IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF OKLAHOMA

OSCAR MEDINA-HERRERA,

PETITIONER,

v.

KRISTI NOEM, Secretary, U.S. Department of Homeland Security; U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY; Todd LYONS, Acting Director of ICE; Pamela BONDI, U.S. Attorney General; Josh JOHNSON, Field Office Director of Enforcement and Removal Operations, Dallas Field Office, Immigration and Customs Enforcement; Mark FOREMAN, Warden of Cimarron Correctional Facility, RESPONDENTS.

Case No. 5:25-cv-1203-J

PETITION FOR A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS PURSUANT TO 28 U.S.C. § 2241, BY A PERSON SUBJECT TO UNLAWFUL DETENTION

AMENDED PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS[1]

1. Almost thirty years ago Congress passed the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996, colloquially referred to as IIRIRA. In the nearly three decades since its passage, non-citizens who were found within the United States who had not been admitted or inspected by an immigration officer (colloquially referred to as "EWI") who were placed into removal proceedings were entitled to a bond hearing before a neutral immigration judge (IJ). And, provided they were not subject to "mandatory detention" because they were described in either 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c) or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h), such non-citizens were granted bond by IJs across the United States once it was determined they were neither a flight nor safety risk. Simply put, the fact that non-citizens were not subject to mandatory detention during removal proceedings on the basis of being EWI alone, was and still is, just that—a fact.

[1] The amendment is limited to updating and correcting the string cite found at footnote 4 below.

2. In January 2025, Congress—fully cognizant of this fact—passed the Laken Riley Act ("LRA") to expand the class of non-citizens present in the country without having been admitted who were subject to mandatory detention under § 1226(c). Specifically, the LRA made non-citizens who were present in the country without admission and had been charged with, arrested for, or convicted of burglary, theft, larceny, shoplifting, or assaulting a police officer, among those subject to mandatory detention under § 1226(c). To be clear, the only noncitizens who the LRA is applicable to are those who fall within the definition of an "applicant for admission" as by 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1) and have been arrested, charged with, or convicted of, one the listed offenses. The LRA epitomized Congressional legislation which was unequivocally aimed at making a class of noncitizens subject to mandatory detention (i.e. not entitled to a bond hearing before an IJ) who were not subject to mandatory detention under the INA as it stood for nearly three decades.

3. After decades of non-citizens who were AFA being granted bonds and the passage of the LRA, on July 8, 2025, ICE, "in coordination with" DOJ, announced a new policy that rejected the well-established understanding of the statutory framework, reversed decades of practice, and rendered the LRA completely meaningless.[2] The new policy, entitled "Interim Guidance Regarding Detention Authority for Applicants for Admission,"[3] claims that all non-citizen AFAs are subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A). The Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) issued a decision in Matter of Hurtado, 29 I & N Dec. 216 (BIA Sept. 5, 2025) rubberstamping this new policy on September 5, 2025. The BIA's decision in Matter of Hurtado, however, ignores countless long-standing cannons of statutory construction, agency practice for nearly three decades, and the due process clauses of the U.S. Constitution.

4. Recent weeks have seen numerous district courts granting habeas petitions filed by noncitizens being unlawfully detained by ICE without being provided the bond hearing proscribed by 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) based on the seemingly unanimous rejection of the government's novel interpretation of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A).[4] Whether it be based

---

[2] Available at https://www.aila.org/library/ice-memo-interim-guidance-regarding-detention-authority-for-applications-for-admission.

[3] Id.

[4] See Jose J.O.E. v. Bondi, No. 25-CV-3051 (ECT/DJF), 2025 WL 2466670 (D. Minn. Aug. 27, 2025); Maldonado v. Olson, No. 25-CV-3142 (SRN/SGE), 2025 WL 2374411 (D. Minn. Aug. 15, 2025); Ferrera Bejarano v. Bondi, 25-cv-03236 (D. Minn. Aug 18, 2025);Aguilar Vazquez v. Bondi, 25-cv-03162 (D. Minn. Aug 19, 2025); Tiburcio Garcia v. Bondi, 25-CV-03219 (D. Minn. Aug. 29, 2025); Carmona-Lorenzo v. Trump, No. 4:25CV3172, 2025 WL 2531521 (D. Neb. Sept. 3, 2025); Cortes Fernandez v. Lyons, No. 8:25CV506, 2025 WL 2531539 (D. Neb. Sept. 3, 2025); Palma Perez v. Berg, No. 8:25CV494, 2025 WL 2531566 (D. Neb. Sept. 3, 2025); Jacinto v. Trump, No. 4:25CV3161, 2025 WL 2402271 (D. Neb. Aug. 19, 2025); Garcia Jimenez v. Kramer, No. 4:25CV3162, 2025 WL 2374223 (D. Neb. Aug. 14, 2025); Anicasio v. Kramer, No. 4:25CV3158, 2025 WL 2374224 (D. Neb. Aug. 14, 2025); Arce v. Trump, No. 8:25CV520, 2025 WL 2675934 (D. Neb. Sept. 18, 2025); Giron Reyes v. Lyons, No. C25-4048-LTS-MAR, 2025 WL 2712427 (N.D. Iowa Sept. 23, 2025); Sampiao v. Hyde, No. 1:25-CV-11981-JEK, 2025 WL 2607924 (D. Mass. Sept. 9, 2025); Jimenez v. FCI Berlin, No. 25-cv-326-LM-AJ (D.N.H. Sept. 8, 2025); Doe v. Moniz, No. 1:25-CV-12094-IT, 2025 WL 2576819 (D. Mass. Sept. 5, 2025); Romero, No. CV 25-11631-BEM, 2025 WL 2403827, at *8 (D. Mass. Aug. 19, 2025); Martinez v. Hyde, No. CV 25-11613-BEM, 2025 WL 2084238 (D. Mass. July 24, 2025); dos Santos v. Noem, No. 1:25-CV-12052-JEK, 2025 WL 2370988 (D. Mass. Aug. 14, 2025); Gomes v. Hyde, No. 1:25-CV-11571-JEK, 2025 WL 1869299 (D. Mass. July 7, 2025); Choglio Chafla v. Scott, 2025 WL 2688541 (D. Me. Sept. 21, 2025); Chiliquinga Yumbillo v. Stamper, No. 2:25-CV-00479-SDN, 2025 WL 2688160 (D. Me. Sept. 19, 2025); Samb v. Joyce, No. 25 CIV. 6373 (DEH), 2025 WL 2398831 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 19, 2025); Leal-Hernandez v. Noem, No. 1:25-CV-02428-JRR, 2025 WL 2430025 (D. Md. Aug. 24, 2025); Kostak v. Trump, No. CV 3:25-1093, 2025 WL 2472136 (W.D. La. Aug. 27, 2025); Lopez-Arevelo v. Ripa, No. EP-25-CV-337-KC, 2025 WL 2691828 (W.D. Tex. Sept. 22, 2025); Hasan v. Crawford, No. 1:25-CV-1408 (LMB/IDD), 2025 WL 2682255 (E.D. Va. Sept. 19, 2025); Beltran Barrera v. Tindall, 2025 WL 2690565 (W.D. Ky. Sept. 19, 2025); Singh v. Lewis, No. 4:25-CV-96-RGJ, 2025 WL 2699219 (W.D. Ky. Sept. 22, 2025); Pizarro Reyes v. Raycraft, No. 25-CV-12546, 2025 WL 2609425 (E.D. Mich. Sept. 9, 2025); Lopez-Campos v. Raycraft, No. 2:25-CV-12486, 2025 WL 2496379 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 29, 2025); Rodriguez v. Bostock, 779 F. Supp. 3d 1239 (W.D. Wash. 2025); Cuevas Guzman v. Andrews, No. 1:25-CV-01015-KES-SKO (HC), 2025 WL 2617256 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 9, 2025); Caicedo Hinestroza v. Kaiser, No. 25-CV-07559-JD, 2025 WL 2606983 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 9, 2025); Zaragoza Mosqueda v. Noem, No. 5:25-CV-02304 CAS (BFM), 2025 WL 2591530 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 8, 2025); Hernandez Nieves v. Kaiser, No. 25-CV-06921-LB, 2025 WL 2533110 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 3, 2025); Garcia v. Noem, No. 25-CV-02180-DMS-MMP, 2025 WL 2549431 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 3, 2025); Arrazola-Gonzalez v. Noem, No. 5:25-CV-01789-ODW (DFMX), 2025 WL 2379285 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 15, 2025); Lepe v. Andrews, No. 1:25-CV-01163-KES-SKO (HC), 2025 WL 2716910 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 23, 2025); Jabara Oliveros v. Kaiser, 2025 WL 2677125 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025); Castellanos v. Kaiser, No. 25-CV-07962, 2025 WL 2689853 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025); Leon Espinoza v. Kaiser, No. 1:25-CV-01101 JLT SKO, 2025 WL 2675785 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025); Rosado v. Figueroa, No. CV 25-02157 PHX DLR (CDB), 2025 WL 2337099 (D. Ariz. Aug. 11, 2025); Aceros v. Kaiser, et al., 25-CV-06924-EMC (EMC), 2025 WL 2637503 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 12, 2025); Chanaguano Caiza v. Scott, 25-cv-00500, 2025 WL 2806416, at *3 (D. Me. Oct. 2, 2025); Belsai D.S. v. Bondi, No. 25-cv-3682, 2025 WL 2802947, at *6 (D. Minn. Oct. 1, 2025);Buenrostro-Mendez v. Bondi, et al., No. CV H-25-3726, 2025 WL 2886346, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Oct. 7, 2025);Francisco T. v. Bondi, — F. Supp. 3d —, 2025 WL 2629839, at *3-4 (D. Minn. 2025);Guerrero Orellana v. Moniz, No. 25-CV-12664-PBS, 2025 WL 2809996, at *5 (D. Mass. Oct. 3, 2025);Guzman Alfaro v. Wamsley, No. 2:25-CV-01706-TMC, 2025 WL 2822113, at *3 (W.D. Wash. Oct. 2, 2025);Inlago Tocagon v. Moniz, — F. Supp. 3d —, 2025 WL 2778023 (D. Mass. 2025);J.U. v. Maldonado, 25-CV-04836, 2025 WL 2772765, at *5 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 29, 2025);Lopez v. Hardin, No. 25-cv-830, 2025 WL 2732717, at *2 (M.D. Fla. Sept. 25, 2025)(agreeing on substantive claim but oddly not ordering any real relief in this decision);Luna Quispe v. Crawford, et al., No. 1:25-CV-1471-AJT-LRV, 2025

