UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF COLORADO

Civil Action No. 1:26-cv-1420

MAURICIO PLEITEZ PLEITEZ, [redacted]

Petitioner,

v.

JUAN BALTAZAR, Warden of Denver Contract Detention Facility,
GEORGE VALDEZ, Acting Field Office Director, Denver Field Office, Immigration and Customs Enforcement,
MARKWAYNE MULLIN, Secretary, Department of Homeland Security,
TODD BLANCHE, Acting U.S. Attorney General,

Respondents.

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS PURSUANT TO 28 U.S.C. § 2241

INTRODUCTION

1. This case demonstrates an unrelenting refusal by Respondents to follow the applicable statute and regulation and to provide necessary due process. Respondents continue to insist individuals like Petitioner Mauricio Pleitez-Pleitez ("Mr. Pleitez") are subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) despite an overwhelming number of habeas petitions ruling to the contrary. See Singh v. Valdez, 2026 WL 890240, at *3 (D. Colo. Apr. 1, 2026) (noting that federal courts have overwhelmingly rejected the government's policy and statutory interpretation); Briales-Zuniga v. Baltazar, 2026 WL 35227, at *3 (D. Colo. Jan. 6, 2026) (same).
2. Over the past few months, some noncitizens otherwise caught by this policy have been able to obtain a bond and release in light of the class action Maldonado Bautista orders. See Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, 2025 WL 3713987, at *32 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2025) (vacating the ICE policy); Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, 2026 WL 468284, at * (C.D. Cal. Feb. 18, 2026) (vacating Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025)). However, the Ninth Circuit has stayed the district court's December order outside the Central District of California, and stayed the court's February 2026 order vacating Yajure Huratdo, keeping the government's detention policy in place. Bautista, et al. v. U.S. Dep't of Homeland Security, et al., No. 26-1044 (9th Cir., order dated March 6, 2026).[1]

3. Respondents' attempts to avoid providing Mr. Pleitez the process actually due absent an order from a federal court—despite an overwhelming number of district court cases and a nationwide class action justifying such an action—is remarkable.

4. Respondents' actions are contrary to law and infringe upon Mr. Pleitez's due process rights, rendering his custody unlawful. Accordingly, this Court should order his immediate release.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. Mr. Pleitez is detained at the Denver Contract Detention Facility in Aurora, Colorado, and is in physical custody of Respondents. See Ex. 1 (ICE Detainee Locator).

6. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 (habeas corpus), 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question), 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201-02 (declaratory relief), the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"), 5 U.S.C. § 706, and 28 U.S.C. § 1651 (All Writs Act).

7. This Court may grant relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241, § 2243, the Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2201 et seq., and the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651.

[1] The Ninth Circuit is hearing oral argument on the matter on Monday, March 30, 2026. See Bautista, 26-1044, ECF No. 10.

8. Venue is proper because Mr. Pleitez's immediate custodian at Denver Contract Detention Facility is located in this District and a "substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim" occurred in this District. 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e)(1).

PARTIES

9. Petitioner Mauricio Pleitez Pleitez is a native of El Salvador. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) is detaining him at the Denver Contract Detention Facility in Aurora, Colorado. Ex. 1, ICE Detainee Locator
10. Respondent George Valdez is the Acting Field Office Director of the ICE Denver Field Office and is responsible for ICE's operations in Colorado where Mr. Pleitez is held. He is sued in his official capacity.
11. Respondent Juan Baltazar is the Warden of the Denver Contract Detention Facility and is the immediate custodian of Mr. Pleitez. He is sued in his official capacity.
12. Respondent Markwayne Mullin is the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security. He is responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the INA and oversees ICE and ICE's policies, which are responsible for Mr. Pleitez's detention. Secretary Mullin has ultimate custodial authority over Mr. Pleitez and is sued in his official capacity.
13. Respondent Todd Blanche is the Acting Attorney General of the United States. He is responsible for the Department of Justice, of which the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR) and the immigration court system it operates is a component agency. He is sued in his official capacity.

REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 2243

14. The Court must grant the petition for a writ of habeas corpus or order Respondents to show cause "forthwith," unless the petitioner is not entitled to relief. 28 U.S.C. § 2243. If an order to show cause is issued, Respondents must file a return "within three days unless for good cause additional time, not exceeding twenty days, is allowed." Id.

15. Habeas corpus is "perhaps the most important writ known to the constitutional law . . . affording as it does a swift and imperative remedy in all cases of illegal restraint or confinement." Fay v. Noia, 372 U.S. 391, 400 (1963) (emphasis added).

