INTRODUCTION

Petitioner Fauser Reino Godinez-Juarez respectfully moves this honorable Court for an ex parte temporary restraining order (TRO) or, in the alternative, for a preliminary injunction, requiring Respondents to immediately release him from his unlawful detention at Florence Correctional Center in Florence, Arizona or, in the alternative, schedule him for a bond hearing within seven (7) days under 8 U. S. C. § 1226, without regard to the holding

1 of Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (B.I.A. 2025), filed with the Habeas Petition
2 as Exhibit 2.

3 The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) recently changed its long-standing
4 position with regard to bond hearings and the status of mandatory detention. See, ICE
5 Memo: Interim Guidance Regarding Detention Authority for Applications for Admission, filed
6 with the Habeas Petition as Exhibit 1. And the Bureau of Immigration Appeals (BIA) issued
7 a precedential decision on September 5, 2025, holding that all noncitizens present in the 8 United States without admission – no matter how long they have resided here – are still
9 “applicants for admission” under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a) and therefore subject to mandatory
10 detention under § 1225(b)(2)(A). See, Yajure Hurtado, filed with the Habeas Petition as 11 Exhibit 2.

14 But this interpretation of the Immigration and Naturalization Act (INA) violates both 15 procedural and substantive Fifth Amendment protections, ignores the plain statutory 16 language of both § 1225 and § 1226, and is contrary to numerous recent Federal Court
17 decisions in this District that have rejected these exact arguments. See e.g. October 3, 2025,
18 Order entered by District Court Judge Dominic W. Lanza, requiring Respondents to grant
19 Petitioner, who had been present in the United States for 24 years, a “prompt bond hearing”, 20 saying that it “agrees with the majority of courts that have concluded that § 1226(a), rather 21 than § 1225(b)(2)(A), applies in this circumstance.” See, Francisco Echevarria v. Pam Bondi,
22 et al., CV-25-03252-PHX-DWL (ESW) (D. Ariz. 10/3/2025). (gathering cases), filed with the 23 Habeas Petition as Exhibit 3.

26 Here, Petitioner filed an Application for Asylum and for Withholding of Removal on 27 11/4/2025 which shows that he has been living in the United States for 4 ½ years, since 28

1 entering on 5/5/2021. See, Petitioner's Application for Asylum and for Withholding of 2 Removal, filed with the Habeas Petition as Exhibit 6. He has no criminal history in any
3 country and fears returning to his home country of Guatamala due to gangs and violence
4 encountered there. Id. Further, when Respondents issued Petitioner a Notice to Appear, it
5 identified him as an "alien present in the United States" despite "arriving alien" being an
6 option. See, Petitioner's Notice to Appear, filed with the Habeas Petition as Exhibit 5.

8 Matter of Yajure Hurtado is not binding precedent this court. And the Supreme Court
9 decision last year in Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo, 603 U.S. 369, 400 (2024), made
10 clear that federal courts must independently interpret statutes and no longer defer under so-
11 called "Chevron deference" to agency interpretations of statutes. Therefore, this Court is in 12 the best position to determine whether Petitioner Fauser Reino Godinez-Juarez was 13 improperly barred for consideration for release on bond.

14 MEMORANDUM OF LAW

15 I. STATEMENT OF FACTS.

16 Petitioner Fauser Reino Godinez-Juarez was born on  in San Marcos,
17 Guatemala. See, Petitioner's Application for Asylum and for Withholding of Removal, filed
18 with the Habeas Petition as Exhibit 6. He last entered the United States on 6/6/2021. Id.

21 Petitioner filed an Application for Asylum and for Withholding of Removal on 22 11/4/2025. Id. which shows that he has been living in the United States for 4 ½ years, since 23 entering on 5/5/2021. He has no criminal history in any country and fears returning to his 24 home country of Guatamala due to gangs and violence encountered there. Id. He was 25 issued a Notice to Appear which identified him as an "alien present in the United States"
26 even though "arriving alien" was an alternate option. See, Petitioner's Notice to Appear,
27

1 filed herewith as Exhibit 5. Petitioner is currently detained by ICE at Florence Correctional 2 Center.

3 Petitioner has determined that filing a motion for bond redetermination would be futile
4 in light of Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (B.I.A. 2025).

