Case No.: 26-cv-02679-BTM-SBC

RETURN TO PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

22
23
24 I. INTRODUCTION

25 Petitioner requests that the Court order his release from Immigration and 26 Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody. This Court lacks jurisdiction because 27 Petitioner's claims are barred by 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g). Moreover, as an applicant for 28

1 admission to the United States found to have a credible fear of persecution, Petitioner's
2 detention is mandated by 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii) until the conclusion of his 3 removal proceedings. Accordingly, the Court should deny Petitioner's request for 4 relief.

5 II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

6 Petitioner is a native and citizen of Egypt, who entered the United States without 7 inspection near Otay Mesa, California, on September 27, 2025. See Exhibit 1 (Form I-
8 213).¹ Petitioner did not then have any valid entry documents to enter the United States.
9 He was determined to be inadmissible under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)(A)(i)(I), placed in 10 expedited removal proceedings pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1), and taken into 11 Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody pursuant to 8 U.S.C.
12 § 1225(b)(1)(B). See Exhibit 2 (Notice and Order of Expedited Removal). He was then 13 interviewed by an asylum officer, pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B). After receiving 14 a positive credible fear determination, Petitioner was issued a Notice to Appear (NTA).
15 Id.

16 The filing of the NTA initiated removal proceedings, pursuant to 8 U.S.C.
17 § 1229a, against Petitioner. The Notice to Appear scheduled Petitioner's initial master
18 calendar hearing for October 23, 2025. See id. Petitioner's removal proceedings
19 concluded with a fourth individual merits hearing on May 12, 2026, where the Petitioner
20 was ordered to be removed to Egypt. See Exhibit 4 (Order of Immigration Judge). He 21 reserved his right to appeal and was provided with a Notice to Appeal deadline of June 22 1, 2026. Id. Petitioner remains mandatorily detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B).

III. STATUTORY BACKGROUND

Section 235 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), codified at 8 U.S.C. § 1225, applies to an “applicant for admission,” defined as an “alien present in the United States who has not been admitted” or “who arrives in the United States.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1). “[A]pplicants for admission fall into one of two categories, those covered by § 1225(b)(1) and those covered by § 1225(b)(2).” Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 287 (2018).

Section 1225(b)(1) applies to arriving aliens and “certain other” aliens “initially determined to be inadmissible due to fraud, misrepresentation, or lack of valid document.” Id. (citing 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i)). These aliens are generally subject to expedited removal proceedings. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i). But if “the alien indicates an intention to apply for asylum . . . or a fear of persecution,” immigration officers will refer the alien for a credible fear interview. 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(ii). “If the officer determines at the time of the interview that [the] alien has a credible fear of persecution . . . , the alien shall be detained for further consideration of the application for asylum.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii) (emphasis added). If the alien does not indicate an intent to apply for asylum, does not express a fear of persecution, or is “found not to have such a fear,” they “shall be detained . . . until removed” from the United States. 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (B)(iii)(IV).

IV. ARGUMENT

A. Petitioner’s Claim is Barred Under 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

Respondents contend that judicial review over Petitioner’s claim is barred by 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g), which states that “[n]o court shall have jurisdiction to hear any cause or claim by or on behalf of any alien arising from the decision or action by the Attorney General to commence proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.”

1 Here, Petitioner's claims of unlawful detention necessarily arise from the 2 Department of Homeland Security's² decision to commence removal proceedings
3 against him because that decision unavoidably triggers mandatory detention under 8
4 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii) until the conclusion of his removal proceedings. See, e.g.,
5 Wang v. United States, No. CV 10-0389 SVW (RCx), 2010 WL 11463156, at *6 (C.D.
6 Cal. Aug. 18, 2010) (finding section 1252(g) bars judicial review of false imprisonment
7 claim because the plaintiff's detention arose from the decision to commence removal
8 proceedings, and in turn, the "statute mandating detention during removal proceedings 9 of a person charged as an 'arriving alien.'").

10 As explained by another district court, removal proceedings are commenced
11 when, as occurred here, "the alien is issued a Notice to Appear before an immigration
12 court." Herrera-Correra v. United States, No. CV 08-2941 DSF (JCx), 2008 WL
13 11336833, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2008); see also Exhibit 3 (Notice to Appear). The 14 government "may arrest the alien against whom proceedings are commenced and detain
15 that individual until the conclusion of those proceedings." Herrera-Correra, 2008 WL 16 11336833, at *3. "Thus, an alien's detention throughout this process arises from the 17 [government's] decision to commence proceedings" and review of claims arising from 18 such detention is barred under section 1252(g). Id. (citing Sissoko v. Rocha, 509 F.3d 19 947, 949 (9th Cir. 2007)); see also Wang, 2010 WL 11463156, at *6.

