CIVIL CASE NO.: '25CV2739 TWR MMP

Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus

[Civil Immigration Habeas,
28 U.S.C. § 2241]

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Ngo is filing this petition for a writ of habeas corpus with the assistance of the Federal Defenders of San Diego, Inc., who drafted the instant petition. That same counsel also assisted the petitioner in preparing and submitting his request for the appointment of counsel, which has been filed concurrently with this petition, and all other documents supporting the petition. Federal Defenders has consistently used this procedure in seeking appointment for immigration habeas cases. The Declaration of Jessie Agatstein in Support of Appointment Motion attaches case examples.

1       I. Introduction

2       Mr. Ngo and his family fled Vietnam in 1984. In 2004, he was ordered
3 removed. But Vietnam wouldn't accept him, in line with its general policy of not 4 accepting pre-1995 immigrants for deportation. After he spent about three months
5 in ICE custody, Mr. Ngo was released on an order of supervision.

6       Mr. Ngo remained on supervision for the next 21 years. He checked in with 7 ICE every year without incident. When he went for his annual check-in on July 8 24, 2025, ICE re-detained him. Contrary to regulation, ICE did not notify 9 Mr. Ngo of any changed circumstances that made his removal more likely. Nor 10 did it give Mr. Ngo an opportunity to contest his re-detention. He has now been 11 detained coming up on another three months, with no information about whether 12 ICE has sought a travel document or even begun the process of seeking his 13 deportation to Vietnam. Worse yet, on July 9, 2025, ICE adopted a new policy
14 permitting removals to third countries with no notice, six hours' notice, or 24
15 hours' notice depending on the circumstances, providing no meaningful 16 opportunity to make a fear-based claim against removal.

17       Mr. Ngo's detention violates his statutory and regulatory rights, Zadvydas
18 v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), and the Fifth Amendment. Courts in this district
19 have agreed in similar circumstances as to each of Mr. Ngo's three claims.
20 Specifically:

21       (1) Regulatory and due process violations: Mr. Ngo must be released 22 because ICE's failure to follow its own regulations about notice and an 23 opportunity to be heard violate due process. See, e.g., Constantinovici v. Bondi, 24 __ F. Supp. 3d __, 2025 WL 2898985, No. 25-cv-2405-RBM (S.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 25 2025); Rokhfirooz v. Larose, No. 25-cv-2053-RSH, 2025 WL 2646165 (S.D. Cal.
26 Sept. 15, 2025); Phan v. Noem, 2025 WL 2898977, No. 25-cv-2422-RBM-MSB, 27 *3-*5 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 2025); Sun v. Noem, 2025 WL 2800037, No. 25-cv-
28 2433-CAB (S.D. Cal. Sept. 30, 2025); Van Tran v. Noem, 2025 WL 2770623, No.

1 25-cv-2334-JES, *3 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 29, 2025); Truong v. Noem, No. 25-cv-
2 02597-JES, ECF No. 10 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 2025); Khambounheuang v. Noem,
3 No. 25-cv-02575-JO-SBC, ECF No. 12 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 9, 2025) (all either
4 granting temporary restraining orders releasing noncitizens, or granting habeas 5 petitions outright, due to ICE regulatory violations during recent re-detentions of 6 released noncitizens previously ordered removed).

7 (2) Zadvydas violations: Mr. Ngo must also be released under Zadvydas 8 because—having proved unable to remove him for the last 21 years—the 9 government cannot show that there is a “significant likelihood of removal in the 10 reasonably foreseeable future.” Id. at 701. See, e.g., Conchas-Valdez, 2025 WL
11 2884822, No. 25-cv-2469-DMS (S.D. Cal. Oct. 6, 2025); Rebenok v. Noem, No.
12 25-cv-2171-TWR, ECF No. 13 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 25, 2025) (granting habeas 13 petitions releasing noncitizens due to Zadvydas violations).

14 (3) Third-country removal statutory and due process violations: This Court 15 should enjoin ICE from removing Mr. Ngo to a third country without providing 16 an opportunity to assert fear of persecution or torture before an immigration 17 judge. See, e.g., Rebenok v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2171-TWR at ECF No. 13; Van 18 Tran v. Noem, 2025 WL 2770623 at *3; Nguyen Tran v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2391-
19 BTM, ECF No. 6 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025); Louangmilith v. Noem, 2025 WL
20 2881578, No. 25-cv-2502-JES, *4 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 9, 2025) (all either granting 21 temporary restraining orders or habeas petitions ordering the government to not 22 remove petitioners to third countries pending litigation or reopening of their 23 immigration cases).

24 This Court should grant this habeas petition and issue appropriate
25 injunctive relief on all three grounds.

2 A. Mr. Ngo is ordered removed, held in ICE custody, and released as 4 arrested at his annual ICE check-in.

 7 green cards. Id. In the early 2000s, Mr. Ngo was convicted of a drug crime. Id.

8 ¶ 2. The conviction led to a November 16, 2004, order of removal. Id.<sup>2</sup> ICE
 9 detained Mr. Ngo for about three months after that. Id. ¶ 3.

10 Mr. Ngo sustained no more criminal convictions, and he remained on an 11 order of supervision for the next 21 years. Id. ¶ 4. He checked in with ICE every 12 year. Id.

13 On July 24, 2025, Mr. Ngo appeared at one of these check-ins as scheduled.
 14 Id. ¶ 5. He was re-detained. Id. ICE never informed him why he was being re-15 detained, or what had changed to make it more likely that he can be removed. Id.
 16 ¶ 7. He has never been given the chance to contest his re-detention with ICE. Id.

