1 I. Introduction and Summary of Argument

2 Petitioner has filed a habeas petition under 28 U.S.C. § 2241. Petitioner is 3 currently in removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a and is charged with 4 inadmissibility under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i), as an alien present in the United 5 States who has not been admitted or paroled, and 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)(A)(i)(I), as an 6 immigrant not in possession of a valid entry document. Accordingly, Petitioner is 7 mandatorily detained in Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody pursuant 8 to 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A).

9 On September 5, 2025, the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) ruled on this 10 issue in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). After detailed 11 analysis, the BIA determined that based on the plain language of section 235(b)(2)(A) 12 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), immigration judges 13 (IJ) lack authority to hear bond requests or to grant bond to noncitizens who are present 14 in the United States without admission. Other district courts have followed the BIA’s 15 approach. See, e.g., Valencia v. Chestnut, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 3205133 (E.D.
16 Cal. Nov. 17, 2025); Alonzo v. Noem, --- F. Supp. 3d ----, 2025 WL 3208284 (E.D. Cal.
17 Nov. 17, 2025); Cabanas v. Bondi, No. 4:25-cv-04830 (S.D. Tex. Nov. 13, 2025); 18 Altamirano Ramos v. Lyons, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 3199872 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 12, 19 2025); Mejia Olalde v. Noem, No. 1:25-cv-00168-JMD (E.D. Mo. Nov. 10, 2025); Silva
20 Oliveira v. Patterson, No. 6:25-cv-01463, 2025 WL 3095972 (W.D. La. Nov. 4, 2025); 21 Barrios Sandoval v. Acuna, No. 6:25-cv-01467, 2025 WL 3048926 (W.D. La. Oct. 31, 22 2025); Cirrus Rojas v. Olson, No. 25-cv-1437-bhl, 2025 WL 3033967 (E.D. Wis. Oct.
23 30, 2025); Vargas Lopez v. Trump, --- F. Supp. 3d ----, 2025 WL 2780351 (D. Neb.
24 Sept. 30, 2025); Chavez v. Noem, --- F. Supp. 3d ----, 2025 WL 2730228 (S.D. Cal.
25 Sept. 24, 2025); Pena v. Hyde, No. 25-11983-NMG, 2025 WL 2108913 (D. Mass. July 26 28, 2025).

27 Based on the arguments below, the Court should deny any requests for relief and 28 dismiss the petition.

II. Statutory Background

A. Individuals Seeking Admission to the United States

For over a century, this country’s immigration laws have authorized immigration officials to charge noncitizens as removable from the country, arrest those subject to removal, and detain them during removal proceedings. See Abel v. United States, 362 U.S. 217, 232–37 (1960). “The rule has been clear for decades: ‘[d]etention during deportation proceedings [i]s ... constitutionally valid.’” Banyee v. Garland, 115 F.4th 928 (8th Cir. 2024) (quoting Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 523 (2003)), rehearing by panel and en banc denied, Banyee v. Bondi, No. 22-2252, 2025 WL 837914 (8th Cir. Mar. 18, 2025); see Carlson v. Landon, 342 U.S. 524, 538 (1952) (“Detention is necessarily a part of this deportation procedure.”); Demore, 538 U.S. at 523 n.7 (“In fact, prior to 1907 there was no provision permitting bail for any aliens during the pendency of their deportation proceedings.”) (emphasis in original). The Supreme Court even recognized that removal proceedings “‘would be [in] vain if those accused could not be held in custody pending the inquiry into their true character.’” Demore, 538 U.S. at 523 (quoting Wong Wing v. United States, 163 U.S. 228, 235 (1896)). Over the century, Congress has enacted a multi-layered statutory scheme for the civil detention of aliens pending a decision on removal, during the administrative and judicial review of removal orders, and in preparation for removal. See generally 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225, 1226, 1231. It is the interplay between these statutes that is at issue here.

