CIVIL CASE NO.:

Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus

[28 U.S.C. § 2241]

²⁴ ¹ Mr. Rios is filing this petition for a writ of habeas corpus with the assistance of ²⁵ the Federal Defenders of San Diego, Inc., who drafted the instant petition. That ²⁶ same counsel also assisted the petitioner in preparing and submitting his request
²⁷ for the appointment of counsel, which has been filed concurrently with this ²⁸ petition, and all other documents supporting the petition. Federal Defenders has consistently used this procedure in seeking appointment for immigration habeas cases. The Declaration of Zandra Lopez in Support of Appointment Motion attaches case examples.

INTRODUCTION

Carlos Rios, who fled Cuba in 1988, was ordered removed from the United States in 2021. But he could not be physically removed to Cuba. Although there was a 2017 repatriation agreement with Cuba, the United States continued to categorize Cuba as uncooperative following that agreement. Mr. Rios was released from immigration custody and placed on an order of supervision.

Since 2021, Mr. Rios remained on supervision. He checked in with ICE every year without any arrests or missed check-ins. He got married and worked. On September 22, 2025, he went in for his regular check-in and he was re-detained.

Mr. Rios has had no information about whether ICE has sought a travel document or even begun the process of seeking his deportation to Cuba. Worse yet, on July 9, 2025, ICE adopted a new policy permitting removals to third countries with no notice, six hours' notice, or 24 hours' notice depending on the circumstances, providing no meaningful opportunity to make a fear-based claim against removal.

Mr. Rios detention violates his statutory and regulatory rights, Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), and the Fifth Amendment. His detention violates his statutory and regulatory rights, Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), and the Fifth Amendment. Courts in this district have agreed in similar circumstances as to each of his claims. Specifically:

(1) Regulatory and due process violations: Petitioner must be released because ICE's failure to follow its own regulations about notice and an opportunity to be heard violate due process. See, e.g., Constantinovici v. Bondi, ___ F. Supp. 3d ___, 2025 WL 2898985, No. 25-cv-2405-RBM (S.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 2025); Rokhfirooz v. Larose, No. 25-cv-2053-RSH, 2025 WL 2646165 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 15, 2025); *Phan v. 5 cv-02453-BAS-BLM, ECF 11 (Oct. 10, 2025) (all either granting temporary 6 restraining orders releasing noncitizens, or granting habeas petitions outright, due
7 to ICE regulatory violations during recent re-detentions of released noncitizens 8 previously ordered removed).

9 (2) Zadvydas violations: Petitioner must also be released under Zadvydas
10 because—having proved unable to remove him in the past—the government 11 cannot show that there is a “significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably 12 foreseeable future.” Id. at 701. See, e.g., Conchas-Valdez, 2025 WL 2884822, No.
13 25-cv-2469-DMS (S.D. Cal. Oct. 6, 2025); Alic v. Dep’t of Homeland
14 Sec./Immigr. Customs Enf’t, No. 25-CV-01749-AJB-BLM, 2025 WL 2799679
15 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 30, 2025); Rebenok v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2171-TWR, ECF No. 13 16 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 25, 2025) (granting habeas petitions releasing noncitizens due to 17 Zadvydas violations).

18 (3) Third-country removal statutory and due process violations: This Court
19 should enjoin ICE from removing Petitioner to a third country without providing 20 an opportunity to assert fear of persecution or torture before an immigration 21 judge. See, e.g., Rebenok v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2171-TWR at ECF No. 13; Van 22 Tran v. Noem, 2025 WL 2770623 at *3; Nguyen Tran v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2391-
23 BTM, ECF No. 6 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025); Louangmilith v. Noem, 2025 WL
24 2881578, No. 25-cv-2502-JES, *4 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 9, 2025); Ho v. Noem, 25-cv-
25 02453-BAS-BLM, ECF 11 (Oct. 10, 2025) (all either granting temporary 26 restraining orders or habeas petitions ordering the government to not remove 27 petitioners to third countries pending litigation or reopening of their immigration 28 cases).

This Court should grant this habeas petition and issue appropriate injunctive relief on all four grounds addressed below.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

I. Mr. Rios is ordered removed, released on supervision for four years, until he walks into ICE for his annual check-in.

Mr. Rios was born in Cuba in 1965 and entered the United States in 1988. Exh. A at ¶ 1. In 2021, an immigration judge ordered him removed to Cuba after he completed a lengthy sentence for murder. Id. at ¶ 2.²

After Mr. Rios was ordered removed, he was detained in immigration custody for about two months but eventually released because he could not be removed to Cuba. Id. ¶ 2. He was then placed on an order of supervision. Id.

During the four years that Mr. Rios was on supervision, he did not have any new arrests or violations of his supervision. Exh. A at ¶¶ 3. He did not miss any of his appointments. Id. He married his United States Citizen wife and became a certified dog groomer and worked various jobs. Id. at ¶ 4.

On September 22, 2025, Mr. Rios went to his yearly check-in at the ICE offices. Exh. A at ¶ 5. There he was re-detained and sent to the Otay Detention Center. Id. He has never given any formal paperwork explaining the reasons for his re-detention and he has not been given the chance to contest his re-detention with ICE. Id. at ¶¶ 5-7.

On October 1, 2025, Mr. Rios was told that he was being discharged from the detention center. Id. at ¶ 8. He was then placed in a van and taken to the Mexican border with other detainees. Id. The officers told him to enter Mexico. They told him that if he did not cross into Mexico, the next time, he would be placed on a plane to Africa. Id. Mr. Rios was afraid and confused. Id. He asked to

1 speak to a supervisor. Id. Mr. Rios was placed back in the van and taken him back
2 to the detention center. Id.