17 B. Vietnam has a longstanding policy of not accepting Vietnamese 18 immigrants who entered before 1995.

19 There is a reason why ICE has proved unable to remove Mr. Ngo for the 20 last 21 years: Vietnam has a general policy of not accepting pre-1995 Vietnamese 21 immigrants for deportation. In 2008, Vietnam and the United States signed a 22 repatriation treaty under which Vietnam agreed to consider accepting certain 23 Vietnamese immigrants for deportation. See Trinh v. Homan, 466 F. Supp. 3d
 24 1077, 1083 (C.D. Cal. 2020). The treaty exempted pre-1995 Vietnamese 25 immigrants, providing, “Vietnamese citizens are not subject to return to Vietnam
 26 under this Agreement if they arrived in the United States before July 12, 1995.”

1 Agreement Between the United States of America and Vietnam, at 2 (Jan. 22, 2 2008).<sup>3</sup>

3 Despite that limit, the first Trump administration detained Vietnamese
4 immigrants and held them for months, while the administration tried to pressure
5 Vietnam to take them. See Trinh, 466 F. Supp. 3d at 1083–84. That possibility did
6 not materialize. “In total, between 2017 and 2019, ICE requested travel
7 documents for pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants 251 times. Vietnam granted
8 those requests only 18 times, in just over seven percent of cases.” Id. at 1084. The 9 administration was forced to release many of these detainees in 2018. See id.

10 Eventually, in 2020, the administration secured a Memorandum of 11 Understanding (“MOU”) with Vietnam, which created a process through which 12 the Vietnamese government could consider some pre-1995 Vietnamese
13 immigrants for removal.<sup>4</sup> The MOU limited consideration to persons meeting
14 certain criteria, but many these criteria have been shielded from public view. See 15 Nguyen v. Scott, No. 2:25-CV-01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *14 (W.D. Wash.
16 Aug. 21, 2025). When an immigrant does qualify, the MOU provides only that 17 Vietnam has “discretion whether to issue a travel document,” which it exercises
18 “on a case-by-case basis.” Hoac v. Becerra, No. 2:25-CV-01740-DC-JDP, 2025
19 WL 1993771, at *5 (E.D. Cal. July 16, 2025).

20 Even after signing the MOU, Vietnam overwhelmingly declined to timely 21 issue travel documents for pre-1995 immigrants. By October 2021, ICE had 22 adopted a “policy of generally finding that ‘pre-1995 Vietnamese 23 immigrants’ . . . are not likely to be removed in the reasonably foreseeable

 2 316-CJC-GJS, Dkt. 161 at 3 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 7, 2021).<sup>5</sup> That admission aligned
 3 with two years’ worth of quarterly reports that ICE agreed to submit as part of a
 4 class action settlement. Those quarterly reports showed that between September
 5 2021 and September 2023, only four immigrants who came to the U.S. before 6 1995 were given travel documents and deported. Asian Law Caucus, Resources

 9 made 14 requests for travel documents that, as of 2023, had not been granted, 10 including requests made months or years before the September 2023 cutoff. See 11 id. (proposed counsel’s count based on quarterly reports).

12 On June 9, 2025, the Trump administration rescinded ICE’s policy of 13 generally finding that pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants were not likely to be 14 removed in the reasonably foreseeable future. See Nguyen v. Scott, No. 2:25-CV-15 01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *7 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21, 2025). But since then,
 16 several courts have found that facts on the ground likely have not changed enough
 17 to show that these detainees will be timely removed to Vietnam. See Nguyen v.
 18 Scott, No. 2:25-CV-01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *17 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21,

3           When immigrants cannot be removed to their home country—including 4           Vietnamese immigrants—ICE has begun deporting those individuals to third

 6           Global Deal-Making Behind Trump's Mass Deportations, N.Y. Times, June 25,
 7           2025. This summer and fall, ICE has carried out highly publicized third country
 8           deportations to prisons in South Sudan, Eswatini, Ghana, and Rwanda.

 11          deported to Eswatini have remained in a maximum-security prison there for 12          nearly three months without charge and without access to counsel; another six are 13          detained incommunicado in South Sudan, and another seven are being held in an 14          undisclosed facility in Rwanda. Id. Several of these men are Vietnamese. Id.

15          In February, Panama and Costa Rica imprisoned hundreds of deportees—
 16          including immigrants from Vietnam—in hotels, a jungle camp, and a detention 17          center. Vanessa Buschschluter, Costa Rican court orders release of migrants

1 like the ones just described. Exh. B. Instead, under new guidance, ICE may 2 remove any immigrant to a third country “without the need for further
3 procedures,” as long as—in the view of the State Department—the United States 4 has received “credible” “assurances” from that country that deportees will not be 5 persecuted or tortured. Id. at 1. If a country fails to credibly promise not to 6 persecute or torture releasees, ICE may still remove immigrants there with 7 minimal notice. Id. Ordinarily, ICE must provide 24 hours’ notice. But “[i]n
8 exigent circumstances,” a removal may take place in as little as six hours, “as long 9 as the alien is provided reasonable means and opportunity to speak with an 10 attorney prior to the removal.” Id.

11 Under this policy, the United States has deported noncitizens to prisons and 12 military camps in Rwanda, Eswatini, South Sudan, and Ghana. Many are still 13 detained to this day, in countries to which they have never been, without charge.
14 See Musi & Gerald Imray, supra.

