Case No. 25-509

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

1 PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 1. Petitioner Valentin Garfias Garfias brings this petition for a writ of habeas corpus
4 to seek enforcement of their rights as members of the Bond Denial Class certified in Maldonado
5 Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM (C.D. Cal.) Petitioner is in the physical 6 custody of Respondents at the Stewart Detention Center and now faces unlawful detention as the 7 Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the Executive Office for Immigration Review
8 (EOIR) have refused to abide by the declaratory judgment issued on behalf of the certified class
9 in Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz.

10 2. Petitioner is Valentin Garfias Garfias. He is not subject to a removal order.
11 He is from Mexico. He entered the United States in the year 2006 without inspection. He 12 has had a Form 42B Application for Cancellation of Removal pending since 2017, which 13 has not yet been adjudicated. Petitioner was previously taken into immigration custody and 14 previously received a bond out of immigration custody. In May 2025, ICE required
15 Petitioner to wear an ankle monitor at an ICE check-in. On December 9, 2025, Petitioner
16 was arrested and subsequently taken to Stewart Detention Center where he currently is 17 detained. Petitioner has not yet applied for a bond as doing so would be futile.

18 3. Respondents acted arbitrarily and capriciously in revoking the bond that 19 Respondent was previously granted. Respondents violates the INA, Due Process Clause, Eighth
20 Amendment prohibition on excessive bail or cruel and unusual punishment, and a federal class
21 action lawsuit by continuing to detain Petitioner while depriving the Petitioner of his right to 22 request bond under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

1 4. On November 20, 2025, the district court granted partial summary judgment on 2 behalf of individual plaintiffs and on November 25, 2025, certified a nationwide class and
3 extended declaratory judgment to the certified class. Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-
4 CV-01873-SSS-BFM, --- F. Supp. 3d ----, 2025 WL 3289861, at *11 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 20, 2025)
5 (order granting partial summary judgment to Plaintiffs-Petitioners); Maldonado Bautista v.
6 Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM, --- F. Supp. 3d ----, 2025 WL 3288403, at *9 (C.D.
7 Cal. Nov. 25, 2025) (order certifying Plaintiffs-Petitioners' proposed nationwide Bond Eligible
8 Class, incorporating and extending declaratory judgment from Order Granting Petitioners'
9 Motion for Partial Summary Judgment).

10 5. The declaratory judgment held that the Bond Denial Class members are detained 11 under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a), and thus may not be denied consideration for release on bond under § 12 1225(b)(2)(A). Maldonado Bautista, 2025 WL 3289861, at *11.

13 6. Nonetheless, the Executive Office for Immigration Review and its subagency the 14 Immigration Court and the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) have blatantly refused to 15 abide by the declaratory relief and have unlawfully ordered that Petitioner be denied the 16 opportunity to be released on bond under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) under an erroneous interpretation
17 that Petitioner is encompassed within the 'mandatory detention' provision of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b).

18 7. Petitioner is a member of the Bond Eligible Class, as he:

- 19 a. does not have lawful status in the United States and is currently detained at the 20 Stewart Detention Center. He was apprehended by immigration authorities on December 9, 2025;
- 21 b. entered the United States without inspection over twenty-one years ago and was not apprehended upon arrival, cf. id.; and
- 22 c. is not detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c), § 1225(b)(1), or § 1231.
- 23
- 24

1 8. After apprehending Petitioner, DHS placed him/her in removal proceedings
2 pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1229a. DHS has charged Petitioner as being inadmissible under 8 U.S.C.
3 § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i) as someone who entered the United States without inspection, and as
4 inadmissible under and 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)(A)(i)(I) as someone who entered the United States
5 without proper admission documents.

6 9. The Court should expeditiously grant this petition.

7 10. Respondents are bound by the judgment in Maldonado Bautista, as it has the full
8 “force and effect of a final judgment.” 28 U.S.C. § 2201(a). Nevertheless, Respondents continue 9 to flagrantly defy the judgment in that case and continue to subject Petitioner to unlawful 10 detention despite his clear entitlement to consideration for release on bond as a Bond Eligible
11 Class member.