16. "The application for the writ usurps the attention and displaces the calendar of the judge or justice who entertains it and receives prompt action from him within the four corners of the application." Yong v. I.N.S., 208 F.3d 1116, 1120 (9th Cir. 2000) (citation omitted).

17. Mr. Pleitez requests the Court issue an Order to Show Cause, and direct Respondents to file a response within three days, in light of the significant restraint on his liberty and clear Constitutional violations in this case.

TRANSFER OUTSIDE THE DISTRICT; ALL WRITS ACT

18. The All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a), empowers the federal courts to "issue all writs necessary or appropriate in aid of their respective jurisdictions and agreeable to the usages and principles of law."

19. Courts both in and outside this district have recently invoked the All Writs Act to prevent the transfer of individuals detained within the judicial district. See Arostegui-Maldonado v. Baltazar, 794 F.Supp.3d 926, 948-49 (D. Colo. Aug. 8, 2025) (listing cases).

20. Mr. Pleitez requests that this Court invoke the All Writs Act to prevent any transfer out of the District of Colorado during the pendency of his habeas action, given the likelihood that he will be ordered to appear at a hearing shortly after this Court rules upon the habeas petition.

EXHAUSTION

21. Mr. Pleitez has exhausted his administrative remedies by seeking a custody redetermination hearing in immigration court. On February 12, 2026, an immigration judge denied the bond request, finding that although Mr. Pleitez is a member of the Maldonado Bautista class, the court did not have jurisdiction because it was bound by Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). Ex. 2 (Order of the Immigration Judge).

STATEMENT OF RELEVANT FACTS

22. Mr. Pleteiz entered the United States at an unknown place on an unknown date without inspection approximately 21 years ago. Prior to his detention, he lived in [redacted] Maryland. Mr. Pleteiz has no criminal history and is not a danger to society.

23. Mr. Pleteiz has an eleven-year-old U.S. citizen son. He is involved in his church choir and has held steady employment since his entry into the United States. He is not a flight risk.

24. On January 13, 2026, ICE officers were conducting a "targeted area enforcement" operation in [redacted] Maryland. Ex. 3 (Form I-213). While they were in the area, the officers ran records checks on various vehicles in the area. The ICE officers ran a records check on Mr. Pleteiz's license plate to determine who the vehicle was registered to. According to the Form I-213, further record checks "revealed Pleitez has derogatory immigration history." Ex. 3. ICE arrested and detained Mr. Pleitez.

25. On January 13, 2026, ICE placed Mr. Pleteiz in removal proceedings before an immigration judge. Ex. 4 (Notice to Appear).

26. Mr. Pleitez filed a motion for a custody redetermination with the immigration court but the immigration judge denied the request for lack of jurisdiction, determining that she was bound by the Board of Immigration Appeals decision in Matter of Yajure Hurtado. Ex. 5 (Bond Denial).

LEGAL BACKGROUND

Immigration Detention and Bond

27. Under the INA, immigration officers are generally required to obtain a warrant prior to arresting and detaining noncitizens. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) ("On a warrant issued by the Attorney General, a [noncitizen] may be arrested and detained pending a decision on whether the [noncitizen] is to be removed.").

28. DHS's administrative arrest warrant is produced on a Form I-200.

29. After arrest, DHS must make an initial custody determination in order to keep someone detained. This is typically recorded on a Form I-286, Notice of Custody Determination. 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(c)(8), (g)(1); see Martinez-Orellana v. Hagan, 26-cv-355, at p. 7-8 (D. Colo. Feb. 13, 2026).

30. The decision whether to release a noncitizen is an individualized determination first made by ICE. 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(c)(8); Hernandez-Lara v. Lyons, 10 F.4th 19, 26 (1st Cir. 2021) (noting that ICE officers make the initial custody determination); Velasco Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 849 (2d Cir. 2020) (noting that 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(c)(8) "applies only to the initial custody determination made by the arresting officer and not to immigration judges in bond hearings" although immigration judges do apply the same rule regarding presumption of detention to custody hearings under § 1226(a)); Lopez Benitez, 795 F. Supp. 3d at 484.

31. Detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) "must be premised on an individualized custody determination based on Petitioner's dangerousness and flight risk." Campbell v. Almodovar, 2025 WL 3626099, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 15, 2025) (marks and citation omitted). A noncitizen who is neither a danger nor a flight risk may be released on a "bond of at least $1,500 with security approved by, and containing conditions prescribed by [ICE]." 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); see N-N- v. McShane, 2025 WL 3143594, at *2 (E.D. Pa. Nov. 10, 2025).