3 II. The repatriation agreement with Cuba allows it to use its discretion
4 in accepting Cuban nationals that entered the United States prior to 5 2017 on a case-by-case basis.

6 Prior to 2017, there was no repatriation agreement between the United 7 States and Cuba. Clark v. Martinez, 543 U.S. 371, 386 (2005). On January 12,
8 2017, the United States and Cuba signed a joint statement (“2017 Joint 9 Statement”) by which Cuba agreed to the repatriation of some Cuban nationals.
10 Cuba (17-112) – Joint Statement Concerning Normalization of Migration
11 Procedures, Jan. 12, 2017, available at <https://www.state.gov/17-112/>. The 2017
12 Joint Statement required Cuba to accept some Cuban nationals but allowed it to 13 use its discretion to accept others on a case-by-case basis.

14 Specifically, under the agreement Cuba “shall receive back all Cuban 15 nationals who after the signing” of the 2017 Joint Statement “found by the 16 competent authorities of the United States to have tried to irregularly enter or 17 remain in that country in violation of United States law.” Id. at 2. The agreement 18 also stated that Cuba “shall accept individuals included in the list of 2,746 to be 19 returned in accordance with the Joint Communiqué of December 14, 1984,” who 20 came to the United States in 1980 via the Port of Mariel. Id. Cuba is not required
21 to accept a third group of Cuban Nationals. Under the 2017 Joint Statement, Cuba
22 agrees to “consider and decide on a case-by-case basis the return of other Cuban 23 nationals presently in the United States of America who before the signing of this 24 Joint Statement had been found by the competent authorities of the United States
25 to have tried to irregularly enter or remain in that country in violation of United 26 States law.” Id. Mr. Rios falls into this last group of Cuban Nationals since he was 27
28

1 found to “have tried to irregularly enter or remain in that country” prior to the 2 2017 Joint Statement.

3 Moreover, despite the 2017 Joint Statement, a 2019 report by the Office of 4 Inspector General classified Cuba as an “uncooperative country” in 2017, 2018,
5 and 2019 based on its failure to provide travel documents on a timely basis.
6 Department of Homeland Security, Office of Inspector General, Report No. OIG-
7 19-28, ICE Faces Barriers in Timely Repatriation of Detained Aliens (Mar. 11, 8 2019), available at <https://www.oig.dhs.gov/sites/default/files/assets/2019-03/OIG-19-28-Mar19.pdf> at pages 6-7, 10, 29. In May of 2018, Cuba was one of 9 nine countries with the uncooperative categorization. Id. at 10.

10 As of the filing of this petition, Petitioner cannot find available numbers of 11 pre-2017 Cuban nationals who have been repatriated to Cuba.

12 Based on the facts of Mr. Rios’s individual case, it is evident that ICE has 13 not obtained travel documents from Cuba. This is evident because ICE has had 14 four years to obtain travel documents and has not done so. What’s more, Mr. Rios
15 has now been in ICE custody for over a month and there is no indication that ICE
16 anticipates receiving travel documents from Cuba any time in the reasonably 17 foreseeable future.

18 III. The government is carrying out deportations to third countries 19 without providing sufficient notice and opportunity to be heard.

20 When immigrants cannot be removed to their home country—including 21 Cuban immigrants—ICE has begun deporting those individuals to third countries 22 without adequate notice or a hearing. The Trump administration reportedly has 23 negotiated with at least 58 countries to accept deportees from other nations.

24 Edward Wong et al, Inside the Global Deal-Making Behind Trump’s Mass
25 Deportations, N.Y. Times, June 25, 2025. On June 25, 2025, the New York
26 Times reported that seven countries—Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, 27 Kosovo, Mexico, Panama, and Rwanda—had agreed to accept deportees who are 28

1 not their own citizens. Id. Since then, ICE has carried out highly publicized third
2 country deportations to South Sudan and Eswatini.

3 The Administration has reportedly negotiated with countries to have many 4 of these deportees imprisoned in prisons, camps, or other facilities. The 5 government paid El Salvador about $5 million to imprison more than 200
6 deported Venezuelans in a maximum-security prison notorious for gross human 7 rights abuses, known as CECOT. See id. In February, Panama and Costa Rica
8 took in hundreds of deportees from countries in Africa and Central Asia and 9 imprisoned them in hotels, a jungle camp, and a detention center. Id.; Vanessa
10 Buschschluter, Costa Rican court orders release of migrants deported from U.S., 11 BBC (Jun. 25, 2025). On July 4, 2025, ICE deported eight men to South Sudan.
12 See Wong, supra. On July 15, ICE deported five men to the tiny African nation of 13 Eswatini where they are reportedly being held in solitary confinement. Gerald 14 Imray, 3 Deported by US held in African Prison Despite Completing Sentences,
15 Lawyers Say, PBS (Sept. 2, 2025). Many of these countries are known for human 16 rights abuses or instability. For instance, conditions in South Sudan are so
17 extreme that the U.S. State Department website warns Americans not to travel
18 there, and if they do, to prepare their will, make funeral arrangements, and appoint 19 a hostage-taker negotiator first. See Wong, supra.

