7 Attorneys for Respondents

8 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
9 SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

10 SAUL ISAAC HERNANDEZ FLORES,
11 Petitioner,
13 v.
14 CHRISTOPHER J. LAROSE, et al.,
15 Respondents.

Case No.: 25-cv-3023-RBM-DDL
RETURN TO PETITION

16 I. Introduction and Summary of Argument

17 Petitioner has filed a habeas petition under 28 U.S.C. § 2241. Petitioner is 18 currently in removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a and is charged with 19 inadmissibility under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i), as an alien present in the United 20 States who has not been admitted or paroled 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)(i)(I), as an 21 immigrant not in possession of a valid entry document. See Exhibit 1 (Notice to 22 Appear). As an applicant for admission, Petitioner is mandatorily detained in 23 Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody pursuant to 8 U.S.C.
24 § 1225(b)(2).¹ Based on the arguments set forth below, the Court should deny any 25 requests for relief and dismiss the petition.

26
27
28 ¹ In this case, Petitioner requested and was denied bond. See Exhibit 2 (Nov. 10, 2025 Order of IJ).

1 II. Statutory Background

2 A. Individuals Seeking Admission to the United States

3 For more than a century, this country’s immigration laws have authorized 4 immigration officials to charge noncitizens as removable from the country, arrest those 5 subject to removal, and detain them during removal proceedings. See Abel v. United 6 States, 362 U.S. 217, 232–37 (1960). “The rule has been clear for decades: ‘[d]etention 7 during deportation proceedings [i]s ... constitutionally valid.’” Banyee v. Garland, 115 8 F.4th 928 (8th Cir. 2024) (quoting Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 523 (2003)), 9 rehearing by panel and en banc denied, Banyee v. Bondi, No. 22-2252, 2025 WL 10 837914 (8th Cir. Mar. 18, 2025); see Carlson v. Landon, 342 U.S. 524, 538 (1952) 11 (“Detention is necessarily a part of this deportation procedure.”); Demore, 538 U.S. at 12 523 n.7 (“In fact, prior to 1907 there was no provision permitting bail for any aliens 13 during the pendency of their deportation proceedings.”) (emphasis in original). The 14 Supreme Court even recognized that removal proceedings ““would be [in] vain if those 15 accused could not be held in custody pending the inquiry into their true character.”” 16 Demore, 538 U.S. at 523 (quoting Wong Wing v. United States, 163 U.S. 228, 235 17 (1896)). Over the century, Congress has enacted a multi-layered statutory scheme for 18 the civil detention of aliens pending a decision on removal, during the administrative 19 and judicial review of removal orders, and in preparation for removal. See generally 8 20 U.S.C. §§ 1225, 1226, 1231. It is the interplay between these statutes that is at issue 21 here.

22 B. Detention Under 8 U.S.C. § 1225

23 “To implement its immigration policy, the Government must be able to decide 24 (1) who may enter the country and (2) who may stay here after entering.” Jennings v.
25 Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 286 (2018). Section 1225 governs inspection, the initial step 26 in this process, id., stating that all “applicants for admission . . . shall be inspected by 27 immigration officers.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(3). The statute—in a provision entitled 28 “ALIENS TREATED AS APPLICANTS FOR ADMISSION”—dictates who “shall be 1 deemed for purposes of this chapter an applicant for admission,” defining that term to 2 encompass both an alien “present in the United States who has not been admitted or 3 [one] who arrives in the United States” Id. § 1225(a)(1) (emphasis added). Section 4 1225(b) governs the inspection procedures applicable to all applicants for admission.

5 They “fall into one of two categories, those covered by § 1225(b)(1) and those covered 6 by § 1225(b)(2).” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287.