on statutory interpretation of the relevant statutes or the U.S. Constitution, district court decisions have flooded in over the past few weeks soundly rejecting the government's position and ordering the government to immediately release or provide bond hearings to the noncitizen habeas petitioners.[5]

5. Mr. Medina-Herrera files this position seeking the Court's immediate intervention to ensure Petitioner does not continue to be unlawfully detained by the government based on a new novel theory that belies decades of contradictory agency action and interpretation, ignores all of the most basic cannons of statutory construction, and is nothing more than a thinly veiled attempt to increase the pace of removal orders through a concerted effort to deprive noncitizens of the due process guaranteed by the Constitution and INA.

WL 2783799, at *6 (E.D. Va. Sept. 29, 2025);Maldonado Vazquez v. Feeley, 2:25-CV-01542-RFB-EJY, 2025 WL 2676082 (D. Nev. Sept. 17, 2025); Mosqueda v. Noem, 5:25-CV-02304 CAS (BFM), 2025 WL 2591530 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 8, 2025) (same); Pablo Sequen v. Kaiser, No. 25-cv-06487, 2025 WL 2650637, at *7-8 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 16, 2025); Rivera Zumba v. Bondi, No. 25-cv-14626, 2025 WL 2753496, at *7 (D.N.J. Sept. 26, 2025); S.D.B.B. v. Johnson et. al., No. 1:25-CV-882, 2025 WL 2845170, at *5 (M.D.N.C. Oct. 7, 2025); Velasquez Salazar v. Dedos, No. 25-cv-835, 2025 WL 2676729 (D.N.M. Sept. 17, 2025.

[5] Compare Lopez-Arevelo v. Ripa, No. EP-25-CV-337-KC, 2025 WL 2691828, at *7 (W.D. Tex. Sept. 22, 2025) (holding the government's new position violated the due process clause of the U.S. constitution and ordering the government to either release the petitioner or provide a prompt bond hearing without finding it necessary to reach the statutory interpretation arguments); see also Lepe v. Andrews, No. 1:25-CV-01163-KES-SKO (HC), 2025 WL 2716910, at *4 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 23, 2025) (gathering recent cases to support its conclusions that "[t]he government's proposed interpretation of the statute (1) disregards the plain meaning of section 1225(b)(2)(A); (2) disregards the relationship between sections 1225 and 1226; (3) would render a recent amendment to section 1226(c) superfluous; and (4) is inconsistent with decades of prior statutory interpretation and practice").

JURISDICTION

6. This case arises under the Constitution of the United States, the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA"), 8 U.S.C. § 1101, et seq., and the Administrative Procedures Act ("APA"), 5 U.S.C. §§ 500-596, 701-706.

7. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 2241, et seq. (habeas corpus), U.S. Const. art. I, § 9, cl. 2 (Suspension Clause), 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question), 28 U.S.C. § 1346 (United States as Respondent), and 28 U.S.C. § 1651 (All Writs Act). Respondents have waived sovereign immunity for purposes of this suit. 5 U.S.C. §§ 702, 706.

8. The Court may grant relief under the habeas corpus statutes, 28 U.S.C. § 2241, et. seq.; the Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2201, et seq.; the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651; and the Court's inherent equitable powers.

9. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e)(1) because Respondents are agencies or officers of agencies of the United States, Respondents and Petitioner reside in this District, Petitioner is detained in this District at Cimarron Correctional Facility, and a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to Petitioner's claims occurred in this District.[6]

HABEAS CORPUS PURPOSE AND REQUIREMENTS

[6] (Ex. 1 ICE Detainee Locator.)

10. The writ of habeas corpus is "available to every individual detained within the United States."[7] "The essence of habeas corpus is an attack by a person in custody upon the legality of that custody, and ... the traditional function of the writ is to secure release from illegal custody."[8] "Historically, 'the writ of habeas corpus has served as a means of reviewing the legality of Executive detention, and it is in that context that its protections have been strongest.'"[9] "A district court's habeas jurisdiction," therefore, "includes challenges to immigration-related detention."[10]

11. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2243, a court may grant the petition for writ of habeas corpus or issue an order to show cause ("OSC") to the respondents "forthwith."[11] If an order to show cause is issued, respondents should generally be required to file a return "within three days unless for good cause additional time . . . is allowed."[12]

PARTIES

12. Petitioner is a citizen of Mexico who entered the U.S. without inspection more than 22 years ago. He was detained by ICE on July 16, 2025. After detaining Petitioner, ICE did not set a bond. Petitioner was previously granted a bond by an IJ in January 2019 after DHS placed him in removal proceedings in December 2018. Those

---

[7] Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 525 (2004) (citing U.S. Const., Art I, § 9, cl. 2).

[8] Preiser v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 475, 484 (1973).

[9] Vazquez v. Feeley, No. 2:25-CV-01542-RFB-EJY, 2025 WL 2676082, at *3–6 (D. Nev. Sept. 17, 2025) (quoting I.N.S. v. St. Cyr, 533 U.S. 289, 301 (2001)).

[10] Id. (citing Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 687 (2001) and Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 517 (2003)).

[11] 28 U.S.C. § 2243.

[12] Id. (emphasis added).

removal proceedings ultimately were dismissed by DHS who, with the benefit of extensive evidence and a day's worth of testimony at a hearing in August 2024, determined Mr. Medina-Herrera had led an exemplary life in the two decades he had lived in the United States and was not a danger to the community or the nation's security. Seven years (and a little bad luck) later, Mr Medina-Herrera was detained by ICE on July 16, 2025. After detaining him, ICE did not set a bond. Thereafter, Mr. Medina-Herrera filed a motion with the immigration court requesting the bond hearing he, and others similarly situated, are entitled to under 8 U.S.C. § 1226. The IJ, however, denied his request for a bond hearing based on the government's novel new interpretation of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) announced by ICE Director Lyons a few weeks earlier. This new novel (incorrect) interpretation was rubberstamped by the BIA on September 5, 2025, when it issued a published decision in in Matter of Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). Accordingly, Mr. Medina-Herrera's bond hearing did not and will not take place. This, to be clear, is solely based on the government's new position. His detention is not and has never been based on a claim that he is a flight risk, danger, or described in § 1226(c) or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h); rather, the government is detaining solely because he entered the United States without inspection more than 22 years ago. Nothing more.

13. Respondent Kristi Noem is the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security. She is responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), and oversees ICE, which is responsible for Petitioner's detention. Ms. Noem has ultimate custodial authority over Petitioner and is sued in her official capacity.

14. Respondent Department of Homeland Security (DHS) is the federal agency responsible for implementing and enforcing the INA, including the detention and removal of noncitizens.

15. Respondent Pamela Bondi is the Attorney General of the United States. She is responsible for the Department of Justice, of which the Executive Office for Immigration Review and the immigration court system it operates is a component agency. She is sued in her official capacity.

16. Respondent Todd Lyons is Acting Director and Senior Official Performing the Duties of the Director of ICE. Respondent Lyons is responsible for ICE's policies, practices, and procedures, including those relating to removal procedures and the detention of immigrants during their removal procedures. Respondent Lyons is a legal custodian of Petitioner. Respondent Lyons is sued in his official capacity.

17. Respondent Josh Johnson is the Director of the Dallas Field Office of ICE's Enforcement and Removal Operations division whose jurisdiction the Cimarron Correctional Facility falls under. As such, Mr. Johnson is Petitioner's immediate custodian and is responsible for Petitioner's detention and removal. He is named in his official capacity.