20 On June 23 and July 3, 2025, the Supreme Court issued a stay of a national 21 class-wide preliminary injunction issued in D.V.D. v. U.S. Department of 22 Homeland Security, No. CV 25-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1142968, at *1, 3 (D.
23 Mass. Apr. 18, 2025), which required ICE to follow statutory and constitutional 24 requirements before removing an individual to a third country. U.S. Dep't of 25 Homeland Sec. v. D.V.D., 145 S. Ct. 2153 (2025) (mem.); id., No. 24A1153, 2025
26 WL 1832186 (U.S. July 3, 2025).³ On July 9, 2025, ICE rescinded previous 27

28 ³ Though the Supreme Court's order was unreasoned, the dissent noted that the

1 guidance meant to give immigrants a ““meaningful opportunity” to assert claims
2 for protection under the Convention Against Torture (CAT) before initiating
3 removal to a third country” like the ones just described. Exh. B (“Third Country 4 Removal Policy”).

5 Under the new guidance, ICE may remove any immigrant to a third country
6 “without the need for further procedures,” as long as—in the view of the State
7 Department—the United States has received “credible” “assurances” from that 8 country that deportees will not be persecuted or tortured. Id. at 1. If a country fails 9 to credibly promise not to persecute or torture releasees, ICE may still remove 10 immigrants there with minimal notice. Id. Ordinarily, ICE must provide 24 hours’ 11 notice. But “[i]n exigent circumstances,” a removal may take place in as little as 12 six hours, “as long as the alien is provided reasonably means and opportunity to 13 speak with an attorney prior to the removal.” Id.

14 Upon serving notice, ICE “will not affirmatively ask whether the alien is 15 afraid of being removed to the country of removal.” Id. (emphasis original). If the 16 noncitizen “does not affirmatively state a fear of persecution or torture if removed 17 to the country of removal listed on the Notice of Removal within 24 hours, [ICE]
18 may proceed with removal to the country identified on the notice.” Id. at 2. If the 19 noncitizen “does affirmatively state a fear if removed to the country of removal”
20 then ICE will refer the case to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services 21 (“USCIS”) for a screening for eligibility for withholding of removal and 22 protection under the Convention Against Torture (“CAT”). Id. at 2. “USCIS will 23

24 government had sought a stay based on procedural arguments applicable only to 25 class actions. Dep’t of Homeland Sec. v. D.V.D., 145 S. Ct. 2153, 2160 (2025)
26 (Sotomayor, J., dissenting). Thus, “even if the Government [was] correct that 27 classwide relief was impermissible” in D.V.D., Respondents still “remain[] 28 obligated to comply with orders enjoining [their] conduct with respect to individual plaintiffs” like Mr. Rios. Id. In short, the Supreme Court’s decision does not override this Court’s authority to grant individual injunctive relief. *See Nguyen v.
Scott*, No. 2:25-CV-01398, 2025 WL 2419288, at *20–23 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 21, 2025).

1 generally screen within 24 hours.” Id. If USCIS determines that the noncitizen
2 does not meet the standard, the individual will be removed. Id. If USCIS
3 determines that the noncitizen has met the standard, then the policy directs ICE to 4 either move to reopen removal proceedings “for the sole purpose of determining 5 eligibility for [withholding of removal protection] and CAT” or designate another 6 country for removal. Id.

7 CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

8 This Court should grant this petition and order two forms of relief.

9 First, it should order Mr. Rios’s immediate release. ICE failed to follow its 10 own regulations requiring changed circumstances before re-detention, as well as a 11 chance to promptly contest a re-detention decision. And Zadvydas v. Davis holds 12 that immigration statutes do not authorize the government to detain immigrants 13 like Mr. Rios, for whom there is “no significant likelihood of removal in the 14 reasonably foreseeable future.” 533 U.S. 678, 701 (2001).

15 Second, it should enjoin the Respondents from removing Mr. Rios to a third
16 country without first complying with the removal process set forth in 8 U.S.C. § 17 1231(b)(2) and without first providing notice and a sufficient opportunity to be 18 heard before an immigration judge.

19 I. Claim 1: ICE failed to comply with its own regulations before re-
20 detaining Mr. Rios, violating his rights under the Fifth Amendment 21 and the Administrative Procedures Act.

22 Two regulations establish the process due to someone who is re-detained in 23 immigration custody following a period of release. 8 C.F.R. § 241.4(l) applies to 24 all re-detentions, generally. 8 C.F.R. § 241.13(i) applies as an added, overlapping 25 framework to persons released upon good reason to believe that they will not be 26 removed in the reasonably foreseeable future, as Mr. Rios was. See Phan v. Noem, 27 2025 WL 2898977, No. 25-CV-2422-RBM-MSB, *3-*5 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 10, 28 2025) (explaining this regulatory framework and granting a habeas petition for

1 ICE's failure to follow these regulations); Rokhfirooz, No. 25-CV-2053-RSH-
2 VET, 2025 WL 2646165 at *2 (same).

3 These regulations permit an official to "return [the person] to custody" only 4 when the person "violate[d] any of the conditions of release," 8 C.F.R.
5 §§ 241.13(i)(1), 241.4(l)(1), or, in the alternative, if an appropriate official 6 "determines that there is a significant likelihood that the alien may be removed in 7 the reasonably foreseeable future," and makes that finding "on account of 8 changed circumstances," § 241.13(i)(2).

9 No matter the reason for re-detention, the re-detained person is entitled to 10 certain procedural protections. For one, "[u]pon revocation,' the noncitizen 'will 11 be notified of the reasons for revocation of his or her release or parole.'" Phan, 12 2025 WL 2898977 at *3, *4 (quoting §§ 241.4(l)(1), 241.13(i)(3)). Further, the 13 person "'will be afforded an initial informal interview promptly after his or her 14 return' to be given 'an opportunity to respond to the reasons for revocation stated 15 in the notification.'" Id.

