TUNG THANH NGUYEN,

CIVIL CASE NO.: '25CV2760 TWR KSC

Petitioner,

v.
KRISTI NOEM, Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security,
PAMELA JO BONDI, Attorney General,
TODD M. LYONS, Acting Director,
Immigration and Customs Enforcement,

Director, San Diego Field Office,
CHRISTOPHER LAROSE, Warden at

Respondents.

Petition for Writ
of
Habeas Corpus

[28 U.S.C. § 2241]

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Nguyen is filing this petition for a writ of habeas corpus with the assistance of the Federal Defenders of San Diego, Inc., who drafted the instant petition. That same counsel also assisted the petitioner in preparing and submitting his request for the appointment of counsel, which has been filed concurrently with this petition, and all other documents supporting the petition. Federal Defenders has consistently used this procedure in seeking appointment for immigration habeas cases. The Declaration of Katie Hurrelbrink in Support of Appointment Motion attaches case examples.

INTRODUCTION

Mr. Nguyen and his family fled Vietnam in 1987. In the late 1990s, he sustained some theft-related convictions, leading to a final order of removal in 1997. But there was a problem: Vietnam has a longstanding policy of not accepting pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants for deportation. Nevertheless, the former Immigration and Naturalization Service (“INS”) detained Mr. Nguyen for well over a year before releasing him on an order of supervision.

Mr. Nguyen remained on supervision for over 25 years. During that time, he checked in with ICE as scheduled, and he sustained only one conviction (a 2021 conviction for gambling), for which ICE declined to re-detain him.

Nevertheless, ICE arrested him at his scheduled check in on May 12, 2025. Contrary to regulation, ICE did not identify any changed circumstances that made his removal more likely or give Mr. Nguyen an opportunity to contest re-detention. He has now been detained for over five months. ICE appears to have made little effort to remove him. ICE met with him only once to give him a form to fill out. To date, they have not bothered to pick it up. Worse yet, on July 9, 2025, ICE adopted a new policy permitting removals to third countries with no notice, six hours' notice, or 24 hours' notice depending on the circumstances, providing no meaningful opportunity to make a fear-based claim against removal.

Mr. Nguyen’s detention violates Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), Mr. Nguyen’s statutory and regulatory rights, and the Fifth Amendment. Mr. Nguyen must be released under Zadvydas because—having proved unable to remove him for over 25 years—the government cannot show that there is a “significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future.” Id. at 701. ICE’s failure to follow its own regulations provides a second, independent ground for release. Finally, ICE may not remove Mr. Nguyen to a third country without providing an opportunity to assert a fear-based claim before an immigration judge. This Court should grant this petition on all three grounds.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

I. When ICE could not remove Mr. Nguyen to Vietnam, he lived peacefully in the community for over 25 years.

In 1987, when he was 17 years old, Tung Thanh Nguyen fled Vietnam with his aunt. Exh. A at ¶ 1. He and his aunt became separated upon their arrival in the United States, and Mr. Nguyen was placed with a Vietnamese sponsor family. Id. After a couple of months, the sponsor family kicked Mr. Nguyen out of their home. Id. at ¶ 2. Mr. Nguyen became homeless, and he started stealing to survive. Id.

That resulted in convictions. Id. Mr. Nguyen doesn't not remember exactly when those convictions occurred or what the charges were. Id. But he knows that the convictions ultimately resulted in an order of removal on September 8, 1997. Id.

Mr. Nguyen stayed in immigration detention for about 16 or 17 months. Id. at ¶ 3. ICE then released Mr. Nguyen because they could not remove him to Vietnam. Id.

Following his release, Mr. Nguyen reported to ICE each year as scheduled. Id. at ¶ 4. He sustained a gambling conviction in 2021. Id. at ¶ 5. But an ICE agent came to see him in prison to let him know that ICE had decided not to revoke his supervision; Id.

He remained in the community until 2025, when ICE mailed him a notice ordering him to appear for a May 5 interview. Id. at ¶ 6. When he showed up as ordered, ICE rescheduled the interview for May 12. Id. When he showed up as ordered again, ICE arrested him. Id.

Mr. Nguyen has cooperated fully with ICE’s efforts to remove him—he has never refused to do something that ICE asked of him. Id. at ¶ 8. But since Mr. Nguyen’s arrest, ICE agents have met with him only once, about five months ago. Id. at ¶ 7. An agent gave him a form to fill out with information about his

1       siblings and their addresses. Id. The agent has never come back to pick up the 2       form. Id. No one has ever told him why he was re-detained, given him a chance to 3       explain why he should not be re-detained, or identified any changed
4       circumstances that make his removal more likely. Id.

5       Mr. Nguyen has no objection to being removed to Vietnam. Id. at ¶ 11. Nor 6       does he have any problem with being released into the United States. Id. All he 7       asks is that he not be held in detention for months and months, as he has been so 8       far. Id.