7 Section 1225(b)(1) applies to arriving aliens and “certain other” aliens “initially 8 determined to be inadmissible due to fraud, misrepresentation, or lack of valid 9 documentation.” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287; 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (iii). These 10 aliens are generally subject to expedited removal proceedings. See 8 U.S.C. § 11 1225(b)(1)(A)(i). But if the alien “indicates an intention to apply for asylum . . . or a 12 fear of persecution,” immigration officers will refer the alien for a credible fear 13 interview. Id. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(ii). An alien “with a credible fear of persecution” is 14 “detained for further consideration of the application for asylum.” Id. § 15 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii). If the alien does not indicate an intent to apply for asylum, express a 16 fear of persecution, or is “found not to have such a fear,” they are detained until removed 17 from the United States. Id. §§ 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (B)(iii)(IV).

18 Section 1225(b)(2) is “broader” and “serves as a catchall provision.” Jennings, 19 583 U.S. at 287. It “applies to all applicants for admission not covered by § 1225(b)(1).” 20 Id. Under § 1225(b)(2), an alien “who is an applicant for admission” shall be detained 21 for a removal proceeding “if the examining immigration officer determines that [the] 22 alien seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted.” 8 23 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216, 220 (BIA 24 2025) (“[A]liens who are present in the United States without admission are applicants 25 for admission as defined under section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C.
26 § 1225(b)(2)(A), and must be detained for the duration of their removal proceedings.”); 27 Matter of Q. Li, 29 I. & N. Dec. 66, 68 (BIA 2025) (“for aliens arriving in and seeking 28 admission into the United States who are placed directly in full removal proceedings,

1 section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), mandates detention ‘until 2 removal proceedings have concluded.’”) (citing Jennings, 583 U.S. at 299). However, 3 DHS has the sole discretionary authority to temporarily release on parole “any alien 4 applying for admission to the United States” on a “case-by-case basis for urgent 5 humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit.” Id. § 1182(d)(5)(A); see Biden v.
6 Texas, 597 U.S. 785, 806 (2022).

7 C. Detention Under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)

8 Section 1226 provides for arrest and detention “pending a decision on whether 9 the alien is to be removed from the United States.” 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Under § 1226(a), 10 the government may detain an alien during his removal proceedings, release him on 11 bond, or release him on conditional parole. By regulation, immigration officers can 12 release an alien who demonstrates that he “would not pose a danger to property or 13 persons” and “is likely to appear for any future proceeding.” 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(c)(8). An 14 alien can also request a custody redetermination (i.e., a bond hearing) by an IJ at any 15 time before a final order of removal is issued. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); 8 C.F.R. §§ 16 236.1(d)(1), 1236.1(d)(1), 1003.19.

17 At a custody redetermination, the IJ may continue detention or release the alien 18 on bond or conditional parole. 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); 8 C.F.R. § 1236.1(d)(1). IJs have 19 broad discretion in deciding whether to release an alien on bond. In re Guerra, 24 I. & 20 N. Dec. 37, 39-40 (BIA 2006) (listing nine factors for IJs to consider). But regardless 21 of the factors IJs consider, an alien “who presents a danger to persons or property should 22 not be released during the pendency of removal proceedings.” Id. at 38.

23 Section 1226(a) does not grant “any right to release on bond.” Matter of D-J-, 23 24 I. & N. Dec. at 575 (citing Carlson v. Landon, 342 U.S. 524, 534 (1952) (emphasis in 25 original). Nor does it address the applicable burden of proof or particular factors that 26 must be considered. See generally 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Rather, it grants DHS and the 27 Attorney General broad discretionary authority to determine, after arrest, whether to 28 detain or release an alien during his removal proceedings. See id. If, after the bond

1 hearing, either party disagrees with the decision of the IJ, that party may appeal the 2 decision to the BIA. See 8 C.F.R. §§ 236.1(d)(3), 1003.19(f), 1003.38, 1236.1(d)(3).

3 Included within the Attorney General and DHS’s discretionary authority are 4 limits on the delegation to the immigration court. Under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2)(i)(B), 5 the IJ does not have authority to redetermine the conditions of custody imposed by DHS 6 for any arriving alien. The regulations also include a provision that allows DHS to 7 invoke an automatic stay of any decision by an IJ to release an individual on bond when 8 DHS files an appeal of the custody redetermination. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) (“The 9 decision whether or not to file [an automatic stay] is subject to the discretion of the 10 Secretary.”).