18. Respondent Mark Foreman is the Warden of the Cimarron Correctional Facility and, as a result, is who has immediate physical custody of Petitioner. Warden Foreman is sued in his official capacity.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

19. The Petitioner, Mr. Medina-Herrera, a native of Mexico, is a loving father and devoted husband who has been an integral part of his Texas community for over two decades. Indeed, his entire life is here: his wife and three U.S. citizen children, his extended family, his home, and a senior-level career he has built over a decade of dedicated service. Simply put, Mr. Medina-Herrera is an individual with exceptionally strong ties to the United States, a profound commitment to his family, a distinguished professional career, and an outstanding moral character. He has been a resident of Sanger, Texas, since 2017, where he lives with his wife of over 15 years and their three U.S. citizen children ages 22, 15, and 14. His children, identify him as their leader, role model, and the sole financial provider for their household, underscoring the immense positive impact he has on their lives and the stability he provides.[13]

20. Professionally, Mr. Medina-Herrera has demonstrated an exemplary work ethic and has achieved significant success.[14] He has been employed with for over a decade, with his employer of 27 years having nothing but incredible things to say about him. Mr. Medina-Herrera's character, work ethic, and ability to see the strengths (rather than weaknesses) in the numerous employees he oversees is what led to his progression from an apprentice when he started to his current critical role as Field Operations Manager.[15] In this capacity, he manages over 100 employees and oversees complex, multi-million dollar

---

[13] (See Ex. 4. pp. 205 – 227.)

[14] (Id. at pp. 59-61.)

[15] (Id.)

projects, and is described by the company's President, Vice President, and Controller as an indispensable leader whose integrity and expertise have been integral to the company's success. He is a licensed Plumber in the State of Texas, a credential that reflects his skill and dedication to his trade. His financial documents further affirm his stability and contributions, showing consistent, substantial income through joint tax returns filed annually from 2020 through 2024 and a significant, fully vested 401(k) retirement account.[16]

21. Numerous individuals (family, friends, and professional colleagues) who wrote character letters on his behalf paint a remarkably consistent portrait of Mr. Medina-Herrera as a man of great integrity, kindness, and generosity.[17] He is repeatedly described as a dedicated and loving father and husband, a trustworthy and supportive friend, and a respected mentor who has guided numerous colleagues in their own careers. Friends and family attest to his willingness to help anyone in need, his positive attitude, and his role as a pillar of support within his community. His employer, Lorne Neu, describes his life as a "testament to his work ethic and character," while coworkers credit him directly for their professional advancement and success. [18]

22. Mr. Medina-Herrera is a man of strong moral fiber, deeply committed to his family, and a valued asset to both his workplace and his community.

---

[16] (See Ex. 4. pp. 105 – 191.)

[17] (See Ex. 4. pp. 59-61, 205 – 227.)

[18] (Id.)

23. On December 27, 2018, Mr. Medina-Herrera was encountered by ICE who detained him for removal proceedings based on a warrant issued under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).[19] On January 15, 2019, an Immigration Judge correctly determined that the Court possessed jurisdiction over Mr. Medina-Herrera's custody and granted him a bond, which he posted.[20] No one ever suggested Mr. Medina-Herrera was subject to mandatory detention or that the Immigration Judge did not have jurisdiction to grant a bond. This, of course, is the result of everyone—ICE, EOIR, Article III courts, and immigration attorneys—all recognizing the undeniable fact that entering the country without inspection is not, by itself, a bar to an IJ's jurisdiction to hold a bond hearing and grant a bond under § 1226 which was last amended (at that time in 2019) in 1996 when IRRIRA was enacted.

24. After being released on bond, Mr. Medina-Herrera appeared for every one of his immigration hearings. These hearings culminated in a final hearing on an application for cancellation of removal. Following the submission of extensive evidence and taking testimony, the hearing reached a point at which it had to be continued to allow for the presentation of the rest of Mr. Medina-Herrera's witnesses. At that point, however, DHS offered (as it had before the hearing began) to agree to dismiss his removal proceedings as it was of the opinion that Mr. Medina-Herrera had the good moral character and equities for his application to be granted but did not believe it could agree that he had met the extremely high hardship standard—a necessary predicate for the relief he sought. Because

---

[19] (Ex. 2 – I-213 Record of Deportable Alien and NTA (Dated 12/27/2018).)

[20] (Ex. 4 - Screenshot Showing IJ Granted Bond on 1.15.2019.)

Mr. Medina-Herrera's exemplary life in the U.S. for more than two decades did not make him a priority for the agency, they sought his agreement to dismiss the case both before the hearing and at the end of testimony that day.[21] The IJ presiding over his prior removal proceedings ultimately agreed with DHS' conclusion and stated during the final hearing of those proceedings that he was confident that Mr. Medina-Herrera's sole blemish (a DUI arrest in 2018 that preceded ICE's detention of him) was just that—an outlier.

25. Ultimately, Mr. Medina-Herrera accepted the offer of dismissal. Thereafter, his proceedings were dismissed and both parties waived appeal.[22]

26. Seven years later, Mr. Medina-Herrera and his wife were driving home from a gathering of their family and friends when they pulled off the highway and parked on the shoulder of the road.[23] Unbeknownst to Mr. Medina-Herrera and his wife (who was the driver of the vehicle), there had been an accident a little further down the highway in which one of the drivers had abandoned the scene (and the vehicle he/she was driving). This was brought to their attention by a police officer who approached them and their vehicle on foot. Though no one ever alleged Mr. Medina-Herrera was involved in the accident (as he was not) or that he had been driving their vehicle (again, as he was not), he had a few drinks and was technically publicly intoxicated. Mr. Medina-Herrera was arrested at that time. A

---

[21] (Ex. 3 – IJ Order Dismissing Proceedings on 8/14/2024.)

[22] (Id.)

[23] They pulled off the road at after 10 pm, when it was dark and they were in a fairly isolated area which allowed Mr. Medina the opportunity to privately assist with an overfilled kidney issue that had become more urgent during their quasi-long drive home.

few days later, Mr. Medina-Herrera was transferred to ICE custody where he has remained without being provided the bond hearing he is statutorily entitled to under the INA.

27. Subsequently ICE detained him for removal proceedings and claimed they had issued a new NTA charging him is inadmissible under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)—just like the one issued in 2018.[24] After being transferred to ICE custody in Texas, he was moved hundreds of miles away to the Cimmaron Detention Center located in Cushing, Oklahoma.[25]

28. Thereafter, a motion for a bond hearing was filed with the immigration court having jurisdiction over detainees being held at the Cimmaron Detention Center.[26] Prior to the bond hearing, extensive evidence was submitted, as well as a prehearing statement, which demonstrated Mr. Medina-Herrera was neither a flight risk nor a danger to the community. These conclusions were supported by the prior removal proceedings which were ultimately dismissed as a matter of prosecutorial discretion as discussed above. Given the evidence and the conclusions reached by both ICE and the IJ less than a year earlier, the bond hearing he requested in 2025, just like the one he had in 2018, should have been fairly simple and straightforward. ICE certainly could have tried to contradict its position when the prior removal proceedings were dismissed or sought to claim being public intoxicated (though only encountered as a result of bad luck) changed the danger analysis

---

[24] In 2024, Mr. Medina's removal proceedings were dismissed. Accordingly, a new NTA was issued when he was placed in removal proceedings in July 2025.

[25] (Ex. 1 – ICE Detainee Locator Showing Petitioner in Custody within this Court's Jurisdiction.)

[26] (Ex. 4 – Entire eROP for Bond Proceedings in 2025.)

somehow. This, after all, is precisely what bond hearings before a neutral adjudicator are for: settling any disagreements between the parties about flight risk and danger. That is, of course, what led to Mr. Medina-Herrera being granted a bond in January 2019. This is not, however, what happened.

29. At a bond hearing on August 1, 2025, the Immigration Judge refused to hold a bond hearing. Instead, the IJ curtly cut off every attempt Mr. Medina-Herrera's counsel made to address any jurisdictional concerns so a bond hearing could be held and bond could be set as the evidence left no doubt he was neither a flight nor safety risk. At one point, the IJ explicitly told Mr. Medina-Herrera's counsel she didn't want to hear anything about statutory construction, the Laken Riley Act, because those things had nothing to do with her conclusion that she did not have jurisdiction.

30. Nothing about the relevant facts or law related to bond jurisdiction had changed between January 2019 when he was granted bond by an IJ after a bond hearing pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1226. Nonetheless, the IJ acted as though it should have been obvious that she did not have jurisdiction based on nothing more than the fact that Mr. Medina-Herrera last entered without inspection in 2003 and the Supreme Court's decision in Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281 (2018)—which was issued nearly a year before an IJ granted Mr. Medina-Herrera a bond after a hearing pursuant to § 1226.

31. After refusing to let Mr. Medina-Herrera present any kind of arguments about statutory construction, (calling them irrelevant), the IJ's own decision inserted on to a standard form claimed to be based on the statute's meaning/language (also known as statutory construction) and Jennings.