12 11. Immigration judges have informed class members in bond hearings that they have 13 been instructed by “leadership” that the declaratory judgment in Maldonado Bautista is not 14 controlling, even with respect to class members, and that instead IJs remain bound to follow the 15 agency’s prior decision in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025).

16 12. Because Respondents are detaining Petitioner in violation of the declaratory
17 judgment issued in Maldonado Bautista, the Court should accordingly order that within one day, 18 Respondent DHS must release Petitioner.

19 13. Alternatively, the Court should order Petitioner’s release unless Respondents
20 provide a bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) within seven days.

21 II. JURISDICTION

22 14. Petitioner is in the physical custody of Respondents. Petitioner is detained at the 23 Stewart Detention Center in the city of Lumpkin, Georgia.

1 15. This Court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 2241(c)(5) (habeas corpus), 28
2 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question), and Article I, section 9, clause 2 of the United States
3 Constitution (the Suspension Clause).

4 16. This Court may grant relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241, the Declaratory
5 Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2201 et seq., and the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651.

6 III. VENUE

7 17. Pursuant to Braden v. 30th Judicial Circuit Court of Kentucky, 410 U.S. 484, 493-
8 500 (1973), venue lies in the United States District Court for the Middle District of Georgia, the 9 judicial district in which Petitioner currently is detained.

10 18. Venue is also properly in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e) because 11 Respondents are employees, officers, and agencies of the United States, and because a 12 substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claims occurred in the Middle 13 District of Georgia.

14 19. If venue is proper at the time of filing, the district court ordinarily retains 15 jurisdiction even if Petitioner is transferred to another district. Ex Parte Endo, 323 U.S. 283, 304-
16 305 (1944).

17 IV. REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 2243

18 20. Petitioner is presently kept in immigration detention and is therefore “in custody”
19 of Respondents by and through their various agents. Carafas v. LaVallee, 391 U.S. 234, 237-38
20 (1968) (“... the ‘in custody’ determination is made at the time the habeas petition is filed.”);
21 Spencer v. Kemna, 523 U.S. 1, 7 (1998) (Same); Rumsfeld v. Padilla, 542 U.S. 426, 437 (2004)
22 (“[O]ur understanding of custody has broadened to include restraints short of physical 23 confinement.”).

1 31. Under the doctrine of exhaustion of remedies, a petitioner must generally
2 ‘exhaust’ all administrative remedies before seeking relief in federal court. Thompson v. United
3 States Marine Corp, D.C. Docket No. 09-80312-CV-KLR (unpublished). Exhaustion is a
4 prudential requirement rather than jurisdictional. Hull v. IRS, No. 10-1410, 2011 WL 3835402
5 (10th Cir. Aug. 31, 2011); see also William Funk, Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies – New 6 Dimensions Since Darby, 18 Pace Environmental Law Review (2000) (Tracing the doctrine out 7 of common law and federal equity jurisdiction).

8 32. When Congress imposes an exhaustion remedy by statute, exhaustion is generally 9 required. Coit Indep. Jt. Venture v. FSLIC, 489 U.S. 561, at 579 (1989) (citing Weinberger v.
10 Salfi, 422 U.S. 749, 766 (1975); Myers v. Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp., 303 U.S. 41, 50-51
11 (1938). If exhaustion is not explicit in a statute, then “courts are guided by congressional intent in 12 determining whether application of the doctrine would be consistent with the statutory scheme.
13 Coit, supra (citing Patsy v. Florida Board of Regents, 457 U.S. 496, 502 (1982)).

14 33. The INA does have an exhaustion provision, which only applies in the context of 15 “final orders of removal.” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(d)(1) (“A court may review a final order of removal
16 only if the alien has exhausted all administrative remedies ...”). This exhaustion provision is not 17 jurisdictional. Santos-Zacaria v. Garland, 498 U.S. ____ (2023).