6 II. LEGAL STANDARDS

7 To obtain a preliminary injunction, a plaintiff must establish: "(1) a likelihood of 8 success on the merits, (2) a likelihood of irreparable harm in the absence of preliminary 9 relief, (3) that the balance of equities favors the plaintiff, and (4) that an injunction is in the 10 public interest." Geo Group, Inc. v. Newsom, 50 F.4th 745, 753 (9th Cir. 2022) (en banc), 11 citing Winter v. Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7 at 20 (2008). The legal 12 standards applicable to TROs and preliminary injunctions are "substantially identical."
13 Babaria v. Blinken, 87 F. 4th 963, 976 (9th Cir. 2023), citing to Washington v. Trump, 847
14 F.3d 1151, 1159 n.3 (9th Cir. 2017) (per curiam) (quoting Stuhlbarg Int'l Sales Co. v. John 15 D. Brush & Co., 240 F.3d 832, 839 n.7 (9th Cir. 2001)).

17 The Court considers the elements on a "sliding scale" pursuant to the Ninth Circuit's
18 "serious question" test. "A preliminary injunction is appropriate when a plaintiff 19 demonstrates that serious questions going to the merits were raised and the balance of 20 hardships tips sharply in the plaintiff's favor." Alliance for the Wild Rockies v. Cottrell, 632 F.
21 3d 1127, 1134-35 (9th Cir. 2011) (citing Lands Council v. McNair, 537 F.3d 981, 987 (9th 22 Cir. 2008) (en banc)) (internal quotations omitted). Likelihood of success on the merits is 23 the most important factor. Where a movant fails to meet this requirement, the "court need 24 not consider the other factors in the absence of serious questions going to the 25
26
27
28

1 merits." Disney Enters., Inc. v. VidAngel, Inc., 869 F.3d 848, 856 (9th Cir. 2017) (internal
2 citations and quotations omitted).

3 A. Petitioner Is Likely To Succeed On The Merits Of His Argument That He Is
4 Wrongfully Detained Because He Is Not Subject To Mandatory Detention
5 Under § 1225(B)(2).

6 DHS argues that Petitioner is subject to "mandatory detention" under § 1225
7 (b)(2)(A) by virtue of being an "applicant for admission" under § 1225 (a)(1), pursuant to a
8 July 8, 2025 change in DHS policy. See, ICE Memo: Interim Guidance Regarding 9 Detention Authority for Applications for Admission filed with the Habeas Petition as Exhibit
10 1. In essence, DHS now argue that any noncitizen not previously admitted to the United 11 States is subject to mandatory detention, without the possibility of a bond hearing.
12 However, Petitioner is likely to succeed on his claims that he is detained under 8 U.S.C. §
13 1226(a). He has been residing in the United States for almost 20 years, since he last 14 entered the United States in 2005 and has never sought admission.
15

16 Further, the plain text of § 1226 demonstrates that its subsection (a) applies to 17 Petitioner. By its own terms, § 1226(a) applies to anyone who is detained "pending a
18 decision on whether the [noncitizen] is to be removed from the United States." 8 U.S.C. §
19 1226(a). Section 1226 goes on to explicitly confirm that this authority includes not just 20 persons who are deportable, but also noncitizens who are inadmissible. [15] Generally
21 speaking, grounds of deportability (found in 8 U.S.C. § 1227) apply to people who have 22 previously been admitted, such as lawful permanent residents and certain visa holders, while 23 grounds of inadmissibility (found in § 1182) apply to those who have not been admitted to 24 the United States. See, e.g., Barton v. Barr, 590 U.S. 222, 234 (2020). While § 1226(a)
25 provides the right to seek release, § 1226(c) carves out specific categories of noncitizens
26
27
28

1 who may not be released— including certain categories of inadmissible noncitizens—and
2 subjects them instead to mandatory detention. See, e.g., id. § 1226(c)(1)(A), (C). Even if §
3 1226(a) did not cover inadmissible noncitizens—there would be no reason to specify that §
4 1226(c) governs certain persons who are inadmissible; instead, it would have only needed
5 to address people who are deportable for certain offenses.