20 Because this habeas petition brings a claim "arising from the decision or action
21 by the [government] to commence proceedings," review of Petitioner's claim is barred 22 under 8 U.S.C § 1252(g). Thus, the Court must dismiss the petition.

26
27 ² "In 2002, Congress transferred the Attorney General's immigration enforcement
28 responsibilities to the Secretary of Homeland Security." Ibarra-Perez v. United States, 154 F.4th 989, 995 n.2 (9th Cir. 2025).

B. Petitioner is Lawfully Detained Under the INA and the Constitution.

Even if the Court assumed jurisdiction to review Petitioner's claim, the Court must deny his habeas petition because Petitioner's detention is statutorily mandated under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii) and has not been unconstitutionally prolonged.

1. Petitioner is mandatorily detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1).

Petitioner's claim fails because he is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1). Under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1), an "applicant for admission" is defined as an "alien present in the United States who has not been admitted or who arrives in the United States." As explained above, applicants for admission "fall into one of two categories, those covered by § 1225(b)(1) and those covered by § 1225(b)(2)." Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287. Section 1225(b)(1) – the provision relevant here – applies because Petitioner was found in the United States without proper documents authorizing his presence. And that statute mandates detention when an immigration officer determines that the alien has a credible fear of persecution. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii) ("If the officer determines at the time of the interview that [the] alien has a credible fear of persecution . . . , the alien shall be detained for further consideration of the application for asylum.") (emphasis added); see also Matter of M-S, 27 I. & N. Dec. 509, 519 (AG 2019) ("all aliens transferred from expedited to full [removal] proceedings after establishing a credible fear are ineligible for bond").

Petitioner requests that the Court order him released from ICE custody. But the Supreme Court has rejected such contention, explaining: "Read most naturally, §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) thus mandate detention of applicants for admission until certain proceedings have concluded. . . . Nothing in the statutory text imposes any limit on the length of detention. And neither § 1225(b)(1) nor § 1225(b)(2) says anything whatsoever about bond hearings." Jennings, 583 U.S. at 297. Except for temporary parole granted at the discretion of the Attorney General "for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit" under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5), "there are no other

1 circumstances under which aliens detained under § 1225(b) may be released.” Id. at 300
2 (emphasis in original).

3 As Petitioner’s removal proceedings are pending, and he has not been granted
4 temporary parole, section 1225(b)(1)(B) mandates his detention until the proceedings
5 have concluded. Jennings, 583 U.S. at 297 (“Once those proceedings end, detention
6 under § 1225(b) must end as well.”). Because Petitioner is lawfully detained under 7 section 1225(b)(1)(B) and the statute does not entitle him to release at this time, his 8 petition must be denied. See, e.g., Zelaya-Gonzalez v. Matuszewski, No. 23-CV-151
9 JLS-KSC, 2023 WL 3103811, at *3 (S.D. Cal. April 25, 2023) (applying Jennings to 10 find that the petitioner had no right to release or a bond hearing).

11 2. Petitioner’s detention is not unconstitutionally prolonged.

12 In Jennings, the Supreme Court evaluated the proper interpretation of 8 U.S.C.
13 § 1225(b). The Supreme Court stated that, “[r]ead most naturally, [8 U.S.C.] 14 §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) . . . mandate detention of applicants for admission until certain 15 proceedings have concluded.” Id. at 297. In other words, neither 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) 16 nor § 1225(b)(2) “impose[] any limit on the length of detention” and “neither 17 § 1225(b)(1) nor § 1225(b)(2) say[] anything whatsoever about bond hearings.” Id. The 18 Supreme Court added that the sole means of release for noncitizens detained pursuant 19 to 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225(b)(1) or (b)(2) prior to removal from the United States is temporary
20 parole at the discretion of the Attorney General under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5). Id. at 300
21 (“That express exception to detention implies that there are no other circumstances
22 under which aliens detained under [8 U.S.C.] § 1225(b) may be released.”) (emphasis 23 in original). “In sum, [8 U.S.C.] §§ 1225(b)(1) and (b)(2) mandate detention of aliens
24 throughout the completion of applicable proceedings[.]” Id. at 302.