18 34. Petitioner is not subject to a final order of removal (or any order of removal); so,
19 § 1252(d)(1) is inapplicable. So, the INA does not impose an explicit exhaustion requirement
20 that can apply here. Nor can § 1252(d)(1) be read to implicitly impose an exhaustion
21 requirement. The Court need not engage in statutory interpretation as “[w]here statutory 22 language is plain and unambiguous, courts give effect to the statute as written without engaging 23 in statutory construction.” In re Adoption of Doe, 156 Idaho 345, 349.

1 35. Even if this Court found § 1252(d)(1) to be ambiguous, which it is not, plain text
2 interpretation reveals § 1252(d)(1) does not impose an applicable exhaustion requirement. See
3 Antonin Scalia & Bryan A. Gardner, Reading Law: The Interpretation of Legal Texts (1st Ed.
4 2012) (The “Supremacy of the Text Principle” (The words of a governing text are of paramount
5 concern, and what they convey, in their context, is what the text means), “Omitted Case Canon”
6 (casus omissus pro omisso habendus est – nothing is to be added to what the text state or 7 reasonably implies), “Negative Implication Canon” (expression unius est exclusion alterius – the 8 expression of one thing implies the exclusion of alternatives), and the “Whole Text Canon” (The 9 text must be construed as a whole) each demonstrate Congress did not impose an exhaustion 10 requirement – either expressly or by implication. See also A Dozen Canons of Statutory and 11 Constitutional Text Construction, Judicature.duke.edu Articles, available at 12 [https://judicature.duke.edu/articles/a-dozen-canons-of-statutory-and-constitutional-text-
14 construction/](https://judicature.duke.edu/articles/a-dozen-canons-of-statutory-and-constitutional-text-13 construction/)).

14 36. Even if the doctrine of exhaustion did apply, Petitioner satisfies several 15 exceptions to it. Exhaustion is excused if:

- 16 (1) Requiring exhaustion of administrative remedies causes prejudice, due to 17 unreasonable delay or an ‘indefinite timeframe for administrative action’;
- 18 (2) The agency lacks the ability or competence to resolve the issue or grant the 19 relief requested;
- (3) Appealing through the administrative process would be futile because the agency is biased or has predetermined the issue; or
- (4) where substantial constitutional questions are raised.

Iddir v. INS, 301 F.3d 492, 500 (7th circuit case citing McCarthy v. Madigan, 503 U.S.
20 140, 146-48 (1992); Bowen v. City of New York, 476 U.S. 467, 483 (1986); Mathews v.
Diaz, 426 U.S. 67, 76 (1976); Gibson v. Berryhill, 411 U.S. 564, 575 (1973); Houghton v.
21 Shafer, 392 U.S. 639, 640 (1968); McNeese v. Board of Educ., 373 U.S. 668, 675 (1963)).

22 37. Here, exhaustion would be futile. Immigration judges continue to rely on a 23 September 5, 2025 BIA decision, Yajure-Hurtado, which holds “Based on the plain 24

1 language of [...] 8 U.S.C. § 1225(B)(2)(A) (2018), Immigration Judges lack authority to 2 hear bond requests or grant bond to aliens who are present in the United States without 3 admission. Matter of Yajure-Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). BIA therefore 4 asserts that all “applicants for admission”, a class that encompasses more than fourteen
5 million people¹, are detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) and therefore subject to 6 “mandatory detention” and ineligible for release on bond. This interpretation is wrong. It
7 defies due process, plain text interpretation of the INA, common sense, and at least one 8 federal court order discussed more thoroughly below. See Lazaro Maldonado Bautista v.
9 Ernesto Santacruz Jr, 5:25-cv-01873, (C.D. Cal.) (A declaratory judgment binds the 10 immigration courts and expressly forbids the interpretation of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)
11 advanced by BIA in Yajure-Hurtado). Immigration judges continue to make this 12 interpretation in apparent reliance on the orders of executive branch supervisors as to the 13 supposed inapplicability of the Maldonado-Baustista class action, or misguided
14 interpretation of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b), § 1226(a), and the general tenor of the due process
15 clause and its historical foundations.