10      II. Vietnam has a longstanding policy of not accepting Vietnamese 11       immigrants who entered before 1995.

12       There is an obvious reason why ICE has proved unable to remove 13       Mr. Nguyen for the last 25 years: Vietnam has a longstanding policy of not 14       accepting pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants for deportation. In 2008, Vietnam and 15       the United States signed a repatriation treaty under which Vietnam agreed to 16       consider accepting certain Vietnamese immigrants for deportation. See Trinh v.
17       Homan, 466 F. Supp. 3d 1077, 1083 (C.D. Cal. 2020). The treaty exempted pre-18       1995 Vietnamese immigrants, providing, “Vietnamese citizens are not subject to 19       return to Vietnam under this Agreement if they arrived in the United States before 20       July 12, 1995.” Agreement Between the United States of America and Vietnam, 21       at 2 (Jan. 22, 2008).<sup>2</sup>

22       Despite that limit, the first Trump administration detained Vietnamese 23       immigrants and held them for months, while the administration tried to pressure
24       Vietnam to take them. See Trinh, 466 F. Supp. 3d at 1083–84. That possibility did
25       not materialize. “In total, between 2017 and 2019, ICE requested travel
26       documents for pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants 251 times. Vietnam granted

1 those requests only 18 times, in just over seven percent of cases.” Id. at 1084. The 2 administration was forced to release many of these detainees in 2018. See id.

3       Eventually, in 2020, the administration secured a Memorandum of 4 Understanding (“MOU”) with Vietnam, which created a process through which 5 the Vietnamese government could consider some pre-1995 Vietnamese
 6 immigrants for removal.<sup>3</sup> The MOU limited consideration to persons meeting
 7 certain criteria, but many these criteria have been shielded from public view. See
 8 Nguyen v. Scott, No. 2:25-CV-01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *14 (W.D. Wash.
 9 Aug. 21, 2025). When an immigrant does qualify, the MOU provides only that 10 Vietnam has “discretion whether to issue a travel document,” which it exercises
 11 “on a case-by-case basis.” Hoac v. Becerra, No. 2:25-CV-01740-DC-JDP, 2025
 12 WL 1993771, at *5 (E.D. Cal. July 16, 2025).

13       Even after signing the MOU, Vietnam overwhelmingly declined to timely 14 issue travel documents for pre-1995 immigrants. By October 2021, ICE had 15 adopted a “policy of generally finding that ‘pre-1995 Vietnamese 16 immigrants’ . . . are not likely to be removed in the reasonably foreseeable 17 future.” Order on Joint Motion for Entry of Stipulated Dismissal, Trihn, 18-CV-
 18 316-CJC-GJS, Dkt. 161 at 3 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 7, 2021).<sup>4</sup> That admission aligned
 19 with two years’ worth of quarterly reports that ICE agreed to submit as part of a 20 class action settlement. Those quarterly reports showed that between September 21 2021 and September 2023, only four immigrants who came to the U.S. before
 22 1995 were given travel documents and deported. Asian Law Caucus, Resources

2 made 14 requests for travel documents that, as of 2023, had not been granted,
3 including requests made months or years before the September 2023 cutoff. See 4 id. (proposed counsel's count based on quarterly reports).

5 On June 9, 2025, the Trump administration rescinded ICE's policy of 6 generally finding that pre-1995 Vietnamese immigrants were not likely to be 7 removed in the reasonably foreseeable future. See Nguyen v. Scott, No. 2:25-CV-
8 01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *7 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21, 2025). But since then,
9 several courts have found that facts on the ground likely have not changed enough
10 to show that these detainees will be timely removed to Vietnam. See Nguyen v.
11 Scott, No. 2:25-CV-01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *17 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21,

14 III. The government is carrying out deportations to third countries without 15 providing sufficient notice and opportunity to be heard.

16 When immigrants cannot be removed to their home country—including 17 Vietnamese immigrants—ICE has begun deporting those individuals to third
18 countries without adequate notice or a hearing. The Trump administration 19 reportedly has negotiated with at least 58 countries to accept deportees from other 20 nations. Edward Wong et al, Inside the Global Deal-Making Behind Trump's 21 Mass Deportations, N.Y. Times, June 25, 2025. On June 25, 2025, the New York
22 Times reported that seven countries—Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, 23 Kosovo, Mexico, Panama, and Rwanda—had agreed to accept deportees who are 24 not their own citizens. Id. Since then, ICE has carried out highly publicized third 25 country deportations to South Sudan and Eswatini.

26
27
28 <sup>5</sup> <https://www.asianlawcaucus.org/news-resources/guides-reports/trinh-reports>

1       The Administration has reportedly negotiated with countries to have many 2 of these deportees imprisoned in prisons, camps, or other facilities. The 3 government paid El Salvador about $5 million to imprison more than 200
4 deported Venezuelans in a maximum-security prison notorious for gross human 5 rights abuses, known as CECOT. See id. In February, Panama and Costa Rica
6 took in hundreds of deportees from countries in Africa and Central Asia and 7 imprisoned them in hotels, a jungle camp, and a detention center. Id.; Vanessa
8 Buschschluter, Costa Rican court orders release of migrants deported from U.S., 9 BBC (Jun. 25, 2025). On July 4, 2025, ICE deported eight men, including one
10 pre-1995 Vietnamese refugee, to South Sudan. See Wong, supra. On July 15, ICE
11 deported five men to the tiny African nation of Eswatini, including one man from 12 Vietnam, where they are reportedly being held in solitary confinement. Gerald 13 Imray, 3 Deported by US held in African Prison Despite Completing Sentences,
14 Lawyers Say, PBS (Sept. 2, 2025). Many of these countries are known for human 15 rights abuses or instability. For instance, conditions in South Sudan are so
16 extreme that the U.S. State Department website warns Americans not to travel
17 there, and if they do, to prepare their will, make funeral arrangements, and appoint 18 a hostage-taker negotiator first. See Wong, supra.

