UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

MAYNOR ESPINOZA HERNANDEZ,

Petitioner,

v.

SAMUEL OLSON, Field Office Director of
Enforcement and Removal Operations,
CHICAGO Field Office, Immigration and
Customs Enforcement;
MARCOS CHARLES, U.S. DEPARTMENT
OF HOMELAND SECURITY, Enforcement
and Removal Operations, Acting Executive
Associate Director;
KRISTI NOEM, Secretary, U.S. Department of Homeland Security; U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY;
PAMELA BONDI, U.S. Attorney General;
Chief Judge TERESA L. RILEY, EXECUTIVE
OFFICE FOR IMMIGRATION REVIEW;
DALE SCHMIDT, Sheriff, DODGE
DETENTION FACILITY,
SCOTT SMITH, Jail Administrator, DODGE
DETENTION FACILITY

Respondents.

Case No.

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

1 INTRODUCTION

2 1. Petitioner MAYNOR ESPINOZA HERNANDEZ is in the physical custody of 3 Respondents at the DODGE DETENTION FACILITY. He now faces unlawful detention
4 because the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), in direct collaboration with the 5 adjudicative body with jurisdiction over immigrants (the Executive Office of Immigration
6 Review) (EOIR) have concluded Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention.

7 2. Petitioner is charged with, inter alia, having entered the United States without 8 admission or inspection. See 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i).

9 3. Based on this allegation in Petitioner's removal proceedings, DHS denied
10 Petitioner release from immigration custody, consistent with a new DHS policy issued on July 8,
11 2025, instructing all Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) employees to consider anyone
12 inadmissible under § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i)—i.e., those who entered the United States without 13 admission or inspection—to be subject to detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) and 14 therefore ineligible to be released on bond.

15 4. Similarly, on September 5, 2025, the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA or 16 Board) issued a precedent decision, binding on all immigration judges, holding that an 17 immigration judge has no authority to consider bond requests for any person who entered the 18 United States without admission. See Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025).
19 The Board determined that such individuals are subject to detention under 8 U.S.C. §
20 1225(b)(2)(A) and therefore ineligible to be released on bond.

21 5. Petitioner's detention on this basis violates the plain language of the Immigration
22 and Nationality Act. Section 1225(b)(2)(A) does not apply to individuals like Petitioner who 23 previously entered and are now residing in the United States. Instead, such individuals are 24

1 subject to a different statute, § 1226(a), that allows for release on conditional parole or bond.
2 That statute expressly applies to people who, like Petitioner, are charged as inadmissible for 3 having entered the United States without inspection.

4 6. Respondents' new legal interpretation is plainly contrary to the statutory 5 framework and contrary to decades of agency practice applying § 1226(a) to people like
6 Petitioner.

7 7. More importantly, the Government itself has made an abrupt about-face on this
8 issue. Respondents should be judicially estopped from asserting their current interpretation of 8 9 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), because they previously prevailed in litigation after asserting the 10 opposite interpretation. As explained in New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742 (2001), judicial 11 estoppel applies when a party assumes a position in a legal proceeding, succeeds in maintaining 12 that position, and then adopts a contrary position in a subsequent proceeding to gain an unfair
13 advantage. Here, Respondents previously and successfully, argued that individuals who entered 14 the United States without inspection were subject to detention under § 1226(a), and not § 15 1225(b)(2)(A), and courts accepted that position. Respondents now reverse course and assert that 16 such individuals are subject to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A), thereby denying 17 them bond hearings. This shift in legal position undermines the integrity of the judicial process
18 and imposes an unfair detriment on Petitioners who relied on the prior interpretation.
19 Accordingly, Respondents should be estopped from asserting this inconsistent position.

20 8. Furthermore, The Government's own issuance of an I-220A placing Petitioner in 21 custody under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) reflects a discretionary, fact-based determination that 22 Petitioner was not subject to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A). This quasi-judicial 23 decision was made by DHS at the outset of proceedings, based on the facts available to both 24

1 14. Venue is also properly in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e) because 2 Respondents are employees, officers, and agencies of the United States, and because a 3 substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claims occurred in the 4 Eastern District of Wisconsin.