1 required to exhaust where "any such application [would have been] utterly futile since the 2 county board of equalization was powerless to grant any appropriate relief" in face of 3 prior controlling court decision – here, similarly, BIA has expressly demonstrated its 4 belief that IJs lack jurisdiction to grant a bond to the Petitioner); Houghton v. Shafer,
5 392 U. S. 639, 640 (1968); Association of National Advertisers, Inc. v. FTC, 201 U. S.
6 App. D. C. 165, 170-171, 627 F.2d 1151, 1156-1157 (1979) (bias of Federal Trade
7 Commission chairman), cert. denied, 447 U. S. 921 (1980); Patsy v. Florida
8 International University, 634 F.2d 900, 912-913 (CA5 1981) (en banc) (administrative 9 procedures must "not be used to harass or otherwise discourage those with legitimate 10 claims"), rev'd on other grounds sub nom. Patsy v. Board of Regents of Florida, 457 U. S.
11 496 (1982)).

12 39. Immigration judges make this erroneous interpretation of the INA in apparent
13 reliance on the orders of supervisors as to the supposed inapplicability of Maldonado-Bautista, 14 or on various misguided interpretations of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) and § 1226(a), and a failure to 15 account for the general tenor of the due process clause and its historical roots. Immigration
16 judges continue to treat Yajure-Hurtado as binding, while treating the federal class action
17 Maldonado-Bautista as if it is not. This flips Loper-Bright on its head. Loper-Bright Enterprises 18 v. Raimondo, 603 US ____ (2024) (Overturning the Chevron doctrine, Chevron U.S.A. Inc. v.
19 NRDC, 467 U.S. 837 (1984), and providing that agency interpretations of ambiguous statutory 20 provisions are not entitled to deference).

21 40. DHS has classified Petition as an applicant for admission in a Form I-862 Notice
22 to Appear issued against him. Therefore, requesting bond in immigration court would be futile, 23

1 as the immigration court is highly likely to deny it and erroneously apply 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) to 2 him.

3 41. Dozens of federal district courts, in addition to Maldonado-Bautista, have 4 concluded 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) does generally govern the detention of an applicant for admission,
5 and that 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) does not. For twenty-eight such decisions outside the eleventh
6 circuit, see footnote 3.² Within the eleventh circuit, see also J.A.M. v. Streeval, No. 4:25-CV-342

7 ² For twenty-eight district court decisions favorable to the Petitioner's position that 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) governs the 8 Petitioner's detention (each from outside the 11th circuit), see the following set of cases.

9 First Circuit:

- 10 • Sampiao v. Hyde, 2025 WL 2607924 (D. Mass. Sept. 9, 2025) (Noting disagreement with BIA analysis in Yajure-Hurtado);
- 11 • Jimenez v. FCI Berlin, Warden, No. 25-cv-326-LM-AJ (D.N.H. Sept. 8, 2025) (Ruling the Petitioner was entitled to a bail hearing);
- 12 • Doe v. Moniz, 2025 WL 2576819 (D. Mass. Sept. 5, 2025) (Ordering a bond hearing and ruling that detaining an individual solely on the basis of his prior arrest violates due process);
- 13 • Romero v. Hyde, 2025 WL 2403827 (D. Mass. Aug. 19, 2025) (Ordering that Petitioner receive a bond hearing governed by section 1226 rather than 1225(b));
- 14 • Martinez v. Hyde, 2025 WL 2084238 (D. Mass. July 24, 2025) (Court found detention unlawful and ordered his release, denying the Government's motion for reconsideration);
- 15 • dos Santos v. Noem, 2025 WL 2370988 (D. Mass. Aug. 14, 2025) (Ordering ICE to release the Petitioner within 48 hours); Gomes v. Hyde, 2025 WL 1869299 (D. Mass. July 7, 2025) ("The government's interpretation contravenes the plain text of Section 1226(a) and would render superfluous Section 1226(c)...");