11 D. Review Before the Board of Immigration Appeals

12 The BIA is an appellate body within the Executive Office for Immigration 13 Review (EOIR) and possesses delegated authority from the Attorney General. 8 C.F.R.
14 §§ 1003.1(a)(1), (d)(1). The BIA is “charged with the review of those administrative 15 adjudications under the [INA] that the Attorney General may by regulation assign to 16 it,” including IJ custody determinations. 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.1(d)(1), 236.1, 1236.1. The 17 BIA not only resolves particular disputes before it, but is also directed to, “through 18 precedent decisions, [] provide clear and uniform guidance to DHS, the immigration 19 judges, and the general public on the proper interpretation and administration of the 20 [INA] and its implementing regulations.” Id. § 1003.1(d)(1). Decisions rendered by the 21 BIA are final, except for those reviewed by the Attorney General. 8 C.F.R. § 22 1003.1(d)(7).

23 If an automatic stay of a custody decision is invoked by DHS, regulations require 24 the BIA to track the progress of the custody appeal “to avoid unnecessary delays in 25 completing the record for decision.” 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(c)(3). The stay lapses in 90 days, 26 unless the detainee seeks an extension of time to brief the custody appeal, 8 C.F.R.
27 § 1003.6(c)(4), or unless DHS seeks, and the BIA grants, a discretionary stay. 8 C.F.R.
28 § 1003.6(c)(5).

1 If the BIA denies DHS’s custody appeal, the automatic stay remains in effect for 2 five business days. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(d). DHS may, during that five-day period, refer 3 the case to the Attorney General under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.1(h)(1) for consideration. Id.
4 Upon referral to the Attorney General, the release is stayed for 15 business days while 5 the case is considered. The Attorney General may extend the stay of release upon 6 motion by DHS. Id.

7 III. Argument

8 A. Claims and Requested Relief Jurisdictionally Barred

9 Petitioner bears the burden of establishing that this Court has subject matter 10 jurisdiction over asserted claims. See Ass’n of Am. Med. Coll. v. United States, 217 F.3d 11 770, 778-79 (9th Cir. 2000); Finley v. United States, 490 U.S. 545, 547-48 (1989).

12 In general, courts lack jurisdiction to review a decision to commence or 13 adjudicate removal proceedings or execute removal orders. See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g) 14 (“[N]o court shall have jurisdiction to hear any cause or claim by or on behalf of any 15 alien arising from the decision or action by the Attorney General to commence 16 proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.”); Reno v. Am.-Arab Anti- 17 Discrimination Comm., 525 U.S. 471, 483 (1999) (“There was good reason for 18 Congress to focus special attention upon, and make special provision for, judicial 19 review of the Attorney General’s discrete acts of “commenc[ing] proceedings, 20 adjudicat[ing] cases, [and] execut[ing] removal orders”—which represent the initiation 21 or prosecution of various stages in the deportation process.”); Limpin v. United States, 22 828 Fed. App’x 429 (9th Cir. 2020) (holding district court properly dismissed under 8 23 U.S.C. § 1252(g) “because claims stemming from the decision to arrest and detain an 24 alien at the commencement of removal proceedings are not within any court’s 25 jurisdiction”). In other words, § 1252(g) removes district court jurisdiction over “three 26 discrete actions that the Attorney may take: her ‘decision or action’ to ‘commence 27 proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.’” Reno, 525 U.S. at 482 28 (emphasis removed). Congress has explicitly foreclosed district court jurisdiction over

1 claims that necessarily arise “from the decision or action by the Attorney General to 2 commence proceedings [and] adjudicate cases,” over which. 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

3 Section 1252(g) also bars district courts from hearing challenges to the method 4 by which the government chooses to commence removal proceedings, including the 5 decision to detain an alien pending removal. See Alvarez v. ICE, 818 F.3d 1194, 1203
6 (11th Cir. 2016) (“By its plain terms, [§ 1252(g)] bars us from questioning ICE’s 7 discretionary decisions to commence removal” and bars review of “ICE’s decision to 8 take [plaintiff] into custody and to detain him during his removal proceedings”).