7 Notably, recent amendments to § 1226 dramatically reinforce this argument. The 8 Laken Riley Act added language to § 1226 that directly references people who have entered
9 without inspection or who are present without authorization. See Laken Riley Act (LRA),
10 Pub. L. No. 119-1, 139 Stat. 3 (2025). Specifically, pursuant to the LRA amendments, people 11 charged as inadmissible pursuant to § 1182(a)(6) (the inadmissibility ground for entry without 12 inspection) or (a)(7) (the inadmissibility ground for lacking valid documentation to enter the 13 United States) and who have been arrested, charged with, or convicted of certain crimes are 14 subject to § 1226(c)'s mandatory detention provisions. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c)(1)(E). By 15 including such individuals under § 1226(c), Congress further clarified that, by default, §
16 1226(a) covers persons charged under § 1182(a)(6) or (a)(7). In other words, if someone is 17 only charged as inadmissible under § 1182(a)(6) or (a)(7) and the additional crime-related 18 provisions of § 1226(c)(1)(E) do not apply, then § 1226(a) governs that person's detention.
19 See Shady Grove Orthopedic Assocs., P.A. v. Allstate Ins. Co., 559 U.S. 393, 400 (2010)
20 (observing that a statutory exception would be unnecessary if the statute at issue did not 21 otherwise cover the excepted conduct).
22

24 In sum § 1226's plain text demonstrates that § 1225(b)(2) should not be read to apply
25 to everyone who is in the United States "who has not been admitted," 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1).
26 Section 1226(a) covers those who are not now seeking admission but instead are already 27

1 residing in the United States—including those who are charged with inadmissibility—while
2 § 1225(b)(2) covers only those “seeking admission,” i.e., those who are apprehended upon
3 arrival in the United States (and who are not subject to the procedures of § 1225(b)(1)). A
4 contrary interpretation would ignore § 1226(a)’s plain text and structure and render 5 meaningless § 1226’s language that specifically addresses individuals who have entered
6 without inspection. The text of § 1225 reinforces this interpretation. As the Supreme Court
7 has recognized, § 1225 is concerned “primarily [with those] seeking entry,” Jennings, 583
8 U.S. at 297, i.e., cases “at the Nation’s borders and ports of entry, where the Government 9 must determine whether a[] [noncitizen] seeking to enter the country is admissible,” id. at 10 287. Paragraphs (b)(1) and (b)(2) in § 1225 reflect this understanding. To begin, paragraph 11 (b)(1)—which concerns “expedited removal of inadmissible arriving [noncitizens]”—
12 encompasses only the “inspection” of certain “arriving” noncitizens and other recent entrants
13 the Attorney General designates, and only those who are “inadmissible under section
14 1182(a)(6)(C) or § 1182(a)(7).” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1), (A)(i). These grounds of inadmissibility 15 are for those who misrepresent information to an examining immigration officer or do not 16 have adequate documents to enter the United States. Thus, subsection (b)(1)’s text
17 demonstrates that it is focused only on people arriving at a port of entry or who have recently
18 entered the United States and not those already residing here.

22 Paragraph (b)(2) is similarly limited to people applying for admission when they arrive
23 in the United States. The title explains that this paragraph addresses the “[i]nspection of 24 other [noncitizens],” i.e., those noncitizens who are “seeking admission,” but who (b)(1) does
25 not address. Id. § 1225(b)(2), (b)(2)(A). By limiting (b)(2) to those “seeking admission,”
26 Congress confirmed that it did not intend to sweep into this section individuals like Petitioner,
27

1 who have already entered and are now residing in the United States. An individual submits
2 an “application for admission” only at “the moment in time when the immigrant actually
3 applies for admission into the United States.” Torres v. Barr, 976 F.3d 918, 927 (9th Cir.
4 2020) (en banc). Indeed, in Torres, the en banc Court of Appeals rejected the idea that §
5 1225(a)(1) means that anyone who is presently in the United States without admission or 6 parole is someone “deemed to have made an actual application for admission.” Id.
7 (emphasis omitted). That holding is instructive here too, as only those who take affirmative
8 acts, like submitting an “application for admission,” are those that can be said to be “seeking 9 admission” within § 1225(b)(2)(A).
10