16 Second Circuit:

- 17 • Lopez Benitez v. Francis, 2025 WL 2371588 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 13, 2025) (Granting the Petition, where ICE agents "violently detained" Petitioner as he left a scheduled immigration court appearance in Manhattan "in violation of the Due Process Clause and the Fourth Amendment.");
- 18 • Samb v. Joyce, 2025 WL 2398831 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 19, 2025) (Granting petition for the writ of habeas corpus);

19 Fourth Circuit:

- 20 • Leal-Hernandez v. Noem, 2025 WL 2430025 (D. Md. Aug. 24, 2025) (Respondents arrested Petitioner while he was on his way to work, took him into custody, Petitioner was then granted a bond by an immigration judge who concluded § 1226(a) governed, Respondents refused to accept payment of the bond, the government invoked a regulatory stay pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) to continue detaining the Petitioner as his favorable bond decision was on appeal before the BIA, the Court grants the petition for the writ);

21 Fifth Circuit:

- 22 • Kostak v. Trump, 2025 WL 2472136 (W.D. La. Aug. 27, 2025) (Court finds (1) habeas jurisdiction encompasses a challenge to the statutory authority by which Respondent contends her detention without bond unlawful, (2) Court did not find persuasive Respondents argument that Petitioner failed to exhaust administrative remedies "because this Court is the proper form in which Petitioner can bring her ... constitutional claims." (3) Court grants Temporary Restraining Order concluding Petitioner is likely to succeed on the merits in showing mandatory detention under § 1225 "was erroneous" and that "she is entitled to a bond hearing under section 1226(a).");

23 Sixth Circuit:

- 24 • Pizarro Reyes v. Raycraft, 2025 WL 2609425 (E.D. Mich. Sept. 9, 2025) (disagreeing with BIA's analysis in Yajure Hurtado);

1 (CDL), 2025 WL 3050094 (M.D. Ga. Nov. 1, 2025) (Granting habeas relief in a consolidated
2 case with similar facts, ordering bond hearings under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)).

3 VII. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

4 42. Noncitizens in immigration proceedings are entitled to protections under the Fifth
5 Amendment Due Process clause. Reno v. Flores, 507 U.S. 292, 306 (1993). Immigration 6 detention should not be used as a punishment and should only be used when, under an 7 individualized determination, a noncitizen is a flight risk because they are unlikely to appear for 8 court or is a danger to the community. Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690 (2001).

9 43. At issue is the lawfulness of Petitioner’s detention without bond. Petitioner
10 anticipates the primary legal dispute in this case involves a question of statutory interpretation
11 regarding what provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) governs his detention.
12 Petitioner argues 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) governs the detention and therefore that Petitioner may 13 apply for and receive bond under a discretionary framework. More than twenty-eight federal 14 district courts agree with Petitioner’s position that 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) governs and § 1225(B)

- 15 • Lopez-Campos v. Raycraft, 2025 WL 2496379 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 29, 2025) (Granting writ, finding 16 detention without a bond hearing is unlawful, a violation of Petitioner’s due process rights, and ordering his 17 immediate release – or alternatively – a bond hearing within seven (7) days);