19       On June 23 and July 3, 2025, the Supreme Court issued a stay of a national 20 class-wide preliminary injunction issued in D.V.D. v. U.S. Department of 21 Homeland Security, No. CV 25-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1142968, at *1, 3 (D.

23 requirements before removing an individual to a third country. U.S. Dep't of 28       <sup>6</sup> Though the Supreme Court's order was unreasoned, the dissent noted that the government had sought a stay based on procedural arguments applicable only to class actions. Dep't of Homeland Sec. v. D.V.D., 145 S. Ct. 2153, 2160 (2025)

1 guidance meant to give immigrants a ““meaningful opportunity” to assert claims
 2 for protection under the Convention Against Torture (CAT) before initiating 3 removal to a third country” like the ones just described. Exh. B.

4       Under the new guidance, ICE may remove any immigrant to a third country
 5 “without the need for further procedures,” as long as—in the view of the State
 6 Department—the United States has received “credible” “assurances” from that 7 country that deportees will not be persecuted or tortured. Id. at 1. If a country fails
 8 to credibly promise not to persecute or torture releasees, ICE may still remove 9 immigrants there with minimal notice. Id. Ordinarily, ICE must provide 24 hours’
 10 notice. But “[i]n exigent circumstances,” a removal may take place in as little as 11 six hours, “as long as the alien is provided reasonably means and opportunity to 12 speak with an attorney prior to the removal.” Id.

13       Upon serving notice, ICE “will not affirmatively ask whether the alien is 14 afraid of being removed to the country of removal.” Id. (emphasis original). If the 15 noncitizen “does not affirmatively state a fear of persecution or torture if removed 16 to the country of removal listed on the Notice of Removal within 24 hours, [ICE]
 17 may proceed with removal to the country identified on the notice.” Id. at 2. If the 18 noncitizen “does affirmatively state a fear if removed to the country of removal”
 19 then ICE will refer the case to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services 20 (“USCIS”) for a screening for eligibility for withholding of removal and 21 protection under the Convention Against Torture (“CAT”). Id. at 2. “USCIS will 22 generally screen within 24 hours.” Id. If USCIS determines that the noncitizen
 23 does not meet the standard, the individual will be removed. Id. If USCIS

 26 (Sotomayor, J., dissenting). Thus, “even if the Government [was] correct that 27 classwide relief was impermissible” in D.V.D., Respondents still “remain[] 28 obligated to comply with orders enjoining [their] conduct with respect to individual plaintiffs” like Mr. Nguyen. Id. Thus, the Supreme Court’s decision does not override courts’ authority to grant individual injunctive relief. See Nguyen v. Scott,
 No. 2:25-CV-01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *20–23 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21, 2025).

1 determines that the noncitizen has met the standard, then the policy directs ICE to 2 either move to reopen removal proceedings “for the sole purpose of determining 3 eligibility for [withholding of removal protection] and CAT” or designate another 4 country for removal. Id.

5 CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

6 This Court should grant this petition and order Mr. Nguyen’s immediate 7 release. Zadvydas v. Davis holds that immigration statutes do not authorize the 8 government to detain immigrants like Mr. Nguyen, for whom there is “no 9 significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future.” 533 U.S.
10 678, 701 (2001). ICE’s own regulations require changed circumstances before re-
11 detention, as well as a chance to contest a re-detention decision. And due process
12 requires ICE to provide notice and an opportunity to be heard before any removal 13 to a third country.

14 I. Count 1: ICE failed to comply with its own regulations before re-
15 detaining Mr. Nguyen, violating his rights under the Fifth Amendment 16 and the Administrative Procedures Act.

17 The Department of Homeland Security has implemented a series of 18 regulations to protect the due process rights someone who, like Mr. Nguyen, is re-
19 detained following a period of release. Title 8 C.F.R. § 241.4(l) applies to re-
20 detention generally, while 8 C.F.R. § 241.13(i) applies to persons released after 21 providing good reason to believe that they will not be removed in the reasonably
22 foreseeable future, see Rokhfirooz v. Larose, No. 25-CV-2053-RSH-VET, 2025
23 WL 2646165, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 15, 2025), as Mr. Nguyen was, Exh. A at ¶ 3.
24 Many judges in this district have granted habeas petitions or temporary restraining 25 orders when ICE failed to follow these regulations. See, e.g., Constantinovici v.
26 Bondi, __ F. Supp. 3d __, 2025 WL 2898985, No. 25-cv-2405-RBM (S.D. Cal. Oct.

6 Under these regulations, an official may “return[s] [a releasee] to custody”
7 because they “violate[d] any of the conditions of release.” 8 C.F.R. § 241.13(i)(1);
8 see also id. § 241.4(l)(1). Otherwise, § 241.13(i) permits revocation of release only 9 if the appropriate official (1) “determines that there is a significant likelihood that 10 the alien may be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future,” id. § 241.13(i)(2), 11 and (2) makes that finding “on account of changed circumstances.” Id.

12 No matter the reason for re-detention, the re-detained person is entitled to 13 “an initial informal interview promptly,” during which they “will be notified of the 14 reasons for revocation.” Id. §§ 241.4(l)(1), 241.13(i)(3). The interviewer must 15 “afford[] the [person] an opportunity to respond to the reasons for revocation,” 16 allowing them to “submit any evidence or information” relevant to re-detention and 17 evaluating “any contested facts.” Id.