9 Other courts have held, “[f]or the purposes of § 1252, the Attorney General 10 commences proceedings against an alien when the alien is issued a Notice to Appear 11 before an immigration court.” Herrera-Correra v. United States, No. 08-2941 DSF 12 (JCx), 2008 WL 11336833, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2008). “The Attorney General 13 may arrest the alien against whom proceedings are commenced and detain that 14 individual until the conclusion of those proceedings.” Id. at *3. “Thus, an alien’s 15 detention throughout this process arises from the Attorney General’s decision to 16 commence proceedings” and review of claims arising from such detention is barred 17 under § 1252(g). Id. (citing Sissoko v. Rocha, 509 F.3d 947, 949 (9th Cir. 2007)); Wang, 18 2010 WL 11463156, at *6; 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

19 Moreover, under 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9), “[j]udicial review of all questions of law 20 and fact . . . arising from any action taken or proceeding brought to remove an alien 21 from the United States under this subchapter shall be available only in judicial review 22 of a final order under this section.” (emphasis added). Further, judicial review of a final 23 order is available only through “a petition for review filed with an appropriate court of 24 appeals.” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(5). The Supreme Court has made clear that § 1252(b)(9) 25 is “the unmistakable ‘zipper’ clause,” channeling “judicial review of all” “decisions and 26 actions leading up to or consequent upon final orders of deportation,” including “non-27 final order[s],” into proceedings before a court of appeals. Reno, 525 U.S. at 483, 485; 28 see J.E.F.M. v. Lynch, 837 F.3d 1026, 1031 (9th Cir. 2016) (noting § 1252(b)(9) is

1 “breathtaking in scope and vise-like in grip and therefore swallows up virtually all 2 claims that are tied to removal proceedings”). “Taken together, § 1252(a)(5) and 3 § 1252(b)(9) mean that any issue—whether legal or factual—arising from any removal-4 related activity can be reviewed only through the [petition for review] PFR process.”
5 J.E.F.M., 837 F.3d at 1031 (“[W]hile these sections limit how immigrants can challenge 6 their removal proceedings, they are not jurisdiction-stripping statutes that, by their 7 terms, foreclose all judicial review of agency actions. Instead, the provisions channel 8 judicial review over final orders of removal to the courts of appeal.”) (emphasis in 9 original); see id. at 1035 (“§§ 1252(a)(5) and [(b)(9)] channel review of all claims, 10 including policies-and-practices challenges . . . whenever they ‘arise from’ removal 11 proceedings”).

12 Critically, “1252(b)(9) is a judicial channeling provision, not a claim-barring 13 one.” Aguilar v. ICE, 510 F.3d 1, 11 (1st Cir. 2007). Indeed, 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(2)(D) 14 provides that “[n]othing . . . in any other provision of this chapter . . . shall be construed 15 as precluding review of constitutional claims or questions of law raised upon a petition 16 for review filed with an appropriate court of appeals in accordance with this section.” 17 See also Ajlani v. Chertoff, 545 F.3d 229, 235 (2d Cir. 2008) (“[J]urisdiction to review 18 such claims is vested exclusively in the courts of appeals[.]”). The petition-for-review 19 process before the court of appeals ensures that noncitizens have a proper forum for 20 claims arising from their immigration proceedings and “receive their day in court.”
21 J.E.F.M., 837 F.3d at 1031–32 (internal quotations omitted); see also Rosario v. Holder, 22 627 F.3d 58, 61 (2d Cir. 2010) (“The REAL ID Act of 2005 amended the [INA] to 23 obviate . . . Suspension Clause concerns” by permitting judicial review of 24 “nondiscretionary” BIA determinations and “all constitutional claims or questions of 25 law.”). These provisions divest district courts of jurisdiction to review both direct and 26 indirect challenges to removal orders, including decisions to detain for purposes of 27 removal or for proceedings. See Jennings, 583 U.S. at 294–95 (section 1252(b)(9)

1 includes challenges to the “decision to detain [an alien] in the first place or to seek 2 removal”).