B. Detention Under 8 U.S.C. § 1225

“To implement its immigration policy, the Government must be able to decide (1) who may enter the country and (2) who may stay here after entering.” Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 286 (2018). Section 1225 governs inspection, the initial step in this process, id., stating that all “applicants for admission . . . shall be inspected by immigration officers.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(3). The statute—in a provision entitled “ALIENS TREATED AS APPLICANTS FOR ADMISSION”—dictates who “shall be deemed for purposes of this chapter an applicant for admission,” defining that term to

1 encompass both an alien “present in the United States who has not been admitted or 2 [one] who arrives in the United States” Id. § 1225(a)(1) (emphasis added). Section 3 1225(b) governs the inspection procedures applicable to all applicants for admission.
4 They “fall into one of two categories, those covered by § 1225(b)(1) and those covered 5 by § 1225(b)(2).” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287.

6 Section 1225(b)(1) applies to arriving aliens and “certain other” aliens “initially 7 determined to be inadmissible due to fraud, misrepresentation, or lack of valid 8 documentation.” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287; 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (iii). These 9 aliens are generally subject to expedited removal proceedings. See 8 U.S.C. § 10 1225(b)(1)(A)(i). But if the alien “indicates an intention to apply for asylum . . . or a 11 fear of persecution,” immigration officers will refer the alien for a credible fear 12 interview. Id. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(ii). An alien “with a credible fear of persecution” is 13 “detained for further consideration of the application for asylum.” Id.
14 § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii). If the alien does not indicate an intent to apply for asylum, express 15 a fear of persecution, or is “found not to have such a fear,” they are detained until 16 removed from the United States. Id. §§ 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (B)(iii)(IV).

17 Section 1225(b)(2) is “broader” and “serves as a catchall provision.” Jennings, 18 583 U.S. at 287. It “applies to all applicants for admission not covered by § 1225(b)(1).” 19 Id. Under § 1225(b)(2), an alien “who is an applicant for admission” shall be detained 20 for a removal proceeding “if the examining immigration officer determines that [the] 21 alien seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted.” 22 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216, 220 (BIA 23 2025) (“[A]liens who are present in the United States without admission are applicants 24 for admission as defined under section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C.
25 § 1225(b)(2)(A), and must be detained for the duration of their removal proceedings.”); 26 Matter of Q. Li, 29 I&N Dec. 66, 68 (BIA 2025) (“for aliens arriving in and seeking 27 admission into the United States who are placed directly in full removal proceedings, 28 section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), mandates detention ‘until

1 removal proceedings have concluded.”) (citing Jennings, 583 U.S. at 299). However, 2 DHS has the sole discretionary authority to temporarily release on parole “any alien 3 applying for admission to the United States” on a “case-by-case basis for urgent 4 humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit.” Id. § 1182(d)(5)(A); see Biden v.
5 Texas, 597 U.S. 785, 806 (2022).

6 C. Detention Under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)

7 Section 1226 provides for arrest and detention “pending a decision on whether 8 the alien is to be removed from the United States.” 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Under § 1226(a), 9 the government may detain an alien during his removal proceedings, release him on 10 bond, or release him on conditional parole. By regulation, immigration officers can 11 release an alien who demonstrates that he “would not pose a danger to property or 12 persons” and “is likely to appear for any future proceeding.” 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(c)(8). An 13 alien can also request a custody redetermination (i.e., a bond hearing) by an IJ at any 14 time before a final order of removal is issued. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); 8 C.F.R. §§ 15 236.1(d)(1), 1236.1(d)(1), 1003.19.

16 At a custody redetermination, the IJ may continue detention or release the alien 17 on bond or conditional parole. 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); 8 C.F.R. § 1236.1(d)(1). IJs have 18 broad discretion in deciding whether to release an alien on bond. In re Guerra, 24 I&N 19 Dec. 37, 39-40 (BIA 2006) (listing nine factors for IJs to consider). But regardless of 20 the factors IJs consider, an alien “who presents a danger to persons or property should 21 not be released during the pendency of removal proceedings.” Id. at 38.

22 Section 1226(a) does not grant “any right to release on bond.” Matter of D-J-, 23 23 I&N Dec. at 575 (citing Carlson v. Landon, 342 U.S. 524, 534 (1952) (emphasis in 24 original). Nor does it address the applicable burden of proof or particular factors that 25 must be considered. See generally 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Rather, it grants DHS and the 26 Attorney General broad discretionary authority to determine, after arrest, whether to 27 detain or release an alien during his or her removal proceedings. See id. If, after the 28 bond hearing, either party disagrees with the decision of the IJ, that party may appeal

1 the decision to the BIA. See 8 C.F.R. §§ 236.1(d)(3), 1003.19(f), 1003.38, 1236.1(d)(3).