6 None of the prerequisites to detention apply here. Mr. Nguyen was not 7 returned to custody because of a conditions violation. And there are no changed
8 circumstances that justify re-detaining him. The same treaty has applied since 2008,
9 and the same MOU has applied since 2020. Of course, ICE may be planning to try 10 again to remove Mr. Nguyen. But absent any evidence for “why obtaining a travel
11 document is more likely this time around[,] Respondents’ intent to eventually 12 complete a travel document request for Petitioner does not constitute a changed
13 circumstance.” Hoac v. Becerra, No. 2:25-CV-01740-DC-JDP, 2025 WL 1993771,

16 interview required by regulation. Exh. A at ¶ 7. No one from ICE has ever invited 17 him to contest his detention. Id.

19 the applicable regulations, that revocation has no effect, and [Mr. Nguyen] is 20 entitled to his release (subject to the same Order of Supervision that governed his 21 most recent release).” Liu, 2025 WL 1696526, at *3.

22 II. Count 2: Mr. Nguyen’s detention violates Zadvydas and 8 U.S.C. § 1231.

23 A. Legal background

24 Beyond these regulatory violations, Mr. Nguyen’s detention violates the 25 statute authorizing detention, 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(6). In Zadvydas v. Davis, 533
26 U.S. 678 (2001), the Supreme Court considered a problem affecting people like 27 Mr. Nguyen: Federal law requires ICE to detain an immigrant during the 28 “removal period,” which typically spans the first 90 days after the immigrant is

1 ordered removed. 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)-(2). After that 90-day removal period
2 expires, detention becomes discretionary—ICE may detain the migrant while 3 continuing to try to remove them. Id. § 1231(a)(6). Ordinarily, this scheme would 4 not lead to excessive detention, as removal happens within days or weeks. But 5 some detainees cannot be removed quickly. Perhaps their removal “simply 6 require[s] more time for processing,” or they are “ordered removed to countries
7 with whom the United States does not have a repatriation agreement,” or their 8 countries “refuse to take them,” or they are “effectively ‘stateless’ because of their 9 race and/or place of birth.” Kim Ho Ma v. Ashcroft, 257 F.3d 1095, 1104 (9th Cir.
10 2001). In these and other circumstances, detained immigrants can find themselves 11 trapped in detention for months, years, decades, or even the rest of their lives.

12 If federal law were understood to allow for “indefinite, perhaps permanent, 13 detention,” it would pose “a serious constitutional threat.” Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 14 699. In Zadvydas, the Supreme Court avoided the constitutional concern by 15 interpreting § 1231(a)(6) to incorporate implicit limits. Id. at 689.

16 As an initial matter, Zadvydas held that detention is “presumptively 17 reasonable” for at least six months. Id. at 701. This acts as a kind of grace period 18 for effectuating removals.

19 Following the six-month grace period, courts must use a burden-shifting
20 framework to decide whether detention remains authorized. First, the petitioner
21 must make a prima facie case for relief: He must prove that there is “good reason 22 to believe that there is no significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably 23 foreseeable future.” Id.

24 If he does so, the burden shifts to “the Government [to] respond with 25 evidence sufficient to rebut that showing.” Id. Ultimately, then, the burden of 26 proof rests with the government: The government must prove that there is a 27 “significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future,” or the 28 immigrant must be released. Id.

1       Using this framework, Mr. Nguyen can make all the threshold showings
2 needed to shift the burden to the government.

3           B. The six-month grace period has expired.

4       As an initial matter, the six-month grace period has long since ended. The 5 Zadvydas grace period lasts for “six months after a final order of removal—that is,
6 three months after the statutory removal period has ended.” Kim Ho Ma v. Ashcroft, 7 257 F.3d 1095, 1102 n.5 (9th Cir. 2001). Here, Mr. Nguyen’s order of removal was 8 entered in September 1997. Exh. A at ¶ 2. Accordingly, his 90-day removal period
9 began then. 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(B). The Zadvydas grace period thus expired six 10 months after he was ordered removed and three months after the removal period 11 expired, both of which occurred in March 1998. Furthermore, Mr. Nguyen was 12 detained for 16 or 17 months around the time that he was ordered removed. Exh. A 13 at ¶ 3. Thus, this threshold requirement is met.

14       The government has sometimes proposed calculating the Zadvydas grace 15 period differently where, as here, an immigrant is released and then rearrested. But 16 these proposed alternative calculations contradict the statute and Zadvydas.

17       First, the government has sometimes argued that release and rearrest resets 18 the six-month grace period completely, taking the clock back to zero.
19 “Courts . . . broadly agree” that this is not correct. Diaz-Ortega v. Lund, 2019 WL
20 6003485, at *7 n.6 (W.D. La. Oct. 15, 2019), report and recommendation
21 adopted, 2019 WL 6037220 (W.D. La. Nov. 13, 2019); see also Sied v. Nielsen,
22 No. 17-CV-06785-LB, 2018 WL 1876907, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 19, 2018)
23 (collecting cases). This proposal would create an obvious end run around 24 Zadvydas, because ICE could detain an immigrant indefinitely by releasing and 25 quickly rearresting them every six months.

26       Second, the government has sometimes claimed that rearrest at least resets
27 the 90-day removal period under 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1). See, e.g., Farah v. INS,

1 No. Civ. 02-4725(DSD/RLE), 2003 WL 221809, at *5 (D. Minn. Jan. 29, 2013)
2 (adopting this view). But as a court explained in Bailey v. Lynch, that view cannot 3 be squared with the statutory definition of the removal period in 8 U.S.C.
4 § 1231(a)(1)(B), which has nothing to do with release or re-arrest. No. CV 16-5 2600 (JLL), 2016 WL 5791407, at *2 (D.N.J. Oct. 3, 2016).

