under § 1182(d)(5)(A), and who are being treated as not having been paroled at the time of their release from physical DHS custody;
- (6) who were released from physical DHS custody under, and remain subject to, an order of release on recognizance purporting to have been issued under the auspices of § 1226(a); and
- (7) who were not processed for expedited removal under § 1225(b)(1), contiguous return under § 1225(b)(2)(C), or reinstatement of removal under § 1231(a)(5), during and between the time of their last physical arrival in the United States and their subsequent release from physical DHS custody as described above; and
- (8) who have not departed from the United States since their release from physical DHS custody.

Numerosity

99. The proposed class meets the requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1) because they are so numerous that joinder would be impracticable.

100. Here, 985 plaintiffs have brought the instant action on behalf of themselves and the proposed class.

101. While the true number of potential class members cannot be readily determined without further discovery from the Defendant, the class is sufficiently numerous. Ibrahim v. Acosta, 326 F.R.D. 696, 699 (S.D. Fla. 2018) (“While there is no fixed rule, generally a class size less than twenty-one is inadequate, while a class size of more than forty is adequate.”) (citations omitted).

Commonality

102. The proposed classes meet the requirements of Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 23(a)(2) because the members of the class share common issues of law and fact.

103. The common issues of law are whether, under the fact pattern applicable to the class, the release or enlargement of the members of the class from physical DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, occurred pursuant to the parole authority under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5) as a matter of law because there is no other legal basis to explain said release or enlargement.

Typicality

104. The requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3) are satisfied because the named plaintiffs’ claims are typical of those of the proposed class as a whole.

105. The named plaintiffs’ claims are typical of the proposed class because they are in the same factual and procedural posture, have suffered the same injury from the same defendant because of the same legal error made by the defendant (not documenting and otherwise treating their releases from physical DHS custody as parole), and their injuries can be remedied by the same relief requested herein.

Adequacy

106. The requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4) are met because the named plaintiffs will adequately represent the proposed classes, the remedy they seek will cure the injury of all proposed class members, and the undersigned are qualified to represent the classes.

107. The proposed class also satisfies Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(2) because “the party opposing the class has acted or refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the class, so that final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief is appropriate respecting the class as a whole.”

108. Class certification is allowed for habeas claims, even if the All Writs Act is deemed necessary to accomplish class wide relief. See, e.g., U.S. ex rel. Sero v. Preiser, 506 F.2d 1115, 1125–26 (CA2 1974); Bijeol v. Benson, 513 F.2d 965, 967 (CA7 1975); Williams v. Richardson, 481 F.2d 358, 361 (CA8 1973); Mead v. Parker, 464 F.2d 1108, 1112–13 (CA9 1972); Napier v. Gertrude, 542 F.2d 825, 827 & n.5 (CA10 1976); LoBue v. Christopher, 82 F.3d 1081, 1085 (CA11 1996).

109. Accordingly, class wide core and declaratory habeas relief, and declaratory and injunctive APA relief is appropriate and necessary, and is in the best interests of judicial efficiency.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT I HABEAS CORPUS

110. The allegations in paragraphs 1 through 109 are re-alleged and incorporated herein.

111. The plaintiffs’ and the class members’ ongoing subjection to orders of release on recognizance under the purported auspices of 8 U. S. C. § 1226(a) amounts to custody cognizable in habeas under 28 U. S. C. §§ 2241, et seq. See Clements v. Fla., 59 F.4th 1204, 1213 (CA11 2025).

2023) (“non-citizens released on supervision while awaiting a final decision in their immigration proceedings are deemed to be ‘in custody’ for purposes of habeas corpus”) (citing Romero v. Sec’y, DHS, 20 F. 4th 1374, 1379 (CA11 2021); and United States ex rel. Marcello v. Dist. Dir. of INS, New Orleans, 634 F. 2d 964, 971 & n. 11 (5th Cir. 1981) (precedential under Bonner v. City of Prichard, Ala., 661 F. 2d 1206, 1207 (CA11 1981) (en banc))); accord Hensley v. Mun. Ct., 411 U. S. 345 (1973) (holding that “a person released on his own recognizance is ‘in custody’ within the meaning of the federal habeas corpus statute”); Foster v. Gilbert, 264 F. Supp. 209, 211–12 (S.D. Fla. 1967) (“the petitioner, having been released from arrest in the custody of his attorney, . . . is enough to constitute ‘custody’”).

112. In addition to immediate release from custody, “[d]eclaratory and injunctive relief are proper habeas remedies.” Mayorga v. Meade, No. 24-cv-22131-BLOOM/Elfenbein, 2024 WL 4298815, at *2 (S.D. Fla. Sept. 26, 2024) (citations omitted); accord Carafas v. LaVallee, 391 U. S. 234, 239 (1968) (“[T]he statute does not limit the relief that may be granted to discharge of the applicant from physical custody.”); id. (“The 1966 amendments to the habeas corpus statute seem specifically to contemplate the possibility of relief other than immediate release from physical custody.”) (emphasis added).

113. Importantly, an order of release from custody is not an injunctive remedy. Preiser v. Rodriguez, 411 U. S. 475, 484 (1973) (“It is clear . . . from the common-law history of the writ, that the essence of habeas corpus is an attack by a person in custody upon the legality of that custody, and that the traditional function of the writ is to secure release from illegal custody.”) (emphasis added); compare Dep’t of Homeland Sec. v. Thuraissigiam, 591 U. S. 103, 118 (2020) (“Such relief might fit an injunction or writ of mandamus—which tellingly, his petition also requested, id., at 33—but that relief falls outside the scope of the common-law habeas writ.”); id.