11 Otherwise, that language would serve no purpose, violating a key rule of statutory 12 construction. See Shulman, 58 F.4th at 410–11. Furthermore, subparagraph (b)(2)(C) 13 addresses the “[t]reatment of [noncitizens] arriving from contiguous territory,” i.e. those who 14 are “arriving on land.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(C) (emphasis added). This language further
15 underscores Congress’s focus in § 1225 on those who are arriving into the United States—
16 not those already residing here. Similarly, the title of § 1225 refers to the “inspection” of 17 “inadmissible arriving” noncitizens. See Dubin v. United States, 599 U.S. 110, 120–21 (2023)
18 (emphasis added) (relying on section title to help construe statute). Finally, the entire statute
19 is premised on the idea that an inspection occurs near the border and shortly after arrival,
20 as the statute repeatedly refers to “examining immigration officer[s],” 8 U.S.C. §
21 1225(b)(2)(A), (b)(4), or officers conducting “inspection[s]” of people “arriving in the United 22 States,” id. § 1225(a)(3), (b)(1), (b)(2), (d); see also King v. Burwell, 576 U.S. 473, 492 (2015)
23 (looking to an Act’s “broader structure . . . to determine [the statute’s] meaning”).
24
26
27
28

1 B. The Record And Longstanding Practice Reflect That § 1226 Governs
2 Petitioner's Detention.

3 Here, DHS's long practice of considering people living in the United States for more
4 than two years as detained under § 1226(a) further supports this reading of the statute. For 5 decades, and across administrations, DHS has acknowledged that § 1226(a) applies to 6 individuals who entered the United States unlawfully, but who were later apprehended within
7 the borders of the United States long after their entry. Such a longstanding and consistent
8 interpretation "is powerful evidence that interpreting the Act in [this] way is natural and 9 reasonable." Abramski v. United States, 573 U.S. 169, 203 (2014) (Scalia, J., dissenting); 10 see also Bankamerica Corp. v. United States, 462 U.S. 122, 130 (1983) (relying in part on 11 "over 60 years" of government interpretation and practice to reject government's new 12 proposed interpretation of the law at issue).

13
14 Indeed, in 1997, after Congress amended the INA through the Illegal Immigration
15 Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA), EOIR and the then-Immigration
16 and Naturalization Service issued an interim rule to interpret and apply IIRIRA. Specifically,
17 under the heading of "Apprehension, Custody, and Detention of [Noncitizens]," the agencies
18 explained that "[d]espite being applicants for admission, [noncitizens] who are present 19 without having been admitted or paroled (formerly referred to as [noncitizens] who entered 20 without inspection) will be eligible for bond and bond redetermination." 62 Fed. Reg. at 21 10323 (emphasis added). The agencies thus made clear that individuals who had entered
22 without inspection were eligible for consideration for bond and bond hearings before IJs
23 under 8 U.S.C. § 1226 and its implementing regulations.

24 In sum, § 1226 governs this case. Section 1225 applies only to individuals arriving in 25 the United States as specified in the statute, while § 1226 applies to those who have 26
27
28

1 previously entered without admission and have been residing in the United States for more
2 than 2 years.

3 C. Caselaw Holds That An Alien Present In The U.S. For More Than 2 Years Is Not
4 An “Arriving Alien”.

5 Both Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit precedent hold that 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) is the 6 “default” provision for aliens already present in the United States. In Jennings v. Rodriguez,
7 583 U.S. 281, 297 (2018), the Supreme Court reversed a Ninth Circuit holding that there
8 was a statutory right to periodic bond hearings. It held that “U. S. immigration law authorizes
9 the Government to detain certain aliens seeking admission into the country under §§ 10 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2). It also held that “§ 1226 applies to aliens already present in the 11 United States. Section 1226(a) creates a default rule for those aliens by permitting—but 12 not requiring—the Attorney General to issue warrants for their arrest and detention pending
13 removal proceedings.” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 303 (emphasis added). In Zadvydas v. Davis, 14 533 U.S. 678 (2001), the Supreme Court stated that “[w]hile removal proceedings are in 15 progress, most aliens may be released on bond or paroled. 8 U. S. C. §§ 1226(a) (1994
16 ed., Supp. V).” Id. at 683 (emphasis added).
17

19 The Ninth Circuit has held that § 1226(a) is the “default” detention statute for aliens in 20 removal proceedings “[8 U.S.C. §1226(a) (“Subsection A”)] is the default detention statute for 21 noncitizens in removal proceedings and applies to noncitizens “[e]xcept as provided in 22 [Subsection C].” 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).” Avilez v. Garland, 69 F. 4th 525, 529-530 (9th Cir.
23 2022). Accord, Rodriguez Diaz v. Garland, 83 F. 4th 1177, 1179 (9th Cir. 2023); Sarr v. Scott,
24 765 F. Supp. 3d 1091, 1095 (WD Wash. 2025); Prieto-Romero v. Clark, 534 F.3d 1053, 1057
25 (9th Cir. 2008). Casas-Castrillon v. DHS, 535 F.3d 942 (9th Cir. 2008).