2 Included within the Attorney General and DHS’s discretionary authority are 3 limits on the delegation to the immigration court. Under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2)(i)(B), 4 the IJ does not have authority to redetermine the conditions of custody imposed by DHS 5 for any arriving alien. The regulations also include a provision that allows DHS to 6 invoke an automatic stay of any decision by an IJ to release an individual on bond when 7 DHS files an appeal of the custody redetermination. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) (“The 8 decision whether or not to file [an automatic stay] is subject to the discretion of the 9 Secretary.”).

10 D. Review Before the Board of Immigration Appeals

11 The BIA is an appellate body within the Executive Office for Immigration 12 Review (EOIR) and possesses delegated authority from the Attorney General. 8 C.F.R.
13 §§ 1003.1(a)(1), (d)(1). The BIA is “charged with the review of those administrative 14 adjudications under the [INA] that the Attorney General may by regulation assign to 15 it,” including IJ custody determinations. 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.1(d)(1), 236.1, 1236.1. The 16 BIA not only resolves particular disputes before it, but is also directed to, “through 17 precedent decisions, [] provide clear and uniform guidance to DHS, the immigration 18 judges, and the general public on the proper interpretation and administration of the 19 [INA] and its implementing regulations.” Id. § 1003.1(d)(1). Decisions rendered by the 20 BIA are final, except for those reviewed by the Attorney General. 8 C.F.R. § 21 1003.1(d)(7).

22 If an automatic stay of a custody decision is invoked by DHS, regulations require 23 the BIA to track the progress of the custody appeal “to avoid unnecessary delays in 24 completing the record for decision.” 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(c)(3). The stay lapses in 90 days, 25 unless the detainee seeks an extension of time to brief the custody appeal, 8 C.F.R.
26 § 1003.6(c)(4), or unless DHS seeks, and the BIA grants, a discretionary stay. 8 C.F.R.
27 § 1003.6(c)(5).

28 If the BIA denies DHS’s custody appeal, the automatic stay remains in effect for

1 five business days. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(d). DHS may, during that five-day period, refer 2 the case to the Attorney General under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.1(h)(1) for consideration. Id.
3 Upon referral to the Attorney General, the release is stayed for 15 business days while 4 the case is considered. The Attorney General may extend the stay of release upon 5 motion by DHS. Id.

6 III. Argument

7 A. Claims and Requested Relief Jurisdictionally Barred

8 Petitioner bears the burden of establishing that this Court has subject matter 9 jurisdiction over asserted claims. See Ass'n of Am. Med. Coll. v. United States, 217 F.3d 10 770, 778-79 (9th Cir. 2000); Finley v. United States, 490 U.S. 545, 547-48 (1989).

11 In general, courts lack jurisdiction to review a decision to commence or 12 adjudicate removal proceedings or execute removal orders. See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g) 13 (“[N]o court shall have jurisdiction to hear any cause or claim by or on behalf of any 14 alien arising from the decision or action by the Attorney General to commence 15 proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.”); Reno v. Am.-Arab Anti- 16 Discrimination Comm., 525 U.S. 471, 483 (1999) (“There was good reason for 17 Congress to focus special attention upon, and make special provision for, judicial 18 review of the Attorney General’s discrete acts of ‘commenc[ing] proceedings, 19 adjudicat[ing] cases, [and] execut[ing] removal orders’—which represent the initiation 20 or prosecution of various stages in the deportation process.”); Limpin v. United States, 21 828 Fed. App’x 429 (9th Cir. 2020) (holding district court properly dismissed under 8 22 U.S.C. § 1252(g) “because claims stemming from the decision to arrest and detain an 23 alien at the commencement of removal proceedings are not within any court’s 24 jurisdiction”). In other words, § 1252(g) removes district court jurisdiction over “three 25 discrete actions that the Attorney General may take: her ‘decision or action’ to 26 ‘commence proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.’” Reno, 525 U.S.
27 at 482 (emphasis removed). Congress has explicitly foreclosed district court jurisdiction 28 over claims that necessarily arise “from the decision or action by the Attorney General

1 to commence proceedings [and] adjudicate cases” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

2 Section 1252(g) also bars district courts from hearing challenges to the method 3 by which the government chooses to commence removal proceedings, including the 4 decision to detain an alien pending removal. See Alvarez v. ICE, 818 F.3d 1194, 1203
5 (11th Cir. 2016) (“By its plain terms, [§ 1252(g)] bars us from questioning ICE’s 6 discretionary decisions to commence removal” and bars review of “ICE’s decision to 7 take [plaintiff] into custody and to detain him during his removal proceedings”).