6 REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 2243

7 15. The Court must grant the petition for writ of habeas corpus or order Respondents to show
8 cause “forthwith,” unless the petitioner is not entitled to relief. 28 U.S.C. § 2243. If an 9 order to show cause is issued, Respondents must file a return “within three days unless 10 for good cause additional time, not exceeding twenty days, is allowed.” Id.

11 16. Habeas corpus is “perhaps the most important writ known to the constitutional law . . .
12 affording as it does a swift and imperative remedy in all cases of illegal restraint or 13 confinement.” Fay v. Noia, 372 U.S. 391, 400 (1963) (emphasis added). “The application 14 for the writ usurps the attention and displaces the calendar of the judge or justice who 15 entertains it and receives prompt action from him within the four corners of the 16 application.” Yong v. I.N.S., 208 F.3d 1116, 1120 (9th Cir. 2000) (citation omitted).

17 PARTIES

18 17. Petitioner Maynor Espinoza Hernandez is a citizen of Honduras who has been in 19 immigration detention since the 25th of September 2025. After arresting Petitioner at his 20 place of employment, Maple Leaf Dairy, ICE did not set bond and Petitioner is unable to 21 obtain review of his custody by an Immigration Judge, pursuant to the Board’s decision
22 in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). Due to this erroneous 23

1 decision, it would be futile for Petitioner to apply to EOIR without the intervention of this
2 honorable Court.

3 18. Respondent Samuel Olson is the Director of the Chicago Field Office of ICE's
4 Enforcement and Removal Operations division; however, on information and belief, the 5 DHS is rotating their Field Office Director without publishing a schedule of rotation. As 6 such, Samuel Olson or his unknown, unannounced provisional replacement is Petitioner's
7 immediate custodian and is responsible for Petitioner's detention and removal. He or his 8 acting counterpart is named in his or her official capacity.

9 19. Respondent Kristi Noem is the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security. She is 10 responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the Immigration and Nationality
11 Act (INA), and oversees ICE, which is responsible for Petitioner's detention. Ms. Noem
12 has ultimate custodial authority over Petitioner and is sued in her official capacity.

13 20. Respondent Department of Homeland Security (DHS) is the federal agency responsible 14 for implementing and enforcing the INA, including the detention and removal of 15 noncitizens.

16 21. Respondent Pamela Bondi is the Attorney General of the United States. She is 17 responsible for the Department of Justice, of which the Executive Office for Immigration
18 Review and the immigration court system it operates is a component agency. She is sued 19 in her official capacity.

20 22. Respondent Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) is the federal agency
21 responsible for implementing and enforcing the INA in removal proceedings, including 22 for custody redeterminations in bond hearings.

1 23. Respondent, Sheriff Dale Schmidt and Scott Smith, jail administrator, are employed by 2 the private, for-profit detention corporation contracted by the Government as an agent to 3 confine immigrants at Dodge Detention Facility, where Petitioner is detained. He has 4 immediate physical custody of Petitioner. He is sued in his official capacity.

5 LEGAL FRAMEWORK

6 24. The INA prescribes three basic forms of detention for the vast majority of noncitizens in 7 removal proceedings.

8 25. First, 8 U.S.C. § 1226 authorizes the detention of noncitizens in standard removal
9 proceedings before an immigration judge. See 8 U.S.C. § 1229a. Individuals in § 1226(a)
10 detention are generally entitled to a bond hearing at the outset of their detention, see 8
11 C.F.R. §§ 1003.19(a), 1236.1(d), while noncitizens who have been arrested, charged
12 with, or convicted of certain crimes are subject to mandatory detention, see 8 U.S.C. § 13 1226(c).

14 26. Second, the INA provides for mandatory detention of noncitizens subject to expedited
15 removal under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) and for other recent arrivals seeking admission 16 referred to under § 1225(b)(2).

17 27. Last, the INA also provides for detention of noncitizens who have been ordered removed,
18 including individuals in withholding-only proceedings, see 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)–(b).