15 III. Legal Analysis.

16 This Court should grant this petition and order two forms of relief.

17 First, it should order Mr. Ngo’s immediate release. ICE failed to follow its 18 own regulations requiring changed circumstances before re-detention, as well as a 19 chance to promptly contest a re-detention decision. And Zadvydas v. Davis holds 20 that immigration statutes do not authorize the government to detain immigrants 21 like Mr. Ngo, for whom there is “no significant likelihood of removal in the 22 reasonably foreseeable future.” 533 U.S. 678, 701 (2001).

23 Second, it should enjoin the Respondents from removing Mr. Ngo to a third 24 country without first providing notice and a sufficient opportunity to be heard
25 before an immigration judge.

26 IV. Claim 1: ICE failed to comply with its own regulations before re- 27 detaining Mr. Ngo, violating his rights under applicable regulations and 28 due process.

Two regulations establish the process due to someone who is re-detained in

1 immigration custody following a period of release. 8 C.F.R. § 241.4(l) applies to 2 all re-detentions, generally. 8 C.F.R. § 241.13(i) applies as an added, overlapping 3 framework to persons released upon good reason to believe that they will not be 4 removed in the reasonably foreseeable future, as Mr. Ngo was. See Phan v. Noem, 5 2025 WL 2898977, No. 25-CV-2422-RBM-MSB, *3–*5 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 6 2025) (explaining this regulatory framework and granting a habeas petition for 7 ICE’s failure to follow these regulations for a refugee of Vietnam who entered the 8 United States before 1995); Rokhfirooz, No. 25-CV-2053-RSH-VET, 2025 WL 9 2646165 at *2 (same as to an Iranian national).

10 These regulations permit an official to “return [the person] to custody” only 11 when the person “violate[d] any of the conditions of release,” 8 C.F.R.
12 §§ 241.13(i)(1), 241.4(l)(1), or, in the alternative, if an appropriate official 13 “determines that there is a significant likelihood that the alien may be removed in 14 the reasonably foreseeable future,” and makes that finding “on account of 15 changed circumstances,” § 241.13(i)(2).

16 No matter the reason for re-detention, the re-detained person is entitled to 17 certain procedural protections. For one, “[u]pon revocation,’ the noncitizen ‘will 18 be notified of the reasons for revocation of his or her release or parole.’” Phan, 19 2025 WL 2898977 at *3, *4 (quoting §§ 241.4(l)(1), 241.13(i)(3)). Further, the 20 person “‘will be afforded an initial informal interview promptly after his or her 21 return’ to be given ‘an opportunity to respond to the reasons for revocation stated 22 in the notification.’” Id.

23 In the case of someone released under § 241.13(i), the regulations also 24 explicitly require the interviewer to allow the re-detained person to “submit any 25 evidence or information that he or she believes shows there is no significant 26 likelihood he or she be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future, or that he or 27 she has not violated the order of supervision.” § 241.13(i)(3).
28

1 ICE is required to follow its own regulations. United States ex rel. Accardi
2 v. Shaughnessy, 347 U.S. 260, 268 (1954); see Alcaraz v. INS, 384 F.3d 1150, 3 1162 (9th Cir. 2004) (“The legal proposition that agencies may be required to 4 abide by certain internal policies is well-established.”). A court may review a re-
5 detention decision for compliance with the regulations, and “where ICE fails to 6 follow its own regulations in revoking release, the detention is unlawful and the 7 petitioner’s release must be ordered.” Rokhfirooz, 2025 WL 2646165 at *4
8 (collecting cases); accord Phan, 2025 WL 2898977 at *5.

9 ICE followed none of its regulatory prerequisites to re-detention here.

10 First, ICE did not identify a proper reason under the regulations to re-detain 11 Mr. Ngo. Mr. Ngo was not returned to custody because of a conditions violation, 12 and there was apparently no determination before or at his arrest that there are 13 “changed circumstances” such that there is “a significant likelihood that 14 [Mr. Ngo] may be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future.” § 241.13(i)(2).

15 Second, ICE did not notify Mr. Ngo of the reasons for his re-detention upon 16 revocation of release. See §§ 241.4(l)(1), 241.13(i)(3). He was re-detained on July 17 24, 2025. Exh. A at ¶ 5. As he has explained on September 28, 2025, “[n]o one 18 has ever told me why I was re-detained.” Id. at ¶ 7.

19 Third, Mr. Ngo has yet to receive the informal interview required by 20 regulation. Nor has he been afforded a meaningful opportunity to respond to the 21 reasons for revocation or submit evidence rebutting his re-detention. Exh. A at 22 ¶ 7. No one from ICE has ever invited him to contest his detention. Id.

11 recent release).” Liu, 2025 WL 1696526, at *3.

12
13 V. Claim 2: Mr. Ngo’s detention violates Zadvydas and 8 U.S.C. § 1231.

14 A. Legal background: The statute, as interpreted by Zadvydas, 15 renders detention mandatory for 90 days after removal is 16 ordered, presumptively acceptable for 180 days after removal is ordered, and allowable after 180 days after removal is ordered only if there is a significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future.