8 Other courts have held, “[f]or the purposes of § 1252, the Attorney General 9 commences proceedings against an alien when the alien is issued a Notice to Appear 10 before an immigration court.” Herrera-Correra v. United States, No. 08-2941 DSF 11 (JCx), 2008 WL 11336833, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2008). “The Attorney General 12 may arrest the alien against whom proceedings are commenced and detain that 13 individual until the conclusion of those proceedings.” Id. at *3. “Thus, an alien’s 14 detention throughout this process arises from the Attorney General’s decision to 15 commence proceedings” and review of claims arising from such detention is barred 16 under § 1252(g). Id. (citing Sissoko v. Rocha, 509 F.3d 947, 949 (9th Cir. 2007)); ang 17 v. United States, No. CV-10-0389 SVW (RCx), 2010 WL 11463156, at *6 (C.D. Cal.
18 Aug. 8, 2018); 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

19 Moreover, under 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9), “[j]udicial review of all questions of law 20 and fact . . . arising from any action taken or proceeding brought to remove an alien 21 from the United States under this subchapter shall be available only in judicial review 22 of a final order under this section.” (emphasis added). Further, judicial review of a final 23 order is available only through “a petition for review filed with an appropriate court of 24 appeals.” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(5). The Supreme Court has made clear that § 1252(b)(9) 25 is “the unmistakable ‘zipper’ clause,” channeling “judicial review of all” “decisions and 26 actions leading up to or consequent upon final orders of deportation,” including “non-27 final order[s],” into proceedings before a court of appeals. Reno, 525 U.S. at 483, 485; 28 see J.E.F.M. v. Lynch, 837 F.3d 1026, 1031 (9th Cir. 2016) (noting § 1252(b)(9) is

1 “breathhtaking in scope and vise-like in grip and therefore swallows up virtually all 2 claims that are tied to removal proceedings”). “Taken together, § 1252(a)(5) and 3 § 1252(b)(9) mean that any issue—whether legal or factual—arising from any removal-4 related activity can be reviewed only through the [petition for review] PFR process.” 5 J.E.F.M., 837 F.3d at 1031 (emphasis in original) (“[W]hile these sections limit how 6 immigrants can challenge their removal proceedings, they are not jurisdiction-stripping 7 statutes that, by their terms, foreclose all judicial review of agency actions. Instead, the 8 provisions channel judicial review over final orders of removal to the courts of appeal.”) 9 (emphasis in original); see id. at 1035 (“§§ 1252(a)(5) and [(b)(9)] channel review of 10 all claims, including policies-and-practices challenges . . . whenever they ‘arise from’ 11 removal proceedings”).

12 Critically, “1252(b)(9) is a judicial channeling provision, not a claim-barring 13 one.” Aguilar v. ICE, 510 F.3d 1, 11 (1st Cir. 2007). Indeed, 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(2)(D) 14 provides that “[n]othing . . . in any other provision of this chapter . . . shall be construed 15 as precluding review of constitutional claims or questions of law raised upon a petition 16 for review filed with an appropriate court of appeals in accordance with this section.” 17 See also Ajlani v. Chertoff, 545 F.3d 229, 235 (2d Cir. 2008) (“[J]urisdiction to review 18 such claims is vested exclusively in the courts of appeals[.]”). The petition-for-review 19 process before the court of appeals ensures that noncitizens have a proper forum for 20 claims arising from their immigration proceedings and “receive their day in court.”
21 J.E.F.M., 837 F.3d at 1031–32 (internal quotations omitted); see also Rosario v. Holder, 22 627 F.3d 58, 61 (2d Cir. 2010) (“The REAL ID Act of 2005 amended the [INA] to 23 obviate . . . Suspension Clause concerns” by permitting judicial review of 24 “nondiscretionary” BIA determinations and “all constitutional claims or questions of 25 law.”). These provisions divest district courts of jurisdiction to review both direct and 26 indirect challenges to removal orders, including decisions to detain for purposes of 27 removal or for proceedings. See Jennings, 583 U.S. at 294–95 (section 1252(b)(9) 28 includes challenges to the “decision to detain [an alien] in the first place or to seek 1 removal”).