19 28. This case concerns the detention provisions at §§ 1226(a) and 1225(b)(2).

20 29. The detention provisions at § 1226(a) and § 1225(b)(2) were enacted as part of the Illegal
21 Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996, Pub. L. No.
22 104–208, Div. C, §§ 302–03, 110 Stat. 3009–546, 3009–582 to 3009–583, 3009–585.

1 Section 1226(a) was most recently amended earlier this year by the Laken Riley Act,
2 Pub. L. No.119-1, 139 Stat. 3 (2025).

3 30. Following the enactment of the IIRIRA, EOIR drafted new regulations explaining that, in 4 general, people who entered the country without inspection were not considered detained 5 under § 1225 and that they were instead detained under § 1226(a). See Inspection and 6 Expedited Removal of Aliens; Detention and Removal of Aliens; Conduct of Removal
7 Proceedings; Asylum Procedures, 62 Fed. Reg. 10312, 10323 (Mar. 6, 1997).

8 31. Thus, in the decades that followed, most people who entered without inspection and were 9 placed in standard removal proceedings received bond hearings, unless their criminal 10 history rendered them ineligible pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c). That practice was 11 consistent with many more decades of prior practice, in which noncitizens who were not 12 deemed “arriving” were entitled to a custody hearing before an IJ or other hearing officer.
13 See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a) (1994); see also H.R. Rep. No. 104-469, pt. 1, at 229 (1996) 14 (noting that § 1226(a) simply “restates” the detention authority previously found at § 15 1252(a)).

16 32. In Jennings v. Rodriguez, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) explicitly 17 acknowledged that individuals who have already entered the United States and are not 18 apprehended within 100 miles of the border or within 14 days of entry are subject to 19 discretionary detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a), not mandatory detention under § 20 1225(b). During oral argument on November 30, 2016, then-Solicitor General Ian
21 Gershengorn stated: “If they are not detained within 100 miles of the border or within 14 22 days... then they are under 1226(a) and not 1226(c)” and further clarified, in response to 23 a question concerning “an alien who has come into the United States illegally without 24

1 being admitted [and] who takes up residence 50 miles from the border,” the Government
2 responded, “The answer is they are held under 1226(a) and that they get a bond
3 hearing...” Transcript of Oral Argument at 7–8, Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. ____
4 (2018) (No. 15-1204). DHS reiterated that such individuals “would be held under 5 1226(a)” and cited the administrative record to support that position. Id. These statements
6 reflect DHS’s prior litigation stance that § 1226(a) governs detention for noncitizens who 7 have entered and are residing in the United States, a position directly contrary to the 8 agency’s current interpretation applying § 1225(b)(2)(A) to such individuals. Having 9 prevailed in Jennings after taking this position, they should be estopped from taking the 10 contrary position now simply because their political or litigation interests have changed.
11 Estoppel in this case is necessary to preserve the predictability inherent in the rule of law
12 and due process under the Fifth Amendment, as well as to protect the integrity of the 13 judicial system.

14 33. On July 8, 2025, ICE, “in coordination with” DOJ, announced a new policy that rejected 15 well-established understanding of the statutory framework and reversed decades of 16 practice.

17 34. The new policy, entitled “Interim Guidance Regarding Detention Authority for 18 Applicants for Admission,”¹ claims that all persons who entered the United States 19 without inspection shall now be subject to mandatory detention provision under § 20 1225(b)(2)(A). The policy applies regardless of when a person is apprehended and affects 21 those who have resided in the United States for months, years, and even decades.

24 ¹ Available at <https://www.aila.org/library/ice-memo-interim-guidance-regarding-detention-authority-for-applications-for-admission>.

1 35. On September 5, 2025, the BIA adopted this same position in a published decision,
2 Matter of Yajure Hurtado. There, the Board held that all noncitizens who entered the 3 United States without admission or parole are subject to detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A)
4 and are ineligible for IJ bond hearings.