17 In Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), the Supreme Court considered 18 a problem affecting people like Mr. Ngo: Federal law requires ICE to detain an 19 immigrant during the “removal period,” which typically spans the first 90 days
20 after the immigrant is ordered removed. 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)-(2). After that 90-
21 day removal period expires, detention becomes discretionary—ICE may detain 22 the migrant while continuing to try to remove them. Id. § 1231(a)(6). Ordinarily, 23 this scheme would not lead to excessive detention, as removal happens within 24 days or weeks. But some detainees cannot be removed quickly. Perhaps their 25 removal “simply require[s] more time for processing,” or they are “ordered
26 removed to countries with whom the United States does not have a repatriation
27 agreement,” or their countries “refuse to take them,” or they are “effectively
28 ‘stateless’ because of their race and/or place of birth.” Kim Ho Ma v. Ashcroft,

1 257 F.3d 1095, 1104 (9th Cir. 2001). In these and other circumstances, detained
2 immigrants can find themselves trapped in detention for months, years, decades,
3 or even the rest of their lives. If federal law were understood to allow for 4 “indefinite, perhaps permanent, detention,” it would pose “a serious constitutional 5 threat.” Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 699. In Zadvydas, the Supreme Court avoided the 6 constitutional concern by interpreting § 1231(a)(6) to incorporate implicit limits.
7 Id. at 689.

8 Zadvydas held that § 1231(a)(6) presumptively permits the government to 9 detain an immigrant for 180 days after his or her removal order becomes final.
10 After those 180 days have passed, the immigrant must be released unless his or 11 her removal is reasonably foreseeable. Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. After six 12 months have passed, the petitioner must only make a prima facie case for relief—
13 there is “good reason to believe that there is no significant likelihood of removal 14 in the reasonably foreseeable future.” Id. Then the burden shifts to “the 15 Government [to] respond with evidence sufficient to rebut that showing.” Id.<sup>10</sup>
16 Mr. Ngo can make all the threshold showings needed to shift the burden to the 17 government.

19 B. Mr. Ngo’s six-month grace period expired in May 2005.

20 The six-month grace period has long since ended. The Zadvydas grace 21 period is linked to the date the final order of removal is issued. It lasts for “six 22 months after a final order of removal—that is, three months after the statutory 23

25 <sup>10</sup> Further, even before the 180 days have passed, the immigrant must still be 26 released if he rebutts the presumption that his detention is reasonable. See, e.g., 27 Trinh v. Homan, 466 F. Supp. 3d 1077, 1092 (C.D. Cal. 2020) (collecting cases 28 on rebutting the Zadvydas presumption before six months have passed); Zavvar, 2025 WL 2592543 at *6 (finding the presumption rebutted for a person who was released and, years later, re-detained for less than six months).

1 removal period has ended.” Kim Ho Ma v. Ashcroft, 257 F.3d 1095, 1102 n.5 (9th
2 Cir. 2001). Indeed, the statute defining the beginning of the removal period is 3 linked to the latest of three dates, all of which relevant here are tied to when the 4 removal order is issued. 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(B).<sup>11</sup>

5 Here, Mr. Ngo’s order of removal was entered in November 2004. Exh. A 6 at ¶ 3.<sup>12</sup> Accordingly, his 90-day removal period began then. 8 U.S.C.
7 § 1231(a)(1)(B). The Zadvydas grace period thus expired in May 2005, three 8 months after the removal period ended. See, e.g., Tadros v. Noem, 2025 WL
9 1678501, No. 25-cv-4108(EP), *2–*3.

10 Regardless, Mr. Ngo was detained for about three months after he was 11 ordered removed, and he has been detained for more than two and a half months
12 this year as of the time of filing. Exh. A at ¶¶ 3, 5. By the time this Court resolves 13 this case, Mr. Ngo will have been detained for a total of six months, if not more; 14 ICE will also, of course, have had 21 years since his removal order issued to 15 remove him.<sup>13</sup>

17 <sup>11</sup> Those dates are, specifically, (1) “[t]he date the order of removal becomes 18 administratively final;” (2) “[i]f the removal order is judicially reviewed and if a 19 court orders a stay of the removal of the alien, the date of the court’s final order;”
20 or (3) “[i]f the alien is detained or confined (except under an immigration 21 process), the date the alien is released from detention or confinement.” Id.

22 <sup>12</sup> EOIR, Automated Case Information, <https://acis.eoir.justice.gov/en/>.

23 <sup>13</sup> The government has sometimes argued that release and rearrest resets the 24 six-month grace period completely, taking the clock back to zero.
25 “Courts . . . broadly agree” that this is not correct. Diaz-Ortega v. Lund, 2019 WL
26 6003485, at *7 n.6 (W.D. La. Oct. 15, 2019), report and recommendation
27 adopted, 2019 WL 6037220 (W.D. La. Nov. 13, 2019); see also Sied v. Nielsen, 28 No. 17-CV-06785-LB, 2018 WL 1876907, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 19, 2018)
(collecting cases).

It has also sometimes argued that rearrest creates a new three-month grace period. As a court explained in Bailey v. Lynch, that view cannot be squared with the statutory definition of the removal period in 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(B). No. CV 16-2600 (JLL), 2016 WL 5791407, at *2 (D.N.J. Oct. 3, 2016). “Pursuant to the statute, the removal period, and in turn the [six-month] presumptively reasonable

1           C. Mr. Ngo's personal experience, and Vietnam's general policy of 2           not repatriating most pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants, provide 3           good reason to believe that Mr. Ngo will not likely be removed in 4           the reasonably foreseeable future.

5           This Court uses a burden-shifting framework to evaluate Mr. Ngo's 6           Zadvydas claim. At the first stage of the framework, Mr. Ngo must "provide[] 7           good reason to believe that there is no significant likelihood of removal in the 8           reasonably foreseeable future." Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. This standard can be 9           broken down into three parts.