6 Thus, the six-month grace period poses no barrier to granting this Zadvydas
7 petition.

8 C. Vietnam's decades-long policy of not repatriating most pre-1995
9 Vietnamese immigrants provides very good reason to believe that 10 Mr. Nguyen will not likely be removed in the reasonably 11 foreseeable future.

12 Because the six-month grace period has passed, this Court must evaluate 13 Mr. Nguyen's Zadvydas claim using the burden-shifting framework. At the first 14 stage of the framework, Mr. Nguyen must "provide[] good reason to believe that 15 there is no significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future."
16 Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. This standard can be broken down into three parts.

17 "Good reason to believe." The "good reason to believe" standard is a 18 relatively forgiving one. "A petitioner need not establish that there exists no
19 possibility of removal." Freeman v. Watkins, No. CV B:09-160, 2009 WL 20 10714999, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 22, 2009). Nor does "[g]ood reason to 21 believe' . . . place a burden upon the detainee to demonstrate no reasonably 22 foreseeable, significant likelihood of removal or show that his detention is 23 indefinite; it is something less than that." Rual v. Barr, No. 6:20-CV-06215 EAW, 24 2020 WL 3972319, at *3 (W.D.N.Y. July 14, 2020) (quoting Senor v. Barr, 401
25 F. Supp. 3d 420, 430 (W.D.N.Y. 2019)). In short, the standard means what it says:
26 Petitioners need only give a "good reason"—not prove anything to a certainty.

27 "Significant likelihood of removal." This component focuses on whether 28 Mr. Nguyen will likely be removed: Continued detention is permissible only if it

1 is “significant[ly] like[ly]” that ICE will be able to remove him. Zadvydas, 533
2 U.S. at 701. This inquiry targets “not only the existence of untapped possibilities, 3 but also [the] probability of success in such possibilities.” Elashi v. Sabol, 714 F.
4 Supp. 2d 502, 506 (M.D. Pa. 2010) (second emphasis added). In other words, 5 even if “there remains some possibility of removal,” a petitioner can still meet its 6 burden if there is good reason to believe that successful removal is not 7 significantly likely. Kacanic v. Elwood, No. CIV.A. 02-8019, 2002 WL
8 31520362, at *4 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 8, 2002) (emphasis added).

9         “In the reasonably foreseeable future.” This component of the test 10 focuses on when Mr. Nguyen will likely be removed: Continued detention is 11 permissible only if removal is likely to happen “in the reasonably foreseeable 12 future.” Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. This inquiry places a time limit on ICE’s 13 removal efforts. If the Court has “no idea of when it might reasonably expect
14 [Petitioner] to be repatriated, this Court certainly cannot conclude that his removal 15 is likely to occur—or even that it might occur—in the reasonably foreseeable
16 future.” Palma v. Gillis, No. 5:19-CV-112-DCB-MTP, 2020 WL 4880158, at *3
17 (S.D. Miss. July 7, 2020), report and recommendation adopted, 2020 WL
18 4876859 (S.D. Miss. Aug. 19, 2020) (quoting Singh v. Whitaker, 362 F. Supp. 3d 19 93, 102 (W.D.N.Y. 2019)). Thus, even if this Court concludes that Mr. Nguyen 20 “would eventually receive” a travel document, he can still meet his burden by 21 giving good reason to anticipate sufficiently lengthy delays. Younes v. Lynch, 22 2016 WL 6679830, at *2 (E.D. Mich. Nov. 14, 2016).

23         Mr. Nguyen readily satisfies this standard for two reasons.

24         First, as explained above, Vietnam generally does not accept pre-1995
25 Vietnamese immigrants for deportation. Even after Vietnam signed the 2020
26 MOU, ICE had to admit that there was no reasonable likelihood of removing such 27 immigrants in the reasonably foreseeable future, Order on Joint Motion for Entry 28 of Stipulated Dismissal, Trihn, 18-CV-316-CJC-GJS, Dkt. 161 at 3 (C.D. Cal.

1 Oct. 7, 2021)—an admission amply backed up by two years’ experience under the 2 MOU, Asian Law Caucus, Resources on Deportation of Vietnamese Immigrants
3 Who Entered the U.S. Before 1995 (Jul. 15, 2025) (providing links to all quarterly
4 reports). Though the Trump administration rescinded this admission, Nguyen, 5 2025 WL 2419288, at *7, several courts have found that these barriers continue to 6 obstruct removal for people like Mr. Nguyen. See Nguyen, 2025 WL 2419288;
7 Hoac, 2025 WL 1993771; Nguyen, 2025 WL 1725791.

8 Second, Mr. Nguyen’s own experience bears this out. ICE has now had 28
9 years to deport him, including 5 years under the MOU. He has fully cooperated
10 with ICE’s removal efforts throughout that time, including at yearly check-ins.
11 Exh. A ¶¶ 4, 8. Yet ICE has proved unable to remove him.