18 Eighth Circuit:

- 19 • Carmona-Lorenzo v. Trump, 2025 WL 2531521 (D. Neb. Sept. 3, 2025) (Ordering release on bond);
- 20 • Cortes Fernandez v. Lyons, 2025 WL 2531539 (D. Neb. Sept. 3, 2025) (Court finds “the government is 21 unlawfully detaining Petition in violation of his Due Process rights by invoking a unilateral automatic stay
22 of the bond duly appointed by” an immigration judge, and “orders Respondents to immediately release
23 Petitioner.”);
- Palma Perez v. Berg, 2025 WL 2531566 (D. Neb. Sept 3, 2025) (Same as Cortes Fernandez, supra);
- O.E. v. Bondi, 2025 WL 2466670 (D. Minn. Aug. 27, 2025) (Court concludes § 1226’s discretionary 24 detention scheme applies);
- Jacinto v. Trump, 2025 WL 2402271 (D. Neb. Aug. 19, 2025) (Judge ruled the Petitioner was being held unlawfully and ordered her released on bond);
- Maldonado v. Olson, 2025 WL 2374411 (D. Minn. Aug. 15, 2025) (Granting Preliminary Injunction favoring Petitioner);
- Garcia Jimenez v. Kramer, 2025 WL 2374223 (D. Neb. Aug. 14, 2025) (Judgment favoring Petitioner);

Ninth Circuit:

- Cuevas Guzman v. Andrews, 2025 WL 2617256, at *3 n.4 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 9, 2025) (distinguishing Yajure Hurtado);
- Caicedo Hinestroza v. Kaiser, 2025 WL 2606983 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 9, 2025) (Granting TRO ordering Respondents to immediately release Petitioners from custody, enjoining re-detention without a pre-detention hearing before a neutral decisionmaker, and, inter alia, enjoining Respondents from transferring Petitioners out of custody without the Court’s prior approval);

1 does not. See Footnote 3, above. 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) cannot be properly read to apply to 2 Petitioner’s detention. Petitioner is being deprived of his right to request or receive bond based 3 on improper, ultra vires application of § 1225(b).

4 44. Agency interpretations of ambiguous statutory provisions are not entitled to 5 deference. Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo, 602 U.S. 574 (2024) (Overruling Chevron
6 U.S.A. Inc. v. Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 467 U.S. 837 (1984), noting agency
7 interpretations are entitled to “respect” only to the extent those interpretations have the power to 8 persuade (citing Skidmore v. Swift & Co., 323 U.S. 134 (1944)). Therefore, this Court is not 9 bound by Yajure-Hurtado, supra.

10 VIII. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

11 COUNT ONE: Request for Relief Pursuant to Maldonado Bautista

12 45. Petitioner repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each allegation in the 13 preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

14 46. As a member of the Bond Eligible Class, Petitioner is entitled to consideration for 15 release on bond under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

16 47. The order granting partial summary judgment in Maldonado Bautista holds that 17 Respondents violate the INA in applying the mandatory detention statute at § 1225(b)(2) to class 18 members.

19 48. The order granting class certification in Maldonado Bautista further orders that 20 “[w]hen considering this determination with the MSJ Order, the Court extends the same 21 declaratory relief granted to Petitioners to the Bond Eligible Class as a whole.”

22 49. Respondents are parties to Maldonado Bautista and bound by the Court’s
23 declaratory judgment, which has the full “force and effect of a final judgment.” 28 U.S.C.
24 § 2201(a).

50. By denying Petitioner a bond hearing under § 1226(a) and asserting that he is subject to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2), Respondents violate Petitioner’s statutory rights under the INA and the Court’s judgment in Maldonado Bautista.

1 COUNT TWO: Violation of Fifth Amendment Due Process

2 51. Respondents are unlawfully detaining the Petitioner by depriving him of a bond
3 hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) and erroneously considering him to be bound by 8 U.S.C. §
4 1225(b). “Freedom from imprisonment-from government custody, detention, or other forms of 5 physical restraint- lies at the heart of the liberty that Clause protects.” Zadvydas.

6 52. Notwithstanding applicability of Maldonado-Bautista, Petitioner remains eligible
7 for habeas relief because his detention violates the due process clause. U.S. Const. Amend. V.
8 The Due Process Clause entitles aliens to due process in deportation proceedings. Reno v. Flores, 9 507 U.S. 292, 306 (1993); Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510 (2003); Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S.
10 678 (2001); see also Jackson v. Indiana, 406 U.S. 715, 738 (1972) (Criminal law case in which 11 the Supreme Court noted in dicta that “At the least, due process requires that the nature and 12 duration of commitment bear some reasonable relation to the purpose for which the individual is 13 committed.”)