21 Supp. 3d --, 2025 WL 2730228 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2025) and Vargas Lopez v. Trump, -- F.
22 Supp. 3d --, 2025 WL 2780351 (D. Neb. Sept. 30, 2025). However, in Vargas Lopez, the 23 court held that Vargas Lopez failed to meet his burden to show that he falls under § 1226(a),
24 so "his Petition fails regardless of the parties' arguments about the scope of § 1225(b)
25 and § 1226(a)." Vargas Lopez v. Trump, 2025 WL 2780351 at *7 (emphasis added).

26 In Chavez v. Noem, the court denied a temporary restraining order on the grounds
27 that the petitioners had "not demonstrated serious questions about the application of Section
28 1225 to aliens present in the United States." Chavez v. Noem, 2025 WL 2730228 at *4.
However, the court spent less than 2 pages analyzing the statutory language and caselaw before concluding that "Petitioners have not shown either a likelihood of success or serious questions going to the merits [therefore] we do not address the remaining Winter factors."
Chavez v. Noem, 2025 WL 2730228 at *5.

1 Thus, neither Vargas Lopez nor Chavez v. Noem is particularly instructive. Of course,
2 neither case is binding precedent on this Court.

3 D. BIA's Determinations Are Not Entitled To Deference.

4 Obviously, decisions by the BIA are not binding on the Federal Judiciary, and vice-
5 versa. Matter of K-S-, 20 I&N Dec. 715 (BIA 1993). The legal relationship between federal 6 courts and the BIA was fundamentally restructured on June 28, 2024, when the Supreme
7 Court issued its decision in Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo, 603 U.S. 369 (2024),
8 which expressly overruled Chevron [24] Chevron v. Natural Resources Defense Council,
9 467 U.S. 837 (1984). deference to agency interpretations of statutes. The majority opinion,
10 authored by Chief Justice John Roberts, held that Federal Courts must "exercise their 11 independent judgment in deciding whether an agency has acted within its statutory 12 authority". Loper Bright, 603 U.S. at 207.

13 Thus, determining whether or not DHS's new internal policy of treating all noncitizens
14 as "applicants for admission" under § 1225 (a)(1) and thereby subject to "mandatory 15 detention" under 8 U.S.C. § 1225 (b)(2)(A) is properly decided by the Federal Courts. The 16 recent decision of Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (B.I.A. 2025) is not binding on 17 this Court.

18 E. Petitioner Will Suffer Irreparable Harm Absent An Injunction.

19 Parties seeking preliminary injunctive relief must also show they are "likely to suffer
20 irreparable harm in the absence of preliminary relief." . Winter, 555 U.S. at 20. Irreparable 21 harm is the type of harm for which there is "no adequate legal remedy, such as an award of 22 damages." Ariz. Dream Act Coal. v. Brewer, 757 F.3d 1053, 1068 (9th Cir. 2014).
23
25
26
27
28

1 Since Petitioner's detention he has been detained at the Florence Correctional Center
2 in Florence, Arizona, similar to a criminal detention, under the pretense that his detention is
3 mandatory. The Supreme Court has established that the "loss of freedoms, for even minimal
4 periods of time, unquestionably constitutes irreparable injury." Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347,
5 355 (1976). Thus, by virtue of Petitioner's ongoing loss of liberty, he has demonstrated
6 significant irreparable harm. This factor weighs in his favor.