25 In Shaughnessy v. United States ex rel. Mezei, 345 U.S. 206, 207–09 (1953), a 26 noncitizen in exclusion proceedings filed a habeas petition claiming that his prolonged
27 detention without a hearing violated his constitutional rights. The Supreme Court 28 rejected the petition, concluding that the noncitizen’s continued detention did not

1 deprive him of any due process rights, stating: “[A]n alien on the threshold of initial 2 entry stands on a different footing: ‘Whatever the procedure authorized by Congress
3 is, it is due process as far as an alien denied entry is concerned.’” Id. at 212 (citation 4 omitted).

5 In Department of Homeland Security v. Thuraissigiam, 591 U.S. 103, 138–40
6 (2020), the Supreme Court once again addressed the due process rights of inadmissible
7 arriving noncitizens seeking initial entry into the United States. The Supreme Court 8 stated that such individuals have no due process rights “other than those afforded by 9 statute.” Id. at 107; see also id. at 140 (“[A]n alien in respondent’s position has only 10 those rights regarding admission that Congress has provided by statute.”). The 11 Supreme Court noted that its determination was supported by “more than a century of 12 precedent.” Id. at 138 (citing Nishimura Ekiu v. United States, 142 U.S. 651, 660
13 (1892); U.S. ex rel. Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S. 537, 544 (1950); Mezei, 345 U.S.
14 at 212; Landon v. Plasencia, 459 U.S. 21, 32 (1982)). Because the only process due 15 Petitioner is that afforded under section 1225(b), the Court must reject his claim that 16 his detention violates the Fifth Amendment’s Due Process Clause and deny his 17 requested relief. See Thuraissigiam, 591 U.S. at 138–40; Mendoza-Linares, 51 F.4th at 18 1167; Rodriguez Diaz v. Garland, 53 F.4th 1189, 1206 (9th Cir. 2022) (“The 19 recognized liberty interests of U.S. citizens and aliens are not coextensive: the Supreme 20 Court has ‘firmly and repeatedly endorsed the proposition that Congress may make 21 rules as to aliens that would be unacceptable if applied to citizens.’”) (quoting Demore
22 v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 522 (2003)); Zelaya-Gonzalez, 2023 WL 3103811, at *4 23 (“Binding Ninth Circuit and Supreme Court precedents are clear that Petitioner lacks
24 any rights beyond those conferred by statute, and no statute entitles Petitioner to a bond 25 hearing.”).

26 Since the Supreme Court’s decision in Thuraissigiam, numerous published
27 decisions have acknowledged Thuraissigiam’s impact on the precise Fifth Amendment
28 Due Process Clause that Petitioner might have raised in this petition: Does an alien

1 detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) have a due process right to release or a bond
2 hearing after being detained for a certain period of time? The answer is no. See
3 Mendoza-Linares v. Garland, No. 21-cv-1169-BEN (AHG), 2024 WL 3316306, *2
4 (S.D. Cal. June 10, 2024) (“[T]he Court finds that Petitioner has no Fifth Amendment
5 right to a bond hearing pending his removal proceedings.”); Zelaya-Gonzalez, 2023
6 WL 3103811, *3 (S.D. Cal. Apr. 25, 2023) (same); Rodriguez Figueroa v. Garland,
7 535 F. Supp. 3d 122, 126–27 (W.D.N.Y. 2021); Gonzales Garcia v. Rosen, 513 F.
8 Supp. 3d 329, 336 (W.D.N.Y. 2021); St. Charles v. Barr, 514 F. Supp. 3d 570, 579
9 (W.D.N.Y. 2021); Petgrave v. Aleman, 529 F. Supp. 3d 665, 667 (S.D. Tex. 2021).

10 Even if the Court infers a constitutional right against prolonged mandatory
11 detention, Petitioner’s claim still fails. “In general, as detention continues past a year, 12 courts become extremely wary of permitting continued custody absent a bond hearing.”
13 Sibomana v. LaRose, No. 22-cv-933-LL-NLS, 2023 WL 3028093, at *4 (S.D. Cal.
14 April 20, 2023) (citation omitted); see also Durand v. Allen, No. 3:23-cv-00279-RBM-15 BGS, 2024 WL 711607, at *5 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 21, 2024) (detained over two-and-a-half
16 years); Sanchez-Rivera v. Matuszewski, No. 22-cv-1357-MMA (JLB), 2023 WL
17 139801, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 9, 2023) (three years); Yagao v. Figueroa, 18 No. 17-cv-2224-AJB-MDD, 2019 WL 1429582, at *2 (S.D. Cal. March 29, 2019) (two 19 years). Petitioner’s detention falls significantly short of the length courts have found to 20 raise due process concerns.