32. If DHS elects to detain a noncitizen, the noncitizen may seek a custody *re*determination before an immigration judge. 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.19(a) 1236.1(c)(8), (d)(1); Mendoza Gutierrez v. Baltasar, 2025 WL 2962908, at *7 (D. Colo. Oct. 17, 2025); Orellana Juarez v. Moniz, 788 F. Supp. 3d 61, 68-69 (D. Mass. 2025).

33. "If either party is dissatisfied with the immigration judge's custody determination, there are two methods of recourse: (a) appeal the immigration judge's order" to the Board of Immigration Appeals, or "(b) after an initial bond redetermination, a detainee may request a subsequent bond redetermination upon a showing that their 'circumstances have changed materially since the prior bond redetermination." N-N-, 2025 WL 3143594, at *3 (quoting 8 C.F.R. §§ 1236.1(d)(3), 1003.19(a), 1003.19(e)); see also Johnson v. Guzman Chavez, 594 U.S. 523, 527-28 (2021); L.G. v. Choate, 744 F. Supp. 3d 1172, 1179 (D. Colo. 2024).

Immigration Detention Authority (8 U.S.C. §§ 1225 and 1226)

34. In 1996, Congress passed the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act ("IIRIRA"), Pub. L. 104-208, which set forth separates procedures for the removal and detention of arriving or recently arrived noncitizens and those who have entered and established a presence in the United States, even those who have done so in violation of the immigration laws. Compare 8 U.S.C. § 1225 ("Inspection by immigration officers; expedited removal of inadmissible arriving aliens; referral for hearing"), with 8 U.S.C. § 1226 ("Apprehension and detention of aliens"), § 1229a ("Removal proceedings").

35. For those individuals with an established presence in the United States, the INA mandates that "an immigration judge shall conduct proceedings for deciding the inadmissibility or deportability of a [noncitizen]." 8 U.S.C. § 1229a(a)(1). Removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a(a)(1) "shall be the sole and exclusive procedure from the United States" unless otherwise specified in the INA. 8 U.S.C. § 1229a(a)(3).

36. During the pendency of standard removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a, § 1226 provides for the detention of noncitizens already in the United States, even those who entered illegally or without inspection. While § 1226(c) mandates the detention of certain classes of criminal noncitizens, § 1226(a) sets forth the rule for noncitizens subject to discretionary detention under § 1226. Under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a), a noncitizen "may be arrested and detained pending a decision on whether the alien is to be removed from the United States[.]" 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

37. Separate from the removal proceedings under § 1229a, Congress created an expedited removal process to be implemented during initial inspection for certain "applicants for admission" deemed to be "arriving aliens." 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b). The INA defines an applicant for admission as a noncitizen "present in the United States who has not been admitted or who arrives in the United States (whether or not at a designated port of arrival and including a [noncitizen] who is brought to the United States after having been interdicted in international or United States waters)." 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1). The INA further clarifies that the term "application for admission" has "reference to the application for admission into the United States," making clear that the term applies to those applying to enter into the United States. 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(4) (emphasis added). Notably, individuals subject to the expedited removal statute are not eligible for bond pending completion of their removal hearings. Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 287 (2018); see id. at 303 (distinguishing individuals subject to § 1225(b) from those "already present in the United States").

38. Critically, expedited removal proceedings do not apply to all "applicants for admission." Instead, they may be applied only to: (1) individuals who are arriving in the United States at a port of entry without valid documents; and (2) those without valid documents who have been in the United States for less than two years and have not been admitted or paroled. 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(iii)(II); see Dep't of Homeland Sec. v. Thuraissigiam, 591 U.S. 103, 109 (2020). Further, this second subset of individuals—noncitizens who have been in the United States for less than two years and have not been admitted or paroled—only become subject to expedited removal if so designated by DHS. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(iii)(I).

39. Separately, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) mandates the detention of certain "applicants for admission" not covered by § 1225(b)(1). Yet in keeping with the statute's focus on arriving aliens, the statute does not mandate detention for all applicants for admission. Instead, § 1225(b)(2)(A) only mandates the detention of "an applicant for admission" when "the examining immigration officer determines" that the noncitizen who is "seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted."