8 F. The balance of hardships and public interest weigh heavily in Petitioner's favor.

9 The final two factors for a preliminary injunction—the balance of hardships and public
10 interest—"merge when the Government is the opposing party." Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S.
11 418, 435 (2009). Here, Petitioner faces weighty hardships: loss of liberty, separation from 12 family, significant stress and anxiety, and difficulty in communicating with his attorney.
13

14 The government, by contrast, faces minimal hardship: the administrative costs
15 associated with three bond hearings. "[T]he balance of hardships tips decidedly in plaintiffs'
16 favor" when "[f]aced with such a conflict between financial concerns and preventable human 17 suffering." What is more, because the policy preventing Petitioner from obtaining bond "is 18 inconsistent with federal law, . . . the balance of hardships and public interest factors weigh 19 in favor of a preliminary injunction." Moreno Galvez v. Cuccinelli, 387 F. Supp. 3d 1208, 20 1218 (W.D. Wash. 2019) (Moreno I); see also Moreno Galvez, 52 F.4th at 832 (affirming in 21 part permanent injunction issued in Moreno II and quoting approvingly district judge's 22 declaration that "it is clear that neither equity nor the public's interest are furthered by 23 allowing violations of federal law to continue"). This is because "it would not be equitable or 24 in the public's interest to allow the [government] . . . to violate the requirements of federal 25 law, especially when there are no adequate remedies available." Valle del Sol Inc. v. Whiting,
26
27
28

1 732 F.3d 1006, 1029 (9th Cir. 2013). Indeed, Defendants "cannot suffer harm from an
2 injunction that merely ends an unlawful practice." Rodriguez, 715 F.3d at 1145."

3 CONCLUSION

4 For all the foregoing reasons, Petitioner Fauser Reino Godinez-Juarez respectfully
5 requests the Court grant this motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and require
6 Respondents to immediately release him from his unlawful detention at Florence
7 Correctional Center in Florence, Arizona or, in the alternative, schedule him for a bond
8 hearing within three (3) days under 8 U.S.C. § 1226, without regard to the holding of Matter
9 of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (B.I.A. 2025).

Dear Ms. Katherine R. Branch,

I represent Mr. Fauser Reino Godinez-Juarez (██████████). In an effort to provide notice pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(b)(1)(B), I am writing to inform you that I intend to file an Ex Parte Application for Temporary Restraining Order, together with a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus, on behalf of

The emergency motion seeks immediate release from unlawful detention at the Florence Correctional Center in Florence, Arizona on the basis that immediate and irreparable harm will occur before the government can be heard.

Attached please find:

1. The Habeas Petition (draft), and
2. The Ex Parte Motion for Temporary Restraining Order (draft).

If you wish to respond or confer, please contact me as soon as possible. Due to the time-sensitive nature of this matter, I expect to file the motion with the Court as early as today unless I hear otherwise.

Sincerely,
Erica Sanchez
Attorney for Respondent

Affidavit

I, Fauser Godinez, declare under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746 that the following is true and correct to the best of my knowledge. I have further reviewed the habeas corpus petition filed on my behalf by my attorney, Nera Shefer, and affirm that all the facts contained therein are true and correct.

1. This is my story about how I was arrested by ICE on or about September 10, 2025.
2. At first, I believed that we were going to be robbed, killed, or kidnapped because of the way the authorities approached us. I was with my son in his truck on my way to work. We were both arrested.
3. Eight civilian cars followed us. They motioned for us to stop and my son stopped. He was driving and I was in the passenger seat. They were armed with large-caliber handguns and were pointed at our heads, they were in civilian clothes, so we didn't know they were from ICE.
4. At that moment, I believed that my life was going to end and that I would never see my children again. I am a 65-year-old widower.
5. I couldn't stay calm; I started to panic and one of my legs went numb, I was breathing hard, I thought I was having a heart attack.
6. One of the men responded by hitting me on the head with a gun. I was very scared and in pain, but I didn't move or say anything for fear of my life.
7. My son yelled at them, asking why they were hitting me, but they never answered.
8. After a few minutes, another man arrived wearing a hat with the word "DEA" on it.
9. Only then did they identify themselves and tell us that they were DEA agents and that we were under arrest waiting for ICE to come and pick us up. They did not get us out of the car or search us, I still do not know why they followed us and stopped us; They never told us. To this day, I don't know why we were arrested in such an inhumane way.
10. My son told them he had a U visa in process and that he had his legal documents and work permits, but they dismissed it and said it was "garbage." One of them even said that "all rats like us say we have permission when we don't."

