FORMAL DECLARATION AND COMPLAINT TO INNOVATION LAW LAB

I, Rogelio Bolufe Izquierdo, registration number  together with the undersigned individuals listed below, respectfully submit this formal complaint and sworn declaration to record the following irregularities occurring within the detention facility, which deny access to a fair defense and violate the fundamental principle of equality before the law.

1. Denial of Access to Legal Representation

Today, despite having placed our names on the attorney consultation list several days in advance, we were not permitted to attend the legal visit.

We were prepared early in the morning and chose not to attend recreation because we were scheduled to meet with our attorneys. However, we were never called.

Initially, we were told the meeting would occur after lunch, and then, at around 2:00 p.m., we were informed that the attorneys had already left.

In my particular case, I urgently needed to collect important translated documents that I had sent for translation last week — documents essential for my final court hearing scheduled for Thursday, November 13. I was counting on having those materials available, and now I will not be able to present them.

2. Lack of Access to the Legal Library

A sign in the legal library reads:

“Available. Make your appointment through the tablet.”

However, this is false. In practice, it is impossible to access the legal library.

Over the past two months, I have submitted approximately 30 requests in the Legal Library and Unit Counselor sections without receiving a single response.

This demonstrates that there is no real or functional access to the legal resources that detainees are supposed to have.

3. Obstacles Faced by Attorneys and Volunteers

Attorneys, volunteers, and members of Innovation Law Lab face constant interference from facility officers during their sessions.

Examples include:

- Officers interrupting legal consultations.

- Officers placing radios at high volume next to where legal meetings take place.
- Excessive and unnecessary searches, inspections, and regulations imposed on legal staff entering the facility.

Later, officers lie to detainees, claiming that “the lawyers did not come today,” even when it is evident that the lawyers are in fact present.

This has repeatedly occurred — even in urgent cases involving detainees about to be deported — where they were denied access to counsel under the false claim that “the attorneys refused to see them.”

4. Deficiencies in Legal Communication

- The legal library on the tablets was nonfunctional for months and only started working a few days ago.
- Detainees are not allowed to access their personal phones, even to retrieve necessary contacts or photos for their defense.
- The available telephone communication is poor quality, expensive, highly regulated, and limited, making it impossible to properly prepare a legal defense.

5. Lack of Access to Pro Bono Attorneys

The list of pro bono attorneys provided by the facility and by the court is false and inoperative; the numbers do not answer or do not exist.

As a result, we have no real possibility of obtaining legal representation.

We therefore respectfully request:

That Innovation Law Lab take official notice of these facts and escalate this complaint to the administration of the detention center or to the appropriate authorities, so that actions are taken to ensure the fundamental right to legal defense and access to legal resources.