16 In the case of someone released under § 241.13(i), the regulations also 17 explicitly require the interviewer to allow the re-detained person to "submit any 18 evidence or information that he or she believes shows there is no significant 19 likelihood he or she be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future, or that he or 20 she has not violated the order of supervision." § 241.13(i)(3).

21 ICE is required to follow its own regulations. United States ex rel. Accardi
22 v. Shaughnessy, 347 U.S. 260, 268 (1954); see Alcaraz v. INS, 384 F.3d 1150, 23 1162 (9th Cir. 2004) ("The legal proposition that agencies may be required to 24 abide by certain internal policies is well-established."). A court may review a re-25 detention decision for compliance with the regulations, and "where ICE fails to 26 follow its own regulations in revoking release, the detention is unlawful and the 27 petitioner's release must be ordered." Rokhfirooz, 2025 WL 2646165 at *4
28 (collecting cases); accord Phan, 2025 WL 2898977 at *5.

1 ICE followed none of its regulatory prerequisites to re-detention here.

2 First, ICE did not identify a proper reason under the regulations to re-detain
3 Mr. Rios. He was not returned to custody because of a conditions violation, and 4 there was apparently no determination before or at his arrest that there are 5 "changed circumstances" such that there is "a significant likelihood that [Mr.
6 Rios] may be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future." § 241.13(i)(2).

7 Second, ICE did not notify Mr. Rios of the reasons for his re-detention
8 upon revocation of release. See §§ 241.4(l)(1), 241.13(i)(3). He was re-detained 9 on September 22, 2025 when he went to ICE offices to do his annual check-in.
10 Exh. A at ¶ 5.

11 Third, Mr. Rios has yet to receive the informal interview required by 12 regulation. Nor has he been afforded a meaningful opportunity to respond to the 13 reasons for revocation or submit evidence rebutting his re-detention. Exh. A at 14 ¶ 5-7. No one from ICE has ever invited him to contest his detention. Id.

15 Numerous courts have released re-detained immigrants after finding that 16 ICE failed to comply with applicable regulations this summer and fall. See, e.g.,
17 Bui v. Warden, 25-cv-02111-JES-DEB, Dkt. No. 18 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 23, 2025);

2 “[B]ecause officials did not properly revoke petitioner’s release pursuant to 3 the applicable regulations, that revocation has no effect, and [Mr. Rios] is entitled 4 to his release (subject to the same Order of Supervision that governed his most 5 recent release).” Liu, 2025 WL 1696526, at *3.

6 II. Claim 2: Mr. Rios’s detention violates Zadvydas and 8 U.S.C.
7 § 1231.

8 A. Legal background

9 In Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), the Supreme Court considered
10 a problem affecting people like Mr. Rios: Federal law requires ICE to detain an 11 immigrant during the “removal period,” which typically spans the first 90 days
12 after the immigrant is ordered removed. 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)-(2). After that 90-
13 day removal period expires, detention becomes discretionary—ICE may detain 14 the migrant while continuing to try to remove them. Id. § 1231(a)(6). Ordinarily, 15 this scheme would not lead to excessive detention, as removal happens within 16 days or weeks. But some detainees cannot be removed quickly. Perhaps their 17 removal “simply require[s] more time for processing,” or they are “ordered
18 removed to countries with whom the United States does not have a repatriation
19 agreement,” or their countries “refuse to take them,” or they are “effectively
20 ‘stateless’ because of their race and/or place of birth.” Kim Ho Ma v. Ashcroft, 21 257 F.3d 1095, 1104 (9th Cir. 2001). In these and other circumstances, detained 22 immigrants can find themselves trapped in detention for months, years, decades, 23 or even the rest of their lives. If federal law were understood to allow for 24 “indefinite, perhaps permanent, detention,” it would pose “a serious constitutional 25 threat.” Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 699. In Zadvydas, the Supreme Court avoided the 26 constitutional concern by interpreting § 1231(a)(6) to incorporate implicit limits.

1 Zadvydas held that § 1231(a)(6) presumptively permits the government to 2 detain an immigrant for 180 days after his or her removal order becomes final.
3 After those 180 days have passed, the immigrant must be released unless his or 4 her removal is reasonably foreseeable. Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. After six 5 months have passed, the petitioner must only make a prima facie case for relief—
6 there is “good reason to believe that there is no significant likelihood of removal
7 in the reasonably foreseeable future.” Id. Then the burden shifts to “the 8 Government [to] respond with evidence sufficient to rebut that showing.” *Id.*⁴
9 Using this framework, Mr. Rios can make all the threshold showings needed to 10 shift the burden to the government.

11 B. The six-month grace period has expired.

12 The six-month grace period has long since ended. The Zadvydas grace 13 period is linked to the date the final order of removal is issued. It lasts for “six 14 months after a final order of removal—that is, three months after the statutory 15 removal period has ended.” Kim Ho Ma v. Ashcroft, 257 F.3d 1095, 1102 n.5 (9th 16 Cir. 2001). Indeed, the statute defining the beginning of the removal period is 17 linked to the latest of three dates, all of which relevant here are tied to when the 18 removal order is issued. 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(B).⁵

20
22 ⁴ Further, even before the 180 days have passed, the immigrant must still be 23 released if he rebuts the presumption that his detention is reasonable. See, e.g., 24 Trinh v. Homan, 466 F. Supp. 3d 1077, 1092 (C.D. Cal. 2020) (collecting cases 25 on rebutting the Zadvydas presumption before six months have passed); Zavvar, 2025 WL 2592543 at *6 (finding the presumption rebutted for a person who was released and, years later, re-detained for less than six months).