3 In evaluating the reach of subsections (a)(5) and (b)(9), the Second Circuit has 4 explained that jurisdiction turns on the substance of the relief sought. Delgado v.
5 Quarantillo, 643 F.3d 52, 55 (2d Cir. 2011). Those provisions divest district courts of 6 jurisdiction to review both direct and indirect challenges to removal orders, including 7 decisions to detain for purposes of removal or for proceedings. See Jennings, 583 U.S.
8 at 294–95 (section 1252(b)(9) includes challenges to the “decision to detain [an alien] 9 in the first place or to seek removal[.]”). Here, Petitioner challenges the government’s 10 decision and action to detain, which arises from DHS’s decision to commence removal 11 proceedings, and is thus an “action taken . . . to remove [him/her] from the United 12 States.” See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9); see also, e.g., Jennings, 583 U.S. at 294–95; Velasco 13 Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 850 (2d Cir. 2020) (finding that 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) did 14 not bar review in that case because the petitioner did not challenge “his initial 15 detention”); Saadulloev v. Garland, No. 3:23-CV-00106, 2024 WL 1076106, at *3 16 (W.D. Pa. Mar. 12, 2024) (recognizing that there is no judicial review of the threshold 17 detention decision, which flows from the government’s decision to “commence 18 proceedings”).

19 Accordingly, this Court lacks jurisdiction over this petition under 8 U.S.C.
20 § 1252.² See Acxel S.Q.D.C. v. Bondi, No. 25-3348 (PAM/DLM), 2025 U.S. Dist.
21 LEXIS 175957 (D. Minn. Sept. 9, 2025).

22
24 ² On an alternative basis, the Court should ensure Petitioner properly exhausts 25 administrative remedies. The Ninth Circuit requires that “habeas petitioners exhaust 26 available judicial and administrative remedies before seeking relief under § 2241.” 27 Castro–Cortez v. INS, 239 F.3d 1037, 1047 (9th Cir. 2001). “When a petitioner does 28 not exhaust administrative remedies, a district court ordinarily should either dismiss the petition without prejudice or stay the proceedings until the petitioner has exhausted remedies, unless exhaustion is excused.” Leonardo v. Crawford, 646 F.3d 1157, 1160 (9th Cir. 2011); see also Alvarado v. Holder, 759 F.3d 1121, 1127 n.5 (9th Cir. 2014)
(issue exhaustion is a jurisdictional requirement); Tijani v. Holder, 628 F.3d 1071, 1080 (9th Cir. 2010) (no jurisdiction to review legal claims not presented in the petitioner’s administrative proceedings before the BIA).

1 B. Petitioner is Lawfully Detained

2 Petitioner’s claims for alleged statutory and constitutional violations fail because 3 Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225.

4 Based on the plain language of the statute, Petitioner’s detention is governed by 5 § 1225. Section 1225(b)(2)(A) requires mandatory detention of “an alien who is an 6 applicant for admission, if the examining immigration officer determines that an alien 7 seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted[.]” Chavez
8 v. Noem, No. 3:25-cv-02325, 2025 WL 2730228, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2025)
9 (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A)) (emphasis in original). Section 1225(a)(1) 10 “expressly defines that ‘[a]n alien present in the United States who has not been 11 admitted ... shall be deemed for purposes of this Act an applicant for admission.’” Id.
12 (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1)) (emphasis in original). Here, Petitioner is an “alien 13 present in the United States who has not been admitted.” Thus, as found by the district 14 court in Chavez v. Noem and as mandated by the plain language of the statute, Petitioner 15 is an “applicant for admission” and subject to the mandatory detention provisions of 16 § 1225(b)(2).