32. On August 3, 2025, Mr. Medina-Herrera filed a motion to reconsider the bond decision. The motion to reconsider made nearly all the arguments/points that have been relied on by the constantly growing list of U.S. district courts who have already granted habeas petitions on this exact issue. Nonetheless, on August 13, 2015, the IJ denied the motion to reconsider stating, (in the first paragraph of a decision totaling two substantive paragraphs), that:

> The Court has reviewed the Respondent's argument regarding the Laken-Riley act, and understands the apparent discrepancy between INA sec. 235(b)(2) and those subject to mandatory detention under INA sec. 236(c)(1)(E)(i), (ii). However, the United States Supreme Court clearly held in Jennings v. Rodriguez, that "applicants for admission fall into one of two categories, those covered by § 235(1) and those covered by § 235(2)" 583 U.S. at 287. The Supreme Court further stated that, "[r]ead most naturally, §§ 235(1) and (b)(2) thus mandate detention of applicants for admission until certain proceedings have concluded.[27]

33. Any appeal of this decision to the BIA would have been futile for a variety of reasons. This was made abundantly clear on September 5, 2025, when the BIA issued a published decision in Matter of Hurtado which acted as a rubberstamp to the new novel interpretation ICE Director Lyons had announced ICE would now be taking in conjunction with EOIR.

34. In addition to Mr. Medina-Herrera's detention being unlawful and unnecessarily prolonged as a result of the government's incorrect new novel interpretation of § 1225(b)(2)(A), it was further delayed by the fact that DHS and EOIR failed to properly docket the NTA in his removal proceedings. Contrary to DHS' claims on August 1, 2025,

---

[27] (Ex. 5 at pp. 1-2.)

indicating it had properly filed the NTA with EOIR that day, it took several phone calls and emails before a NTA was finally filed on ECAS (EOIR's online case filing system). That NTA was dated the same date as it was filed: September 18, 2025.[28]

35. In other words, Mr. Medina-Herrera has not only been subject to unlawful detention without the bond hearing he is entitled to under the INA and U.S. Constitution, that detention was unnecessarily prolonged by approximately 50-days solely due to the government's failure to actually initiate the removal proceedings through the proper filing of a NTA.

36. Mr. Medina-Herrera now seeks this court's urgent intervention to prevent this unlawful detention from continuing any longer.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

I. Overview of the INA's Detention Provisions, IIRIRA's Amendments, Decades of Consistency, and the Recent Passage of the Laken Riley Act.

37. This case concerns the INA's detention provisions of the INA found at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) and 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

38. The detention provisions of the INA prescribe three basic forms of detention for noncitizens.[29]

39. First, 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) applies to noncitizens already in the Country and authorizes the detention of noncitizens, pursuant to a warrant, who are placed in removal

---

[28] (Ex. 6 – NTA Dated 9.18.25.)

[29] See Vazquez v. Feeley, No. 2:25-CV-01542-RFB-EJY, 2025 WL 2676082, at *3–6 (D. Nev. Sept. 17, 2025) ("The INA generally provides for three forms of civil detention for noncitizens in removal proceedings.").

proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a before an IJ.[30] Individuals who are detained pursuant to § 1226(a) are entitled to a bond hearing before a neutral IJ at the outset of their detention provided they are not subject to "mandatory detention" because they are described in either 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c) or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h).[31]

40. Second, the INA provides for mandatory detention of noncitizens subject to expedited removal under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) as a result of being found within in a few weeks of entry and near the land border and other recent arrivals seeking admission under § 1225(b)(2).[32]

41. Lastly, the INA also provides for detention of noncitizens who have been ordered removed, including individuals in withholding-only proceedings.[33]

---

[30] See id. at *3; Hasan v. Crawford, No. 1:25-CV-1408 (LMB/IDD), 2025 WL 2682255, at *8 (E.D. Va. Sept. 19, 2025) ("In Jennings, the Court explained that § 1225(b) governs 'aliens seeking admission into the country' whereas § 1226(a) governs 'aliens already in the country' who are subject to removal proceedings.")(quoting Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 289 (2018)).

[31] 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) and (c); 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.19(a), 1236.1(d; see also Salazar v. Dedos, No. 1:25-CV-00835-DHU-JMR, 2025 WL 2676729, at *4 (D.N.M. Sept. 17, 2025) ("Once a noncitizen is within the United States, '[§] 1226 generally governs the process of arresting and detaining [these noncitizens] pending their removal.'")(quoting Jennings, 583 U.S. at 288).

[32] See Salazar v. Dedos, No. 1:25-CV-00835-DHU-JMR, 2025 WL 2676729, at *4 (D.N.M. Sept. 17, 2025) ("As stated by the Supreme Court, "U.S. immigration law authorizes the Government to detain certain [noncitizens] seeking admission into the country under §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2)" and to "detain certain [noncitizens] already in the country pending the outcome of removal proceedings under §§ 1226(a) and (c).""")(quoting Jennings, 583 U.S. at 289).

[33] 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)–(b).

42. The detention provisions at 8 U.S.C. § 1225 and § 1226 were amended ed as part of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996,[34] and were most recently amended earlier this year by the Laken Riley Act.[35]

43. Prior to the enactment of the IIRIRA, noncitizens arrested in the interior and charged with entering the U.S. without inspection were entitled to a custody hearing before" a neutral adjudicator, "while those stopped at the border were only entitled to release on parole.[36] When the detention provisions were amendedby IIRIRA Congress clarified "the amendment of § 1226(a) simply "restate[d]" the detention authority previously found at § 1252(a) "to arrest, detain, and release on bond a[ ] [noncitizen] who is not lawfully in the United States."[37] Meanwhile, the amendments did not disturb "the existing mandatory detention scheme for noncitizens arriving in the U.S. without a clear right to admission and expanded the scope of that detention scheme to include certain recently arrived noncitizens."[38] These amendments and the statutory scheme simply "reflected [Congress'] understanding of longstanding due process precedent that [34] Pub. L. No. 104—208, Div. C, §§ 302–03, 110 Stat. 3009-546, 3009–582 to 3009–583, 3009–585. Section 1226(a).

---

[35] Pub. L. No.119-1, 139 Stat. 3 (2025).

[36] Vazquez v. Feeley, No. 2:25-CV-01542-RFB-EJY, 2025 WL 2676082, at *3–6 (D. Nev. Sept. 17, 2025) (citing 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a) (1994) (authorizing detention of noncitizens "arriving at ports of the United States")).

[37] Id. (citing H.R. Rep. No. 104-469, pt. 1, at 229 (1996) and H.R. Rep. No. 104-828, at 210 (1996) (Conf. Rep.).

[38] Id.

recognizes the more substantial due process rights of noncitizens already residing in the U.S. with those of noncitizens recently arriving."[39]

44. Following the enactment of the IIRIRA, EOIR drafted new regulations explaining that, in general, people who entered the country without inspection were not considered detained under § 1225 and that they were instead detained under § 1226(a).[40]

45. Thus, in the decades that followed, most people who entered without inspection and were placed in standard removal proceedings received bond hearings, unless their criminal history rendered them ineligible.[41]

46. For decades, (i.e. since IIRIRA was passed in 1996) two indisputable facts coexisted in immigration proceedings throughout the country: (1) Immigration Judges have been granting bond to noncitizens who were "EWI" (i.e. inadmissible under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)), and 2) All individuals who are EWI are considered an "applicant for admission" under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1). Indeed, one of the most trusted law treatises, Kurzban's, has long explained:

> Although a person who enters EWI is considered an applicant for admission under [8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1)] and inadmissible under [8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i)], because they are not apprehended at the border, they do not [39] Id. (citing H.R. Rep. No. 104-469, p. 1, at 163-66 (recognizing the "constitutional liberty interest[s]" of noncitizens present in the U.S., versus the assumed minimal due process rights of arriving noncitizens) (citing Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S 537 (1950)).

---

[40] See id. ("The EOIR's regulations drafted following the enactment of the IIRIRA explained this distinction.") (citing Inspection and Expedited Removal of Aliens, 62 Fed. Reg. 10312, 10323 (Mar. 6, 1997) ("Despite being applicants for admission, aliens who are present without having been admitted or paroled (formerly referred to as aliens who entered without inspection).

[41] Id. ("[I]n the decades since IIRIRA was enacted, DHS and the EOIR have applied § 1226(a) to the detention of individuals apprehended within the continental U.S. who entered without inspection and provided them access to release on bond.").