2 In evaluating the reach of subsections (a)(5) and (b)(9), the Second Circuit has 3 explained that jurisdiction turns on the substance of the relief sought. Delgado v.
4 Quarantillo, 643 F.3d 52, 55 (2d Cir. 2011). Those provisions divest district courts of 5 jurisdiction to review both direct and indirect challenges to removal orders, including 6 decisions to detain for purposes of removal or for proceedings. See Jennings, 583 U.S.
7 at 294–95 (section 1252(b)(9) includes challenges to the “decision to detain [an alien] 8 in the first place or to seek removal[.]”). Here, Petitioner challenges the government’s 9 decision and action to detain, which arises from DHS’s decision to commence removal 10 proceedings, and is thus an “action taken . . . to remove [him/her] from the United 11 States.” See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9); see also, e.g., Jennings, 583 U.S. at 294–95; Velasco 12 Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 850 (2d Cir. 2020) (finding that 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) did 13 not bar review in that case because the petitioner did not challenge “his initial 14 detention”); Saadulloev v. Garland, No. 3:23-CV-00106, 2024 WL 1076106, at *3 15 (W.D. Pa. Mar. 12, 2024) (recognizing that there is no judicial review of the threshold 16 detention decision, which flows from the government’s decision to “commence 17 proceedings”).

18 Accordingly, this Court lacks jurisdiction over this petition under 8 U.S.C.
19 § 1252.¹ See Acxel S.Q.D.C. v. Bondi, No. 25-3348 (PAM/DLM), 2025 U.S. Dist.
20 LEXIS 175957 (D. Minn. Sept. 9, 2025).

21 ///

22 _____
23 ¹ On an alternative basis, the Court should ensure Petitioner properly exhausts 24 administrative remedies. The Ninth Circuit requires that “habeas petitioners exhaust 25 available judicial and administrative remedies before seeking relief under § 2241.” 26 Castro-Cortez v. INS, 239 F.3d 1037, 1047 (9th Cir. 2001). “When a petitioner does 27 not exhaust administrative remedies, a district court ordinarily should either dismiss the 28 petition without prejudice or stay the proceedings until the petitioner has exhausted remedies, unless exhaustion is excused.” Leonardo v. Crawford, 646 F.3d 1157, 1160 (9th Cir. 2011); see also Alvarado v. Holder, 759 F.3d 1121, 1127 n.5 (9th Cir. 2014)
(issue exhaustion is a jurisdictional requirement); Tijani v. Holder, 628 F.3d 1071, 1080 (9th Cir. 2010) (no jurisdiction to review legal claims not presented in the petitioner’s administrative proceedings before the BIA).

1 B. Petitioner is Lawfully Detained

2 Petitioner’s claims for alleged statutory and constitutional violations fail because 3 Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225.

4 Based on the plain language of the statute, Petitioner’s detention is governed by 5 § 1225. Section 1225(b)(2)(A) requires mandatory detention of “an alien who is an 6 applicant for admission, if the examining immigration officer determines that an alien 7 seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted[.]” Chavez
8 v. Noem, No. 3:25-cv-02325, 2025 WL 2730228, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2025)
9 (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A)) (emphasis in original). Section 1225(a)(1) 10 “expressly defines that ‘[a]n alien present in the United States who has not been 11 admitted ... shall be deemed for purposes of this Act an applicant for admission.’” Id.
12 (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1)) (emphasis in original). Here, Petitioner is an “alien 13 present in the United States who has not been admitted.” Thus, as found by the district 14 court in Chavez v. Noem and as mandated by the plain language of the statute, Petitioner 15 is an “applicant for admission” and subject to the mandatory detention provisions of 16 § 1225(b)(2).