40. Courts and the U.S. Government have consistently taken the position that noncitizens who have entered without inspection and are encountered in the United States years after their initial entry are entitled to removal proceedings under § 1229a and subject to detention under § 1226. See, e.g., Jennings, 583 U.S. at 303 ("While the language of §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) is quite clear, § 1226(c) is even clearer. As noted, § 1226 applies to aliens already present in the United States.") (emphasis added); IIRIRA Implementing Regulation, 62 Fed. Reg. 10312, 10323 (Mar. 6, 1997) ("Despite being applicants for admission, aliens who are present without having been admitted or paroled (formerly referred to as aliens who entered without inspection) will be eligible for bond and bond redetermination."). This is because these individuals are not "seeking admission." See Mendoza Gutierrez, 2025 WL 2962908, at *5-6 (concluding that § 1225 does not apply to a noncitizen who has been residing in the United States for more than two years) (collecting cases); Lopez Benitez v. Francis, 795 F. Supp. 3d 475 (S.D.N.Y. 2025) (holding that a noncitizens who has been residing in the United States for more than two years cannot be classified as an "alien seeking admission"); Martinez v. Hyde, 792 F. Supp. 3d 211 (D. Mass. 2025) (rejecting the Government's "novel interpretation" that 1225(b) applies to noncitizens detained while present in the United States); accord Mendoza Gutierrez, 2025 WL 2962908, at *5.

41. Despite amending the INA numerous times since passing IIRIRA, see, e.g., REAL ID Act of 2005, Pub. L. No. 109-13, 119 Stat. 302, Congress has never seen fit to clarify or alter this universally accepted interpretation of the statute.

42. Yet in July 2025, the Government abruptly rejected the reading of 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) it had embraced when IIRIRA was first enacted and over three decades since. In a complete reversal, "DHS, in coordination with the Department of Justice (DOJ) . . . revisited its legal position on detention and release authorities," and issued guidance instructing all ICE employees that 8 U.S.C. § 1225 rather than § 1226 "is the applicable immigration detention authority for all applicants for admission."[2]

43. In September 2025, the Board of Immigration Appeals adopted DHS's novel statutory reading of 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). The Board found no distinction between the statutory terms "applicant for admission" and "seeking admission," and concluded that § 1225(b)(2) must be read to include all noncitizens who have not been inspected and admitted at any point. Id. at 221-22. Further, the Board asserted that legislative history supported its construction, although it did not cite any legislative history addressing the detention statutes. Id. at 223-25. This decision was recently vacated. Maldonado Bautista, et al. v. Santacruz, et al., 2026 WL 468284, at *10 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 18, 2026); but see Santacruz v. Maldonado Bautista, No. 26-1044 (9th Cir. March 6, 2026) (staying the district court's February 18, 2026 decision).

44. Courts that have reviewed this issue—including every case within this district—have almost universally rejected Respondents' new reading of the statute. See, e.g., Martinez-Orellana, 1:26-cv-355 at p. 4-5; Garcia Abanil v. Baltazar, -- F. Supp. 3d --, 2026 WL 100587, at *4 (D. Colo. Jan. 14, 2026); Flores Marin v. Baltazar, 2025 WL 3677019 (D. Colo. Dec. 18, 2025); Hernandez Vazquez v. Baltasar, 1:25-cv-3049 (D. Colo. Oct. 23, 2025); Loa Caballero v. Baltazar, 2025 WL 2977650 (D. Colo. Oct. 22, 2025); Moya Pineda v. Baltasar, No. 1:25-cv-2966 (D. Colo. Oct. 20, 2025); Mendoza Gutierrez, 2025 WL 2962908; Garcia Cortes v. Noem, 2025 WL 2652880 (D. Colo. Sept. 16, 2025); Salazar v. Dedos, 2025 WL 2676729 (D.N.M. Sept. 17, 2025); Lopez Benitez, 795 F. Supp. 3d 475; Martinez, 792 F. Supp. 3d 211; Galdamez Martinez v. Noem, et al., 2025 WL 3471575 (W.D. Tex. Nov. 26, 2025); Lopez-Arevelo v. Ripa, No. EP-25-CV-337-KC, 2025 WL 2691828 (W.D. Tex. Sept. 22, 2025).

45. Notwithstanding the resounding rejection of DHS and DOJ's policy and the Maldonado Bautista court's vacatur of the policy, Respondents continue to defend the policy and follow Matter of Yajure Hurtado, insisting that all noncitizens who have not been admitted to the United States are considered subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b).