> fall within the definition of "arriving aliens" under 8 C.F.R. §§ 1.2, 1001.1(q). Therefore, an IJ is not precluded from conducting a bond hearing.[42]

47. Simply put, being an applicant for admission has never been understood to subject someone to mandatory detention.[43] The regulations go on to make clear that Immigration Judges do not have jurisdiction to grant bond to a discrete subset of "applicants for admission" known as "arriving aliens."[44] In other words, the promulgating regulations were careful to except "arriving aliens," (ALL of whom are "applicants for admission"), from the bond jurisdiction given to Immigration Judges.[45]

48. In January 2025, Congress passed the Laken Riley Act in which added a new subparagraph to the mandatory detention provisions of § 1226(c). The amended statute added subparagraph (E), which states:

> (c) Detention of criminal aliens (1) Custody The Attorney General shall take into custody any alien who-- ... (E)(i) *is inadmissible under paragraph (6)(A), (6)(C), or (7) of section 1182(a) of this title; and (ii) is charged with, is arrested for, is convicted of, admits having committed, or admits committing acts which constitute the essential elements of any burglary, theft, larceny, shoplifting, or assault of a law enforcement officer offense...[46]

49. As an initial matter, it is important to point out that the LRA's amendment does not apply to anyone who entered the United States legally after inspection by an immigration officer. Put another way, 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c)(1)(E) is only applicable to [42] Kurzban, Chapter 3, Admission and Removal, M-3, p. 235 (2018-19) 16th Ed.

---

[43] See n. 25, supra.

[44] 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2)(i)(B).

[45] (Id.)

[46] 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c)(1)(E).

noncitizens who fall within the definition of "applicants for admission" found in 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1).[47] The LRA, therefore, requires mandatory detention of noncitizens who meet both the status requirement of subclause (i) (inadmissibility for EWI, fraud, or lack of documents; aka "applicants for admission") and the conduct requirement of subclause (ii) (a criminal charge, arrest, or conviction for a specified offense).[48]

50. After signing the LRA into law, the president touted its importance, stating: "It's a landmark law that we are doing today, it will save countless innocent American lives."[49]

II. DHS in Conjunction with the Immigration Court Take New Position Interpreting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) to Subject Every EWI NonCitizen to Mandatory Detention (i.e. Bond Hearings No Longer Provided for EWIs).

51. On July 8, 2025, ICE, "in coordination with" DOJ, announced a new policy that rejected well-established understanding of the statutory framework and reversed decades of practice.[50]

52. The new policy, entitled "Interim Guidance Regarding Detention Authority for Applicants for Admission,"[51] claims that all persons who entered the United States

---

[47] Id.

[48] Id.; see also Vazquez v. Feeley, No. 2:25-CV-01542-RFB-EJY, 2025 WL 2676082, at *5 ("1226(c)(1)(E) (enacted by the Laken Riley Act) requires mandatory detention for people who were charged as being (1) inadmissible under § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i) (the inadmissibility ground for entry without inspection) or (a)(7) (the inadmissibility ground for lacking valid documentation to enter the U.S.) and who (2) have been arrested, charged with, or convicted of certain crimes not relevant here.").

[49] https://www.npr.org/2025/01/29/g-s1-45275/trump-laken-riley-act.

[50] Available at https://www.aila.org/library/ice-memo-interim-guidance-regarding-detention-authority-for-applications-for-admission.

[51] Id.

without inspection shall now be deemed "applicants for admission" under 8 U.S.C. § 1225, and therefore are subject to mandatory detention provision under § 1225(b)(2)(A). The policy ICE announced applies regardless of when a person is apprehended and affects those who have resided in the United States for months, years, and even decades.[52]

53. On September 5, 2025, the BIA issued a decision in Matter of Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025), which acted as a rubberstamp to the new DHS interpretation taken in "conjunction with" the immigration courts.[53] The decision claimed to simply be interpreting the "plain language" of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) which states,

> [I]n the case of a[ ] [noncitizen] who is an applicant for admission, if the examining immigration officer determines that a[ ] [noncitizen] seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted, the [noncitizen] shall be detained for a proceeding under section 1229a of this title.[54]

54. The BIA's reasoning per Hurtado is that the plain language above means every "applicant for admission . . . shall be detained for" removal proceedings.[55] But as several district courts have already pointed out:

> the government's "interpretation of the statute (1) disregards the plain meaning of section 1225(b)(2)(A); (2) disregards the relationship between sections 1225 and 1226; (3) would render a recent amendment to section 1226(c) superfluous; and (4) is inconsistent with decades of prior statutory interpretation and practice.[56]

---

[52] Id.

[53] Matter of Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216.

[54] § 1225(b)(2)(A) (emphasis added).

[55] Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 219.

[56] See e.g., Lepe v. Andrews, No. 1:25-CV-01163-KES-SKO (HC), 2025 WL 2716910, at *4 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 23, 2025) ; s*ee also*, Lopez Benitez v. Francis, No. 25-Civ-5937, 2025 WL 2267803 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 8, 2025); Martinez v. Hyde, No. CV 25-11613-BEM, — F.Supp.3d ——, ——, 2025 WL 2084238, at *9 (D.

III. The Statutory and Regulatory Framework of the Entire Act Demonstrates the Government's New Position is Simply Untenable Under Any One of Many Cannons of Statutory Construction

55. The government's new position hinges on a simplistic and overbroad reading of INA § 235(a)(1), which deems any unadmitted alien an "applicant for admission."[57] From this, the government leaps to the conclusion that all such aliens are subject to mandatory detention under § 235(b).[58] This interpretation ignores the careful distinctions drawn throughout the INA and its implementing regulations.

56. As an initial matter, the Hurtado ironically claims to read the plain language of § 1225(b)(2)(A), but as many courts have pointed out the BIA only reaches its conclusion by omitting "plain language" contradicting its interpretation. Specifically, to be subject to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A), the plain text requires an individual to be 1) an "applicant for admission"; 2) "seeking admission"; and 3) determined by an examining Mass. July 24, 2025); Gomes v. Hyde, No. 1:25-cv-11571-JEK, 2025 WL 1869299, at *8 (D. Mass. July 7, 2025); Vasquez Garcia v. Noem, 2025 WL 2549431 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 3, 2025); Lopez-Campos v. Raycraft, No. 2:25-cv-12486, — F.Supp.3d —, 2025 WL 2496379 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 29, 2025); Kostak v. Trump, No. 3:25-cv-01093-JE, Doc. 20 (W.D. La. Aug. 27, 2025); Doc. 11, Benitez v. Noem, No. 5:25-cv-02190 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 26, 2025); Leal-Hernandez v. Noem, No. 1:25-cv-02428-JRR, 2025 WL 2430025 (D. Md. Aug. 24, 2025); Romero v. Hyde, No. 25-11631-BEM, — F.Supp.3d —, 2025 WL 2403827 (D. Mass. Aug. 19, 2025); Arrazola-Gonzalez v. Noem, No. 5:25-cv-01789-ODW, 2025 WL 2379285 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 15, 2025); Aguilar Maldonado v. Olson, No. 25-cv-3142, — F.Supp.3d —, 2025 WL 2374411 (D. Minn. Aug. 15, 2025); Dos Santos v. Noem, No. 1:25-cv-12052-JEK, 2025 WL 2370988 (D. Mass. Aug. 14, 2025); Rocha Rosado v. Figueroa, No. CV 25-02157, 2025 WL 2337099 (D. Ariz. Aug. 11, 2025), report and recommendation adopted 2025 WL 2349133 (D. Ariz. Aug. 13, 2025); Doc. 11, Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-cv-01874-SSS-BFM, *13 (C.D. Cal. July 28, 2025).

---

[57] See Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 216-220.

[58] Id.

immigration officer to be "not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted."[59] The second element of Sec. 1225(b)(2)(A)—which requires that he be seeking admission—is not met in the case of EWI noncitizens who are found miles away from the land border and years after their entry. Rather, noncitizens like Petitioner cannot be said to be seeking admission when he arrested and detained under these circumstances. Rather, consistent with pre-IIRIRA detention provisions and decades of agency action, § 1225(b)(2) only implicates noncitizens who are "seeking admission" into the United States.[60]

57. To ignore the plain language, which limits the application of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) to noncitizens in the process of seeking admission into the United States, is to not give effect to the meaning of words and to make the words included in the statute superfluous.[61] It would violate the most basic of interpretive canons, which is that "'[a] statute should be construed so that effect is given to all its provisions, so that no part will be inoperative or superfluous, void or insignificant ....'"[62]

58. The statutory use of the present and present progressive tenses—"is an applicant for admission" "seeking admission"—excludes noncitizens apprehended in the interior, because they are no longer in the process of arriving in or seeking admission to [59] 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see also Martinez v. Hyde, No. CV 25-11613-BEM, 2025 WL 2084238, at *2 (D. Mass. July 24, 2025) (affirming these "several conditions must be met" for a noncitizen to be subject to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A)).

---

[60] Id.

[61] Corley v. United States, 556 U.S. 303, 314 (U.S. 2009).