17 When the plain text of a statute is clear, “that meaning is controlling” and courts 18 “need not examine legislative history.” Washington v. Chimei Innolux Corp., 659 F.3d 19 842, 848 (9th Cir. 2011). But to the extent legislative history is relevant here, nothing 20 “refutes the plain language” of § 1225. Suzlon Energy Ltd. v. Microsoft Corp., 671 F.3d 21 726, 730 (9th Cir. 2011). Congress passed the Illegal Immigration Reform and 22 Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA) to correct “an anomaly whereby 23 immigrants who were attempting to lawfully enter the United States were in a worse 24 position than persons who had crossed the border unlawfully.” Torres v. Barr, 976 F.3d 25 918, 928 (9th Cir. 2020) (en banc), declined to extend by, United States v. Gambino-
26 Ruiz, 91 F.4th 981 (9th Cir. 2024); see Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 223-27 34 (citing H.R. Rep. No. 104-469, pt. 1, at 225 (1996)). It “intended to replace certain 28 aspects of the [then] current ‘entry doctrine,’ under which illegal aliens who have

1 entered the United States without inspection gain equities and privileges in immigration 2 proceedings that are not available to aliens who present themselves for inspection at a 3 port of entry.” Id. (quoting H.R. Rep. 104-469, pt. 1, at 225).

4 “The entry fiction doctrine flows from the principle that the ‘power to admit or 5 exclude aliens is a sovereign prerogative,’ and ‘the Constitution gives the political 6 department of the government plenary authority to decide which aliens to admit.”
7 Altamirano Ramos v. Lyons, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 3199872, at *7 (C.D. Cal.
8 Nov. 12, 2025) (quoting Dep’t of Homeland Sec. v. Thuraissigiam, 591 U.S. 103, 139
9 (2020) (quotations omitted)). Such plenary power includes the “power to set procedures 10 to be followed in determining whether an alien should be admitted.” Thuraissigiam, 591 11 U.S. at 139. “The entry fiction doctrine protects that sovereign prerogative, which 12 ‘would be meaningless if it became inoperative as soon as an arriving alien set foot on 13 U.S. soil.” Altamirano Ramos, 2025 WL 3199872, at *7 (quoting Thuraissigiam, 591 14 U.S. at 139). Within this context, the Supreme Court has explained, “[w]hen an alien 15 arrives at a port of entry—for example, an international airport—the alien is on U.S. soil, 16 but the alien is not considered to have entered the country.” Thuraissigiam, 591 U.S. at 17 139. Such is true even in situations where an alien is “paroled elsewhere in the country 18 for years pending removal.” Id. (emphasis added). The Supreme Court has recognized 19 that those individuals are treated “as if stopped at the border.” Id. “The same must be 20 true” of an “applicant for admission” who enters into the United States unlawfully. Id.
21 at 140.

22 A contrary interpretation would put aliens who “crossed the border unlawfully” 23 in a better position than those “who present themselves for inspection at a port of entry.”
24 Id. Aliens who presented at a port of entry would be subject to mandatory detention 25 under § 1225, but those who crossed illegally would be eligible for a bond under § 26 1226(a). See Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 225 (“The House Judiciary 27 Committee Report makes clear that Congress intended to eliminate the prior statutory 28 scheme that provided aliens who entered the United States without inspection more

1 procedural and substantive rights than those who presented themselves to authorities 2 for inspection.”). The Court should ““refuse to interpret the INA in a way that would in 3 effect repeal that statutory fix’ intended by Congress in enacting the IIRIRA.” Chavez, 4 2025 WL 2730228, at *4 (quoting Gambino-Ruiz, 91 F.4th at 990).

5 The plain language of § 1225(b)(2) does not contradict nor render § 1226(a) 6 superfluous. Section 1226(a) provides the detention authority for the significant group 7 of aliens who are not “applicants for admission” subject to § 1225(b)(2)(A)— 8 specifically, aliens who have been admitted to the United States but are now removable.
9 RadLAX Gateway Hotel, LLC v. Amalgamated Bank, 566 U.S. 639, 645 (2012) (“the 10 specific governs the general”). For example, the detention of any of the millions of 11 aliens who have overstayed their visas are governed by § 1226(a), because those aliens 12 (unlike Petitioner) were lawfully admitted to the United States.