46. Upon information and belief, ICE is so unwavering in its position that it will invoke the automatic stay provision in 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) to preclude a noncitizen from being released on a bond set by an immigration judge if the judge finds the noncitizen to be a member of the Maldonado Bautista bond eligible class.

Automatic Stay of Immigration Judges' Decisions

47. On October 31, 2001, DOJ issued an interim rule that allowed INS to invoke an automatic stay in cases in which INS's decision to deny bond or set it at $10,000 or higher was reversed or amended by an immigration judge. 66 Fed. Reg. 54909 (Oct. 31, 2001).

48. DOJ later finalized the rule with several modifications. See 71 Fed. Reg. 57873 (Oct. 2, 2006). First, to allay concerns that "the automatic stay might be invoked by low-level employees of DHS without supervisory review, or might be invoked without an adequate factual or legal basis," the final rule requires DHS to appeal the immigration judge's custody determination to the Board within ten business days and requires a senior legal official to approve the filing of the appeal and to certify that there is factual and legal support justifying . . . continued detention." 71 Fed. Reg. at 57874; 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(c)(1).

49. Second, the final rule provided that the automatic stay would lapse 90 days after the notice of appeal is filed. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(c)(4). Yet it does not preclude DHS from then seeking a discretionary stay under the neighboring provision, 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(1). See 71 Fed. Reg. at 57874.

50. Third, the regulation provides specific timelines to extend the automatic stay so that DHS can seek input from the Attorney General even if the Board has authorized release. 8 C.F.R. 1003.6(d). However, the regulation does not limit the Attorney General's discretion to extend the stay further. Id. Thus, under the current regulations, a noncitizen could be subjected to potentially indefinite detention even if an immigration judge and the Board determine that he should be released.

51. Responding to public comments expressing concerns with the regulation's constitutionality and the potential for abuse, DOJ again emphasized that DHS "invoke[s] the automatic stay in only a select number of custody cases"—just 273 times in Fiscal Year 2004 and only 43 times in Fiscal Year 2005. 71 Fed. Reg. 57873, 57878 (Oct. 2, 2006).

52. However, DHS has abandoned the selective nature of the automatic stay and has invoked it numerous times, without the requisite individualized determination, in the past several months. In response, courts across the country have concluded that the automatic stay provision violates the INA and/or Constitutional due process. See, e.g., Arana-Hernandez v. Baltasar, 2026 WL 696642 (D. Colo. March 12, 2026); Balderas Rivas v. Baltazar, 2026 WL 444732, at *2 (D. Colo. Feb. 17, 2026); Merchan-Pacheo v. Noem, 2026 WL 88526 (D. Colo. Jan. 12, 2026); Leal Hernandez v. Noem, 2025 WL 2430025 (D. Md. Aug. 24, 2025); Jacinto v. Trump, 2025 WL 2402271 (D. Neb. Aug. 19, 2025); Mohammed H. v. Trump, 786 F. Supp. 3d 1149, 1157-59 (D. Minn. June 17, 2025); Günaydin v. Trump, 784 F. Supp. 3d 1175, 1189 (D. Minn. May 21, 2025); Zabadi v. Chertoff, 2005 WL 1514122, at *1-2 (N.D. Cal. June 17, 2005) (listing cases).

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT ONE
Violation of the Immigration and Nationality Act
Arbitrary Detention; 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225 and 1226

53. Mr. Pleitez realleges and incorporates by reference the paragraphs above.

54. Respondents continue to detain Mr. Pleitez on the theory that he is subject to detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A). This Court should grant the petition and order that Mr. Pleitez is subject to detention under § 1226(a) and not § 1225(b)(2). Respondents' reading of the statute has been overwhelmingly rejected in more than fifteen hundred district court decisions that have ruled on the issue and on a class-wide basis. See supra ¶ 44.

55. As the Supreme Court recognized in Jennings, § 1225(b) focuses on individuals arriving at the border and ports of entry and thus are in the process of "seeking admission." Jennings, 583 U.S. at 297, 303; see also 8 C.F.R. § 1.2 (addressing noncitizens who are geographically "coming or attempting to come into the United States."). Conversely, § 1226(a) focuses on individuals who are in the United States and the government is seeking to remove through removal proceedings. Id. at 303. Further, with regard to § 1225(b)(2), Mr. Pleitez cannot reasonably be described as "seeking admission" to a country he has now resided in for over two decades. The titles of 8 U.S.C. § 1225 and § 1226 statutory sections make this distinction clear. Compare 8 U.S.C. § 1225 (titled "Inspection by immigration officers; expedited removal of inadmissible arriving aliens; referral for hearing"), with 8 U.S.C. § 1226 ("Apprehension and detention of aliens").