[62] . Id. (citing Hibbs v. Winn, 542 U.S. 88, 101, 124 S.Ct. 2276, 159 L.Ed.2d 172 (2004) (quoting 2A N. Singer, Statutes and Statutory Construction § 46.06, pp.181–186 (rev. 6th ed.2000)).

the United States.[63] Throughout the country district courts have agreed with this plain reading, which gives effect to the meaning of each word, holding that 8 § 1225(b)(2)(A) must be read to apply only to noncitizens who are apprehended while seeking to enter the country, and that noncitizens already residing in the United States, including those who are charged with inadmissibility, continue to fall under the discretionary detention scheme in § 1226.[64]

59. Further support for the overwhelming conclusion reached by courts can be found in the various statutes proscribing various arrest and detention authorities depending on the circumstances.[65]

---

[63] See Martinez v. Hyde, 2025 WL 2084238, at *6 (D. Mass. July 24, 2025) (citing the use of present and present progressive tense to support conclusion that INA § 1225(b)(2) does not apply to individuals apprehended in the interior); accord Lopez Benitez v. Francis, 2025 WL 2371588, at *6–7 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 13, 2025). See also United States v. Wilson, 503 U.S. 329, 333 (1992) ("Congress' use of a verb tense is significant in construing statutes."); Al Otro Lado v. McAleenan, 394 F. Supp. 3d 1168, 1200 (S.D. Cal. 2019) (construing "is arriving" in 8 U.S.C. Sec. 1225 (1)(A)(i) and observing that "[t]he use of the present progressive, like use of the present participle, denotes an ongoing process").

[64] See Lopez Santos v. Noem, No. 3:25-CV-01193, 2025 WL 2642278 (W.D. La. Sept. 11, 2025); Sampiao v. Hyde, No. 1:25-CV-11981-JEK, 2025 WL 2607924 (D. Mass. Sept. 9, 2025); Kostak v. Trump, No. CV 3:25-1093, 2025 WL 2472136 (W.D. La. Aug. 27, 2025); Rodriguez v. Bostock, No. 3:25-CV-05240-TMC, 779 F. Supp. 3d 1239, 1256–59 (W.D. Wash. 2025) (granting preliminary injunction prohibiting I.J.s from denying bond to individuals apprehended in the interior based on INA § 1225(b)(2)); see also Gomes v. Hyde, 2025 WL 1869299 at *6-7 (D. Mass. July 7, 2025) (relying on statutory structure and Laken Riley Act amendments to § 1226 to find that recent entrant re-detained on a warrant was not subject to § 1225(b)(2)); Martinez v. Hyde, No. CV 25-11613-BEM, 2025 WL 2084238, at *6–8 (D. Mass. July 24, 2025); Lopez Benitez v. Francis, No. 25 CIV. 5937 (DEH), 2025 WL 2371588, at *7 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 13, 2025); Rocha Rosado v. Figueroa, 2025 WL 2337099, at *8–10 (D. Ariz. Aug. 11, 2025); Aguilar Maldonado v. Olson, 2025 WL 2374411, at *11–13 (D. Minn. Aug. 15, 2025); accord Castillo Lachapel v. Joyce, 2025 WL 1685576, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. June 16, 2025) (parties agreed that a person who had entered without inspection and was arrested in the interior was detained under § 1226(a)).

[65] The authority given by these statutes has been properly delegated by the Secretary of Homeland Security pursuant to the power granted to her by 8 C.F.R. § 2.1.

A. 8 U.S.C § 1225: Inspection, Arrest, and Detention of Aliens at the Ports of Entry and Near the Border

60. As its title, ("Inspection by immigration officers; expedited removal of inadmissible arriving aliens; referral for hearings"), suggests, 8 U.S.C § 1225, proscribes the statutory authority by which immigration officers may inspect, arrest, and detain aliens seeking admission to the United States. While not explicitly limited to the arrest of aliens made at a designated port of entry or in close proximity to the border, 8 U.S.C § 1225, is most often used in this setting and does not require a warrant.

61. The absence of a warrant requirement in § 1225 is in line with the longstanding principle that the search and seizure of persons at our country's borders is not subject to the Fourth Amendment's warrant requirement.[66]

62. Conversely, in cases where a federal warrant has not been issued and the border exception to the warrant requirement is inapplicable, 8 U.S.C. § 1357, grants CBP and ICE-ERO authority to arrest and briefly detain aliens in limited circumstances.[67] For example, "[t]hey may arrest an alien for being 'in the United States in violation of any

---

[66] See United States v. Flores-Montano, 541 U.S. 149, 153 (2004) ("Congress, since the beginning of our Government, has granted the Executive Plenary authority to conduct routine searches and seizures at the border, without probable cause or a warrant . . .") (internal citations omitted); United States v. Cotterman, 637 F.3d 1068, 1076 (9th Cir. 2011) ("[T]here is [no] room for disagreement over the compelling underpinnings of the doctrine" exempting border searches and seizures from the Fourth Amendment's warrant requirement. "It is well established that the sovereign need not make any special showing to justify its search of persons and property at the international border.").

[67] See Arizona v. United States, 132 S. Ct. 2492, 2506 (2012) (discussing the authority granted to CBP and ICE-ERO by INA § 287, 8 U.S.C. § 1357, to arrest aliens in some circumstances where a federal warrant has not been issued).

[immigration] law or regulation ' . . . where the alien 'is likely to escape before a warrant can be obtained.'" [68] From this statute, one can see that the arrest without a warrant authority set forth in 8 U.S.C. § 1225 was intended to be limited geographically to near the border and intended only to apply to noncitizens potentially subject to expedited removal under 8 U.S.C. § 1225. Indeed, this is illustrated by the first two paragraphs of 8 U.S.C. §1357(a), titled "Powers without warrant" which expressly provide:

> Any officer or employee of the Service authorized under regulations prescribed by the Attorney General shall have power without warrant—
>
> (1) to interrogate any alien or person believed to be an alien as to his right to be or to remain in the United States;
>
> (2) to arrest any alien who in his presence or view is entering or attempting to enter the United States in violation of any law or regulation made in pursuance of law regulating the admission, exclusion, expulsion, or removal of aliens, or to arrest any alien in the United States, if he has reason to believe that the alien so arrested is in the United States in violation of any such law or regulation and is likely to escape before a warrant can be obtained for his arrest, but the alien arrested shall be taken without unnecessary delay for examination before an officer of the Service having authority to examine aliens as to their right to enter or remain in the United States.[69]

63. By explicitly proscribing as an exception to the warrant requirement noncitizens who the officer sees entering or attempting to enter the United States, the statute implicitly proscribes that arrests made elsewhere that do not fall under one of the proscribed warrant exceptions require a warrant. Due to the fact that it is most often relied on at a designated port of entry or near the border, 8 U.S.C § 1225 is the statute primarily

---

[68] Id. (second alteration in original) (quoting INA § 287, 8 U.S.C. § 1357).

[69] 8 U.S.C. § 1357(a)(1)-(2)(emphasis added).

relied on by CBP for the authority to arrest and detain an alien; meanwhile, ICE (the interior enforcement arm of DHS) most often relies on the authority granted by 8 U.S.C § 1226(a). As a result, an arrest warrant issued pursuant to the authority granted by INA § 236(a), 8 U.S.C § 1226(a) is issued in the context of ICE arresting aliens for removal proceedings.[70] In addition to providing the authority under which a warrant for the arrest of an alien may be issued, 8 U.S.C § 1226(a), provides ICE-ERO with the authority to arrest an alien for which an arrest warrant has been issued "pending a decision on whether the alien is to be removed from the United States."[71]

64. For decades, noncitizens in removal proceedings found in the U.S. who are not described in 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c) or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2) were able to request a bond hearing and obtain a bond from an IJ.[72]

65. One need not look any further than 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2) (iii)(B) to see that the statutory and regulatory scheme was always intended to give Immigration Judges jurisdiction to grant bond to most noncitizens falling under the definition of "applicant for admission." This is demonstrated by the fact that the regulations governing an Immigration Judge's bond jurisdiction explicitly strip the Judge of authority over "arriving aliens" which

---

[70] Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(b), the authority to issue an arrest warrant has been properly delegated by the Attorney General to the list of persons found in 8 C.F.R. § 287.5(e)(2).

[71] Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(b), the authority to serve an arrest warrant and arrest an alien has been properly delegated by the Attorney General to the list of persons found in 8 C.F.R. § 287.5(e)(3).

[72] Vazquez v. Feeley, No. 2:25-CV-01542-RFB-EJY, 2025 WL 2676082, at *3-4 ("Until DHS and DOJ adopted the policy described below, the longstanding practice of the agencies charged with interpreting and enforcing the INA applied § 1226(a) to noncitizens like Petitioner, who entered the U.S. without inspection and were apprehended while residing in the U.S.").

are a subset of noncitizens who fall under the definition of "applicants for admission."[73] Specifically, 8 C.F.R. § 1.2 defines an arriving alien as:

> Arriving alien means an applicant for admission coming or attempting to come into the United States at a port-of-entry, or an alien seeking transit through the United States at a port-of-entry, or an alien interdicted in international or United States waters and brought into the United States by any means, whether or not to a designated port-of-entry, and regardless of the means of transport. An arriving alien remains an arriving alien even if paroled pursuant to section [§ 1182(d)(5)] of the Act, and even after any such parole is terminated or revoked. However, an arriving alien who was paroled into the United States before April 1, 1997, or who was paroled into the United States on or after April 1, 1997, pursuant to a grant of advance parole which the alien applied for and obtained in the United States prior to the alien's departure from and return to the United States, will not be treated, solely by reason of that grant of parole, as an arriving alien under section [1225(b)(1)(A)(i)] of the Act.[74]

66. If, as the government now contends, every noncitizen who is an "applicants for admission" is subject to mandatory detention for bond purposes, there would have been no need for a regulation stating immigration judges do not have jurisdiction to grant "arriving aliens" a bond. The regulations specific prohibition against bond for "arriving aliens" implicitly confirms that Immigration Judges do have jurisdiction over other categories of "applicants for admission," such as those like Petitioner, who were apprehended years after entry and deep in the nation's interior.[75] Petitioner is not an

---

[73] 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2)(iii)(B).