(“the historic role of habeas is to secure release from custody”) (emphasis added); see also Wilkinson v. Dotson, 544 U. S. 74, 79–80 (2005) (contrasting “an otherwise proper injunction” from “immediate release or a shorter period of incarceration”) (emphasis added); Munaf v. Geren, 553 U. S. 674, 692 (2008) (contrasting “request[ing] an injunction” from “seek[ing] ‘release’”) (emphasis added); contrast Garland v. Aleman Gonzalez, 596 U. S. 543, 551 (2022) (addressing “injunctions requiring the Government to provide bond hearings”).

114. The plaintiffs and the proposed class were subject to mandatory detention under 8 U. S. C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) at the time they were physically released from immigration custody via orders of release on recognizance under the purported auspices of 8 U. S. C. § 1226(a).

115. As such, parole under § 1182(d)(5) would have been the only lawful basis to release the plaintiffs and the class members from physical immigration custody, and thus the plaintiffs and the class members are not lawfully subject to orders of release on recognizance under the purported auspices of 8 U. S. C. § 1226(a).

116. Therefore, the plaintiffs and the class members are entitled to a writ (or writs) of habeas corpus immediately releasing them from their orders of release on recognizance, and declaring that they were paroled out of custody, thereby making them subject only to lawful conditions of parole under § 1182(d)(5) and its implementing regulations.

COUNT II DECLARATORY RELIEF REGARDING UNLAWFUL WITHHOLDING OF PAROLE DOCUMENTATION

117. The allegations in paragraphs 1 through 109 are re-alleged and incorporated herein.

118. Under 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2), “[a]ny alien paroled into the United States under section 212(d)(5) of the Act, including any alien crewmember, shall be issued a completely executed Form I-94, endorsed with the parole stamp.” (emphasis added).

119. Under § 235.1(h)(2), the defendant has a mandatory, nondiscretionary obligation to provide evidence of parole to persons who have been paroled into the United States.

120. Although the only lawful explanation for the plaintiffs' and the class members' release from physical DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, is via parole under 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5), the defendant failed to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2).

121. The plaintiffs and the class members have "suffer[ed] legal wrong," and have been "adversely affected" and "aggrieved" by the actions of the defendant. 5 U. S. C. § 702.

122. The defendant's failure to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2) amounts to an unlawful withholding of agency action. § 706(1).

123. As such, the plaintiffs and the class members are entitled to declaratory relief, § 703, ruling that their releases from physical DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, were paroles under 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5)(A), and thus defendant has unlawfully failed to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2).

COUNT III
INJUNCTIVE RELIEF REGARDING
UNLAWFUL WITHHOLDING OF PAROLE DOCUMENTATION

124. The allegations in paragraphs 1 through 109 are re-alleged and incorporated herein.

125. Under 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2), "[a]ny alien paroled into the United States under section 212(d)(5) of the Act, including any alien crewmember, shall be issued a completely executed Form I-94, endorsed with the parole stamp." (emphasis added).

126. Under § 235.1(h)(2), the defendant has a mandatory, nondiscretionary obligation to provide evidence of parole to persons who have been paroled into the United States.

127. Although the only lawful explanation for the plaintiffs' and the class members' release from physical DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, is via parole under 8 U. S. C. § 1182(d)(5), the defendant failed to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2).

128. The plaintiffs and the class members have "suffer[ed] legal wrong," and have been "adversely affected" and "aggrieved" by the actions of the defendant. 5 U. S. C. § 702.

129. The defendant's failure to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2) amounts to an unlawful withholding of agency action. § 706(1).

130. As such, the plaintiffs and the class members are entitled to injunctive relief, § 703, ordering that the defendant provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2).

131. Further, the plaintiffs and the class members are entitled to injunctive relief, § 703, enjoining the defendant from refusing to recognize that the plaintiffs and the class members have been inspected and paroled into the United States for all intents and purposes.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Based upon the foregoing, the plaintiffs pray that the Court grant the following relief:

- (a) Assume jurisdiction over this matter;
- (b) Certify the proposed class, appoint a designated subset of the named plaintiffs as class representatives, and appoint the undersigned as class counsel;
- (c) Order the defendant to identify all class members who were not provided parole at the time of their release from DHS custody;

- (d) Under Count I, issue a writ (or writs) of habeas corpus immediately releasing the plaintiffs and the class members from their orders of release on recognizance, and declaring that they were paroled out of custody, thereby making them subject only to lawful conditions of parole under § 1182(d)(5) and its implementing regulations;
- (e) Under Count II, declare that the plaintiffs' and the class members' releases from physical DHS custody, by DHS of its own volition, were paroles under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A), and that the defendant has unlawfully failed to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2);
- (f) Under Count III, order the defendant to provide the plaintiffs and the class members with evidence of their parole out of physical custody as required by 8 CFR § 235.1(h)(2);
- (g) Under Count III, enjoin the defendant from refusing to recognize that the plaintiffs and the class members have been inspected and paroled into the United States for all intents and purposes;
- (h) Retain jurisdiction over this case to ensure compliance with all of this Court's orders;
- (i) Award costs, and attorney's fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA), as amended, 5 U.S.C. § 2412, and on any other basis justified under law; and
- (j) Grant any other and further relief that the Court deems just and proper.