56. Furthermore, equating the term "applicant for admission" with "seeking admission," as EOIR has concluded in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, would render the phrase "seeking admission" superfluous because it violates principle that Congress is presumed to have acted intentionally in choosing different words in a statute, such that different words and phrases should be accorded different meanings." Lopez Benitez, 795 F. Supp. 3d at 489; TRW Inc. v. Andrews, 534 U.S. 19, 31 (2001) ("[N]o clause, sentence, or word shall be superfluous, void, or insignificant."); accord Mendoza Gutierrez, 2025 WL 2962908, at *7. Section 1225's mandatory detention regime applies to noncitizens who meet three criteria; first, the noncitizen must be "an 'applicant for admission' (a 'term of art' in the INA that includes noncitizens who 'arrive[] in the United States,' as well as those already 'present in the United States who ha[ve] not been admitted," second, the noncitizen must be "actively 'seeking admission' to the country," and third, the noncitizen must be "one whom an examining immigration officer determines 'is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted.'"); Lopez Benitez, 795 F. Supp. 3d at 488 (quoting Martinez, 792 F. Supp. 3d at 214).

57. The ordinary meaning of the terms "seeking" and "admission" do not apply to noncitizens, like Mr. Pleitez, who are not actively seeking inspection to enter the United States. Jose Alejandro v. Olson, 2025 WL 2896348 (S.D. Ind. Oct. 11, 2025).

58. Additionally, applying § 1225(b)(2) to all noncitizens except those who have been admitted could not have been Congress's intent because it would render other mandatory detention provisions, such as § 1226(c)(1)(E), unnecessary. Sampiao, 2025 WL 2607924, at *8; Rodriguez Vasquez, 779 F. Supp. 3d at 1259; Gomes, 2025 WL 1869299, at *7. Section 1225(c) requires mandatory detention for individuals who are present in the United States without being admitted or paroled and who are subject to specific criminal conduct criteria. Sampiao, 2025 WL 2607924, at *8. If all noncitizens who are inadmissible are subject to mandatory detention, there would be no reason for Congress to have enumerated which inadmissible noncitizens are subject to mandatory detention under § 1226(c). Id. If Congress intended § 1225(b) detention to extend to all noncitizens who have not been admitted, the recent amendments would be surplusage. Sampiao, 2025 WL 2607924, at *8 (citing Marx v. Gen. Revenue Corp., 568 U.S. 371, 386 (2013) ("The canon against surplusage is strongest when an interpretation would render superfluous another part of the same statutory scheme."). For these reasons, the plain language of § 1225(b)(2)(A) demonstrate that an individual, such as Mr. Pleitez, is not an "applicant for admission" who is "seeking admission" to the United States.

59. Thus, this Court must find that subjecting Mr. Pleitez to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) is a clear violation of the INA and order his immediate release from custody. Hotak v. Baltazar, 1:25-cv-556 (D. Colo. Feb. 25, 2026); Yanez Chavez v. Baltazar, 2026 WLL 516934 (D. Colo. Feb. 26, 2026); Martinez-Orellana, 1:26-cv-355 (D. Colo. Feb. 13, 2026); see also Vargas v. Bondi, 2025 WL 3300446, at *5 (W.D. Tex. Nov. 12, 2025), report and recommendation adopted Vargas v. Bondi, 2025 WL 3300141 (W.D. Tex. Nov. 26, 2025).

60. Moreover, immediate release is the appropriate remedy where a bond hearing before an immigration is unlikely to be a fair one. Habeas courts throughout the country have questioned whether EOIR will comply with their orders to hold a custody hearing, conduct a custody hearing correctly, apply the correct burden of proof, or address continued unlawful custody after release from incarceration. See Sierra-Cerritos v. Simon, No. 1:25-cv-2380 (RDA/LRV) (E.D. Va. March 18, 2026), ECF No. 17, Order ("A bond hearing fails to comport with due process where the Immigration Judge relies on considerations that would lead to an automatic denial of bond in almost all cases, for such a hearing is not individualized or rationally related to whether a petitioner is a flight risk" as required by 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)); Picado v. Hyde, 2026 WL 352691, at *7 (D.R.I. Feb. 9, 2026) (noting that Petitioner had "participated in two bond hearings that two separate judges have found to be deficient. It makes little sense to provide him with a third" and ordering immediate release); Gomez Rodriguez v. Noem, 2025 WL 3771268, *2 (M.D. Fla. 31, 2025) (noting that "[i]n other cases before this Court, the Respondents have claimed they cannot direct EOIR when to conduct a bond hearing" and ordering release if the government does not comply); Khogiani v. Raycraft, 2025 WL 3753532, *4 (E.D. Mich. Dec. 29, 2025) (noting the government's argument that given the "overwhelming caseload" in the immigration courts, it likely could not comply with an order to hold a bond hearing within five days).