10          "Good reason to believe." The "good reason to believe" standard is a 11          relatively forgiving one. "A petitioner need not establish that there exists no
12          possibility of removal." Freeman v. Watkins, No. CV B:09-160, 2009 WL 13          10714999, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 22, 2009). Nor does "[g]ood reason to 14          believe' . . . place a burden upon the detainee to demonstrate no reasonably 15          foreseeable, significant likelihood of removal or show that his detention is 16          indefinite; it is something less than that." Rual v. Barr, No. 6:20-CV-06215 EAW, 17          2020 WL 3972319, at *3 (W.D.N.Y. July 14, 2020) (quoting Senor v. Barr, 401
18          F. Supp. 3d 420, 430 (W.D.N.Y. 2019)). In short, the standard means what it says:
19          Petitioners need only give a "good reason"—not prove anything to a certainty.

20          "Significant likelihood of removal." This component focuses on whether 21          Mr. Ngo will likely be removed: Continued detention is permissible only if it is

22          period, begins from the latest of 'the date the order of removal becomes 23          administratively final,' the date of a reviewing court's final order where the 24          removal order is judicially removed and that court orders a stay of removal, or the 25          alien's release from detention or confinement where he was detained for reasons 26          other than immigration purposes at the time of his final order of removal." Id.
27          None of these statutory starting points have anything to do with whether or when 28          an immigrant is detained. See id. Because the statutorily-defined removal period has nothing to do with release and rearrest, releasing and rearresting the immigrant cannot reset the removal period.

1 “significant[ly] like[ly]” that ICE will be able to remove him. Zadvydas, 533 U.S.
2 at 701. This inquiry targets “not only the existence of untapped possibilities, but 3 also [the] probability of success in such possibilities.” Elashi v. Sabol, 714 F.
4 Supp. 2d 502, 506 (M.D. Pa. 2010) (second emphasis added). In other words, 5 even if “there remains some possibility of removal,” a petitioner can still meet its 6 burden if there is good reason to believe that successful removal is not 7 significantly likely. Kacanic v. Elwood, No. CIV.A. 02-8019, 2002 WL
8 31520362, at *4 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 8, 2002) (emphasis added).

9 “In the reasonably foreseeable future.” This component of the test 10 focuses on when Mr. Ngo will likely be removed: Continued detention is 11 permissible only if removal is likely to happen “in the reasonably foreseeable 12 future.” Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. This inquiry places a time limit on ICE’s 13 removal efforts. If the Court has “no idea of when it might reasonably expect
14 [Petitioner] to be repatriated, this Court certainly cannot conclude that his removal 15 is likely to occur—or even that it might occur—in the reasonably foreseeable
16 future.” Palma v. Gillis, No. 5:19-CV-112-DCB-MTP, 2020 WL 4880158, at *3
17 (S.D. Miss. July 7, 2020), report and recommendation adopted, 2020 WL
18 4876859 (S.D. Miss. Aug. 19, 2020) (quoting Singh v. Whitaker, 362 F. Supp. 3d
19 93, 102 (W.D.N.Y. 2019)). Thus, even if this Court concludes that Mr. Ngo 20 “would eventually receive” a travel document, he can still meet his burden by 21 giving good reason to anticipate sufficiently lengthy delays. Younes v. Lynch, 22 2016 WL 6679830, at *2 (E.D. Mich. Nov. 14, 2016).

23 Mr. Ngo satisfies this standard for two reasons.

24 First, Mr. Ngo’s own experience bears this out. ICE has now had 21 years
25 to deport him, including 5 years under the MOU. He has cooperated with ICE’s 26 removal efforts throughout that time, including by attending yearly check-ins.
27 Exh. A ¶ 4. Yet ICE has proved unable to remove him.

28

1 Second, the general experience of other Vietnamese immigrants also bears
2 this out. Vietnam often does not accept pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants for 3 deportation. Even after Vietnam signed the 2020 MOU, ICE had to admit that 4 there was no reasonable likelihood of removing such immigrants in the 5 reasonably foreseeable future, Order on Joint Motion for Entry of Stipulated 6 Dismissal, Trihn, 18-CV-316-CJC-GJS, Dkt. 161 at 3 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 7, 2021)—
7 an admission backed up by two years’ experience under the MOU, Asian Law 8 Caucus, Resources on Deportation of Vietnamese Immigrants Who Entered the 9 U.S. Before 1995 (Jul. 15, 2025) (providing links to all quarterly reports). Though 10 the Trump administration rescinded this admission, Nguyen, 2025 WL 2419288, 11 at *7, several courts have explained that barriers continue to obstruct removal for 12 people like Mr. Ngo. See Nguyen, 2025 WL 2419288; Hoac, 2025 WL 1993771; 13 Nguyen, 2025 WL 1725791.

14 Thus, Mr. Ngo has met his initial burden, and the burden shifts to the 15 government. Unless the government can prove a “significant likelihood of 16 removal in the reasonably foreseeable future,” Mr. Ngo must be released.
17 Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701.

18 D. Zadvydas unambiguously prohibits this Court from denying 19 Mr. Ngo’s petition because of his criminal history.

20 If released on supervision, Mr. Ngo poses no risk of danger or flight. He has 21 been on supervision for about 21 years. Exh. A at ¶ 4. He has sustained no new 22 convictions. Id. And he has checked in regularly with ICE for two decades. Id.

23 Regardless, Zadvydas squarely holds that danger or flight are not grounds for 24 detaining an immigrant when there is no reasonable likelihood of removal in the 25 reasonably foreseeable future. 533 U.S. at 684–91.