14 53. “[I]mpermissible punishment before trial” violates substantive due process
15 protections. United States v. Salerno, 481 U.S. 739, 746 (1987).). In Salerno, the Court
16 analyzed whether the Bail Reform Act of 1984 complied with the requirements of Fifth 17 Amendment due process. Justice Rehnquist writing for the majority held the Bail Reform Act of 18 1984 did not violate the substantive due process clause, reasoning: “[p]reventing danger to the 19 community is a legitimate regulatory goal and the incidents of detention are not excessive in 20 relation to that goal, since the Act carefully limits the circumstances under which detention 21 may be sought to the most serious of crimes, the arrestee is entitled to a prompt hearing, the 22 maximum length of detention is limited by the Speedy Trial Act, and detainees must be 23 housed apart from convicts. Thus, the Act constitutes a permissible regulation, rather than 24 impermissible punishment.” (emphasis added).

1 54. Unlike Salerno, the interpretation of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) Respondent's and BIA in 2 Yajure-Hurtado put forward does not "carefully limit" the circumstances of detention -- it does 3 the polar opposite and transmutes a narrow exception into a general rule to the utter disregard of 4 the manner in which this transmutation renders 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) superfluous along with 5 other broad swathes of the INA. Nor does it afford Petitioner or those like him a "prompt 6 hearing" - it does the polar opposite, and claims authority to strip away Petitioner's right to 7 request a bond hearing or receive bond. Nor does it describe any limits whatsoever as to how 8 long people like Petitioner may continue to be detained. Salerno therefore shows application of 9 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) is "impermissible punishment before trial" demonstrating the 10 unconstitutionality of such interpretation.

11 COUNT THREE: Violation of the Eighth Amendment

12 55. The Eighth Amendment provides "Excessive bail shall not be required, nor 13 excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted." U.S. Const. Amend. VIII.

14 56. By denying Petitioner the right to any amount of bail and erroneously applying 8
15 U.S.C. § 1225(b) to him, Respondents violate the Eighth Amendment.

16 57. Respondents also violate the Eighth Amendment because the detention is an 17 "impermissible punishment before trial." Salerno, discussed above.

18 58. Courts have found deportation to not be a "punishment" for a crime. Wong Wing
19 v. United States, 163 U.S. 228, 236 (1896) (Citing Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698, 20 730 (1893) Elia v. Gonzales, 431 F.3d 268, 276 (6th Cir. 2005); Briseno v. Immigr. &
21 Naturalization Serv., 192 F.3d 1320, 1323 (9th Cir. 1999); Oliver v. U.S. Dep't of Just., Immigr.
22 & Naturalization Serv., 517 F.2d 426, 428 (2d Cir. 1975) (despite its "severe ... consequences,"
23 deportation is not a criminal punishment) (Quoting Harisiades v. Shaughnessy, 342 U.S. 580, 24

1 594 (1952)). From this premise, Courts have sometimes noted in dicta that Immigration Law is 2 an area of “civil law” and subsequently concluded that 6th amendment protections – the right to 3 counsel, etc. – have been found to not apply.