61. And judges within this district have also begun to see this trend. In Cervantes Arredondo v. Baltazar, No. 1:25-cv-03040-RBJ (D. Colo. Dec. 18, 2025), ECF 26, Judge Jackson granted the motion to enforce due to failure of the IJ to properly apply the burden of proof to DHS as required by the Court's habeas order. And in early April, Judge Martinez shared concerns that that IJs "often cite little or no reasoning in determining that noncitizens are a flight risk." Singh v. Valdez, 2026 WL 890240, *5 (D. Colo. Apr. 1, 2026) (noting that "the Court learned that an IJ declined to release a petitioner on bond for whom it had ordered a bond hearing in a summary decision that merely stated, without any citation to specific facts"), Id. at n.4 (citing cases).

62. Alternatively, the Court should order a bond hearing at which the government bears the burden of proof by clear and convincing evidence. See L.G. v. Choate, 744 F. Supp. 3d 1172, 1187 (D. Colo. 2025); Martinez Escobar v. Baltazar, 2026 WL 503313, at *5 (D. Colo. Feb. 24, 2026). This standard is proper because the clear and convincing standard applies to civil detention where liberty is at stake. Id. Moreover, "these are not normal circumstances." Salazar v. Dedos, 2025 WL 2676729 (D.N.M. Sept. 17, 2025) (recognizing that the case involves a continuing constitutional violation and shifting the burden to the government at a bond hearing "likely will reduce the risk of the continuing erroneous deprivation of Petitioner's liberty interests).

63. Any order for bond should also remind the immigration judge that "a bond hearing fails to comport with due process where an Immigration Judge relies solely on considerations that would lead to an automatic denial of bond in most, if not all, cases." Sierra-Cerritos v. Simon, No. 1:25-cv-2380-RDA/LRV (E.D. Va. Mar. 18, 2026), ECF No. 17, at 2.

64. If the Court order a bond hearing, it should also issue an order precluding Respondents from invoking the automatic stay of any bond order relating to the immigration judge's order. "In effect, the automatic stay provision renders the Immigration Judge's bail determination an empty gesture." Ashley v. Ridge, 288 F. Supp. 2d 662, 669 (D.N.J. 2003). Notably, in order to invoke the automatic stay, the government would not need to provide "any 'special justification'" to outweigh Mr. Pleitez's "constitutional liberties so as to justify his continued detention without bail." Id. at 669; accord Leal Hernandez v. Noem, 2025 WL 2430025, at 12-13 (D. Md. Aug. 24, 2025). This Court should similarly conclude that it "cannot characterize Petitioner's continued confinement as anything but arbitrary" and "in violation of substantive due process." Ashley, 288 F. Supp. 2d at 669. Indeed, there is "near unanimity" nationwide that "DHS's application of the automatic stay pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) violates a non-citizen's due process under the Fifth Amendment." Merchan-Pacheo, 2026 WL 88526, at *9; accord Arana-Hernandez, 2026 WL 696642, at *1. This Court should therefore preclude Respondents from invoking the automatic stay in this case if it orders a bond hearing and if the immigration judge grants release upon payment of a monetary bond. Merchan-Pacheo, 2026 WL 88526, at *9.

COUNT TWO
Violation of Substantive Due Process
Arbitrary Detention; 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225 and 1226

65. Mr. Pleitez realleges and incorporates by reference the paragraphs above.

66. The government may not deprive a person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. U.S. Const. amend. V. "Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that the Clause protects." Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S.678, 690 (2001). Indeed, the liberty interest in freedom from detention "is the most elemental of liberty interests." Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 529 (2004).

67. Mr. Pleitez has a fundamental interest in liberty and being free from official restraint, and the government's new, erroneous classification of him as an "arriving alien" who is "seeking admission" to the United States and thus subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) without any avenue to challenge that detention violates his substantive right to due process.