[74] 8 C.F.R. § 1.2 (emphasis added).

[75] See Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 289 (2018) (recognizing that "U.S. immigration law authorizes the Government to detain certain aliens seeking admission into the country under §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) ... [and] to detain certain aliens already in the country pending the outcome of removal proceedings under §§ 1226(a) and (c)") (emphasis added); see also Lopez-Campos v. Raycraft, 2025 WL 2496379, at *8 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 29, 2025) ("There can be no genuine dispute that Section 1226(a), and not Section 1225(b)(2)(A), applies to a noncitizen who has resided in this country for . . .years.")

"arriving alien"; nor is he subject mandatory detention under § 1225. Rather, he is an alien arrested within the United States and detained under § 1226.

B. The Recent Enactment of the Laken Riley Act Forecloses the Immigration Judge's Interpretation and Would Be Rendered Superfluous.

67. The most compelling evidence against the government's position is the recent amendment to the INA's primary mandatory detention statute, § 1226(c). As stated above, in January 2025, Congress passed the Laken Riley Act, which added a new subparagraph to 1226(c) which is only applicable to non-citizens who fall within § 1225(a)(1)'s definition of "applicant for admission" and have been arrested, charged with, or convicted of one of several offenses.

68. The structure of this amendment leaves no doubt that mandatory detention under this new provision applies only to a noncitizen who meets both the status requirement of subclause (i) (all of which are applicants for admission) and the conduct requirement of subclause (ii) (a criminal charge, arrest, or conviction for a specified offense).

69. When it was signed into law the president touted the LRA as a necessary and important amendment that would "save lives."[76] In other words, the amendment mattered and made an important change to the existing laws.

70. But, as countless courts have repeatedly pointed out, under the government's new theory, the LRA is completely devoid of any meaning as every person described in § 1226(c)(1)(E)(i) was already subject to mandatory detention under the government's new interpretation of § 1225(b)(2)(A).[77] Congress, therefore, would have enacted a statute that accomplished nothing. It is a foundational principle of statutory construction that courts must "give effect, if possible, to every clause and word of a statute,"[78] and must avoid interpretations that render statutory language superfluous.[79] The government's position violates this canon in the most profound way, effectively nullifying an entire act of Congress. The only logical conclusion is that Congress enacted § 1226(c)(1)(E) precisely because being EWI or an "applicant for admission" alone does not trigger mandatory detention.[80]

[76] See n. 34, supra.

IV. Reliance on Jennings is Misplaced at Best and Misleading at Worst.

71. In Matter of Hurtado, the BIA claims that the Supreme Court's decision in Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281 (2018) dictates this result. This claim, as one court put it, however, "is, to say the least, not without some doubt."[81] Contrary to the BIA's

---

[77] See e.g., Pizarro Reyes v. Raycraft, No. 25-CV-12546, 2025 WL 2609425, at *6–7 (E.D. Mich. Sept. 9, 2025) ("The BIA also argued that § 1225(b)(2)(A) does not render superfluous the Laken Riley Act. . . But. . . considering both §§ 1225(b)(2)(A) and 1226(c)(1)(E) mandate detention for inadmissible citizens, whether one includes additional conditions for such detention does not alter the redundant impact.").

[78] Duncan v. Walker, 533 U.S. 167, 174 (2001).

[79] See Marx v. Gen. Revenue Corp., 568 U.S. 371, 385 (2013).

[80] Another (of many) applicable cannons of statutory construction is the principle of expressio unius est exclusio alterius—the expression of one thing is the exclusion of another—further clarifies congressional intent. Within INA § 235 itself, Congress knew precisely how to mandate detention when it intended to. For example, INA § 235(b)(1)(B)(iii)(IV), titled "Mandatory detention," explicitly states that noncitizens found not to have a credible fear of persecution "shall be detained" pending removal. Congress's choice to use specific mandatory language in that subsection, while omitting it for all other "applicants for admission" under § 235(a), demonstrates a clear intent not to subject all such individuals to mandatory detention.

[81] Arce v. Trump, No. 8:25CV520, 2025 WL 2675934, at *4–6 (D. Neb. Sept. 18, 2025).

claims about Jennings, Article III courts have seemingly uniformly pointed out that Jenning actually said: ""U.S. immigration law authorizes the Government to detain certain aliens seeking admission into the country under §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) ... [and] to detain certain aliens already in the country pending the outcome of removal proceedings under §§ 1226(a) and (c)."[82]

V. Even if Hurtado were decided correctly (which it was not), it still would be unlawful to detain Petitioner under the new interpretation as it constitutes an expansion amounting to a new rule which cannot be applied retroactively under longstanding Supreme Court precedent.

72. The United States Constitution's Ex Post Facto Clause and the judicial presumption against statutory retroactivity form a bedrock principle of American jurisprudence. This principle is animated by what the Supreme Court has termed the "familiar considerations of fair notice, reasonable reliance, and settled expectations."[83] In the immigration context, where the stakes of deportation are immense, the Supreme Court has been particularly vigilant in guarding against the retroactive application of laws that alter the legal consequences of past actions.

73. In INS v. St. Cyr, the Supreme Court held that the repeal of a form of discretionary relief from deportation could not be applied retroactively to individuals who had pleaded guilty to criminal offenses at a time when that relief was available.[84] The Court

---

[82] Jennings, 583 U.S. at 289 (emphasis added).

[83] Vartelas v. Holder, 566 U.S. 257, 266 (2012) (quoting INS v. St. Cyr, 533 U.S. 289, 323 (2001)).

[84] St. Cyr, 533 U.S. at 325.

emphasized that "elementary considerations of fairness dictate that individuals should have an opportunity to know what the law is and to conform their conduct accordingly."[85]

74. Similarly, in Vartelas v. Holder, the Court found that an amendment to the INA that broadened the definition of who is "seeking admission"—thereby subjecting certain returning lawful permanent residents to new grounds of inadmissibility—could not be applied to an individual whose conviction predated the statutory change.[86] The Court reasoned that to do so would "attach a new disability, in respect to transactions or considerations already past."[87]

75. This principle against retroactivity extends not only to statutory amendments but also to new judicial interpretations of existing law that dramatically shift the legal landscape. The United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, in Monteon-Camargo v. Barr, 918 F.3d 423 (5th Cir. 2019), addressed the retroactive application of the BIA's decision in Matter of Diaz-Lizarraga, 26 I. & N. Dec. 847 (BIA 2016) which significantly expanded the scope of what constitutes a "crime involving moral turpitude" (CIMT). The Fifth Circuit held that applying this new, broader definition to conduct that occurred before the decision was issued would be impermissibly retroactive because it would upend the "settled expectations" of individuals concerning the immigration consequences of their

---

[85] Id. at 321.

[86] 566 U.S. at 272.

[87] Id. at 266 (internal quotation marks omitted).

actions.[88] The court conducted a balancing test, weighing the "ills of retroactivity against the disadvantages of prospectivity" and found that the frustration of the parties' expectations outweighed any benefit of retroactive application.[89]

76. This consistent and robust body of case law establishes a clear rule: new statutory provisions or judicial interpretations that impose new, adverse immigration consequences for past conduct cannot be applied retroactively. Accordingly, even if the government's new interpretation were correct, its detention of Petitioner based on an Ex Post Facto rule change is nonetheless unlawful under the Constitution.

VI. Irreparable Harm

77. Continued unlawful detention is, by its very nature, an irreparable injury.[90] The Supreme Court has affirmed that "[f]reedom from imprisonment...lies at the heart of the liberty" protected by the Due Process Clause.[91] "Where, as here, the 'alleged deprivation of a constitutional right is involved, most courts hold that no further showing of irreparable injury is necessary'."[92]

---

[88] Id. at 430-31.

[89] Id. (quoting Microcomputer Tech. Inst. v. Riley, 139 F.3d 1044, 1050 (5th Cir. 1998)).

[90] Phan, 2025 WL 1993735, at *5 ("Further, '[i]t is well established that the deprivation of constitutional rights 'unquestionably constitutes irreparable injury.'") (citing Melendres v. Arpaio, 695 F.3d 990, 1002 (9th Cir. 2012) (quoting Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347, 373 (1976)).

[91] Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690 (2001).

[92] Phan, 2025 WL 1993735, at *5 (citing Warsoldier v. Woodford, 418 F.3d 989, 1001–02 (9th Cir. 2005) (quoting Wright, Miller, & Kane, Federal Practice and Procedure, § 2948.1 (2d ed. 2004)).

78. Everyday Petitioner is detained in ICE custody in direct contravention of the statute and U.S. constitution he suffers irreparable harm. The complete sudden loss of one's freedom and liberty takes a significant toll on anyone in Petitioner's circumstances.