4 59. Here, Petitioner does not assert otherwise. Petitioner agrees the current legal 5 framework does not recognize deportation or “removal” to be a punishment for a crime. From 6 this premise though, it does not then follow that no detention – however gruesome its conditions, 7 arbitrary its imposition, or whatever set of other Constitutional rights get trampled over to 8 accomplish such detention – could ever amount to “punishment” such that Eighth Amendment
9 protections extend. Rather, the Eighth Amendment can apply to immigration detention in certain 10 circumstances which, admittedly, the Supreme Court has not yet gotten around to delineating.
11 However, that Court has never held the Eighth Amendment cannot apply to immigration. See 12 Hariasiades v. Shaughnessy, Justice Douglas’s dissent 342 U.S. 580, 598-600 (1952) (“The 13 power of deportation is ... an implied one. The right to life and liberty is an express one. Why
14 this implied power should be given priority over the express guarantee of the Fifth Amendment
15 has never been satisfactorily answered ... The expulsion of a race may be within the inherent 16 powers of a despotism. History, before the adoption of this constitution, was not destitute of 17 examples of the exercise of such a power, and its framers were familiar with history, and wisely
18 ... they gave to this government no general power to banish ... Banishment is punishment in the 19 practical sense. It may deprive a man and his family of all that makes life worthwhile.”) See also 20 Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 106 (1976) (Describing the deliberate indifference standard for 21 Eighth Amendment claims based on deliberate indifference to serious medical needs); Helling v.
22 McKinney, 509 U.S. 25, 33 (1933) (Even where the harm has not yet occurred, a prisoner can 23 still file a successful Eighth Amendment claim regarding the conditions of his or her 24

1 confinement, recognizing a remedy for unsafe conditions where a tragic event has not yet
2 occurred); see also Carl Kenneth Lipscombe, Tylenol and an Ice Pack: An Inadequate
3 Prescription for HIV/AIDS in Immigration Detention Centers, 11 CARDOZO PUB. L. POL'Y
4 & ETHICS J. 529 (2013); Jones v. Cunningham, 371 U.S. 236, 238–40 (1963) (noting that 5 habeas corpus is not limited to situations where the applicant is in custody, but can be used by 6 aliens, members of the military and other situations where one's liberty is restrained); Bell v.
7 Wolfish, 441 U.S. 520, 526 n.6 (1979) (Supreme Court has “left for another day the question of
8 the propriety of using a writ of habeas corpus to obtain review of the conditions of confinement,
9 as distinct from the fact or length of the confinement itself.”, also at page 535 noting pretrial
10 detainees “may not be punished prior to an adjudication of guilt in accordance with due process 11 of law.”)

12 60. Here, Respondents have detained Petitioner and others like him at Stewart
13 Detention Center operated by a private company, CoreCivic. Migrants have accused that 14 company of inhumane living conditions, medical negligence, physical and sexual abuse, 15 overcrowding, understaffing, use of excessive force, prolonged use of solitary confinement, and 16 CoreCivic has been sued for forcing noncitizens to work for minimal wages as low as $1.00 per 17 day.³ Respondents deny Petitioner his right to request or receive a bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. §
18 1226(a). This raises a colorable Eighth Amendment claim providing Petitioner with another basis
19 for habeas relief.

20 COUNT FOUR: Violation of the Immigration and Nationality Act

21 61. As discussed above, Respondents are detaining the Petitioner and asserting his 22 detention is under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) forcing Petitioner to be in ‘mandatory detention’ and

23 _____
24 ³ CoreCivic, CorpWatch.org, available at <https://www.corpwatch.org/company/corecivic>, accessed December 11th, 2025.

1 ineligible for bond. This misapplies 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) to the Petitioner as 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)
2 properly governs his detention, under which Petitioner is statutorily eligible to apply for and 3 receive a bond at a bond hearing upon a showing of certain facts.

4 62. By violating the INA, Respondents provide Petitioner with another avenue for 5 habeas corpus relief, because Respondents are depriving Petitioner of his statutory right to a 6 bond hearing. Therefore, Petitioner is also eligible for habeas relief under the INA.

8 IX. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

8 WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that this Court grant the following relief:

- 9 a. Assume jurisdiction over this matter;
- 10 b. Issue a writ of habeas corpus requiring that within one day, Respondents release
11 Petitioner;
- 12 c. Alternatively, issue a writ of habeas corpus requiring Respondents to release
13 Petitioner unless they provide a bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) within 14 seven days;
- 15 d. Award Petitioner attorney's fees and costs under the Equal Access to Justice Act
16 (EAJA), as amended, 28 U.S.C. § 2412, and on any other basis justified under 17 law; and
- 18 e. Grant any other and further relief that this Court deems just and proper.

18 DATED this 23rd of December, 2025.