26 ⁵ Those dates are, specifically, (1) “[t]he date the order of removal becomes 27 administratively final;” (2) “[i]f the removal order is judicially reviewed and if a 28 court orders a stay of the removal of the alien, the date of the court’s final order;” or (3) “[i]f the alien is detained or confined (except under an immigration process), the date the alien is released from detention or confinement.” Id.

1 Here, Mr. Rios's order of removal was entered on June 8, 2021. Exh. A at 2 ¶ 2.⁶ Accordingly, his 90-day removal period began then. 8 U.S.C.
3 § 1231(a)(1)(B). The Zadvydas grace period thus expired in September 2021,
4 three months after the removal period ended. See, e.g., Tadros v. Noemi, 2025 WL
5 1678501, No. 25-cv-4108(EP), *2-*3. ICE will also, of course, have had four 6 years since his removal order was issued to remove his.⁷

7 C. The history of Cuba being uncooperative with repatriation
8 provides very good reason to believe that Mr. Rios will not likely 9 be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future.

10 Because the six-month grace period has passed, this Court must evaluate 11 Mr. Rios's Zadvydas claim using the burden-shifting framework. At the first stage 12

13 ⁶ EOIR, Automated Case Information, <https://acis.eoir.justice.gov/en/>.

14 ⁷ The government has sometimes argued that release and rearrest resets the 15 six-month grace period completely, taking the clock back to zero.
16 “Courts . . . broadly agree” that this is not correct. Diaz-Ortega v. Lund, 2019 WL
17 6003485, at *7 n.6 (W.D. La. Oct. 15, 2019), report and recommendation
18 adopted, 2019 WL 6037220 (W.D. La. Nov. 13, 2019); see also Sied v. Nielsen,
No. 17-CV-06785-LB, 2018 WL 1876907, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 19, 2018)
(collecting cases).

19 It has also sometimes argued that rearrest creates a new three-month grace 20 period. As a court explained in Bailey v. Lynch, that view cannot be squared with 21 the statutory definition of the removal period in 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(1)(B). No. CV 22 16-2600 (JLL), 2016 WL 5791407, at *2 (D.N.J. Oct. 3, 2016). “Pursuant to the 23 statute, the removal period, and in turn the [six-month] presumptively reasonable 24 period, begins from the latest of ‘the date the order of removal becomes 25 administratively final,’ the date of a reviewing court’s final order where the 26 removal order is judicially removed and that court orders a stay of removal, or the 27 alien’s release from detention or confinement where he was detained for reasons 28 other than immigration purposes at the time of his final order of removal.” Id.
None of these statutory starting points have anything to do with whether or when an immigrant is detained. See id. Because the statutorily-defined removal period has nothing to do with release and rearrest, releasing and rearresting the immigrant cannot reset the removal period.

1 of the framework, Mr. Rios must “provide[] good reason to believe that there is 2 no significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future.”
3 Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. This standard can be broken down into three parts.

4 “Good reason to believe.” The “good reason to believe” standard is a
5 relatively forgiving one. “A petitioner need not establish that there exists no
6 possibility of removal.” Freeman v. Watkins, No. CV B:09-160, 2009 WL
7 10714999, at *3 (S.D. Tex. Dec. 22, 2009). Nor does “[g]ood reason to 8 believe’ . . . place a burden upon the detainee to demonstrate no reasonably 9 foreseeable, significant likelihood of removal or show that his detention is 10 indefinite; it is something less than that.” Rual v. Barr, No. 6:20-CV-06215 EAW, 11 2020 WL 3972319, at *3 (W.D.N.Y. July 14, 2020) (quoting Senor v. Barr, 401
12 F. Supp. 3d 420, 430 (W.D.N.Y. 2019)). In short, the standard means what it says:
13 Petitioners need only give a “good reason”—not prove anything to a certainty.

14 “Significant likelihood of removal.” This component focuses on whether 15 Mr. Rios will likely be removed: Continued detention is permissible only if it is 16 “significant[ly] like[ly]” that ICE will be able to remove him. Zadvydas, 533 U.S.
17 at 701. This inquiry targets “not only the existence of untapped possibilities, but 18 also [the] probability of success in such possibilities.” Elashi v. Sabol, 714 F.
19 Supp. 2d 502, 506 (M.D. Pa. 2010) (second emphasis added). In other words, 20 even if “there remains some possibility of removal,” a petitioner can still meet its 21 burden if there is good reason to believe that successful removal is not 22 significantly likely. Kacanic v. Elwood, No. CIV.A. 02-8019, 2002 WL
23 31520362, at *4 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 8, 2002) (emphasis added).

24 “In the reasonably foreseeable future.” This component of the test 25 focuses on when Mr. Rios will likely be removed: Continued detention is 26 permissible only if removal is likely to happen “in the reasonably foreseeable 27 future.” Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701. This inquiry places a time limit on ICE’s 28 removal efforts. If the Court has “no idea of when it might reasonably expect

1 [Petitioner] to be repatriated, this Court certainly cannot conclude that his removal
2 is likely to occur—or even that it might occur—in the reasonably foreseeable
3 future.” Palma v. Gillis, No. 5:19-CV-112-DCB-MTP, 2020 WL 4880158, at *3
4 (S.D. Miss. July 7, 2020), report and recommendation adopted, 2020 WL
5 4876859 (S.D. Miss. Aug. 19, 2020) (quoting Singh v. Whitaker, 362 F. Supp. 3d
6 93, 102 (W.D.N.Y. 2019)). Thus, even if this Court concludes that Mr. Rios
7 “would eventually receive” a travel document, he can still meet his burden by 8 giving good reason to anticipate sufficiently lengthy delays. Younes v. Lynch, 9 2016 WL 6679830, at *2 (E.D. Mich. Nov. 14, 2016).