26 The two petitioners in Zadvydas both had significant criminal history.
27 Mr. Zadvydas himself had “a long criminal record, involving drug crimes, 28 attempted robbery, attempted burglary, and theft,” as well as “a history of flight,

1 from both criminal and deportation proceedings.” Id. at 684. The other petitioner, 2 Kim Ho Ma, was “involved in a gang-related shooting [and] convicted of 3 manslaughter.” Id. at 685. The government argued that both men could be 4 detained regardless of their likelihood of removal, because they posed too great a 5 risk of danger or flight. Id. at 690–91.

6 The Supreme Court rejected that argument. The Court appreciated the 7 seriousness of the government’s concerns. Id. at 691. But the Court found that the 8 immigrant’s liberty interests were weightier. Id. The Court had never 9 countenanced “potentially permanent” “civil confinement,” based only on the 10 government’s belief that the person would misbehave in the future. Id.

11 The Court also noted that the government was free to use the many tools at 12 its disposal to mitigate risk: “[O]f course, the alien’s release may and should be 13 conditioned on any of the various forms of supervised release that are appropriate 14 in the circumstances, and the alien may no doubt be returned to custody upon a 15 violation of those conditions.” Id. at 700. The Ninth Circuit later elaborated, “All 16 aliens ordered released must comply with the stringent supervision requirements
17 set out in 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(3). [They] will have to appear before an immigration 18 officer periodically, answer certain questions, submit to medical or psychiatric 19 testing as necessary, and accept reasonable restrictions on [their] conduct and 20 activities, including severe travel limitations. More important, if [they] engage[ ] 21 in any criminal activity during this time, including violation of [their] supervisory 22 release conditions, [they] can be detained and incarcerated as part of the normal 23 criminal process.” Ma, 257 F.3d at 1115.

24 These conditions have proved sufficient to protect the public over the last 25 21 years. They will continue to do so while ICE keeps trying to deport Mr. Ngo.

26 VI. Claim 3: ICE may not remove Mr. Ngo to a third country without 27 adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard.

28 In addition to unlawfully detaining him, ICE’s policies threaten his removal

1 to a third country without adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard. These 2 policies violate the Fifth Amendment, the Convention Against Torture, and 3 implementing regulations.

4 A. The Convention Against Torture, statutory withholding of 5 removal, and due process prohibit deportation to third countries
6 without meaningful notice and an opportunity to be heard.

7 U.S. law enshrines protections against dangerous and life-threatening
8 removal decisions. By statute, the government is prohibited from removing an 9 immigrant to any third country where they may be persecuted or tortured, a form
10 of protection known as withholding of removal. See 8 U.S.C. § 1231(b)(3)(A).
11 The government “may not remove [a noncitizen] to a country if the Attorney
12 General decides that the [noncitizen’s] life or freedom would be threatened in that 13 country because of the [noncitizen’s] race, religion, nationality, membership in a 14 particular social group, or political opinion.” Id.; see also 8 C.F.R. §§ 208.16, 15 1208.16. Withholding of removal is a mandatory protection.

16 Similarly, Congress codified protections enshrined in the CAT prohibiting 17 the government from removing a person to a country where they would be 18 tortured. See FARRA 2681-822 (codified as 8 U.S.C. § 1231 note) (“It shall be 19 the policy of the United States not to expel, extradite, or otherwise effect the 20 involuntary return of any person to a country in which there are substantial 21 grounds for believing the person would be in danger of being subjected to torture,
22 regardless of whether the person is physically present in the United States.”); 28
23 C.F.R. § 200.1; id. §§ 208.16-208.18, 1208.16-1208.18. CAT protection is also 24 mandatory.

25 To comport with the requirements of due process, the government must 26 provide notice of the third country removal and an opportunity to respond. Due 27 process requires “written notice of the country being designated” and “the 28 statutory basis for the designation, i.e., the applicable subsection of § 1231(b)(2).”

1 Aden v. Nielsen, 409 F. Supp. 3d 998, 1019 (W.D. Wash. 2019); accord D.V.D. v.
2 U.S. Dep't of Homeland Sec., No. 25-cv-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1453640, at *1
3 (D. Mass. May 21, 2025); Andriasian v. INS, 180 F.3d 1033, 1041 (9th Cir.
4 1999).

5 The government must also “ask the noncitizen whether he or she fears 6 persecution or harm upon removal to the designated country and memorialize in 7 writing the noncitizen’s response. This requirement ensures DHS will obtain the 8 necessary information from the noncitizen to comply with section 1231(b)(3) and 9 avoids [a dispute about what the officer and noncitizen said].” Aden, 409 F. Supp.
10 3d at 1019. “Failing to notify individuals who are subject to deportation that they 11 have the right to apply for asylum in the United States and for withholding of 12 deportation to the country to which they will be deported violates both INS 13 regulations and the constitutional right to due process.” Andriasian, 180 F.3d at 14 1041.

15 If the noncitizen claims fear, measures must be taken to ensure that the 16 noncitizen can seek asylum, withholding, and relief under CAT before an 17 immigration judge in reopened removal proceedings. The amount and type of 18 notice must be “sufficient” to ensure that “given [a noncitizen’s] capacities and 19 circumstances, he would have a reasonable opportunity to raise and pursue his 20 claim for withholding of deportation.” Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1009
21 (citing Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 349 (1976) and Kossov v. I.N.S., 132

23 government to move to reopen the noncitizen’s immigration proceedings if the 24 individual demonstrates “reasonable fear” and to provide “a meaningful 25 opportunity, and a minimum of fifteen days, for the non-citizen to seek reopening 26 of their immigration proceedings” if the noncitizen is found to not have 27 demonstrated “reasonable fear”); Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1019 (requiring notice 28 and time for a respondent to file a motion to reopen and seek relief).