5 36. Since Respondents adopted their new policies, several federal courts have rejected their 6 new interpretation of the INA's detention authorities. Courts have likewise rejected
7 Matter of Yajure Hurtado, which adopts the same reading of the statute as ICE.

8 37. Even before ICE or the BIA introduced these nationwide policies, IJs in the Tacoma,
9 Washington, immigration court stopped providing bond hearings for persons who entered
10 the United States without inspection and who have since resided here. There, the U.S.
11 District Court in the Western District of Washington found that such a reading of the INA
12 is likely unlawful and that § 1226(a), not § 1225(b), applies to noncitizens who are not 13 apprehended upon arrival to the United States. Rodriguez Vazquez v. Bostock, 779 F.
14 Supp. 3d 1239 (W.D. Wash. 2025).

15 38. A growing number of federal courts have rejected ICE and EOIR's expanded 16 interpretation of the Immigration and Nationality Act's detention provisions. These 17 courts have consistently held that § 1226(a), not § 1225(b)(2), governs the detention
18 authority applicable in these cases. For example, courts in Massachusetts, Arizona, New 19 York, Maryland, Florida, Minnesota, California, Washington, New Mexico and Nebraska
20 have reached this conclusion. See: Gomes v. Hyde, No. 1:25-CV-11571-JEK (D. Mass.
21 July 7, 2025); Rosado v. Figueroa, No. CV 25-02157 PHX DLR (CDB) (D. Ariz. Aug.
22 11, 2025); Lopez Benitez v. Francis, No. 25 CIV. 5937 (DEH) (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 13, 2025); 23 Maldonado v. Olson, No. 0:25-cv-03142-SRN-SGE (D. Minn. Aug. 15, 2025); Romero v.

24

1 Hyde, No. 25-11631-BEM (D. Mass. Aug. 19, 2025); Ramirez Clavijo v. Kaiser, No. 25-
2 CV-06248-BLF (N.D. Cal. Aug. 21, 2025); Palma Perez v. Berg, No. 8:25CV494 (D.
3 Neb. Sept. 3, 2025); Hernandez Lopez v. Hardin, 2025 WL 2732717 (M.D. Fla. Sept. 25,
4 2025); Mena Torres v. Wamsley, 2025 WL 2855379 (W.D. Wash. Oct. 8, 2025); Ortiz
5 Martinez v. Wamsley, 2025 WL 2899116 (W.D. Wash. Oct. 10, 2025); Garcia Domingo
6 v. Castro, 2025 WL 2941217 (D.N.M. Oct. 15, 2025).

7 39. These decisions reflect a clear judicial consensus that the government’s reliance on §
8 1225(b)(2) is misplaced in cases involving those whose immigration status lawfully falls
9 under § 1226(a).

10 40. Courts have uniformly rejected DHS’s and EOIR’s new interpretation because it defies 11 the INA. As the Rodriguez Vazquez court and others have explained, the plain text of the 12 statutory provisions demonstrates that § 1226(a), not § 1225(b), applies to people like
13 Petitioner.

14 41. Indeed, according to the I-220A, Release on Recognizance document issued to 15 Respondent upon his encounter with Government officials, as well as the DHS’s own
16 factual allegations contained in the Notice to Appear, the DHS themselves determined
17 that Petitioner had entered the U.S. under the INA and thus falls under § 1226(a), not § 18 1225(b).

19 42. Section 1226(a) applies by default to all persons “pending a decision on whether the 20 Respondent is to be removed from the United States.” These removal hearings are held 21 under § 1229a, to “decid[e] the inadmissibility or deportability of a[] [noncitizen].”

22 43. The text of § 1226 also explicitly applies to people charged as being inadmissible, 23 including those who entered without inspection. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c)(1)(E).

1 Subparagraph (E)'s reference to such people makes clear that, by default, such people are
2 afforded a bond hearing under subsection (a). As the Rodriguez Vazquez court explained,
3 "[w]hen Congress creates 'specific exceptions' to a statute's applicability, it 'proves' that 4 absent those exceptions, the statute generally applies." Rodriguez Vazquez, 779 F. Supp.
5 3d at 1257 (citing Shady Grove Orthopedic Assocs., P.A. v. Allstate Ins. Co., 559 U.S.
6 393, 400 (2010)); see also Gomes, 2025 WL 1869299, at *7.