10 Mr. Rios readily satisfies this standard for two reasons.

11 First, as explained above, the 2017 Joint Statement between the United 12 States and Cuba gives Cuba the discretion to accept individuals on a case-by-case
13 basis. Even following the 2017 Joint Statement, the United States has categorized 14 Cuba as uncooperative in providing travel documents in a timely manner.

15 Second, Mr. Rios’s own experience bears this out. ICE has now had four 16 years to deport him. He has fully cooperated with ICE’s removal efforts 17 throughout that time, including at yearly check-ins. Exh. A ¶ 3. Yet ICE has not 18 informed Mr. Rios of any communication with Cuba or the likelihood of 19 obtaining travel documents from Cuba. Instead, immigration has only asked if Mr.
20 Rios would like to be removed to Mexico. Id. at ¶ 8.

21 Thus, Mr. Rios has met his initial burden, and the burden shifts to the 22 government. Unless the government can prove a “significant likelihood of 23 removal in the reasonably foreseeable future,” Mr. Rios must be released.

24 Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 701.

25 D. Zadvydas unambiguously prohibits this Court from denying Mr.
Rios’s petition because of his criminal history.

26 If released on supervision, Mr. Rios poses no risk of danger or flight. He 27 has been on supervision for four years. Exh. A at ¶ 3. During that time, he has no 28

1 new arrests, no violations, and has checked in regularly with ICE. Id. at ¶ 3.
2 Moreover, during that time, he got married and has worked hard to contribute to 3 his new family. Id. at ¶ 4.

4 Even if the government did try to argue that Mr. Rios posed a danger or 5 flight risk, however, Zadvydas squarely holds that those are not grounds for 6 detaining an immigrant when there is no reasonable likelihood of removal in the 7 reasonably foreseeable future. 533 U.S. at 684–91.

8 The two petitioners in Zadvydas both had significant criminal history.
9 Mr. Zadvydas himself had “a long criminal record, involving drug crimes,
10 attempted robbery, attempted burglary, and theft,” as well as “a history of flight,
11 from both criminal and deportation proceedings.” Id. at 684. The other petitioner, 12 Kim Ho Ma, was “involved in a gang-related shooting [and] convicted of 13 manslaughter.” Id. at 685. The government argued that both men could be detained 14 regardless of their likelihood of removal, because they posed too great a risk of 15 danger or flight. Id. at 690–91.

16 The Supreme Court rejected that argument. The Court appreciated the 17 seriousness of the government’s concerns. Id. at 691. But the Court found that the 18 immigrant’s liberty interests were weightier. Id. The Court had never 19 countenanced “potentially permanent” “civil confinement,” based only on the 20 government’s belief that the person would misbehave in the future. Id.

21 The Court also noted that the government was free to use the many tools at 22 its disposal to mitigate risk: “[O]f course, the alien’s release may and should be 23 conditioned on any of the various forms of supervised release that are appropriate 24 in the circumstances, and the alien may no doubt be returned to custody upon a 25 violation of those conditions.” Id. at 700. The Ninth Circuit later elaborated, “All 26 aliens ordered released must comply with the stringent supervision requirements
27 set out in 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(3). [They] will have to appear before an immigration 28 officer periodically, answer certain questions, submit to medical or psychiatric

1 testing as necessary, and accept reasonable restrictions on [their] conduct and 2 activities, including severe travel limitations. More important, if [they] engage[]
3 in any criminal activity during this time, including violation of [their] supervisory
4 release conditions, [they] can be detained and incarcerated as part of the normal
5 criminal process." Ma, 257 F.3d at 1115.

6 These conditions have proved sufficient to protect the public for over 4
7 years. They will continue to do so while ICE keeps trying to deport Mr. Rios.

9 III. Claim 3: ICE may not remove Mr. Rios to a Third country without 10 following the mandatory consecutive procedures of 8 U.S.C. §
11 1231(b)(2).

12 The government may not legally pursue its plan to remove Mr. Rios to Cuba, 13 because 8 U.S.C. § 1231(b)(2) requires that ICE first seek removal to the Cuba.

14 "Th[at] statute . . . provides four consecutive removal commands." Jama v.
15 Immigr. & Customs Enft, 543 U.S. 335, 341 (2005). First, "the Attorney General 16 shall remove the alien to the country the alien so designates." 8 U.S.C.
17 § 1231(b)(2)(A)(ii). Here, the designated country is Cuba.

18 The Attorney General may "disregard [that] designation if" one of four 19 criteria are met, but none are here. Mr. Rios did not "fail[] to designate a country
20 promptly." 8 U.S.C. § 1231(b)(2)(C)(i). ICE also has not presented any evidence 21 that Cuba has failed to respond to a request to remove Mr. Rios to that country.
22 § 1231(b)(2)(C)(ii)-(iv).

23 This Court should therefore order that Mr. Rios cannot be removed to a 24 third country prior to the government making efforts for his removal to Cuba.
25 See Farah v. I.N.S., No. CIV. 02-4725DSDRLE, 2002 WL 31866481, at *4 (D.
26 Minn. Dec. 20, 2002) (granting a habeas petition and prohibiting removal in 27 violation of § 1231(b)(2)); see also Jama, 543 U.S. at 338 (reviewing a 28 § 1231(b)(2) argument set forth in a habeas petition).