1 “[L]ast minute” notice of the country of removal will not suffice,
2 Andriasian, 180 F.3d at 1041; accord Najjar v. Lunch, 630 Fed. App’x 724 (9th
3 Cir. 2016), and for good reason: To have a meaningful opportunity to apply for 4 fear-based protection from removal, immigrants must have time to prepare and 5 present relevant arguments and evidence. Merely telling a person where they may 6 be sent, without giving them a chance to look into country conditions, does not 7 give them a meaningful chance to determine whether and why they have a 8 credible fear. !

9 B. The June 6, 2025 memo’s removal policies violate the Fifth
10 Amendment, 8 U.S.C. § 1231, the Conviction Against Torture,
11 and Implementing Regulations.

12 The policies in the June 6, 2025 memo do not adhere to these requirements.
13 The memo “contravenes Ninth Circuit law.” Nguyen v. Scott, No. 25-CV-1398,
14 2025 WL 2419288, *19 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21, 2025) (explaining how the July 9, 15 2025 ICE memo contravenes Ninth Circuit law on the process due to noncitizens
16 in detail); see also Van Tran v. Noem, 2025 WL 2770623, No 25-cv-2334-JES-17 MSB (S.D. Cal. Sept. 29, 2025) (granting temporary restraining order preventing 18 a noncitizen’s deportation to a third country pending litigation in light of due 19 process problems); Nguyen Tran v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2391-BTM-BLM, ECF No.
20 6 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025) (same).

21 First, under the policy, ICE need not give immigrants any notice or any 22 opportunity to be heard before removing them to a country that—in the State
23 Department’s estimation—has provided “credible” “assurances” against 24 persecution and torture. Exh. B. By depriving immigrants of any chance to 25 challenge the State Department’s view, this policy violates “[t]he essence of due 26 process,” “the requirement that a person in jeopardy of serious loss be given 27 notice of the case against him and opportunity to meet it.” Mathews v. Eldridge, 28 424 U.S. 319, 348 (1976) (cleaned up).

1 Second, even when the government has obtained no credible assurances 2 against persecution and torture, the government can still remove the person with 3 between 6 and 24 hours' notice, depending on the circumstances. Exh. B.
4 Practically speaking, there is not nearly enough time for a detained person to 5 assess their risk in the third country and martial evidence to support any credible
6 fear—let alone a chance to file a motion to reopen with an IJ.

7 An immigrant may know nothing about a third country, like Eswatini or 8 South Sudan, when they are scheduled for removal there. Yet if given the 9 opportunity to investigate conditions, immigrants would find credible reasons to 10 fear persecution or torture—like patterns of keeping deportees indefinitely and 11 without charge in solitary confinement or extreme instability raising a high 12 likelihood of death—in many of the third countries that have agreed to removal 13 thus far.

14 Due process requires an adequate chance to identify and raise these threats
15 to health and life. This Court must prohibit the government from removing Mr.
16 Ngo without these due process safeguards.

17 VII. This Court must hold an evidentiary hearing on any disputed facts.

18 Resolution of a prolonged-detention habeas petition may require an 19 evidentiary hearing. Owino v. Napolitano, 575 F.3d 952, 956 (9th Cir. 2009).
20 Mr. Ngo hereby requests such a hearing on any material, disputed facts.

21 VIII. Prayer for relief

22 For the foregoing reasons, Petitioner respectfully requests that this Court:

- 23 1. Order and enjoin Respondents to immediately release Petitioner from 24 custody;
25 2. Enjoin Respondents from re-detaining Petitioner under 8 U.S.C.
26 § 1231(a)(6) unless and until Respondents obtain a travel document for 27 his removal;
28

- 1 3. Enjoin Respondents from re-detaining Petitioner without first following
- 2 all procedures set forth in 8 C.F.R. §§ 241.4(I), 241.13(i), and any other
- 3 applicable statutory and regulatory procedures;
- 4 4. Enjoin Respondents from removing Petitioner to any country other than
- 5 Vietnam, unless they provide the following process, see D.V.D. v. U.S.
- 6 Dep't of Homeland Sec., No. CV 25-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1453640, at
- 7 *1 (D. Mass. May 21, 2025):
  - 8 a. written notice to both Petitioner and Petitioner's counsel in a
  - 9 language Petitioner can understand;
  - 10 b. a meaningful opportunity, and a minimum of ten days, to raise a
  - 11 fear-based claim for CAT protection prior to removal;
  - 12 c. if Petitioner is found to have demonstrated "reasonable fear" of
  - 13 removal to the country, Respondents must move to reopen
  - 14 Petitioner's immigration proceedings;
  - 15 d. if Petitioner is not found to have demonstrated a "reasonable fear"
  - 16 of removal to the country, a meaningful opportunity, and a
  - 17 minimum of fifteen days, for the Petitioner to seek reopening of
  - 18 his immigration proceedings.
- 19 5. Order all other relief that the Court deems just and proper.

22 Respondents.

23 I, Thanh Quoc Ngo, declare the following is true and correct under penalty of 24 perjury:

25 1. My name is Thanh Quoc Ngo. I came to the United States around 26 1984 with my parents and siblings. We came as refugees from Vietnam. We all 27 got green cards, and my family members are all citizens now.