7 44. Section 1226 therefore leaves no doubt that it applies to people who face charges of being 8 inadmissible to the United States, including those who are present without admission or 9 parole.

10 45. By contrast, § 1225(b) applies to people arriving at U.S. ports of entry or who recently
11 entered the United States and were not free to mingle with the general population after 12 being free from official restraint. The statute's entire framework is premised on 13 inspections at the border of people who are "seeking admission" to the United States. 8
14 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A). Indeed, the Supreme Court has explained that this mandatory 15 detention scheme applies "at the Nation's borders and ports of entry, where the 16 Government must determine whether a[] [noncitizen] seeking to enter the country is 17 admissible." Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 287 (2018).

18 46. Accordingly, the mandatory detention provision of § 1225(b)(2)(A) does not apply to 19 people like Petitioner, who were encountered at the border and released after a quasi-
20 judicial determination by an immigration official on a form I-220A that Respondent falls 21 under the discretionary arrest provision of § 1226(a) as an uninspected entrant. The 22 Government's own issuance of an I-220A placing Petitioner in custody under 8 U.S.C. §
23 1226(a) reflects a discretionary, fact-based determination that Petitioner was not subject 24

1 to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A). This quasi-judicial decision was made by 2 DHS at the outset of proceedings, based on the facts available to both parties and 3 Petitioner's own admissions. Critically, DHS itself alleged in the Notice to Appear that 4 Petitioner "entered the United States without inspection and without parole or lawful 5 admission," a factual assertion that squarely contradicts the Government's current 6 position—adopted wholesale by the Board of Immigration Appeals—that Petitioner is 7 ineligible to apply for bond before EOIR. This reversal undermines the integrity of the 8 adjudicative process and triggers the principles of issue preclusion recognized in B&B
9 Hardware, Inc. v. Hargis Indus., Inc., 575 U.S. 138 (2015), which require courts to 10 respect agency determinations when the ordinary elements of preclusion are met.

11 47. It has been the settled practice for decades for immigration officials to issue an I-220A, or 12 an Order of Release on Recognizance, to those who encounter immigration officials at or 13 near the border. The issuance of an I-220A under § 236 is not a ministerial act but a
14 formal adjudication of custody status, reflecting DHS's determination that the individual
15 falls under the discretionary detention framework of § 236 rather than the mandatory 16 detention provisions of § 235(b). The Supreme Court has "long favored application of the 17 common law doctrines of collateral estoppel (as to issues) and res judicata (as to claims)
18 to those determinations of administrative bodies that have attained finality." Astoria Fed.
19 Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Solimino, 501 U.S. 104, 108 (1991) (citing United States v. Utah
20 Constr. & Mining Co., 384 U.S. 394, 422 (1966)). As the Court explained in Utah 21 Construction, "[w]hen an administrative agency is acting in a judicial capacity and 22 resolves disputed issues of fact properly before it which the parties have had an adequate 23 opportunity to litigate, the courts have not hesitated to apply res judicata to enforce 24

1 repose.” 384 U.S. at 422. This presumption applies because “Congress is understood to
2 legislate against a background of common-law adjudicatory principles.” Astoria, 501
3 U.S. at 108 (citing Briscoe v. LaHue, 460 U.S. 325 (1983); Isbrandtsen Co. v. Johnson,
4 343 U.S. 779, 783 (1952)). Accordingly, DHS’s prior § 236 determination—
5 memorialized in the I-220A—constitutes a binding judgment for purposes of collateral
6 estoppel and cannot be disturbed absent materially changed circumstances or new facts.

7 FACTS

8 48. Petitioner has resided in the United States since November 16, 2016, and currently 9 resides physically in Juneau, Wisconsin, where he is detained.