1 IV. Claim 4: ICE may not remove Mr. Rios to a third country without 2 adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard.

3 In addition to unlawfully detaining him and the failure to comply with 4 regulations and statute, ICE's policies threaten his removal to a third country
5 without adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard. These policies violate the 6 Fifth Amendment, the Convention Against Torture, and implementing regulations.

7 E. Legal background

8 U.S. law enshrines protections against dangerous and life-threatening 9 removal decisions. By statute, the government is prohibited from removing an 10 immigrant to any third country where they may be persecuted or tortured, a form 11 of protection known as withholding of removal. See 8 U.S.C. § 1231(b)(3)(A). The 12 government "may not remove [a noncitizen] to a country if the Attorney General
13 decides that the [noncitizen's] life or freedom would be threatened in that country
14 because of the [noncitizen's] race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular 15 social group, or political opinion." Id.; see also 8 C.F.R. §§ 208.16, 1208.16.
16 Withholding of removal is a mandatory protection.

17 Similarly, Congress codified protections enshrined in the CAT prohibiting 18 the government from removing a person to a country where they would be tortured.
19 See FARRA 2681-822 (codified as 8 U.S.C. § 1231 note) ("It shall be the policy of 20 the United States not to expel, extradite, or otherwise effect the involuntary return 21 of any person to a country in which there are substantial grounds for believing the 22 person would be in danger of being subjected to torture, regardless of whether the 23 person is physically present in the United States."); 28 C.F.R. § 200.1; id.
24 §§ 208.16-208.18, 1208.16-1208.18. CAT protection is also mandatory.

25 To comport with the requirements of due process, the government must 26 provide notice of the third country removal and an opportunity to respond. Due 27 process requires "written notice of the country being designated" and "the statutory 28 basis for the designation, i.e., the applicable subsection of § 1231(b)(2)." Aden v.

1 Nielsen, 409 F. Supp. 3d 998, 1019 (W.D. Wash. 2019); accord D.V.D. v. U.S.
2 Dep’t of Homeland Sec., No. 25-cv-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1453640, at *1 (D.
3 Mass. May 21, 2025); Andriasian v. INS, 180 F.3d 1033, 1041 (9th Cir. 1999).

4 The government must also “ask the noncitizen whether he or she fears 5 persecution or harm upon removal to the designated country and memorialize in 6 writing the noncitizen’s response. This requirement ensures DHS will obtain the 7 necessary information from the noncitizen to comply with section 1231(b)(3) and 8 avoids [a dispute about what the officer and noncitizen said].” Aden, 409 F. Supp.
9 3d at 1019. “Failing to notify individuals who are subject to deportation that they 10 have the right to apply for asylum in the United States and for withholding of 11 deportation to the country to which they will be deported violates both INS 12 regulations and the constitutional right to due process.” Andriasian, 180 F.3d at 13 1041.

14 If the noncitizen claims fear, measures must be taken to ensure that the 15 noncitizen can seek asylum, withholding, and relief under CAT before an 16 immigration judge in reopened removal proceedings. The amount and type of 17 notice must be “sufficient” to ensure that “given [a noncitizen’s] capacities and 18 circumstances, he would have a reasonable opportunity to raise and pursue his 19 claim for withholding of deportation.” Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1009
20 (citing Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 349 (1976) and Kossov v. I.N.S., 132
21 F.3d 405, 408 (7th Cir. 1998)); cf. D.V.D., 2025 WL 1453640, at *1 (requiring the 22 government to move to reopen the noncitizen’s immigration proceedings if the 23 individual demonstrates “reasonable fear” and to provide “a meaningful 24 opportunity, and a minimum of fifteen days, for the non-citizen to seek reopening 25 of their immigration proceedings” if the noncitizen is found to not have 26 demonstrated “reasonable fear”); Aden, 409 F. Supp. 3d at 1019 (requiring notice 27 and time for a respondent to file a motion to reopen and seek relief).

28 “[L]ast minute” notice of the country of removal will not suffice, Andriasian,

1 180 F.3d at 1041; accord Najjar v. Lunch, 630 Fed. App'x 724 (9th Cir. 2016), and 2 for good reason: To have a meaningful opportunity to apply for fear-based 3 protection from removal, immigrants must have time to prepare and present
4 relevant arguments and evidence. Merely telling a person where they may be sent,
5 without giving them a chance to look into country conditions, does not give them a 6 meaningful chance to determine whether and why they have a credible fear.

7 F. The June 6, 2025 memo's removal policies violate the Fifth 8 Amendment, 8 U.S.C. § 1231, the Conviction Against Torture, and 9 Implementing Regulations.

10 The policies in the June 6, 2025 memo do not adhere to these requirements.
11 First, under the policy, ICE need not give immigrants any notice or any opportunity 12 to be heard before removing them to a country that—in the State Department's 13 estimation—has provided “credible” “assurances” against persecution and torture.
14 Exh. B. By depriving immigrants of any chance to challenge the State Department's 15 view, this policy violates “[t]he essence of due process,” “the requirement that a 16 person in jeopardy of serious loss be given notice of the case against him and 17 opportunity to meet it.” Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 348 (1976) (cleaned 18 up).