28 2. I don't have a good memory of what happened before I got removed.
But I believe that I got convicted of possession for sale. My immigration records say that I was ordered removed on November 16, 2004.

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Ngo is filing with the assistance of the Federal Defenders of San Diego, Inc., Counsel also assisted the petitioner in preparing and submitting his request for the appointment of counsel, which has been filed concurrently with this petition, and all other documents supporting the petition.

1           3.     After I got ordered removed, I believe that I was in ICE custody for 2 around 3 months. ICE then released me. Based on what I have heard about hard it
3 is to remove people like me to Vietnam, I believe that I was released because I 4 could not be removed.

5           4.     I have gotten no criminal convictions since 2004, and I have always 6 checked in with ICE every year.

7           5.     This year, I was picked up at my yearly check in. The date was July 8 24, 2025.

9           6.     As far as I know, I have no family in Vietnam. I believe that my 10 entire family is here in the United States.

11          7.     I have never talked to an ICE officer about my case. No one has ever
12 told me why I was re-detained. No one has ever given me the chance to contest
13 my re-detention. No one has told me what changed to make it more likely that I 14 can be removed.

15          8.     I have no savings, and I have no current income. I cannot afford an 16 attorney.

17          9.     I have no legal training. I don't know anything about immigration 18 law. I do not have unrestricted access to the internet to research ICE's and 19 Vietnam's latest policies about people like me.

Exhibit C

CASE NO. PX 25-951

IDENTIFICATION: JUL 10 2025

ADMITTED: JUL 10 2025

To All ICE Employees
July 9, 2025

Third Country Removals Following the Supreme Court's Order in Department of Homeland Security v. D.V.D., No. 24A1153 (U.S. June 23, 2025)

On June 23, 2025, the U.S. Supreme Court granted the Government's application to stay the district court's nationwide preliminary injunction in D.V.D. v. Department of Homeland Security, No. 25-10676, 2025 WL 1142968 (D. Mass. Apr. 18, 2025), which required certain procedures related to providing a "meaningful opportunity" to assert claims for protection under the Convention Against Torture (CAT) before initiating removal to a third country. Accordingly, all previous guidance implementing the district court's preliminary injunction related the third country removals issued in D.V.D. is hereby rescinded. Absent additional action by the Supreme Court, the stay will remain in place until any writ of certiorari is denied or a judgment following any decision issues.

Effective immediately, when seeking to remove an alien with a final order of removal—other than an expedited removal order under section 235(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA)—to an alternative country as identified in section 241(b)(1)(C) of the INA, ICE must adhere to Secretary of Homeland Security Kristi Noem's March 30, 2025 memorandum, Guidance Regarding Third Country Removals, as detailed below. A "third country" or "alternative country" refers to a country other than that specifically referenced in the order of removal.

If the United States has received diplomatic assurances from the country of removal that aliens removed from the United States will not be persecuted or tortured, and if the Department of State believes those assurances to be credible, the alien may be removed without the need for further procedures. ICE will seek written confirmation from the Department of State that such diplomatic assurances were received and determined to be credible. HSI and ERO will be made aware of any such assurances. In all other cases, ICE must comply with the following procedures:

- An ERO officer will serve on the alien the attached Notice of Removal. The notice includes the intended country of removal and will be read to the alien in a language he or she understands.
- ERO will not affirmatively ask whether the alien is afraid of being removed to the country of removal.
- ERO will generally wait at least 24 hours following service of the Notice of Removal before effectuating removal. In exigent circumstances, ERO may execute a removal order six (6) or more hours after service of the Notice of Removal as long as the alien is provided reasonable means and opportunity to speak with an attorney prior to removal.
  - Any determination to execute a removal order under exigent circumstances less than 24 hours following service of the Notice of Removal must be approved by the DHS General Counsel, or the Principal Legal Advisor where the DHS General Counsel is not available.

- If the alien does not affirmatively state a fear of persecution or torture if removed to the country of removal listed on the Notice of Removal within 24 hours, ERO may proceed with removal to the country identified on the notice. ERO should check all systems for motions as close in time as possible to removal.
- If the alien does affirmatively state a fear if removed to the country of removal listed on the Notice of Removal, ERO will refer the case to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) for a screening for eligibility for protection under section 241(b)(3) of the INA and the Convention Against Torture (CAT). USCIS will generally screen the alien within 24 hours of referral.
  - USCIS will determine whether the alien would more likely than not be persecuted on a statutorily protected ground or tortured in the country of removal.
  - If USCIS determines that the alien has not met this standard, the alien will be removed.
  - If USCIS determines that the alien has met this standard and the alien was not previously in proceedings before the immigration court, USCIS will refer the matter to the immigration court for further proceedings. In cases where the alien was previously in proceedings before the immigration court, USCIS will notify the referring immigration officer of its finding, and the immigration officer will inform ICE. In such cases, ERO will alert their local Office of the Principal Legal Advisor (OPLA) Field Location to file a motion to reopen with the immigration court or the Board of Immigration Appeals, as appropriate, for further proceedings for the sole purpose of determining eligibility for protection under section 241(b)(3) of the INA and CAT for the country of removal. Alternatively, ICE may choose to designate another country for removal.

Notably, the Supreme Court's stay of removal does not alter any decisions issued by any other courts as to individual aliens regarding the process that must be provided before removing that alien to a third country.

Please direct any questions about this guidance to your OPLA field location.

Thank you for all you continue to do for the agency.