13 Moreover, in Chavez v. Noem, the district court noted that § 1226(a) ““generally 14 governs the process of arresting and detaining’ certain aliens, namely ‘aliens who were 15 inadmissible at the time of entry or who have been convicted of certain criminal offenses 16 since admission.”” Chavez, 2025 WL 2730228, at *5 (quoting Jennings, 583 U.S. at 17 288) (emphasis in original). In turn, individuals who have not been charged with 18 specific crimes listed in § 1226(c) are still subject to the discretionary detention 19 provisions of § 1226(a) as determined by the Attorney General. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) 20 (“On a warrant issued by the Attorney General, an alien may be arrested and detained 21 pending a decision on whether the alien is to be removed from the United States.”) 22 (emphasis added). Therefore, heeding the plain language of § 1225(b)(2) has no effect 23 on § 1226(a). Similarly, the application of § 1225’s explicit definition of “applicants for 24 admission” does not render the addition of § 1226(c) by the Riley Laken Act 25 superfluous. Once again correctly determined by the district court in Chavez v. Noem, 26 the addition of § 1226(c) simply removed the Attorney General’s detention discretion 27 for aliens charged with specific crimes. 2025 WL 2730228, at *5.

28 One of the most basic interpretative canons instructs that a “statute should be

1 construed so that effect is given to all its provisions.” See Corley v. United States, 556
2 U.S. 303, 314 (2009) (cleaned up). If Congress did not want § 1225(b)(2)(A) to apply 3 to “applicants for admission,” then it would not have included the phrase “applicants 4 for admission” in the subsection. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see also Corley, 556 5 U.S. at 314.

6 Finally, the phrase “alien seeking admission” does not limit the scope of 7 § 1225(b)(2)(A). The BIA has long recognized that “many people who are not actually 8 requesting permission to enter the United States in the ordinary sense are nevertheless 9 deemed to be ‘seeking admission’ under the immigration laws.” Matter of Lemus-Losa, 10 25 I&N Dec. 734, 743 (BIA 2012) (emphasis in original). Statutory language “is known 11 by the company it keeps.” Marquez-Reyes v. Garland, 36 F.4th 1195, 1202 (9th Cir.
12 2022) (quoting McDonnell v. United States, 579 U.S. 550, 569 (2016)). The phrase 13 “seeking admission” in § 1225(b)(2)(A) must be read in the context of the definition of 14 “applicant for admission” in § 1225(a)(1). Applicants for admission are both those 15 individuals present without admission and those who arrive in the United States. See 8 16 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1). Both are understood to be “seeking admission” under § 1225(a)(1).
17 See Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 221; Lemus-Losa, 25 I&N Dec. at 743.
18 Congress made that clear in § 1225(a)(3), which requires all aliens “who are applicants 19 for admission or otherwise seeking admission” to be inspected by immigration officers.
20 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(3). The word “or” here “introduce[s] an appositive—a word or 21 phrase that is synonymous with what precedes it (‘Vienna or Wien,’ ‘Batman or the 22 Caped Crusader’).” United States v. Woods, 571 U.S. 31, 45 (2013). Further, 23 § 1225(a)(5) provides that “[a]n applicant for admission may be required to state under 24 oath any information sought by an immigration officer regarding the purposes and 25 intentions of the applicant in seeking admission to the United States.” The reasonable 26 import of this particular phrasing is that one who is an applicant for admission is 27 considered to be “seeking admission” under the statute.

28 Because Petitioner is properly detained under § 1225, Petitioner cannot show

1 entitlement to relief.

2 Respondents acknowledge that courts in this district have recently rejected 3 similar arguments in other similar habeas matters. Respondents maintain that Petitioner 4 is properly subject to mandatory detention under § 1225 and dismissal is proper. To the 5 extent the Court finds this Petitioner subject to detention authority under 8 U.S.C.
6 § 1226(a), Respondents' position is that the proper remedy would be directing a bond 7 hearing under § 1226(a), to be held within fourteen (14) days. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) 8 ("No court may set aside any action or decision by the Attorney General under this 9 section regarding the detention or release of any alien or the grant, revocation, or denial 10 of bond or parole."); Jennings, 583 U.S. at 295 ("As we have previously explained, 11 § 1226(e) precludes an alien from 'challeng[ing] a "discretionary judgment" by the 12 Attorney General or a "decision" that the Attorney General has made regarding his 13 detention or release.' But § 1226(e) does not preclude 'challenges [to] the statutory 14 framework that permits [the alien's] detention without bail.');" 8 U.S.C. § 1226(b) 15 ("The Attorney General at any time may revoke a bond or parole authorized under 16 subsection (a), rearrest the alien under the original warrant, and detain the alien.").