17 When the plain text of a statute is clear, “that meaning is controlling” and courts 18 “need not examine legislative history.” Washington v. Chimei Innolux Corp., 659 F.3d 19 842, 848 (9th Cir. 2011). But to the extent legislative history is relevant here, nothing 20 “refutes the plain language” of § 1225. Suzlon Energy Ltd. v. Microsoft Corp., 671 F.3d 21 726, 730 (9th Cir. 2011). Congress passed the Illegal Immigration Reform and 22 Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA) to correct “an anomaly whereby 23 immigrants who were attempting to lawfully enter the United States were in a worse 24 position than persons who had crossed the border unlawfully.” Torres v. Barr, 976 F.3d 25 918, 928 (9th Cir. 2020) (en banc), declined to extend by, United States v. Gambino-
26 Ruiz, 91 F.4th 981 (9th Cir. 2024); see Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 223-27 34 (citing H.R. Rep. No. 104-469, pt. 1, at 225 (1996)). It “intended to replace certain 28 aspects of the [then] current ‘entry doctrine,’ under which illegal aliens who have

1 entered the United States without inspection gain equities and privileges in immigration 2 proceedings that are not available to aliens who present themselves for inspection at a 3 port of entry.” Id. (quoting H.R. Rep. 104-469, pt. 1, at 225). A contrary interpretation 4 would put aliens who “crossed the border unlawfully” in a better position than those 5 “who present themselves for inspection at a port of entry.” Id. Aliens who presented at 6 a port of entry would be subject to mandatory detention under § 1225, but those who 7 crossed illegally would be eligible for a bond under § 1226(a). See Matter of Yajure
8 Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 225 (“The House Judiciary Committee Report makes clear 9 that Congress intended to eliminate the prior statutory scheme that provided aliens who 10 entered the United States without inspection more procedural and substantive rights than 11 those who presented themselves to authorities for inspection.”). The court should 12 “refuse to interpret the INA in a way that would in effect repeal that statutory fix’ 13 intended by Congress in enacting the IIRIRA.” Chavez, 2025 WL 2730228, at *4 14 (quoting Gambino-Ruiz, 91 F.4th at 990).

15 The plain language of the § 1225(b)(2) does not contradict nor render § 1226(a) 16 superfluous. In Chavez v. Noem, the district court noted that § 1226(a) “‘generally 17 governs the process of arresting and detaining’ certain aliens, namely ‘aliens who were 18 inadmissible at the time of entry or who have been convicted of certain criminal offenses 19 since admission.’” Chavez, 2025 WL 2730228, at *5 (quoting Jennings, 583 U.S. at 20 288) (emphasis in original). In turn, individuals who have not been charged with 21 specific crimes listed in § 1226(c) are still subject to the discretionary detention 22 provisions of § 1226(a) as determined by the Attorney General. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) 23 (“On a warrant issued by the Attorney General, an alien may be arrested and detained 24 pending a decision on whether the alien is to be removed from the United States.”) 25 (emphasis added). Therefore, heeding the plain language of § 1225(b)(2) has no effect 26 on § 1226(a). Similarly, the application of § 1225’s explicit definition of “applicants for 27 admission” does not render the addition of § 1226(c) by the Riley Laken Act 28 superfluous. Once again correctly determined by the district court in Chavez v. Noem,

1 the addition of § 1226(c) simply removed the Attorney General’s detention discretion 2 for aliens charged with specific crimes. 2025 WL 2730228, at *5.

3 One of the most basic interpretative canons instructs that a “statute should be 4 construed so that effect is given to all its provisions.” See Corley v. United States, 556
5 U.S. 303, 314 (2009) (cleaned up). If Congress did not want § 1225(b)(2)(A) to apply 6 to “applicants for admission,” then it would not have included the phrase “applicants 7 for admission” in the subsection. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see also Corley, 556 8 U.S. at 314.