11. Then they arrested us by applying handcuffs and shackles so tight to our wrists and ankles that they caused us pain and injuries.

12. I was treated without any respect or dignity throughout the process.

13. I am currently detained at the Florence Processing Center and not in the same place as my son. We were separated.

14. Life here is extremely difficult; It feels like being in hell. I am elderly and have many medical conditions that are not being treated here now. I'm afraid I won't get out of there alive because I'm very sick and a specialist hasn't seen me yet. Despite many requests.

15. I have never been arrested, nor have I committed a crime. I'm still in shock and wake up at night with panic attacks from the incident. I still don't understand why the DEA pointed a gun at us like criminals and all we had in the truck were gardening machines because we were going to work. The damage that the U.S. authorities have done to me is irreparable and will stay with me forever. I can't undo what they did to me.

Declaración jurada

Yo, Fauser Godinez, declaro bajo pena de perjurio de conformidad con 28 U.S.C. § 1746 que lo siguiente es verdadero y correcto a mi leal saber y entender. He revisado además la petición de hábeas corpus presentada en mi nombre por mi abogada, Nera Shefer, y afirmo que todos los hechos contenidos en ella son verdaderos y correctos.

1. Esta es mi historia sobre cómo fui arrestado por ICE el 10 de septiembre de 2025 o alrededor de esa fecha.
2. Al principio, creía que nos iban a robar, matar o secuestrar por la forma en que las autoridades se acercaron a nosotros. Estaba con mi hijo en su camioneta de camino al trabajo. Ambos fuimos arrestados.
3. Ocho autos civiles nos siguieron. Nos indicaron que nos detuviéramos y mi hijo se detuvo. Él conducía y yo estaba en el asiento del pasajero. Estaban armados con pistolas de gran calibre y nos apuntaban a la cabeza, estaban vestidos de civil, por lo que no sabíamos que eran de ICE.
4. En ese momento, creí que mi vida iba a terminar y que no volvería a ver a mis hijos. Soy viudo de 65 años.
5. No pude mantener la calma; Comencé a entrar en pánico y una de mis piernas se entumeció, respiraba con dificultad, pensé que estaba teniendo un ataque al corazón.
6. Uno de los hombres respondió golpeándome en la cabeza con una pistola. Estaba muy asustado y adolorido, pero no me moví ni dije nada por temor a mi vida.
7. Mi hijo les gritó, preguntando por qué me golpeaban, pero nunca respondieron.
8. Después de unos minutos, llegó otro hombre con un sombrero con la palabra "DEA".
9. Solo entonces se identificaron y nos dijeron que eran agentes de la DEA y que estábamos bajo arresto esperando que llegara ICE a recogernos. No nos bajaron del carro ni requisaron, no se todavía por que nos siguieron y nos pararon; nunca nos dijeron. Hasta el día de hoy, no se por que nos arrestaron de esa manera tan inhumana.

10. Mi hijo les dijo que tenía una visa U en proceso y que tenía sus documentos legales y permisos de trabajo, pero lo desestimaron y dijeron que era "basura". Uno de ellos incluso dijo que "todas las ratas como nosotros dicen que tenemos permiso cuando no lo tenemos".

11. Luego nos arrestaron aplicándonos esposas y grilletes tan apretados en las muñecas y los tobillos que nos causaron dolor y lesiones.

12. Me trataron sin ningún respeto ni dignidad durante todo el proceso.

13. Actualmente estoy detenido en el Centro de Procesamiento de Florence y no en el mismo lugar que mi hijo. Estábamos separados.

14. La vida aquí es extremadamente difícil; se siente como estar en el infierno. Soy anciano y tengo muchas afecciones médicas que no están siendo tratadas aquí ahora. Me temo que no saldré vivo de allí porque estoy muy enfermo y un especialista aún no me ha visto. A pesar de muchas solicitudes.

15. Nunca he sido arrestado, ni he cometido un delito. Todavía estoy en estado de shock y me despierto por la noche con ataques de pánico por el incidente. Todavía no entiendo por qué la DEA nos apuntó con un arma como criminales y todo lo que teníamos en el camión eran máquinas de jardinería porque íbamos a trabajar. El daño que me han hecho las autoridades estadounidenses es irreparable y se quedará conmigo para siempre. No puedo deshacer lo que me hicieron.