12 Third, since detaining Mr. Nguyen in May, it appears that ICE has not been 13 diligent in trying to remove him. Id. at ¶¶ 6, 7. Mr. Nguyen has now been in 14 detention for over 5 months—more than a 90-day statutory removal period and 15 almost an entire six-month Zadvydas grace period. Id. at ¶ 6. Yet ICE officers met 16 with him only once, and they did not even bother to pick up the paperwork that 17 they asked him to complete. Id. at ¶ 7. ICE’s apparent “lack of effort only 18 reinforces the conclusion that the Petitioner’s removal is not likely to occur in the 19 reasonably foreseeable future.” Kacanic v. Elwood, No. CIV.A. 02-8019, 2002
20 WL 31520362, at *5 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 8, 2002); accord Conchas-Valdez v. Casey,
21 25-CV-2469-DMS-JLB, Dkt. No. 9 at 6 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 6, 2025) (Sabraw, J.) 22 (“[T]he Government’s minimal work on this case—one resettlement request and 23 two follow up emails over the course of seven months—do not instill confidence
24 that it will be able to secure Petitioner’s removal in the reasonably foreseeable 25 future.”).

26 Thus, Mr. Nguyen has met his initial burden, and the burden shifts to the 27 government. Unless the government can prove a “significant likelihood of 28

1 removal in the reasonably foreseeable future,” Mr. Nguyen must be released.
2 Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701.

3 D. Zadvydas unambiguously prohibits this Court from denying 4 Mr. Nguyen’s petition because of his criminal history.

5 If released on supervision, Mr. Nguyen poses no risk of danger or flight. He 6 has been on supervision for well over 25 years. Exh. A at ¶¶ 2, 3. Apart from one
7 gambling conviction, for which ICE declined to detain him, he has not had any 8 trouble on supervision. Id. at ¶ 5. In particular, he has reported every year as 9 scheduled, including two check-ins in 2025. Id. at ¶ 6.

10 Even if the government did try to argue that Mr. Nguyen posed a danger or 11 flight risk, however, Zadvydas squarely holds that those are not grounds for 12 detaining an immigrant when there is no reasonable likelihood of removal in the 13 reasonably foreseeable future. 533 U.S. at 684–91.

14 The two petitioners in Zadvydas both had significant criminal history.
15 Mr. Zadvydas himself had “a long criminal record, involving drug crimes, 16 attempted robbery, attempted burglary, and theft,” as well as “a history of flight,
17 from both criminal and deportation proceedings.” Id. at 684. The other petitioner, 18 Kim Ho Ma, was “involved in a gang-related shooting [and] convicted of 19 manslaughter.” Id. at 685. The government argued that both men could be detained 20 regardless of their likelihood of removal, because they posed too great a risk of 21 danger or flight. Id. at 690–91.

22 The Supreme Court rejected that argument. The Court appreciated the 23 seriousness of the government’s concerns. Id. at 691. But the Court found that the 24 immigrant’s liberty interests were weightier. Id. The Court had never 25 countenanced “potentially permanent” “civil confinement,” based only on the 26 government’s belief that the person would misbehave in the future. Id.

27 The Court also noted that the government was free to use the many tools at 28 its disposal to mitigate risk: “[O]f course, the alien’s release may and should be

1 conditioned on any of the various forms of supervised release that are appropriate
2 in the circumstances, and the alien may no doubt be returned to custody upon a
3 violation of those conditions.” Id. at 700. The Ninth Circuit later elaborated, “All 4 aliens ordered released must comply with the stringent supervision requirements
5 set out in 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(3). [They] will have to appear before an immigration 6 officer periodically, answer certain questions, submit to medical or psychiatric 7 testing as necessary, and accept reasonable restrictions on [their] conduct and 8 activities, including severe travel limitations. More important, if [they] engage[ ] 9 in any criminal activity during this time, including violation of [their] supervisory 10 release conditions, [they] can be detained and incarcerated as part of the normal 11 criminal process.” Ma, 257 F.3d at 1115.

12 These conditions have proved sufficient to protect the public for over two 13 decades. They will continue to do so while ICE keeps trying to deport
14 Mr. Nguyen.

15 III. Count 3: ICE may not remove Mr. Nguyen to a third country without 16 adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard.

17 In addition to unlawfully detaining him, ICE’s policies threaten his removal 18 to a third country without adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard. These 19 policies violate the Fifth Amendment, the Convention Against Torture, and 20 implementing regulations.

21 A. Legal background

22 U.S. law enshrines protections against dangerous and life-threatening 23 removal decisions. By statute, the government is prohibited from removing an 24 immigrant to any third country where they may be persecuted or tortured, a form 25 of protection known as withholding of removal. See 8 U.S.C. § 1231(b)(3)(A). The 26 government “may not remove [a noncitizen] to a country if the Attorney General 27 decides that the [noncitizen’s] life or freedom would be threatened in that country 28 because of the [noncitizen’s] race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular

1 social group, or political opinion.” Id.; see also 8 C.F.R. §§ 208.16, 1208.16.
2 Withholding of removal is a mandatory protection.

3 Similarly, Congress codified protections enshrined in the CAT prohibiting 4 the government from removing a person to a country where they would be tortured.
5 See FARRA 2681-822 (codified as 8 U.S.C. § 1231 note) (“It shall be the policy of 6 the United States not to expel, extradite, or otherwise effect the involuntary return 7 of any person to a country in which there are substantial grounds for believing the 8 person would be in danger of being subjected to torture, regardless of whether the 9 person is physically present in the United States.”); 28 C.F.R. § 200.1; id.
10 §§ 208.16-208.18, 1208.16-1208.18. CAT protection is also mandatory.