10 49. Upon his entry into the United States, the DHS released respondent into the country with 11 an I-220A form Order of Release on Recognizance, or “OREC,” which found that 12 Respondent was detained and released under INA 236, formally documenting that he was 13 arrested, placed in removal proceedings, and released pursuant to INA § 236 (see OREC, 14 Exhibit 4). The OREC expressly states that respondent’s release was conditioned on 15 compliance with § 236 and related regulations.

16 50. The DHS filed a Notice to Appear with EOIR alleging that Petitioner entered the United 17 States without inspection. (see Exhibit 3, Notice to Appear, or “NTA”).

18 51. On or about September 25, 2025, in Manitowoc, Wisconsin, Petitioner was arrested when 19 he was working at his job on a dairy farm in Northeastern Wisconsin. Petitioner is now
20 detained at the Dodge Detention Facility. (See I-213, ICE Report).

21 52. Post Respondent’s arrest, on September 30, 2025, DHS moved to Recalendar removal
22 proceedings before the Chicago Immigration Court pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1229a. ICE
23 has charged Petitioner with, inter alia, being inadmissible under 8 U.S.C. §
24

1 1182(a)(6)(A)(i) as someone who entered the United States without inspection. See
2 Motion to Recalendar. Respondent's counsel was not served with a copy of the Motion
3 to Recalendar, despite being the attorney of record since 2019. Judge Crites granted the 4 motion on October 6, 2025, stating it was unopposed. See Order of Immigration Judge,
5 dated October 6, 2025.

6 53. Previously, Respondent was in removal proceedings from November of 2016 until July
7 19, 2021, when his removal proceedings were administratively closed pursuant to DHS 8 motion and Immigration Judge Elizabeth Crite's order. See Order dated July 19, 2021.

9 54. He filed an asylum application for the Chicago Immigration court on February 15, 2019.
10 See court-stamped I-589, dated February 15, 2019. He had a valid work permit until 11 2029 and was working pursuant to that work authorization. See Employment
12 Authorization Document, valid from September 23, 2024, until September 22, 2029.

13 55. Maynor Espinoza Hernandez's detention has inflicted profound harm on him. He is a 24-
14 year-old man that has dedicated his entire life to farm work. He is unmarried and has no 15 children, but lives with extended family members. He has lost his family as well as his 16 job. He has never been arrested in his life apart from the apprehension at the border in 17 November of 2016. We have provided a letter of employment confirmation from Maple
18 Leaf Farms.

19 56. Following Petitioner's arrest and transfer to Dodge Detention Facility, ICE issued a
20 custody determination to continue Petitioner's detention without an opportunity to post
21 bond or be released on other conditions.

22 57. On October 7, 2025, Petitioner submitted a bond request to Chicago Immigration Court.
23 The bond hearing was scheduled for October 27, 2025, before Immigration Judge
24

1 Saltzman, but was then subsequently rescheduled a few minutes after the hearing was to
2 begin at 9 a.m., to October 29, 2025, again at 9 a.m. The case was classified as a Bond
3 Matter, separate from his pending removal proceedings initiated by a charging document
4 dated November 16, 2016. The Immigration Judge has not yet issued a decision on the 5 bond request, although it is expected that he will find no jurisdiction over the bond
6 request, even though the DHS had previously released the Respondent under section 236
7 of the INA.

8 58. Pursuant to Matter of Yajure Hurtado, the immigration judge is unable to consider 9 Petitioner's bond request, and his unlawful detention cannot be litigated before that body,
10 who collaborated with the DHS – who is a party to these contested proceedings – to adopt
11 the DHS position wholesale, because such efforts will be futile.

12 59. As a result, Petitioner remains in detention. Without relief from this court, he faces the 13 prospect of months, or even years, in immigration custody, separated from his job, family
14 and community.

15 CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

16 COUNT I 17 Violation of the INA

18 60. Petitioner incorporates by reference the allegations of fact set forth in the preceding 19 paragraphs.