79. Irreparable harm (alarmingly) is also found in the alarming number of deaths in ICE custody recently. A few months ago, a 55-year old man from Vietnam, died in ICE custody.[93]

80. On May 14, 2025, in an oversight hearing before the House Appropriations Committee, Todd Lyons, acting director of Immigration and Customs Enforcement, testified that 9 people have died in ICE custody since January 20, 2025.[94] A month after this testimony, on June 23, 2025, a 49-year old Canadian citizen died in ICE custody.[95] Reports of overcrowding, individuals being detained at facilities that are meant for processing and not set up for detention beyond a few hours are increasing, and other inhumane detention practices continue to rise. Moreover, if ever there was an agency who had demonstrated it could not be trusted to abide by the law and treat individuals humanely, it has been ICE over the past few months. The risk of death, emotional trauma, and/or other irreparable harm coming to Petitioner is, tragically, all too real a possibility.

---

[93] (See Ex. 7 – Articles Detailing Bad and Deteriorating Conditions of ICE Detention.)

[94] This testimony can be found at the following link: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QvoURiaxBmA.

[95] The ICE press release on this death can be found at the following link: https://www.ice.gov/news/releases/canadian-national-ice-custody-passes-away

81. Meanwhile, there will be ZERO harm to Respondents if Petitioner is immediately released from ICE custody, or at a minimum, granted the bond hearing she is entitled to by statute.

82. There are no administrative remedies to exhaust that would not be futile. DHS and the immigration courts have repeatedly indicated that DHS' novel position is now the formal position taken in a precedential decision by the BIA. Accordingly, IJs believe they are bound by the BIA's decision and will not grant bond to EWI noncitizens—no matter how long they've lived here and no matter how squeaky clean they have lived their lives in this Country.

VII. Procedural Due Process Violation Under Mathews

83. Due process requires an opportunity to be heard at a meaningful time and in a meaningful manner.[96] Petitioner received no such opportunity and/or no such opportunity is available through the immigration courts at this time as a result of DHS' position and Hurtado.

84. To determine whether government conduct violates procedural due process, the Court weighs three factors in Mathews for courts to weigh: (1) the private interest affected by the government action; (2) the risk that current procedures will cause an erroneous deprivation of the private interest, and the extent to which that risk could be reduced by additional safeguards; and (3) the government's interest in maintaining the current procedures.[97]

[96] Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 333 (1976).

A. Private Interest

85. Petitioner's private interest is the right to be free from government detention. Being free from physical detention by the government is at the core of due process protection, and "is the most elemental of liberty interests."[98] In our country, "liberty is the norm, and detention without trial "is the carefully limited exception."[99] Petitioner's interest in being free from government detention is magnified by the fact that he has a family of who loves and depends on him.

86. Further, detention at a remote detention center miles away from major cities in a different state and with limited visiting hours makes it unnecessarily difficult for his family to see him. And, even when they do, they are separated by a glass barrier that prevents them from touching and hugging one another. While detained, Petitioner is unable to financially provide for his family members, who are now suffering financial difficulties.

87. It is not just his family that has suffered severe financial setbacks as a result of his detention, his U.S. citizen employers do not consider him an employee—rather, he in their minds and in his compensation, view him as having an ownership interest in their company. This is because Mr. Medina-Herrera's work ethic, ability to see each employees'

---

[97] Id. at 335.

[98] Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 529 (2004).

[99] Id.

strengths, the needs of the company, and the needs of the customers is unparalleled in their decades of experience in the industry.

88. Though Petitioner should have been able to reunite with his wife and children, and resume work after a bond hearing before an IJ, such hearing is not available to him without federal court intervention.

89. The private interest here is fundamental: freedom from detention. It weighs heavily in the consideration of the Mathews factors.

B. Risk of Erroneous Deprivation

90. The second factor—the risk of erroneous deprivation of Mr. Medina-Herrera's liberty—is likewise substantial. The government's sudden about face in the way it interpreted § 1225(b)(2)(A) prevents Petitioner from having a bond hearing at all—much less a fair one. This is particularly true when there is significant evidence that this new position was reached by DHS, the "prosecuting agency" in conjunction with "EOIR" the agency that is supposed to be providing neutral adjudication of the noncitizens proceedings. "Such a rule [and process] is anomalous in our legal system," and it represents a basic conflict that has been disapproved of in this context and others.[100] When procedural protections are almost non-existent, it markedly increases the risk of erroneous deprivation of Petitioner's liberty interests.[101]

---

[100] Günaydın, 2025 WL 1459154, at *8; see also Marcello v. Bonds, 349 U.S. 302, 305–06, 75 S. Ct. 757 (1955) (holding that officer adjudicating immigration case cannot undertake prosecutorial role in the same matter).

[101] See Black v. Dir. Thomas Decker, 103 F.4th 133, 152 (2d Cir. 2024).

C. Government Interest

91. The government has no valid interest in depriving Petitioner of a bond hearing. The government's interest is supposed to be in upholding the Constitution and laws, both of which are plainly violated by its recent actions and continued unlawful detention of Petitioner. Depriving anyone of their liberty is a serious thing that should only be done as punishment or when necessary to prevent flight or danger to the community.

92. To balance liberty interests against interests in assuring appearance and safety, the INA explicitly provides bond hearings for noncitizens who are not described in § 1226(c) or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h). The government, however, wants to detain everyone without any regard to whether they are a danger or a flight risk.[102] On balance, the private interests affected and the risk of erroneous deprivation under the current procedures greatly outweigh the government's interest in detaining anyone they want regardless of whether it is necessary or lawful. Petitioner's arbitrary detention without a bond hearing by a neutral adjudicator violates Petitioner's substantive due process rights as guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT I: VIOLATION OF THE INA

93. Petitioner incorporates by reference the allegations of fact set forth in the preceding paragraphs.

---

[102] Jacinto v. Trump, 2025 WL 2402271, at *4 ("The governmental interest in the continued detention of these least-dangerous individuals, in contravention of the order of a neutral fact-finder, does not outweigh the liberty interest at stake.").

94. The mandatory detention provision at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) does not apply to all noncitizens residing in the United States who are subject to the grounds of inadmissibility. As relevant here, it does not apply to those who previously entered the country and have been residing in the United States prior to being apprehended and placed in removal proceedings by Respondents. Such noncitizens are detained under § 1226(a), unless they are subject to § 1225(b)(1), § 1226(c), § 1231, or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h).

95. The application of § 1225(b)(2) to Petitioner unlawfully mandates her continued detention and violates the INA as well as the U.S. Constitution.

COUNT II: VIOLATION OF DUE PROCESS

96. Petitioner repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

97. The government may not deprive a person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. U.S. Const. amend. V. "Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that the Clause protects."[103]

98. Petitioner has a fundamental interest in liberty and being free from official restraint.

99. The government's detention of Petitioner without a bond redetermination hearing to determine whether she is a flight risk or danger to others violates her right to due process.

---

[103] Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690, 121 S.Ct. 2491, 150 L.Ed.2d 653 (2001).

COUNT III: ICE'S VIOLATION OF ITS OWN REGULATIONS & STATUTORY VIOLATION

100. Petitioner re-alleges and incorporates by reference all the foregoing paragraphs above.

101. Petitioner's continued detention by Respondents without a bond hearing pursuant to the process set forth by 8 U.S.C. § 1226 or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19 is unlawful as ICE and EOIR failed to adhere to the law and mandatory process. As here, "'where an immigration regulation is promulgated to protect a fundamental right derived from the Constitution or a federal statute ... and [ICE] fails to adhere to it, the challenged [action] is invalid.'"[104] Petitioner's detention is unlawful and his immediate release is appropriate.

[104] Nguyen v. Hyde, 2025 WL 1725791, at *5 (quoting Rombot v. Souza, 296 F. Supp. 3d 383, 388 (D. Mass. 2017)); see also Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690 ("The Fifth Amendment's Due Process Clause forbids the Government to 'depriv[e]" any "person ... of ... liberty ... without due process of law.' Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that Clause protects.").

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that this Court grant the following relief:

a. Assume jurisdiction over this matter and issue a writ of habeas corpus requiring that Respondents release Petitioner Immediately, or provide Petitioner with a bond hearing before a neutral IJ pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) within three days;

b. Issue an Order to Show Cause ordering Respondents to show cause why this Petition should not be granted within three days;

c. Declaratory judgment pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201, declaring that EWI noncitizens encountered in the interior long after their entry who are placed in removal proceedings and are not described in § 1226(c) or 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2), are entitled to a bond hearing before a neutral adjudicator;

d. Award Petitioner attorney's fees and costs under the Equal Access to Justice Act ("EAJA"); and

e. Grant any other and further relief that this Court deems just and proper.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

/s/ Dan Gividen

Dan Gividen
Texas State Bar No. 24075434
WDOK Bar No. 25-144
18208 Preston Rd., Ste. D9-284
Dallas, TX 75252
972-256-8641
Dan@GividenLaw.com