11 To comport with the requirements of due process, the government must 12 provide notice of the third country removal and an opportunity to respond. Due 13 process requires “written notice of the country being designated” and “the statutory 14 basis for the designation, i.e., the applicable subsection of § 1231(b)(2).” Aden v.
15 Nielsen, 409 F. Supp. 3d 998, 1019 (W.D. Wash. 2019); accord D.V.D. v. U.S.
16 Dep’t of Homeland Sec., No. 25-cv-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1453640, at *1 (D.
17 Mass. May 21, 2025); Andriasian v. INS, 180 F.3d 1033, 1041 (9th Cir. 1999).

18 The government must also “ask the noncitizen whether he or she fears 19 persecution or harm upon removal to the designated country and memorialize in 20 writing the noncitizen’s response. This requirement ensures DHS will obtain the 21 necessary information from the noncitizen to comply with section 1231(b)(3) and 22 avoids [a dispute about what was said].” Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1019. “Failing to 23 notify individuals who are subject to deportation that they have the right to apply 24 for asylum in the United States and for withholding of deportation to the country to 25 which they will be deported violates both INS regulations and the constitutional 26 right to due process.” Andriasian, 180 F.3d at 1041.

27 If the noncitizen claims fear, measures must be taken to ensure that the 28 noncitizen can seek asylum, withholding, and relief under CAT before an

1 immigration judge in reopened removal proceedings. The amount and type of 2 notice must be “sufficient” to ensure that “given [a noncitizen’s] capacities and 3 circumstances, he would have a reasonable opportunity to raise and pursue his 4 claim for withholding of deportation.” Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1009
5 (citing Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 349 (1976) and Kossov v. I.N.S., 132
6 F.3d 405, 408 (7th Cir. 1998)); cf. D.V.D., 2025 WL 1453640, at *1 (requiring the 7 government to move to reopen the noncitizen’s immigration proceedings if the 8 individual demonstrates “reasonable fear” and to provide “a meaningful 9 opportunity, and a minimum of fifteen days, for the non-citizen to seek reopening 10 of their immigration proceedings” if the noncitizen is found to not have 11 demonstrated “reasonable fear”); Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1019 (requiring notice 12 and time for a respondent to file a motion to reopen and seek relief).

13 “[L]ast minute” notice of the country of removal will not suffice, Andriasian, 14 180 F.3d at 1041; accord Najjar v. Lunch, 630 Fed. App’x 724 (9th Cir. 2016), and 15 for good reason: To have a meaningful opportunity to apply for fear-based 16 protection from removal, immigrants must have time to prepare and present
17 relevant arguments and evidence. Merely telling a person where they may be sent,
18 without giving them a chance to look into country conditions, does not give them a 19 meaningful chance to determine whether and why they have a credible fear.

20 B. The June 6, 2025 memo’s removal policies violate the Fifth 21 Amendment, 8 U.S.C. § 1231, the Conviction Against Torture, and 22 Implementing Regulations.

23 The policies in the June 6, 2025 memo do not adhere to these requirements.
24 First, under the policy, ICE need not give immigrants any notice or hearing before 25 removing them to a country that—in the State Department’s estimation—has 26 provided “credible” “assurances” against persecution and torture. Exh. B. By 27 depriving immigrants of any chance to challenge the State Department’s view, this 28 policy violates “[t]he essence of due process,” “the requirement that a person in

1 jeopardy of serious loss be given notice of the case against him and opportunity to 2 meet it." Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 348 (1976) (cleaned up).

3 Second, even when the government has obtained no credible assurances 4 against persecution and torture, the government can still remove the person with 5 between 6 and 24 hours' notice, depending on the circumstances. Exh. B.
6 Practically speaking, there is not nearly enough time for a detained person to assess 7 their risk in the third country and martial evidence to support any credible fear—let 8 alone a chance to file a motion to reopen with an IJ. An immigrant may know 9 nothing about a third country, like Eswatini or South Sudan, when they are 10 scheduled for removal there. Yet if given the opportunity to investigate conditions, 11 immigrants would find credible reasons to fear persecution or torture—like patterns 12 of keeping deportees indefinitely and without charge in solitary confinement or 13 extreme instability raising a high likelihood of death—in many of the third
14 countries that have agreed to removal thus far. Due process requires an adequate 15 chance to identify and raise these threats to health and life. This Court must prohibit 16 the government from removing Mr. Nguyen without these due process safeguards.

17 IV. This Court must hold an evidentiary hearing on any disputed facts.

18 Resolution of a prolonged-detention habeas petition may require an 19 evidentiary hearing. Owino v. Napolitano, 575 F.3d 952, 956 (9th Cir. 2009). Mr.
20 Nguyen hereby requests such a hearing on any material, disputed facts.

21 V. Prayer for relief

22 For the foregoing reasons, Petitioner respectfully requests that this Court:

23 1. Order Respondents to immediately release Petitioner from custody;
24 2. Enjoin Respondents from re-detaining Petitioner under 8 U.S.C.
25 § 1231(a)(6) unless and until Respondents obtain a travel document for 26 his removal;

27

became separated, and a Vietnamese family living in America sponsored me.

I got a green card.

2. After a couple of months, my sponsor kicked me out of their home. I became homeless, and I stole to survive. I do not remember exactly when I was convicted or the exact charges—it may have been burglary. But I know that I was ordered removed on September 8, 1997.

3. I stayed in immigration detention for about 16 or 17 months. ICE then released me because they could not remove me to Vietnam.

4. I reported to ICE every year as scheduled.

5. In 2021, I had a gambling conviction. I served a 30-month sentence. An ICE agent came to see me in prison. The agent said that ICE had decided not to revoke my release and to keep me on supervision.