17 C. Petitioner's Conditional Parole was Lawfully Revoked

18 The Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) governs the detention and release of 19 noncitizens during and following their removal proceedings. See Johnson v. Guzman
20 Chavez, 594 U.S. 523, 527 (2021). Under the INA, ICE may choose to release a person 21 on parole. The decision is discretionary and is made on a case-by-case basis.
22 An immigrant who has been detained at the border, may be paroled for humanitarian 23 reasons or due to it providing a significant public benefit (8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A)) 24 or he may be conditionally released (8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)). These are distinct procedures.
25 A person on conditional parole is usually released on their own recognizance subject to 26 certain conditions such as reporting requirements. To be released on conditional parole, 27 there must be a finding by ICE that the immigrant does not pose a risk of flight or danger

28

1 to the community. See Ortega-Cervantes v. Gonzalez, 501 F.3d 1111, 1115 (9th Cir.
2 2007).

3 ICE has statutory and regulatory authority to revoke its parole decisions and 4 initiate removal proceedings. No immigration court or hearing is required for revocation 5 under that authority. Parole decisions may be made for broad and practical reasons 6 related to public benefit, as well as for humanitarian reasons—i.e., while ICE’s decision 7 incorporates flight risk and danger assessment, it is not limited to those criteria. ICE’s 8 discretionary decisions concerning detention and release are, in this respect, distinct 9 from an immigration court bond hearing.

10 By statute, the authority to grant and revoke this parole is vested in the Secretary 11 of Homeland Security, who may delegate it. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) (“No court may set 12 aside any action or decision by the Attorney General under this section regarding the 13 detention or any alien or the revocation or denial of bond or parole.”); Jennings v. 583 14 U.S. at 295 (“As we have previously explained, § 1226(e) precludes an alien from 15 ‘challeng[ing] a “discretionary judgment” by the Attorney General or a “decision” that 16 the Attorney General has made regarding his detention or release.’ But § 1226(e) does 17 not preclude ‘challenges [to] the statutory framework that permits [the alien’s] detention 18 without bail.’”); 8 U.S.C. § 1226(b) (“The Attorney General at any time may revoke a 19 bond or parole authorized under subsection (a), rearrest the alien under the original 20 warrant, and detain the alien.”).

21 Regulations for such revocation exist, but they grant broad authority to make the 22 decision to revoke release decisions. “While the regulation provides the detainee some 23 opportunity to respond to the reasons for revocation, it provides no other procedural and 24 no meaningful substantive limit on this exercise of discretion as it allows revocation 25 ‘when, in the opinion of the revoking official ... [t]he purposes of release have been 26 served ... [or] [t]he conduct of the alien, or any other circumstance, indicates that release 27 would no longer be appropriate.” Rodriguez v. Hayes, 578 F.3d 1032, 1044 (9th Cir.

1 2009), opinion amended and superseded, 591 F.3d 1105 (9th Cir. 2010), citing §§ 2 241.4(l)(2)(i), (iv) (emphasis in original).

3 The statute does not provide that ICE is prohibited from revoking parole once 4 granted. And while some courts have recognized due process limitations on the 5 authority of the government to revoke parole depending on the facts of the case, to imply 6 into existence a broad bar on any release revocation by ICE—assigning that authority 7 instead strictly to immigration courts—is inconsistent with the statutory scheme.
8 Finally, countermanding ICE’s discretionary parole authority by requiring mandatory 9 immigration court proceedings would strip ICE of the ability to make such parole 10 decisions for broader reasons. Such an implied negation of ICE’s discretionary authority 11 would impair ICE’s ability to grant conditional parole in the first place, which damages 12 the immigration law system.

13 IV. Conclusion

14 For the foregoing reasons, Respondents respectfully request that the Court 15 dismiss this action.