9 Finally, the phrase “alien seeking admission” does not limit the scope of 10 § 1225(b)(2)(A). The BIA has long recognized that “many people who are not actually 11 requesting permission to enter the United States in the ordinary sense are nevertheless 12 deemed to be ‘seeking admission’ under the immigration laws.” Matter of Lemus-Losa, 13 25 I&N Dec. 734, 743 (BIA 2012). Statutory language “is known by the company it 14 keeps.” Marquez-Reyes v. Garland, 36 F.4th 1195, 1202 (9th Cir. 2022) (quoting 15 McDonnell v. United States, 579 U.S. 550, 569 (2016)). The phrase “seeking 16 admission” in § 1225(b)(2)(A) must be read in the context of the definition of “applicant 17 for admission” in § 1225(a)(1). Applicants for admission are both those individuals 18 present without admission and those who arrive in the United States. See 8 U.S.C.
19 § 1225(a)(1). Both are understood to be “seeking admission” under § 1225(a)(1). See 20 Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 221; Lemus-Losa, 25 I&N Dec. at 743.
21 Congress made that clear in § 1225(a)(3), which requires all aliens “who are applicants 22 for admission or otherwise seeking admission” to be inspected by immigration officers.
23 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(3). The word “or” here “introduce[s] an appositive—a word or phrase 24 that is synonymous with what precedes it (‘Vienna or Wien,’ ‘Batman or the Caped 25 Crusader’).” United States v. Woods, 571 U.S. 31, 45 (2013). Further, § 1225(a)(5) 26 provides that “[a]n applicant for admission may be required to state under oath any 27 information sought by an immigration officer regarding the purposes and intentions of 28 the applicant in seeking admission to the United States.” The reasonable import of this

1 particular phrasing is that one who is an applicant for admission is considered to be 2 “seeking admission” under the statute.

3 Because Petitioner is properly detained under § 1225, Petitioner cannot show 4 entitlement to relief.

5 Even if the Court infers a constitutional right against prolonged mandatory 6 detention, Petitioner’s claim still fails. “In general, as detention continues past a year, 7 courts become extremely wary of permitting continued custody absent a bond hearing.”
8 Sibomana v. LaRose, No. 22-cv-933-LL-NLS, 2023 WL 3028093, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Apr.
9 20, 2023) (citation omitted); see also, e.g., Sanchez-Rivera v. Matuszewski, 10 No. 22-cv-1357-MMA-JLB, 2023 WL 139801, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 9, 2023) (detained 11 for three years); Durand v. Allen, No. 3:23-cv-00279-RBM-BGS, 2024 WL 711607, at 12 *5 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 21, 2024) (over two-and-a-half years); Yagao v. Figueroa, 13 No. 17-cv-2224-AJB-MDD, 2019 WL 1429582, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 29, 2019) (two 14 years). Petitioner’s detention falls significantly short of the length courts have found to 15 raise due process concerns.

16 C. Release is an Improper Remedy.

17 Respondents acknowledge that courts in this district have recently rejected 18 similarly arguments in other similar habeas matters. Respondents maintain that 19 Petitioner is properly subject to mandatory detention under § 1225 and dismissal is 20 proper. Cf. Vargas Lopez v. Trump, No. 8:25CV526, 2025 WL 2780351, at *9 (D. Neb.
21 Sept. 30, 2025); Sandoval v. Acuna, No. 6:25-CV-01467, 2025 WL 3048926, at *5 22 (W.D. La. Oct. 31, 2025). To the extent the Court finds this Petitioner subject to 23 detention authority under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a), Respondents’ position is that the proper 24 remedy would be directing a bond hearing under § 1226(a). See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) 25 (“No court may set aside any action or decision by the Attorney General under this 26 section regarding the detention or any alien or the revocation or denial of bond or 27 parole.”); Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 295 (2018) (“As we have previously 28 explained, § 1226(e) precludes an alien from ‘challeng[ing] a “discretionary judgment”

1 by the Attorney General or a “decision” that the Attorney General has made regarding 2 his detention or release.’ But § 1226(e) does not preclude ‘challenges [to] the statutory 3 framework that permits [the alien’s] detention without bail.’”); 8 U.S.C. § 1226(b) 4 (“The Attorney General at any time may revoke a bond or parole authorized under 5 subsection (a), rearrest the alien under the original warrant, and detain the alien.”).

6 IV. CONCLUSION

7 For the foregoing reasons, Respondents respectfully request that the Court 8 dismiss this action.