6. In 2025, ICE sent me a notice in the mail that they would like to interview me on May 5, 2025. I showed up, and ICE rescheduled me for May 12. When I came back on May 12, ICE arrested me.

7. Since my arrest, ICE agents have only met with me once. ICE gave me a form to fill out with information about my siblings and their addresses. That was about five months ago. ICE agents have not come back to pick up the form. No one has ever told me why I was re-detained. No one has ever given me a chance to explain why I should not be re-detained. No one has ever told me what changed to make it more likely that I will be removed to Vietnam.

1       8. I have never refused to do something that ICE asked me to do.
2       9. I do not have a work permit, so I am not allowed to work. My older brother
3                    supports me. I do not have any savings or other assets.
4       10. I do not speak very good English. I had to prepare this declaration with help
5                    from a Vietnamese interpreter. I have no legal education or training. I did not 6                    go to school in the U.S., and I only reached 8th grade in Vietnam. I do not 7                    know anything about immigration law. I do not have unrestricted access to 8                    the internet at my detention facility, so I cannot use the internet to research
9                    ICE's and Vietnam's latest polices for people like me.
10      11. It is fine with me if ICE removes me to Vietnam. It is also fine with me if 11                    ICE releases me in the United States. The only thing I ask is that I not be held 12                    in detention for months and months, as I have been so far.

Exhibit B

CASE NO. PX 25-951
IDENTIFICATION: JUL 10 2025
ADMITTED: JUL 10 2025

To All ICE Employees
July 9, 2025

Third Country Removals Following the Supreme Court's Order in Department of Homeland Security v. D.V.D., No. 24A1153 (U.S. June 23, 2025)

On June 23, 2025, the U.S. Supreme Court granted the Government's application to stay the district court's nationwide preliminary injunction in D.V.D. v. Department of Homeland Security, No. 25-10676, 2025 WL 1142968 (D. Mass. Apr. 18, 2025), which required certain procedures related to providing a "meaningful opportunity" to assert claims for protection under the Convention Against Torture (CAT) before initiating removal to a third country. Accordingly, all previous guidance implementing the district court's preliminary injunction related the third country removals issued in D.V.D. is hereby rescinded. Absent additional action by the Supreme Court, the stay will remain in place until any writ of certiorari is denied or a judgment following any decision issues.

Effective immediately, when seeking to remove an alien with a final order of removal—other than an expedited removal order under section 235(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA)—to an alternative country as identified in section 241(b)(1)(C) of the INA, ICE must adhere to Secretary of Homeland Security Kristi Noem's March 30, 2025 memorandum, Guidance Regarding Third Country Removals, as detailed below. A "third country" or "alternative country" refers to a country other than that specifically referenced in the order of removal.

If the United States has received diplomatic assurances from the country of removal that aliens removed from the United States will not be persecuted or tortured, and if the Department of State believes those assurances to be credible, the alien may be removed without the need for further procedures. ICE will seek written confirmation from the Department of State that such diplomatic assurances were received and determined to be credible. HSI and ERO will be made aware of any such assurances. In all other cases, ICE must comply with the following procedures:

- An ERO officer will serve on the alien the attached Notice of Removal. The notice includes the intended country of removal and will be read to the alien in a language he or she understands.
- ERO will not affirmatively ask whether the alien is afraid of being removed to the country of removal.
- ERO will generally wait at least 24 hours following service of the Notice of Removal before effectuating removal. In exigent circumstances, ERO may execute a removal order six (6) or more hours after service of the Notice of Removal as long as the alien is provided reasonable means and opportunity to speak with an attorney prior to removal.
  - Any determination to execute a removal order under exigent circumstances less than 24 hours following service of the Notice of Removal must be approved by the DHS General Counsel, or the Principal Legal Advisor where the DHS General Counsel is not available.

- If the alien does not affirmatively state a fear of persecution or torture if removed to the country of removal listed on the Notice of Removal within 24 hours, ERO may proceed with removal to the country identified on the notice. ERO should check all systems for motions as close in time as possible to removal.
- If the alien does affirmatively state a fear if removed to the country of removal listed on the Notice of Removal, ERO will refer the case to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) for a screening for eligibility for protection under section 241(b)(3) of the INA and the Convention Against Torture (CAT). USCIS will generally screen the alien within 24 hours of referral.
  - USCIS will determine whether the alien would more likely than not be persecuted on a statutorily protected ground or tortured in the country of removal.
  - If USCIS determines that the alien has not met this standard, the alien will be removed.
  - If USCIS determines that the alien has met this standard and the alien was not previously in proceedings before the immigration court, USCIS will refer the matter to the immigration court for further proceedings. In cases where the alien was previously in proceedings before the immigration court, USCIS will notify the referring immigration officer of its finding, and the immigration officer will inform ICE. In such cases, ERO will alert their local Office of the Principal Legal Advisor (OPLA) Field Location to file a motion to reopen with the immigration court or the Board of Immigration Appeals, as appropriate, for further proceedings for the sole purpose of determining eligibility for protection under section 241(b)(3) of the INA and CAT for the country of removal. Alternatively, ICE may choose to designate another country for removal.

Notably, the Supreme Court's stay of removal does not alter any decisions issued by any other courts as to individual aliens regarding the process that must be provided before removing that alien to a third country.

Please direct any questions about this guidance to your OPLA field location.

Thank you for all you continue to do for the agency.