68. Respondents' insistence that Mr. Pleitez remain in immigration custody pursuant to these policies is a violation of his due process rights. The Court should order his release.

COUNT THREE
Violation of Procedural Due Process
Arbitrary Detention; 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225 and 1226

69. Mr. Pleitez realleges and incorporates by reference the paragraphs above.

70. The Supreme Court has been clear that for noncitizens "on the threshold of initial entry . . . [w]hatever the procedure authorized by Congress is, it is due process." Shaughnessy v. United States ex rel. Mezei, 345 U.S. 206, 212 (1953) (emphasis added). However, Mr. Pleitez is no longer on the threshold of initial entry. It is well established that noncitizens like Mr. Pleitez who "once passed through our gates, even illegally" are entitled to greater constitutional protections. Id.; see also Zadvydas, 553 U.S. at 693 ("It is well established that certain constitutional protections available to persons inside the United States are unavailable to [noncitizens] outside of our geographic borders."). "The fundamental requirement of due process is the opportunity to be heard at a meaningful time and in a meaningful manner." Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 333 (1976). Because Mr. Pleitez is not properly detained under § 1225(b)(2), his detention does not comply with due process.

71. Mr. Pleitez has a strong private interest in remaining free from detention. Indeed, the Supreme Court has affirmed that even for noncitizens, "[f]reedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that [the Due Process] Clause protects." Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690. And the Supreme Court, recognizing the strong private interest in remaining free from detention, has held "that detention violates that Clause unless the detention is ordered in a criminal proceeding with adequate procedural protections, or, in certain special and narrow non-punitive circumstances where a special justification, such as harm-threatening mental illness, outweighs the individual's constitutionally protected interest in avoiding physical restraint." Id. (cleaned up).
72. While the government has an interest in ensuring Mr. Pleitez's appearance at his removal proceedings and protecting the community, the government cannot plausibly justify their position that the is subject to mandatory detention based on "administrative burdens" when it has, for the past three decades, consistently allowed for bond for noncitizens like Mr. Pleitez who have established a presence in the United States after previously entering without inspection.
73. Finally, this case demonstrates the high risk of erroneous deprivation that would result from allowing DHS to detain noncitizens like Mr. Pleitez without a determination that he is neither a danger nor a flight risk. Without an order from this Court, there is a high probability that Mr. Pleitez will continue to be detained even though his continued detention serves no non-punitive purpose as it is unnecessary to protect the community or to ensure his appearance at his removal proceedings.
74. In Respondents' contrasting version of the INA, as espoused in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, Mr. Pleitez is stripped of any mechanism to require the government to justify his detention. Such a lack of any process, necessarily leading to an erroneous deprivation of liberty, cannot be supported by the Constitution. Release is the appropriate remedy. Alternatively, the Court should order a constitutionally compliant bond hearing at which the government bears the burden of proof. See supra ¶ 62

75. The Court should also issue an order precluding Respondents from invoking the automatic stay of any bond order pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i). See supra ¶ 64.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Based on the foregoing, Mr. Pleitez requests that this Court:

(1) Assume jurisdiction over this matter;

(2) Order under the All Writs Act that Mr. Pleitez not be removed from this District while this petition is pending;

(3) Issue an order requiring Respondents to show cause why this Petition should not be granted within three days, or not more than fourteen days;

(4) Declare that 8 U.S.C. § 1225 does not govern Mr. Pleitez's immigration detention;

(5) Declare that Respondents have violated Mr. Pleitez's due process rights by asserting he is detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1225;

(6) Order Mr. Pleitez's immediate release with all of his personal property, including any driver's license, passport, employment authorization documents, and any identification cards. See Cortes v. Guadian, 2026 WL 327906 (D. Colo. Feb. 6, 2026).

(7) Alternatively, order that Respondents provide Mr. Pleitez with a bond hearing at which the government bears the burden of proof by clear and convincing evidence and that the bond hearing fails to comport with due process where an Immigration Judge relies solely on considerations that would lead to an automatic denial of bond in most, if not all, cases;

(8) Order that the government cannot invoke the automatic stay provision under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19 if this Court orders a bond hearing and the immigration judge grants release upon payment of a monetary bond.

(8) Grant Mr. Pleitez leave to forthwith file a motion for attorneys' fees and costs of this suit under the Equal Access to Justice Act, 5 U.S.C. § 504 and 28 U.S.C. § 2412(2), et seq.; and

(9) Grant any further relief this Court deems just and proper.