21 In similar cases, courts in this district have applied the test in Lopez v. Garland,
22 631 F. Supp. 3d 870, 879 (E.D. Cal. 2022). See, e.g., Sanchez-Rivera, 2023 WL 139801, 23 at *5 (“[W]hile the Mathews [v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319 (1976)] factors may be well-
24 suited to determining whether due process requires a second bond hearing, they are not 25 particularly dispositive of whether prolonged mandatory detention has become 26 unreasonable in a particular case.”); D.D. v. LaRose, et al., Case No. 25-cv-02581-BJC-27 JLB, ECF No. 10 at 7 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 22, 2025) (considering a similar claim and finding 28 “the three-factor balancing test from Lopez . . . provides an appropriate assessment of

1 the possible constitutional implications of Petitioner’s ongoing detention without 2 process.”).

3 Under Lopez, to determine whether continued mandatory detention has become 4 unreasonable, “the Court will look to the total length of detention to date, the likely 5 duration of future detention, and the delays in the removal proceedings caused by the 6 petitioner and the government.” 631 F. Supp. 3d at 879.

7 First, Petitioner has been detained for about 8 months. Courts in this district have 8 found detention for much longer periods to be unreasonably prolonged. See Durand v.
9 Allen, No. 3:23-cv-00279-RBM-BGS, 2024 WL 711607 at *5 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 21, 10 2024) (32 months); Sibomana, 2023 WL 3028093, at *4 (19 months); Sanchez-Rivera, 11 2023 WL 139801 at *6 (three years); Kydyrali v. Wolf, 499 F. Supp. 3d 768, 773 (S.D.
12 Cal. 2020) (27 months); Yagao, 2019 WL 1429582, at *1 (42 months). The length of 13 detention “is the most important factor.” Sanchez-Rivera, 2023 WL 139801, at *6
14 (citation omitted). And Petitioner’s current detention does not fall within the range
15 those courts have found to be unreasonable. Moreover, the length of Petitioner’s 16 detention, by itself, does not favor granting habeas relief. See Sadeqi v. LaRose, No.
17 25-cv-2587-RSH-BJW, 2025 WL 3154520, at *3 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 12, 2025) (“The 18 Court agrees with Respondents that the length of Petitioner’s detention to date—almost 19 12 months—does not by itself, without more, establish prolonged detention in violation 20 of due process.”). Not only does the length of Petitioner’s detention fall comparatively 21 short of the length courts in this district have found to warrant habeas relief, but the 22 other Lopez factors do not favor habeas relief either.

23 Regarding the second factor, the likely duration of future detention weighs 24 against Petitioner as his continued detention is due to reserving appeal to the Board of 25 Immigration Appeals and not a result of actions taken by the Respondents. Regarding 26 the third factor, the Petitioner, through counselor, continued his merits hearing three 27 times since filing his habeas petition, causing delays in his removal proceedings. See 28 Exhibit 3. Finally, there is no indication of any delay in the removal proceedings on the part of the government. Because his mandatory detention for 8 months does not establish prolonged detention itself and because Respondents have not been and are currently not responsible for delays in his immigration proceedings, the Court should not find that the Petitioner's mandatory detention has been unreasonably prolonged.

Balancing the above factors, the record does not support a finding that "detention has become so unreasonable as to require an initial bond hearing," Sanchez-Rivera, 2023 WL 139801, at *6, or an order requiring Petitioner's release.

Accordingly, Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention, which does not violate due process. See Markov v. LaRose, No. 25-CV-3811 JLS (SBC), 2026 WL 92069 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 13, 2026) ("Petitioner's length of detention, without more, does not render his detention unreasonable."); Duran Romero v. LaRose, No. 25-cv-3567-AGS-VET, ECF No. 7 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 14, 2026); Shahin v. Noem, No. 25-cv-2496-AGS-KSC, ECF No. 12 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 23, 2025); Cordova Cordova, No. 25-cv-2426-BAS-DDL, ECF No. 9 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 14, 2025); Mendez Ramirez, 612 F. Supp. 3d at 221; Gonzalez Aguilar v. Wolf, 448 F. Supp. 3d at 1212; de la Rosa Espinoza, 2020 WL 3452967, at *6-8.

V. CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated herein, Respondents respectfully request that the Court dismiss this petition for lack of jurisdiction or deny it on the merits.