19 Second, even when the government has obtained no credible assurances 20 against persecution and torture, the government can still remove the person with 21 between 6 and 24 hours' notice, depending on the circumstances. Exh. B.
22 Practically speaking, there is not nearly enough time for a detained person to assess 23 their risk in the third country and martial evidence to support any credible fear—let 24 alone a chance to file a motion to reopen with an IJ. An immigrant may know 25 nothing about a third country, like Eswatini or South Sudan, when they are 26 scheduled for removal there. Yet if given the opportunity to investigate conditions, 27 immigrants would find credible reasons to fear persecution or torture—like patterns 28 of keeping deportees indefinitely and without charge in solitary confinement or

1 extreme instability raising a high likelihood of death—in many of the third
2 countries that have agreed to removal thus far. Due process requires an adequate 3 chance to identify and raise these threats to health and life. This Court must prohibit 4 the government from removing Mr. Rios without these due process safeguards.

5 V. This Court must hold an evidentiary hearing on any disputed facts.

6 Resolution of a prolonged-detention habeas petition may require an 7 evidentiary hearing. Owino v. Napolitano, 575 F.3d 952, 956 (9th Cir. 2009). Mr.
8 Rios hereby requests such a hearing on any material, disputed facts.

9 VI. Prayer for relief

10 For the foregoing reasons, Petitioner respectfully requests that this Court:

- 11 1. Order Respondents to immediately release Petitioner from custody;
- 12 2. Enjoin Respondents from re-detaining Petitioner under 8 U.S.C.
13 § 1231(a)(6) unless and until Respondents obtain a travel document for 14 his removal;
- 15 3. Enjoin Respondents from re-detaining Petitioner without first following 16 all procedures set forth in 8 C.F.R. §§ 241.4(l), 241.13(i), and any other 17 applicable statutory and regulatory procedures;
- 18 4. Enjoin Respondents from removing Petitioner to any country other than 19 Cuba, without first following the consecutive procedures of 8 U.S.C. § 20 1231(b)(2).
- 21 5. Enjoin Respondents from removing Petitioner to any country other than 22 Cuba, unless they provide the following process, see D.V.D. v. U.S. Dep't
23 of Homeland Sec., No. CV 25-10676-BEM, 2025 WL 1453640, at *1 (D.
24 Mass. May 21, 2025):

- 1 a. written notice to both Petitioner and Petitioner's counsel in a
- 2 language Petitioner can understand;
- 3 b. a meaningful opportunity, and a minimum of ten days, to raise a
- 4 fear-based claim for CAT protection prior to removal;
- 5 c. if Petitioner is found to have demonstrated "reasonable fear" of
- 6 removal to the country, Respondents must move to reopen
- 7 Petitioner's immigration proceedings;
- 8 d. if Petitioner is not found to have demonstrated a "reasonable fear"
- 9 of removal to the country, a meaningful opportunity, and a
- 10 minimum of fifteen days, for the Petitioner to seek reopening of his
- 11 immigration proceedings.

12 6. Order all other relief that the Court deems just and proper.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

CIVIL CASE NO.:

Petitioner,

v.

KRISTI NOEM, Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security,
PAMELA JO BONDI, Attorney General,
TODD M. LYONS, Acting Director,
Immigration and Customs Enforcement,
JESUS ROCHA, Acting Field Office
Director, San Diego Field Office,
CHRISTOPHER LAROSE, Warden at
Otay Mesa Detention Center,

DECLARATION OF

Respondents.

I, Carlos Rios, declare:

1. I was born in Cuba in 1965. I entered the United States in 1988.

¹ Mr. Cabrera-Trilo is filing this petition for a writ of habeas corpus and all associated documents with the assistance of the Federal Defenders of San Diego, Inc. Federal Defenders has consistently used this procedure in seeking appointment for immigration habeas cases. The Declaration of Zandra L. Lopez in Support of Appointment Motion attaches case examples.

1 2. When I was in my early twenties, I was convicted of murder and received a 2 lengthy sentence. In 2021, an immigration judge ordered me removed to 3 Cuba after I completed my sentence.
5 3. I stayed in immigration custody for about two months but was then released.
6 I was released from custody and placed on an order of supervision because 7 they could not remove me to Cuba. I have been checking in with immigration
8 every year since then without any problem, no new convictions, and I have 9 not missed any of my appointments.
10
11 4. While I have been on supervision, I started a new life. I married my United 12 States Citizen wife and worked. I received a certification as a dog groomer.
13
14 5. On September 22, 2025, I went to the ICE office for my yearly check in. I 15 was detained. I was then brought to the Otay Mesa Detention Center where 16 I have been ever since.
17
18 6. I have had no formal meetings with a deportation officer since I have been 19 detained.
20
21 7. ICE has never given me any formal paperwork explaining why I was re-
22 detained or identifying changed circumstances that would make my removal
23 easier. I have never gotten a chance to tell ICE why I should not be re-
24 detained. I have never refused to do something that ICE asked me to do.
25
26 8. On October 1, 2025 at about 3:30 in the morning, I was told that I was being 27 discharged from the detention center. I was very happy because I thought I

1 was going to be released. They placed in a van with other detainees and then
2 taken to the Mexican border. They told me that I needed to cross into Mexico.
3 They told me that if I did not cross the border, I would be put on a plane to 4 Africa. I was afraid and confused. I asked if I could speak to a supervisor.
5 After that, I was placed back into the van and brought back to the detention 6 center.

8 9. I have many medical issues including nerve damage on my back, which is 10 very painful.
11

12 10. I have no legal training. I do not have unrestricted access to the internet at 13 my detention facility, so I cannot use the internet to research. I also have 14 learning disabilities and have difficulty reading. I went to trade school in 15 Cuba.
16

17 11. I do not have money to pay for an attorney. Prior to being detained, I did not 18 make a lot of money. I have worked as an uber driver and as a dog groomer.
19 I do not have any savings.