20 61. The mandatory detention provision at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) does not apply to all 21 noncitizens residing in the United States who are subject to the grounds of 22 inadmissibility. As relevant here, it does not apply to those who received an I-220A and 23 who were subsequently accused by DHS of having “entered” the United States. Those 24 actions by DHS, followed by the Petitioner's concession to those charges before EOIR,

1 represent a quasi-judicial determination by an agency which precludes further litigation
2 of the issue unless new, material, and previously unavailable facts emerge. Such 3 noncitizens continue to be detained under § 1226(a), unless they are subject to 4 § 1225(b)(1), § 1226(c), or § 1231.

5 62. The application of § 1225(b)(2) to Petitioner unlawfully mandates his continued
6 detention and violates the INA.

7 COUNT II
8 Violation of the Bond Regulations

9 63. Petitioner incorporates by reference the allegations of fact set forth in preceding 10 paragraphs.

11 64. In 1997, after Congress amended the INA through IIRIRA, EOIR and the then-
12 Immigration and Naturalization Service issued an interim rule to interpret and apply 13 IIRIRA. Specifically, under the heading of “Apprehension, Custody, and Detention of 14 [Noncitizens],” the agencies explained that “[d]espite being applicants for admission, 15 [noncitizens] who are present without having been admitted or paroled (formerly referred 16 to as [noncitizens] who entered without inspection) will be eligible for bond and bond
17 redetermination.” 62 Fed. Reg. at 10323 (emphasis added). The agencies thus made clear 18 that individuals who had entered without inspection were eligible for consideration for 19 bond and bond hearings before IJs under 8 U.S.C. § 1226 and its implementing 20 regulations.

21 65. Nonetheless, pursuant to Matter of Yajure Hurtado, EOIR has a policy and practice of 22 applying § 1225(b)(2) to individual like Petitioner.

23 66. The application of § 1225(b)(2) to Petitioner unlawfully mandate his continued detention
24 and violates 8 C.F.R. §§ 236.1, 1236.1, and 1003.19.

COUNT III
Violation of Due Process

67. Petitioner repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

68. The government may not deprive a person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. U.S. Const. amend. V. "Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that the Clause protects." Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690 (2001).

69. Petitioner has a fundamental interest in liberty and being free from official restraint.

70. The government's detention of Petitioner without a bond redetermination hearing to determine whether he is a flight risk or danger to others violates [his/her/their] right to due process.

Judicial Estoppel

71. Petitioner repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

72. The Government is judicially estopped from asserting that Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A). In prior litigation, including Jennings v. Rodriguez, the Government successfully argued that individuals who entered without inspection and were not apprehended near the border or within 14 days were subject to discretionary detention under § 1226(a), not mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A). See Jennings v. Rodriguez, No. 15-1204, Tr. of Oral Arg. at 7–8 (Nov. 30, 2016). Courts accepted that position. Now, the Government reverses course and asserts the opposite interpretation to deny bond hearings. Under New Hampshire v. Maine, 532 U.S. 742 (2001), judicial estoppel applies where a party assumes a position, prevails, and then

1 adopts a contrary position to gain an unfair advantage. The Government's reversal
2 undermines the integrity of the judicial process and prejudices Petitioners who relied on 3 the prior interpretation.

4 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

5 WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that this Court grant the following relief:

- 6 a. Assume jurisdiction over this matter;
- 7 b. Order that Petitioner shall not be transferred outside the Eastern District of 8 Wisconsin while this habeas petition is pending;
- 9 c. Issue an Order to Show Cause ordering Respondents to show cause why this 10 Petition should not be granted within three days;
- 11 d. Issue a Writ of Habeas Corpus requiring that Respondents release Petitioner or, in 12 the alternative, provide Petitioner with a bond hearing pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 13 1226(a) within seven days;
- 14 e. Declare that Petitioner's detention is unlawful;
- 15 f. Award Petitioner attorney's fees and costs under the Equal Access to Justice Act
16 ("EAJA"), as amended, 28 U.S.C. § 2412, and on any other basis justified under 17 law; and
- 18 g. Grant any other and further relief that this Court deems just and proper.

19 DATED this 27th day of October 2025.
